Norwood was always a friendly town, Mr. Ferguson said, and its citizens were friendly and broad-minded people. Father Carroll had shown an active interest in the life and affairs of the community.

Bishop Berry said in part: "In listening to the speakers today we have noted and seem to have climbed the steps by which Father Carroll has come to this celebration of his 25th anniversary in the priesthood."

Among the relatives of Father Carroll who were present with him were: Mr. and Mrs. L. Charbonneau, Detroit, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Earl McHugh, Pontiac, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Scollard, Peterborough; Frank Young, Detroit; Mrs. F. Millenbach, Detroit; Dr. R. J. Young, Peterborough; Captain Pat Young and Miss Irene Young, Young's Point; Mr. and Mrs. Noyle Swinn, Sudbury; Miss Catherine Young, Young's Point; Mr. and Mrs. F. Carroll, Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Carroll, Ottawa; Dr. and Mrs. E. M. Crough, Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Carroll, Belleville; Mrs. C. Flood, Ennismore; Reeve and Mrs. James Gifford, Ennismore; John Carroll, Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Carroll, Baltimore; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Carroll, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Roche, Peterborough.

Plays For Industry

Michael Sadlier, director of the Peterborough Summer Theatre has announced that the Queen Mary auditorium, where his company plays all summer, will be reserved for industry each Wednesday night. Arrangements have been made with local companies and workers' organizations to take the whole house en bloc on "Industrial Night." To date the Quaker Oats have purchased one night, Outboard Marine one night and C.G.E. five nights. These Wednesday Industrial Nights will not only give company folk the opportunity to see the plays at a reduced rate but will, Mr. Sadlier is confident, create a new and wider interest in live theatre.

Falls From Car Child Injured

Nicholas (Nicky) Titus, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Titus of 194 Hunter St., narrowly escaped serious injury on Tuesday night when he fell out of his father's car and struck his head on the pavement. The accident happened on the Hunter St. hill near Rogers St.

According to Dr. Robert Young the boy suffered a cut head and slight concussion. He was in a stunned condition when picked up from the curbside to which he had rolled after his tumble and was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital. After a five-minute examination he was allowed to go home.

Earlier today his mother said he was apparently all right and was about to eat when he complained of dizziness and had to return to bed.

The child had a habit of standing to look out the window of the rear section of the car. On this occasion he touched the handle, the door opened, and he was thrown onto the pavement. The car was moving east at a speed of about five-miles-an-hour at the time.

Had the accident occurred a few moments later when the car picked up speed while descending the hill there would have been more serious consequences.

Pilot's License Taken From Car

Among articles stolen from Dr. J. Ralph Clark's car while it was parked on Charlotte St. Monday was his private pilot's license. Dr. Clark, whose home is at 319 Stewart St., also lost a pair of sun glasses and a flashlight.

Jack Crerar, 193 Aylmer St., found early today that a ¼ horse power motor and a water pump had been stolen from his car overnight, which he had left parked outside his house.

No Half Holiday Given City's Parking Meters Magistrate Philp Rules

Emmett Sheehy, Peterborough lawyer, has failed to convince Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C. that parking meters are not operative on Wednesday afternoons.

Mr. Sheehy had a parking ticket for parking his car on a Wednesday afternoon without inserting coins in the meter. He argued that a notice on the city parking meters announces that motorists are not required to pay for parking on holidays, and he claimed that Wednesday afternoon was a holiday.

In a written argument Mr. Sheehy also claimed that the parking meter bylaw was invalid because it had not been put to public vote before being passed. He claimed it was a money bylaw and as such, must be placed before the electorate before becoming operative.

The magistrate said in city police court today that the bylaw was to regulate parking and was not a money bylaw. Wednesday afternoon was neither a holiday proclaimed by the mayor of the city, nor a public holiday within the meaning of the Interpretation Act.

Magistrate Philp fined the lawyer $2 with $1 costs.

First Cruiser Goes Up Trent

First pleasure cruiser to pass through the Trent waterway system this season tied up at the George St. wharf Tuesday night and went through the Liftlock Wednesday morning on its way up the canal. It was the "Flamingo II," owned by K. Link of Toronto, who had a party of four on board.

Mr. Link told James S. Fraser, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, who welcomed the party to Peterborough, that the docking facilities here were the best on the whole Trent system. He commented particularly on the cleanliness of the wharf area and expressed pleasure over the availability of a supply of fresh water, which the Chamber arranged for last year. Mr. Link has made two previous trips to Peterborough and referred to it as "a beautiful city." He said that one of the advantages of the local wharf facilities was their close proximity to the city's shopping district.

THEFT REPORTED

Harold Rutherford, Lakeview Hotel, Young's Point, reported to Peterborough headquarters of the Provincial Police on Tuesday that a toolbox was stolen from him some time between May 23 and 24. The theft is now being investigated.

POLICEMAN PUNISHES

For throwing firecrackers among the legs of people at the Jaycee Jamboree one boy was forced by police to stand for five minutes facing the wall of one of the buildings.

Learn To Swim Drive To Aid 166 Boys, Girls

One hundred and sixty-six boys and girls from the Public Schools of the city are taking part in the "learn to swim" campaign. Each year the students are offered the opportunity of learning to swim under the instructors of the YMCA and the YWCA. Due to the decreasing number of non-swimmers in the grades VI, VII, VIII, the course this year was extended to include the non-swimmers in grade V.

Of the 166 pupils taking the lessons 81 are girls.

Classes are being held every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at both pools. Al Clark, physical director of the YMCA, is in charge of the boys, and Mrs. J. M. Powell, swimming director at the YWCA, is in charge of the girls. Boys of Grove, May's, Queen Alexandra, Queen Mary and Central Schools attend classes Monday; from King George and King Edward Schools, Wednesdays; and Prince of Wales and Confederation Schools, on Fridays.

At the YWCA on Monday girls from Central, May's, Grove and Confederation Schools attend their classes. Wednesday periods are taken by girls of Queen Alexandra, Queen Mary, King George and King Edward Schools. Fridays the large class of girls from Prince of Wales School takes its lesson.

The number of non-swimmers from the schools are: Central, three girls, one boy; Grove, six girls, six boys; May's, four girls, two boys; Queen Alexandra, one girl, one boy; Queen Mary, 13 girls, eight boys; Prince of Wales, 21 girls, 16 boys; King Edward, 15 girls, 14 boys; King George, 16 girls, 18 boys; and Confederation, seven girls and 13 boys.

Board Approves Apartment Place

Permission for K. W. Swint to erect a six-dwelling apartment house on Clonsilla Ave. at Third Ave. has been approved by town planning on condition that he undertakes to maintain 4,000 sq. feet of ground for each dwelling unit.

This recommendation must receive the approval of city council and City Engineer Chalmers. The area is zoned as R-1, the highest residential category, but there is a suggestion that it might be rezoned as R-3.

The location of this apartment building project is south of the Sherbrooke St. intersection of Clonsilla Ave. which was formerly known simply as Highway No. 28.

CANOE FOUND

Provincial Constable L. G. Lyle of the Fenelon Falls detachment of the Provincial Police reported to headquarters, Peterborough, Tuesday that he had found a 16-foot, green cedar canoe at Fenelon Falls. Whether or not the canoe was stolen or broke loose from a mooring has not yet been determined: its ownership has likewise not been established.

Jamboree Jousts With Rain Crowds Jostle To See Fun

The Jaycee Jamboree fought a day-long battle against wind, rain and cold Tuesday and won a close decision as 2,500 Peterborough and district citizens crowded into Exhibition Park to take part in the fun and watch the sports and entertainment. Threatening clouds kept Junior Chamber of Commerce president Doug Vaisey worried all day. But the people who went to the Jamboree were well entertained throughout the day and most of the night.

From the first ball game in the morning until the end of the dance at night the crowd was kept busy seeing everything that was going on.

Probably the outstanding events of the day were the sulky races in the afternoon and the amateur contest in the evening.

Sulky Races

Many of the races were very close The youngsters got almost as big a kick out of them as they do every Saturday from the chases in western movies. The grown-ups enjoyed the races even more. One young lad took the defeat of his favorite horse pretty hard. "The driver had to whip the stuffin' out of the horse to win," he exclaimed.

A big crowd was on hand in the evening to watch the amateurs and the old time fiddlers compete in front of the grandstand. The $30 first prize money in the amateur contest was won by four-year-old Spencer Tucker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Tucker, Downers Corners. He beat his accordionist father and wooed the audience with his song, "I'm Just a Little Petunia in an Onion Patch." Spencer said he was going to buy a pony with the prize money. Mr. Tucker promised his son will have his pony.

Second place winner was Doris [illegible] year-old singer, who won a big hand from the crowd with her version of "Alice Blue Gown."

Old Time Fiddling

Norman Sweet, 301 Townsend, won the $30 first prize money in the old time fiddlers' contest. Placing second was dark-haired Muriel Hillis, a teen-aged fiddler of R.R. 2, Peterborough.

Al Jones emceed both contests and Frank Hammond accompanied most of the acts on the piano.

In the drill hall, the automatic snapshot machine did a thriving business all days. For those who preferred a pencil sketch of themselves, Doug Landry, 296 Rogers St., drew profiles. He refused to commit himself whether boys or girls were more vain in having their portraits drawn.

Biggest thrill for the small fry were the pony rides. With eyes shining they clung to the saddles as parents held them on while they circled the enclosure.

Fireworks Finish

Last event in front of the grandstand was the fireworks display. One hundred and eighty dollars worth of fireworks rocketed into the sky and exploded in bright colored clouds of stars.

A dance in the drill hall capped the day. Couples whirled through intricate square dance steps to spirited music. For those who weren't able to master the square dancing there were plenty of round dances, and the band played on.

Zoning Law Permits Building Of Church

A suggestion to the city council that Lansdowne St., east of the Locks Bridge, be called Otonabee St., would lead to confusion, in the opinion of town planning committee, which has declined to approve the change.

The committee is advising the council that nothing in its plan of zoning stands in the way of a Christian Science church being erected at the northeast corner of Charlotte St. and Monaghan Road. An enquiry was recently received from Braund and O'Toole, realty agents, by the city council who referred it to the town planning board. It was intimated that the Christian Science body was considering the location for a church site, but wished to determine whether that prospective use did not conflict with zoning restrictions.

ONE HUT COMPLETED

One cedar log hut has been completed by the members of the Y's Men's Club at the Boys' Camp on Clear Lake. A second is nearly finished while two others are well under way. They hope to have the four huts ready for the opening of the camp. On holidays and Saturdays the club members have been working on the huts.

GETTING NEW COAT

A squad of painters was at work today on the exterior of the second floor of the Post Office [illegible] Water Sts., giving the window sashes, rainspouts and trim a new coat of white paint. The work is adding greatly to the appearance of the building.

GIRL STOWAWAY, Lavinia Ross of Southampton, England, climbs over the rail of the tanker British Genius to face hearing before immigration authorities in Miami, Florida. The 22-year-old girl was smuggled aboard 21 days ago by two crewmen. When another crewman discovered her presence on the ship a fight ensued in which one seaman was badly injured. Miss Ross now claims that her trip hasn't been much fun.

Couple Who Lost Home Get Gifts

MILLBROOK, May 25 (ENS)—Millbrook Branch No. 402, Canadian Legion, held a miscellaneous shower Thursday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Chris Peterson who lost their home recently in a fire.

The shower was held in Millbrook town hall. Basil Richards presented them with gifts of food, clothing and other household necessities on behalf of the Legion. The Millbrook Girl Guides also presented them with a blanket.

The first part of the evening was spent in playing cards and remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

A pantry shower was held for Mrs. Harvey Gardiner at her home, three miles south of Millbrook, one afternoon last week. The shower took the form of a picnic with forty friends and neighbors attending. Mrs. Gardiner was presented with canned goods and other groceries as well as a gift of money.

Mission Band Sings

On Sunday morning the choir loft of St. Andrew's United Church was filled with members of the Mission Band. The young choristers, ranging in age from four to twelve years, chose for their first anthem the Mission Band hymn, "My Heavenly Father I Will Love". The children were under the leadership of Mrs. B. E. Ingham and Mrs. A. Fallis. Their second selection was an old Chinese melody to which the words of a Christian hymn had been set.

Rev. G. McQuade told the interesting story of James Evans, missionary to the Indians. The most remarkable work of Evans was his development of a Cree alphabet which enabled Indians, who had never read before, to read and even to be able to teach others after only eight hours study.

The loose collection went to the work of the Mission Band.

Will Spend $22,000

TORONTO, May 25 — (CP)—The Ontario Department of Education is prepared to spend up to $22,000 this summer in grants to non-profit camps operating in the province under sponsorship of provincial organizations, department officials announced Tuesday. Maximum grant per camp is $3,000, and eligible camps may not charge more than $1.75 a person a day and must be licensed by the health department.

Zinchenko Takes Over

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., May 25—(CP)—Konstantin E. Zinchenko Monday took over as boss administrator of the United Nations Security Council. The former first counsellor of the permanent Soviet delegation to the U.N. replaces Arkady A. Sobolev, who goes back to the foreign office in Moscow. Sobolev left here last February and resigned while at home.

2nd Soldier To Die

GUAM, May 25—(AP)—A second (negro) United States soldier today was sentenced to death for the rape-murder of Ruth Farnsworth, a civilian employee of the United States Navy, who was found dying in the jungle last December. Pte. Calvin Dennis, 26, and his half-brother, Pte. Herman Dennis, 20, both were convicted by a court-martial of the murder. Herman was sentenced earlier.

Baby A Surprise

CLEVELAND, May 25—(AP)—A daughter they said they didn't know was on the way arrived Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gedeon Weber. Mrs. Frances Weber, the 23-year-old mother, said neither she nor her husband expected the pre-dawn birth of 6½-pound Phyllis Helen. Both mother and baby are doing well. The Webers, married two years, also have a 12-month-old daughter, Mercedes Lynn.

The sport of mountain climbing has almost a million devotees, yet few persons can give a satisfactory reason for the urge to climb.

Weather Chills Celebrants Few Accidents On May 24

By The Canadian Press

It snowed in the Northern Ontario gold-mining town of Timmins and rained during the forenoon in Toronto but the Victoria Day weather had little effect on Canadians' celebration of the traditional outdoor holiday.

Montreal, Vancouver and a few other cities basked in the sun's warmth but elsewhere the skies were overcast and stiff breezes chilled celebrants who wore usual spring clothing on their outings.

Despite heavy traffic almost everywhere, the toll of accidental deaths for the day was low. Only nine Victoria Day deaths were reported in all Canada.

Fireworks blazed across the evening sky over numerous communities but no serious mishaps were caused by the skyrockets. The Toronto fire department extinguished about 20 minor blazes blamed on the celebration. A boy in Windsor, was hit in the eye by a stray roman candle.

Cheese For Indians

Indians feasted on free cheese on the Six Nations Reservation near Brantford. Traditionally, the cheese is distributed on the annniversary of Queen Victoria's birthday.

Sports events drew crowds totalling 65,000 in the Toronto area. Attractions included soccer, baseball, horse racing and automobile races.

Many persons opened summer cottages for the season. Almost everywhere, golf links, tennis courts and amusement parks were crowded. A few hardy souls tried the water for swimming, but most found it too cold.

In French Canada, the Victoria Day celebration was combined with rallies commemorating the gallant but losing stand Dollard des Ormeaux made against Iroquois at the Long Sault Rapids on the Ottawa River more than 300 years ago.

Newfoundland, too, had a double-barrelled celebration. In that province, May 24 is "trouting day" when practically everyone goes fishing. Special trains carried anglers to favorite haunts.

Have New Flag Design

MONTREAL, May 25 (CP)—Delegates to the provincial convention of the Canadian Legion here Tuesday approved a new design for a distinctive Canadian flag. Designed by T. G. A. Henstridge of Montreal, the new design consists of 10 horizontal bars five white and five blue, with the Union Jack in the top corner and a white fleur-de-lis on a red maple leaf in the centre.

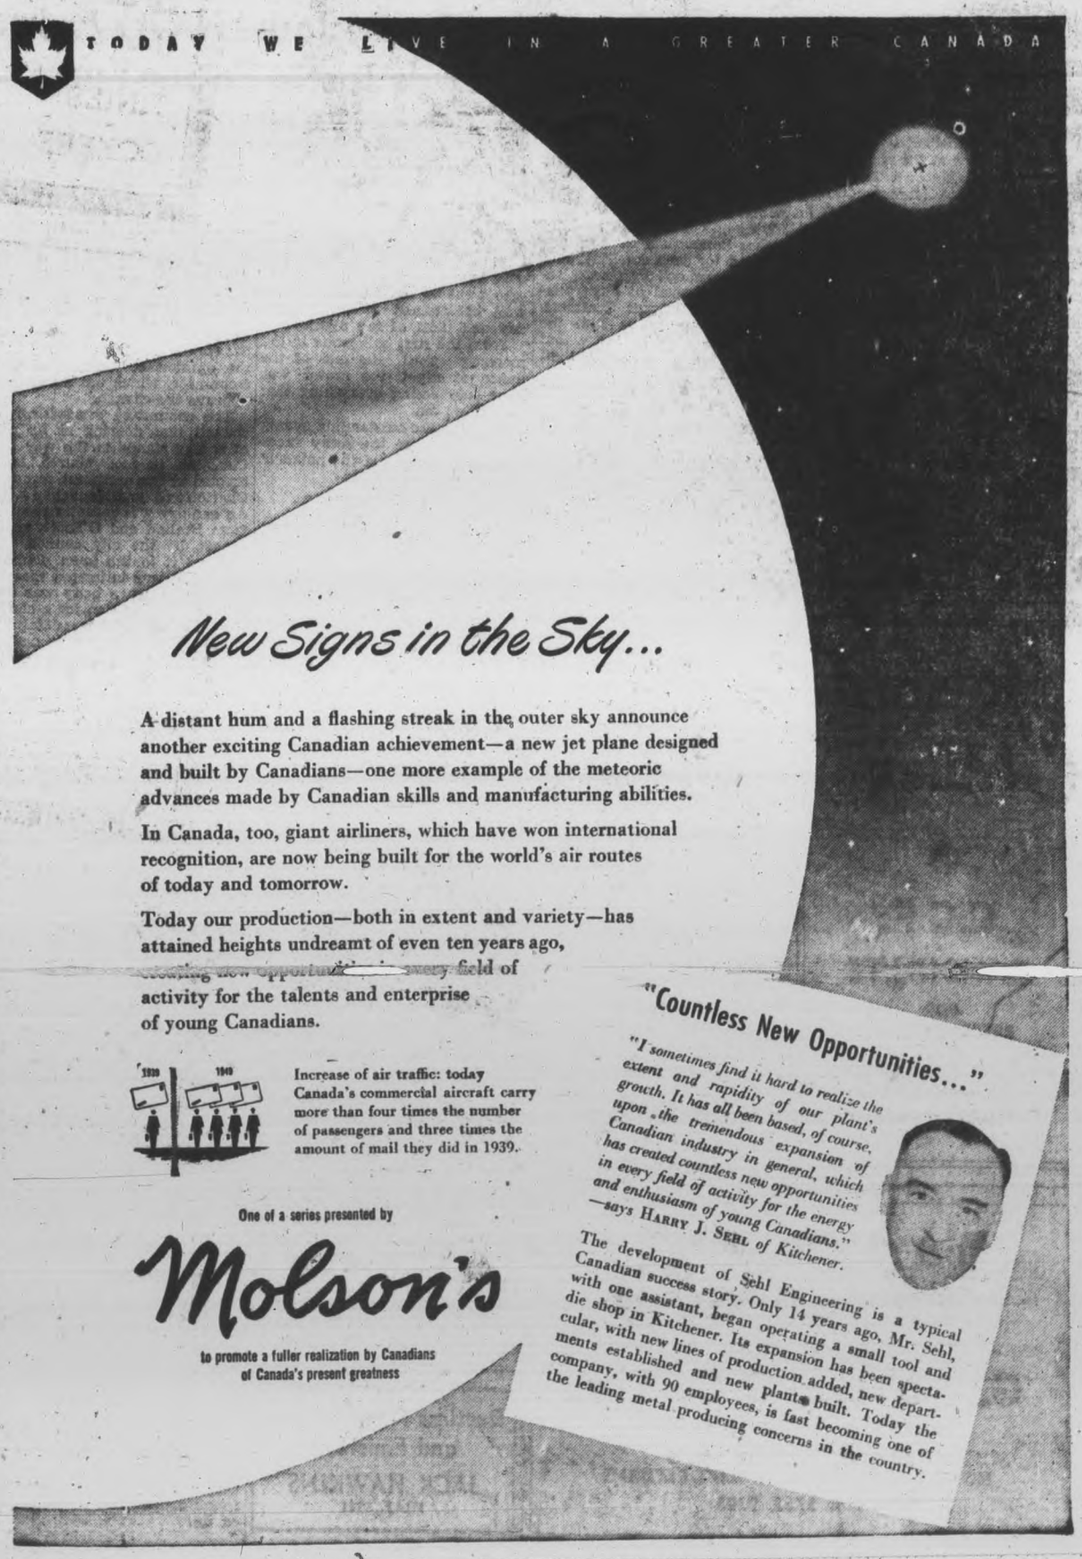
TODAY WE LIVE IN A GREATER CANADA



New Signs in the Sky...

A distant hum and a flashing streak in the outer sky announce another exciting Canadian achievement—a new jet plane designed and built by Canadians—one more example of the meteoric advances made by Canadian skills and manufacturing abilities.

In Canada, too, giant airliners, which have won international recognition, are now being built for the world's air routes of today and tomorrow.

Today our production—both in extent and variety—has attained heights undreamt of even ten years ago, creating new opportunities in every field of activity for the talents and enterprise of young Canadians.

Increase of air traffic: today Canada's commercial aircraft carry more than four times the number of passengers and three times the amount of mail they did in 1939.

"Countless New Opportunities..."

"I sometimes find it hard to realize the extent and rapidity of our plant's growth. It has all been based, of course, upon the tremendous expansion of Canadian industry in general, which has created countless new opportunities in every field of activity for the energy and enthusiasm of young Canadians." —says HARRY J. SEHL of Kitchener.

The development of Sehl Engineering is a typical Canadian success story. Only 14 years ago, Mr. Sehl, with one assistant, began operating a small tool and die shop in Kitchener. Its expansion has been spectacular, with new lines of production added, new departments established and new plants built. Today the company, with 90 employees, is fast becoming one of the leading metal producing concerns in the country.

One of a series presented by Western Europe Wary of Big Four Meet Fears US May Grant Concessions To Reds

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Special Correspondent

PARIS (NEA).—The democracies of Western Europe are afraid the United States may get drawn into concessions at the Big Four Conference that will endanger their middle-of-the-road governments.

This fear is particularly strong in Christian Democratic and Socialist ranks in France, which are walking a tight rope between the Communist left and the Gaullist right. But similar uneasiness infects Belgium and Luxembourg.

It is considered almost certain that Moscow will demand concessions toward a strong and unified Germany, beyond those agreed on at Bonn. Polish and Czech diplomatic circles expect that the Kremlin will ask for a share in Allied control over the Ruhr's vital coal and steel production, and for the withdrawal of all occupation troops from Germany—and that Stalin also will propose that the disputed Oder-Niesse frontier with Poland be adjusted in Germany's favor.

There are persistent rumors that a group of industrialists from western Germany, and ex-Reichswehr officers headed by the former Nazi general von Paulus, have been carrying on secret talks in Moscow. Foreign Minister Robert Schuman took note of these reports at a recent press conference, though he discounted their possible effects by saying that a "new Rapallo" is unlikely because German feeling toward Russia is more hostile than after World War I.

It was a Rapallo, Italy, in 1922, that the Soviet Union, after rejecting overtures by the Allies, secretly negotiated a trade agreement with Germany.

A new boundary proposal for Poland would mark a sharp reversal of the Soviet line existing as recently as November. Molotov, then foreign minister, told representatives of the Communist-sponsored German People's Council that Germany would have to accept the present line. But many Poles suspected of nationalist or "Titoist" heresy have been disgraced or even sent to Siberia, and Moscow feels now that Poland is under firm control.

Also, there is new evidence of need to placate German nationalistic feeling, since 34 per cent of the eastern zone's voters showed courage, as well as will, to reject the Soviet unity plan at the polls.

Neither the U.S. nor Great Britain has ever accepted the German-Polish line that Moscow fixed without their approval, for her own ends. So it is considered unlikely that they would resist its revision in Germany's favor.

On the question of Soviet participation in the Ruhr, the Allies are not in agreement among themselves. Under pressure of a growing bloc of industrialists, France may renew her own suggestion for such an arrangement, which was firmly rejected by Ernest Bevin at the Four Power Conference in 1947.

The U.S. is expected to object to withdrawal of troops from Germany, but some observers expect her to suggest a deal by which Moscow would be given a hand in the Ruhr if the western powers get representation in Silesia.

A recent statement by W. Averell Harriman, ambassador at large for the ECA, is interpreted here as a hint that the U.S. might try to appease Moscow by extending East-West trade, even to the point of including some Soviet satellites in the Marshall Plan.

As this bird's-eye view of conflicting ideas may indicate, the French on one hand are afraid of American concessions to Moscow, and on the other hand will probably propose one major concession themselves. The issues are not at all clear-cut, even in the minds of top level international diplomats who sit in on the conference.

That may be because France and her democratic neighbors are torn between two problems every time they think about Germany's future. The dilemma was summarized by a prominent Socialist who told this correspondent:

"It is not a Germany restored economically that France and her neighbors fear. It is the use that Germany might make of her strong [illegible]l position, to manipulate the delicate European balance of power in her own favor."

Western democrats, like those in England and the U.S., can't seem to find a formula that will enable Germany to carry her share of Europe's economic and industrial load, but that will not make the Reich a military menace again.

But in the meanwhile, hard-pressed to stay in power under postwar economic conditions, the middle-of-the-roaders fear anything that would strengthen either the Reds or the Gaullists enough so that they could upset the delicate political situation

Braund's HOME FOOD MARKETS

Lands 10-Lb. Trout

OWEN SOUND, May 25—After more than an hour's battle, Orville Heimbecker, Holland Centre resident, Tuesday hooked the largest brown trout caught in this district in many years. The fish, caught in Bell's Lake near Markdale, tipped the scales at 10 pounds four ounces, and measured 28 inches in length. Its girth was 17 inches.

Heimbecker, who brought the fish to this city for display purposes stated that he was using a pike-minnow plug at the time.

POTENT PERFUME

Some perumes are extremely powerful; musk will impart odor to polished steel, though it will itself lose all fragrance within a year.

Sewers 20 Ft. Underground In London Tricky To Clean

By MICHAEL O'MARA.

LONDON, May 25 (CP)—Overhead the big red buses grumble by and pedestrians hurry along Fleet Street. But their sound is only a distant echo to the men working 20 feet below street-level of bustling Ludgate Circus.

The men are the sewer-cleaners—generally called "flushers"—who tidy up London's largest conduit which follows the course of the city's second-largest stream, the once-vital Fleet River.

It can be dangerous work. Flushers don't enter the tunnel unless they have a lookout posted at street-level to watch the weather. If it gets "black over King's Cross" he shouts down the nearest manhole and lifts and drops the lid three times—a signal that sends a booming warning along the tunnel underground.

A sudden shower as far away as Camden Town in north London can send a water-shed crashing down the conduit. The men feel a rush of cold air preceding the column of black water and they move out—fast.

Underground Waterways

The Fleet is only one of several waterways that wind beneath London.

By the reign of George II the Fleet had become so polluted that it had to be bricked over and the river became just a sewer.

A mile or so west of the Fleet once ran another large waterway, the Tyburn, and the whole Westminster area where now stand the Houses of Parliament and Westminster Abbey was a delta island in the Tyburn's estuary.

Another mile or two west lay another waterway, the Westbourne. It was dammed up to form the serpentine in Hyde Park, and allowed to run underground again after passing beneath Rotten Row.

Another underground river—though an artificial one—runs beneath BBC headquarters near Oxford Circus. It is believed to be a conduit dating from the period of building expansion immediately following British victory in the Napoleonic wars.

Paved With Gold

RENO, Nev., May 25 (AP). — Douglas and Lincoln Alleys in the gambling district have been paved with concrete bearing $4 a ton gold ore. As the concrete set, it looked just like any other concrete. Someone suggested that signs be put up telling visitors about the gold underfoot. Bu the city council said nix to that idea.

ANCIENT MAGIC

Water into which glowing coals nad been plunged in ancient magic was considered the best precaution against the evil eye.

Armstrong's Asphalt Tile, unlike most other home improvements, is easier to obtain—and easier to pay for—than it was 10 years ago. It actually costs less today than it did in 1939!

A new floor of Armstrong's Asphalt Tile can be installed right over the concrete subfloor in a basement room or in a home without a basement. It is one type of resilient flooring that is not harmed by moisture or alkalis seeping up through concrete that is in direct contact with the ground.

It can be installed quickly, with little or no inconvenience. And, because it is laid tile by tile, you can enjoy the thrill of designing your own colourful new floor.

Flooring contractors everywhere in Canada are installing attractive, durable floors of Armstrong's Asphalt Tile. Ask any Armstrong contractor or dealer in your locality to show you colours and sample floor designs, or to give you an accurate, free estimate.

GENERAL ELECTRIC WATER HEATERS
cost less to operate...keep water hot longer

"...now we have all the hot water we need, for all the family, it's such a pleasure!"

Today's best method of heating water is with a General Electric automatic electric Water Heater. It's the easiest and most convenient way to have a constant supply of hot water on tap for all family requirements and it costs only a few cents a day.

Check These G-E Features

1. G-E Calrod Immersion Units: totally immersed in the water so ALL electricity is used in heating the water. This assures maximum efficiency and greatest economy of operation.
2. Fiberglas Insulation: a full three and a half inches of Fiberglas completely surrounds the tank. Fiberglas is one of the most efficient heat insulators known. Heat losses are almost negligible.
3. Magnesium Protection: where corrosive water conditions exist, the magnesium alloy rod protects the galvanized tank and prolongs its life. An exclusive G-E Water Heater Feature.
4. Completely Automatic and attention-free operation is assured by thermostatic controls and safety valves. Just install your new G-E Water Heater, adjust thermostat and forget about it.

● The G-E Calrod Immersion Units in the water supply you with the maximum amount of hot water per penny spent on electrical energy. That extra-thick Fiberglas insulation keeps the hot water hot far longer, also helping to keep the cost of operating your G-E Water Heater down to the minimum.

That's why you'll always be glad you chose a General Electric Water Heater.

MEMORIAL BROKEN: The photo shows the broken War Memorial in Maple Grove cemetery which is suspected to have been done by vandalism. The Memorial was erected at the close of World War II by the Eastern Star Patriotic Association and has the names of the boys from Havelock and Belmont Township who paid the supreme sacrifice in both world wars. It was a marble stone about five feet in height. Last Fall it was pried from its cement base with crowbars and turned completely around. It was replaced to its proper position by the cemetery caretaker, and was recently found broken as shown in photo.

Foe of Engine Efficiency Largely In Owner's Power

By FREDERICK C. RUSSELL

The modern version find April showers bringing some fancy Maytime repair bills.

That foe of engine efficiency —crankcase dilution—is more within the car owner's power than he imagines. Too long periods of idling in traffic congestion will load up the engine with diluent. So will pokey driving, especially in cold weather. Much dilution still is caused by the habit of flushing the crankcase with kerosene which doesn't completely drain off. And how many remember that running the engine with one spark plug not hitting it off properly will send a lot of unburned gasoline into the engine pan.

Right now with so much eagerness to squeeze an extra mile or two out of each gallon of gasoline there is sure to be a lot more dilution. The reason is simply that running on a lean setting of the carburetor calls for excessive choking during the warm-up period. The final penalty it motor wear. That always increases dilution.

Beware that thumping noise in the front end. It may be a defective shock absorber or something wrong with the brakes but if the trouble is due to a bad wheel bearing you'll want to be heading for a service station. One owner who tried everything else before checking the wheels finally found several broken balls in one of the bearings. It was not a safe condition for even moderate road speeds. Had he been more careful to have the bearings repacked twice a year this would not have happened.

Three To Remember

Cars with automatic transmissions give better mileage in open road driving than in traffic. On the road there is less operation in the lower gears, or in lower ratios if a torque converter is used.

Chucked holes can throw the front wheels out of line as much as bumping curbstones ,so take it easy when the roads are rough even if the car seems to be taking the holes easily.

Keeping at the speed other users are going is a good way to keep out of trouble. Arrests are seldom made for driving speeds recognized as usual for the particular road under particular driving conditions.

"I wish that more of my customers would remember to have the care well lubricated before they come around to tell me what they think ails their buses. Greasing has an interesting way of showing up defects, and also of curing some of the miscellaneous things that plague owners.

"If a greasing makes the front wheels shimmy you can be sure there is general looseness in the steering system. Believe it or not I have made many a fan stop dead just by over-greasing its bearing with a pressure gun. Some front-end trouble is due to lack of lubricant on the rear spring shackles. A little advance inspection thus goes a long way toward helping me gives the car the attention it needs."

Under some detailed procedures for shifting gears with a car using a semi-automatic clutch I note a thought that may be of practical value to anyone operating a conventional clutch. The point brought out in this data is that if there is grabbing it is because the clutch engages too slowly. Right there is a hint to drivers who complain about chatter and grabbing. They may be letting the clutch pedal come up too slowly. A clutch is designed for hard work. Overwork is not its dish, of course, but neither should it be "babied". Engage it more positively, feeding enough gas to give the car a definite upsweep in speed.

So you thought that all those new accessories introduced last year would be about enough for this era? Well, the current year is proving there's no stopping progress in equipment. Newest is the V jack, something that raises the car by grasping the bumper and the axle at the same time. Then there is the new foam rubber layer, an inch thick, which fits between the seat cushion and the seat cover to give you a better ride. You liked those rubber mats for the floor, but now there's a newer type which also covers the hump in the center of the floor. A new gauge is being used in some shops to check the depth of pinion and ring gear teeth when mashed. One that surprised me is a pressure crankcase ventilator, an electric fan to help aircurrents keep the crankcase free of vapors which carry off diluent.

Valve Seat Leaky

One of the Springtime things to consider when working on a motor that has been allowing water to get into the crankcase is a cracked valve seat. This is not uncommon with exhaust valves. Overlooking this little detail results in many a motorist blaming the head gasket or going to the trouble of having the head and block checked for trueness It takes a good eye to detect these valve seat leaks, especially since they close up when cool. Should a seat be found cracked it can be cut anew, and fitted with a new seat.

There are several ways of determing if piston rings need replacing if you happen to be where there is no convenient service.

One of the simplest tests is to warm up the motor, remove all spark plugs but the one in the cylinder being checked, and then with the ignition off, a rear wheel jacked up and the car in high gear, note how much resistance there is to cranking by turning the wheel. Next remove the plug of this cylinder and inject some engine oil into it. With the plug screwed in again test with another turn of the rear wheel. If there is marked improvement in resistance it indicates that the rings in this particular cylinder have not been holding compression properly. Repeat the test for each cylinder.

Another test is to listen closely at the oil filler pipe. If you can hear the hissing sound of "blow-by" you'll know that the rings are not in good shape.

Presented With Gifts On Eve Of Departure

DARTFORD, May 25 (ENS)—Friends and neighbors gathered recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Warner to honor them prior to their leaving to take up residence in Hastings. Mrs. Percy Honey took charge of the following program: Recitation by Mrs. Arthur Ward, duet by Ida and Marjorie Honey, and a reading by Mrs Alex. Lochart. Mrs. Charles Honey and Miss Catherine Convey assisted Mrs. Percy Honey in a spelling match and other games. Mrs. Charles Honey read an address and Thomas Convey presented to Mr. and Mrs. Warner and Mrs. Warner, Sr., a trilight lamp and purse.

Mr. Warner on behalf of himself, his wife and mother, expressed appreciation of their neighbors' kindness

Lands 20-lb. Pike

TORONTO, May 25 — (CP).—Mrs. Arthur Burns is mighty proud of her husband to-day. He landed a 40-inch, 20-pound pike Tuesday at Jackson's Point on Lake Simcoe while trolling for lake trout. But, Mrs. Burns confided, he wouldn't have been able to handle the struggling pike without the help of a friend.

Young-Neill Vows Are Solemnized

In St. Peter's Cathedral Monday morning nuptial vows were taken by Olive Mary Neill and William John Young with the Rev. F. K. Malane officiating. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Neill, Bolivar St., and the groom a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Young of Young's Point.

Snapdragon and tulips were on the altar table. Mrs. Robert ...man played wedding music and ...rs. E. Collis sang "Panis Angelicus" during the signing of the ...gister.

The bride's gown was of white slipper satin and was fashioned with the full skirt fanning into a light train. An over-lace peplum was finished with ruffles of satin and the bodice was fitted with long sleeves and a sweetheart neckline. Her veil of embroidered silk net formed a halo and was caught to a coronet of seed pearls and orange blossoms. She carried a sheaf of Bewerlime roses and lily of the valley.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by her sister Mrs. Donald Webb of New ...minster, B.C. She was frocked in pale pink chiffon over satin, and wore elbow-length mittens and a matching headdress. Her bouquet was a cascade of pink ...es and sweet peas.

The groom was attended by his cousin, Mrs. Cyril Young.

The reception was held in the Empress Hotel where the bride's mother received in a black and white printed silk dress, white straw hat and corsage of red roses. She was assisted by the groom's sister Miss Clara Young of Young's Point who was wearing black crepe with lace, white straw hat trimmed with flowers and corsage of pink roses.

The bride and groom left on a wedding trip to Montreal and Quebec, the bride travelling in a blue crepe dress, matching topcoat and accessories. They will live at Young's Point.

O'Brien-Brioux

The marriage took place Monday in St. Peter's Cathedral of Audrey Marie, daughter of Mr. Joseph Brioux and the late Mrs. Brioux, and Allan A., son of Mr. Alfred O'Brien and the late Mrs. O'Brien.

The bride was attired in a suit of navy English twill with pale blue accessories and wore a corsage of Sweetheart roses. She was attended by her sister Miss Marlene Brioux, wearing a black and white pin stripe suit with accessories of Kelly green, and corsage of Talisman roses.

Groomsman was Mr. Roy Girard.

On return from a motor trip to Detroit and points in United States the couple will reside at 185 Dalhousie St.

Edrie Deck Weds Orville Sage Live in Lindsay

In Park St. Baptist Church on Saturday afternoon the Rev. L. S. Haverstock performed the marriage of Edrie Tivila, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Deck of Lindsay, and Orville Henry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orr Sage of Bridgenorth.

The church was decked with snapdragon, roses and sweet peas in pastel shades. Mr. Adam Hawley played the wedding music and Miss Isabel Murphy of Norwood was soloist. At the signing of the register she sang "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was in a gown of white satin with inset yoke trimmed with leaves and roses of self-material. The bodice was fastened at the back with tiny covered buttons and had long lily point sleeves. She wore a train-length veil caught to a crown of pearls and carried a bouquet of red roses.

Matron of honor was her sister-in-law, Mrs. Colin Deck of Lindsay, and Miss Frances Carpenter of Peterborough was bridesmaid. They wore frocks of orchid and lime green taffeta and matching shoulder veils caught to crowns of silk net trimmed with lily of the valley, and mittens in the same colors. Each carried a bouquet of multi-colored sweetpeas.

The groom was attended by his elder brother, Mr. Arnold Sage.

Ushers were Gordon Davis and Alvin Armstrong.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents in Lindsay. Mrs. Deck was wearing a black gown with lace trimming and black hat. The groom's mother was in grey with navy accessories, and each wore a corsage of red roses.

For her wedding trip the bride chose a suit of loganberry wool and black accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Sage will live in Lindsay.

Marjorie Fowley Bride Of Francis Hayes

St. Peter's Cathedral was the scene of a pretty wedding Saturday morning when Marjorie Ellen, daughter of Mrs. Marjorie Fowley, became the bride of Francis Gerard Hayes, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen Hayes of Indian River. The Rev. R. J. Garvey officiated. The altar was decorated with multi-colored tulips, narcissus and daffodils.

During the nuptial mass, Mrs. D. Campanaro sang "On This Day," Rosewig's "Ave Maria," and "Jesus, Jesus Come to Me," and during the signing of the register "Bring Flowers of the Rarest." Mrs. Robert Aman played the organ.

The bride was wearing a picture gown of white chiffon velvet with the full skirt forming a train. Her long veil was caught with a wreath of orange blossoms and she carried a cascade of American Beauty roses and lily of the valley. She was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. John Fowley.

Miss Geraldine Allen was maid of honor, frocked in pale blue sheer. Bridesmoids were Mrs. Cameron Trude in pale pink sheer and Miss Jean Fowley, sister of the bride, wore turquoise sheer. They wore headdresses ond mittens to match their gowns, and carried ring bouquets of pastel sweet peas.

Mr. Charles Hayes was groomsman for his brother and the ushers were Claire Hayes and Patrick Farley.

The reception was held at the Empress Hotel, where Mrs. Fowley received, frocked in pale blue crepe with white hat and accessories. Mrs. Hayes, mother of the groom, wore pale green with natural colored straw hat and matching accessories. They wore corsages of pale pink roses.

The bride and groom left for a motor trip through the Niagara district, the bride wearing a wine gabardine suit with silver grey hat and accessories. They will live at 253 Westcott St.

DOROTHY DIX

Mature Woman Is Best Husbands Get Bargain

DEAR MISS DIX: I have read your column for years and have enjoyed it, but there is one trend of thought with which I cannot agree. That is, every time a fellow asks if he should marry a girl older than himself you say NO. Yet some of our leading psychologists and doctors recommend that men pick out older women for wives. By the time a girl becomes educated, gets her bearings in the outer world and has acquired some commonsense she is no longer a teenager. She has the wit to know what kind of a man she wants, and often he may be younger than she is. Indeed, the happiest marriage I ever knew was one in which the wife was 20 years older than her husband.

Dorothy Dix

Many of the finest women, who would make excellent wives and mothers, are destined to the ranks of spinsterhood because the men who are in their age class are already married, and the men think they will be ridiculed if they take a bride older than themselves. It is man's loss, because when a woman has been around a little she appreciates a good man and will do more for his happiness and advancement than any youngster would attempt to do.

Modern times are changing opinions and this is one subject that should be brought up to date.

MAUD.

ANSWER: I fully agree with you that the mature woman is far better fitted for marriage than the bobby-soxer. She has had the education that only experience gives. She knows what she wants in a husband and how much she can reasonably expect of him. She knows she is hearing the last call to the dining car and that she had better jump aboard if she doesn't want to get left.

Husband-Spoilers

There are no such husband-spoilers as old maids make if they marry, and women who have cut their wisdom teeth would be the preferred matrimonial risk except for the sad fact that men do the picking and they use their eyes oftener than they do their brains in selecting their wives. It is youth calling to youth. It is because their steps match in the dance. It is because their follies draw them together, as the sterling qualities of no elder person do.

So, no matter if a woman possesses every true virtue in the world, except youth, it is a risky business for her to marry a man much younger than herself. Sometimes it works out well, for there are sedate and serious-minded men who were old even in their cradles. But, generally speaking, the happy marriages are those in which a couple grow up together and have the same viewpoints and tastes.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been married two and a half years and have an adorable baby. My husband is a good provider and I love him very much, but I am bored to tears because he dropped all lovemaking at the altar and I am lucky if I get two kisses a day.

When he comes home from work the first thing he does is to tune in on the ball game, and if I try to say something to him he shushes me. After dinner he takes a nap that lasts until it is time to go to bed. I ask you, Miss Dix, don't you think a wife would get bored with a husband like that?

FRUSTRATED.

ANSWER: Undoubtedly it is a severe strain upon a wife's nerves and temper to have a husband who passes into the silence as soon as he comes home and leaves the Little Woman so bottled up with gossip and the cute way the baby acted that she is ready to explode, but it is the common lot of wives.

Why husbands almost universally think that being an entertaining companion is no part of their duty, Heaven alone knows. Maybe it is because they have had to talk so much in their business all day that their speaking apparatus is worn out, and that is why they just grunt when their wives try to engage them in conversation.

Anyhow, women marry to get companions, not dummies. Husbands need a little more of the admonition of the old butler in one of Du Maurier's cartoons, who nudged the young daughter of the house and hissed in her ear: "A little more conversation to the left."

Dorothy Dix cannot reply personally to readers, but will answer problems of general interest thorugh her column.

Casserole of Asparagus

By MARY MOORE

One of the farmers on the market sold me a bargain basket of curved asparagus. As you know these are rejects, but when I breezed into the house with them and showed Pete the basket he said "Goodnight, Mum, do we even have to have our asparagus curly?"

Well, I was saddled with this curly stuff and had to use it up and since Marianne had a little friend coming who has been led to believe that Marianne's dietitian-mother is quite a cook I couldn't let the child down.

Some friends in the north had sent two broilers back to me, with my sister, so they added swank to the occasion and since the oven was to be hot for them I made a

Casserole Of Asparagus

I precooked about 4 cups of cut up asparagus tops (I wasn't so thrifty as usual with the bottom ends for I had so much to choose from) about 10 minutes in very little water. To this undercooked asparagus and cooking liquid I added a can of condensed mushroom soup and put the whole business in a small casserole topped with buttered crumbs, and baked it a half hour at 350 deg. Fahr.

I made my one and only rhubarb pie of the year, and besides a few celery hearts, that is all we had—but if an empty table counts—those young people sure liked it.

I think you have tried using grated rind of one orange and chopped pulp from same orange mixed with the sugar and rhubarb for a rhubarb pie haven't you? If not you should try it, both for pie and stewed rhubarb. If you do not have enough rhubarb coming fast enough from your garden (which I do not) add 2 or 3 apples to the bottom layer of the pie filling, to make the pie thick enough.

Campbellford Girl Married In Imported Lace Gown

CAMPBELLFORD, May 25 (ENS).—St. John's United Church at Campbellford, decorated with white and mauve lilacs and white snapdragon was the setting for a pretty wedding on Saturday when Joy Elizabeth Burgis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Burgis, became the bride of Keith Richard Sutton, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Sutton. The Rev. Dr. D. M. Smith officiated and during the signing of the register Mrs. Don Stewart sang "I'll Walk Beside You." The Wedding March was played by Mr. Don Bennett.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of imported Swiss lace, with finger-tip veil of silk net and carried a crescent bouquet of King Cardinal carnations.

Mrs. Don Bennett, matron of honor, was gowned in mauve moire taffeta with a mohair picture hat and carried Klondike Supreme yellow snapdragons.

Miss Donna Bound and Miss Shirley Burgis, bridesmaids, wore turquoise and yellow taffeta gowns with matching hats tied with net beneath the chin and carried bouquets of Better Times snapdragons.

The flower girls, Doris Dunham and Mary Collard of Oshawa, were gowned in white and yellow ruffled dresses with matching bonnets and carried yellow ribbon baskets of Better Times and Christmas Cheer snapdragons.

The groomsman was Edward Sutton, mother of the groom, and the ushers were Douglas Burgis, Alan Taylor, Carl Pettifer and Robert Babcock of Toronto.

After the ceremony a reception was held at Villa Trent with 60 guests present. The bride's mother was in a gown of grey crepe, embroidered in pink petite point and wore a corsage of pink Briarcliffe roses. The groom's mother received in navy and white crepe with navy accessories and wore a corsage of pink roses. During the reception, Mrs. Don Bennett sang "I Love Thee."

The bride and groom exchanged gifts of a chest of silver and a signet ring. Gifts to the matron of honor and bridesmaids were cosmetic purses; to the flower girls, engraved silver bracelets, and to the waitresses, Doris Ames, Collen Rowe and Margaret Rutledge ear rings. The ushers and organist received gifts of silk ties and the groom's attendant, a signet ring.

Mr. and Mrs. Sutton left later on a wedding trip to Western Ontario and the United States. For travelling the bride chose a pink gabardine suit with white accessories, and carried a navy blue shortie coat and wore a corsage of Northland white carnations. They will reside in Norwood.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. Babcock and sons, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Burgis, Mr and Mrs. J. Ford, all of Toronto; Mr and Mrs. C. Collard, Oshawa; Mr. and Mrs. Y. Herchalves, Malartic; Mr. and Mrs. J. Sutton, Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. D. Reed, Napanee; Mr. and Mrs. C. Wright, Cannington; and Mrs. B. Hubbell of Havelock

Social Situations

SITUATION: At a large party your husband is off in a corner talking to an attractive woman.

WRONG WAY: Keep glancing in their direction, or join them.

RIGHT WAY: Join a group and try to have a good time yourself. (The wife who shows her jealousy in such a situation is likely to embarrass her hostess, her friends, and perhaps her husband.)

Close Village School Because It's Too Cold

CALEDON, May 25 — (CP) — A severe frost to-day hit Caledon, 25 miles north-east of Guelph, and it was so cold at 10 a.m. that the village school was closed for the day and more than 100 pupils sent home. The school heating system is shut off for the summer. Every roof was white with frost and the temperaure was 18 above at 7:00 this morning. Farmers fear crop damage, but its extent cannot be immediately determined.

Toronto Studies 3 Centre Plans

TORONTO, May 25 —(CP)— Tentative plans to build three homes or centres for the care of the chronically ill aged, at a cost of $2,500,000, are being studied by civic officials, Mayor Hiram McCallum said today.

He indicated this when announcing that although the Ontario government has refused to permit operation of Lambert Lodge — previously Christie St. Hospital—as such a home, it has agreed to pay 50 per cent of the cost of maintenance as a temporary measure.

The city's share of the cost of the new plan will be met through the ultimate sale of Lambert Lodge for industrial purposes.

The province would pay half the capital cost as well as 50 per cent of the maintenance as a temporary measure.

Madoc Man Fined $100 On Liquor Count

Oscar Spinks, Madoc, was fined $100 with $2.50 costs or three months in jail today at city police court for having liquor which was not obtained against his own permit. He pleaded guilty.

Provincial Constable Arthur Kellog of Hastings Detachment said he was called to Spinks' home at 3.10 a.m. Sunday by Mrs. Spinks. He found Spinks in an intoxicated condition with a case of ale which had not been obtained against his permit. The accused was on the interdicted list the Constable said.

Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., ordered the ale to be confiscated.

Aubrey Coppaway, Smith township was fined $50 with $2.50 costs or a month in jail when he pleaded guilty to having liquor in his car.

Crown Attorney John Bradshaw said the liquor had been bought from a bootlegger but the accused had refused to tell where he obtained it. Mr. Bradshaw suggested the $50 fine.

Harry Baker, Toronto, was fined $15 with $2.50 costs for having liquor in his car early today and $10 with $2.50 costs for driving a car inadequately equipped with brakes.

The Crown Attorney described the car as an old crock which should not have been on the road.

Officers Elected At Librarian's Meet

KINGSTON, May 25 —(CP)— Books are "the tools for the larger job of education, information and inspiration," Russell Munn, librarian of the Akron, O., public library, said here Tuesday.

Speaking at the final session of the Ontario Library Association convention, he said: "We must believe in the public library as a recognizes the latent need for its dynamic institution, one which services and attempts to create demand rather than reflecting those which arise from other stimuli."

Officers elected were: Lachlan F. MacRae, Fort William, president; Miss Louise Booth, Toronto, first vice-president; Miss M. H. C. Meikleham, Hamilton, second vice-president.

Councillors are: Miss Bertha Bassam, Toronto; Dr. C. S. Evans, Chatham; Robert A. Kennedy, Ottawa; Miss Isabel MacLean, Sudbury; Miss Gladys Shepley, Windsor.

Reports On Frost

LONDON, Ont., May 25 —(CP) Scattered frost damage was reported among garden plants, especially tomatoes, in the London district Tuesday night as the mercury dipped to an official low of 34.2 at city airport.

Tuesday's high temperature was 63 degrees and the 10 a.m. reading today 47 degrees.

"Now my week-end exercise is over, I suppose I'll have to try for the Acacia Avenue Lawn Tennis Club once more!"

Say Empty Rowboat Seen On Lake Simcoe

SUTTON, May 25 (CP)—Police today resumed their search for a stray boat on Lake Simcoe which may have contained one or more of the 170 entrants in Tuesday's holiday trout derby.

Since no record was kept of the fishermen entered in the contest there was no way of knowing if all the boats returned safely to this York County village, 45 miles north of Toronto, before a strong wind arose.

Two persons out on the lake reported seeing an empty rowboat with an outboard motor, but efforts to locate it failed.

1,000 Young People At Church Conference

AYLMER, May 25 —(CP)—In three Victoria Day sessions more than 1,000 young people of the United Home Missionary Church gathered from many parts of Ontario for the 24th annual conference, held at the Aylmer Baptist Church.

Members were present from Breslau, Cape Chin, Collingwood, Gormley, Hanover, Owen Sound, Petrolia, St. Catharines, St. Thomas, Stayner, Springley, Stouffville, Stratford, Toronto, Vineland, Wallace, London and other centres.

The conference was headed by Alan Embree of Kitchener, president of the three sessions and Miss Helen Kinzie, Kitchener, secretary-treasurer.

Officers elected: president, Alvin Pipher, Toronto, vice-president Howard Gillies, Collingwood and secretary - treasurer Helen Kinzie, Kitchener.

Careless Driving Brings Fine Of $15

The Rev. H. G. Douglas of Knox Church and Herbert Doherty, RR 1, Indian River, escaped injury when their cars collided Tuesday afternoon on Highway 7 four miles west of the city.

When Doherty faced a charge today in city police court of careless driving Provincial Constable David Coffey said the minister's car was damaged to the extent of $125 and he estimated damage to Doherty's car at $100.

Doherty was fined $15 with $2.50 costs by Magistrate W. R. Philp, K. C.

John O'Brien, RR 2, Indian River, who was involved in an accident Saturday at Simcoe and George Sts., was fined $10 with $2.50 costs for careless driving.

Display English Pub At Canada Trade Fair

TORONTO, May 25 (CP) — An English pub, complete with dart board and a Yorkshire barmaid, will be one of the main features of the Canadian International Trade Fair which opens here May 30. The pub, one of the exhibits from Sheffield, England, will be the scene for a darts tournament of members of the Toronto Men's Press Club.

The complete exhibit, weighing 15 tons and measuring 80 feet in length, was shipped across the Atlantic in sections.

It was not announced whether the pub will be open to the public.

$100,000 Damage Suit Filed By Strikers

SHERBROOKE, Que., May 25 —(CP)— Suits by striking miners against Canadian Johns-Manville Company of Asbestos, Que., charging violence on the part of Quebec Provincial Police on the company's premises total $100,000, it was shown in writs on file in Superior Court to-day.

There are four suits, each for $25,000 filed by Jean Noel Hamel, Girard Chamberland, Jean Paul House, and Alfred Blanchette.

Declarations filed on behalf of the men—members of the Federation of Asbestos Workers of which 5,000 are on strike for an increase of 15 cents an hour to $1 an hour—state they were beaten by members of the Quebec Provincial Police on May 6 in the Johns-Manville Company's nurses' residence at Asbestos.

Find Gun Barrel Near Murder

WINDSOR, May 25 — (CP)— What might prove a lead in the Sunday morning shotgun slaying of William D. Allen, 37, at his west end home, was announced by police today.

Police said a barrel and two shells of a 12-gauge shotgun were found Tuesday in a field near the murder scene.

Albert Ambedian, 14, found the gun barrel shortly after police had finished an extensive search of the area. The shells were nearby. The barrel was uncovered in beaten stalks of grass approximately 400 yards from Allen's Huron Line home.

Inspector of Detectives James P. Campbell said the barrel "might well be part of the murder weapon" and police are presently searching for the gun's wooden stock.

Allen was shot as he munched an early morning snack in the kitchen of his isolated home. Shotgun slugs, fired through a screened window, ripped into his face and head. He died in hospital less than four hours later.

Inspector Campell said identification of the gun barrel will be difficult. Small patches of rust which cover the metal surface of the barrel have prevented obtaining fingerprints.

Garson Says PC's Can't Reduce Taxes

BEAUSEJOUR, Man., May 25 —(CP). — Justice Minister Garson said Tuesday night that a Progressive Conservative Government could not reduce income tax exemptions and at the same time provide expanded social services.

He told an election rally here that the Progressive Conservatives had promised tax exemptions of $1,250 and $2,500 and also expanded services.

Speaking in support of J. S. Sinnott, Liberal candidate for Springfield constituency, he accused Opposition parties of "haphazard and trivial" criticisms during their election campaigns while "shying away from" serious criticism of any of the government's major achievements.

One of the things the Progressive Conservatives "shied away from," Mr. Garson said, was the last Federal budget, which raised income tax exemptions.

"They seem to think that a Liberal promise carried out is a 'bribery,' but a bigger Conservative promise involves no bribery at all, presumably because it will not be carried out."

Aged County Resident Has Hastings Funeral

Funeral for the late Mrs. Elizabeth Callaghan, 99, of Hastings, was held on Monday from the Duffus Funeral Home to Mount Carmel church, Hastings. Requiem Mass was said by the Rev. J. J. Garvey, and pallbearers were Patrick Crowley, Joseph Finn, Patrick Fitzpatrick, J. F. Walsh, Fred Barry and John Gibson. The Rev. C. J. Carroll officiated at the graveside service and burial was at St. Paul's cemetery, Norwood. There was a very large gathering of friends and relatives and many spiritual offerings were made.

Mrs. Callaghan died in Peterborough last Friday following a lengthy illness. She was born in Asphodel township, daughter of the late Michael Fitzpatrick and Susanna Christie, and came to the city from Hastings more than four years ago. She was a lifelong member of Mount Carmel church, Hastings, and very active in church affairs in her younger days.

Canadian Officials Block Fake Passport Ring On Tip From French Police

Say 4,000 Passports Circulating In France Fear Attempt May Be Made To Enter Dominion With Help From Ring

OTTAWA, May 26—(CP)—Canadian imigration officials, acting on a tip from French police, have blocked off a possible influx into Canada of persons using faked passports. Dr. H. L. Keenleyside, Deputy Minister of Mines and Resources, said the information from French police was received "five or six weeks ago" and indicated that a large number of false French passports were circulating in France.

Actual number in circulation was not stated in the information received from France, but other sources have reported the number to be as high as 4,000 and that the faked documents stemmed from a large phoney passport ring with headquarters in Paris.

The information supplied to the department indicated exactly the differences between the faked documents and genuine French passports. The Immigration Branch immediately distributed the information to all officers at points in Canada or abroad where passports would be presented by a person attempting to come to the Dominion.

No Attempts

"So far as we know," Dr. Keenleyside said, "nobody has managed to get into Canada with one of these passports, so far as we know, nobody has tried."

He added that the fake ring evidently was not aimed at getting people into Canada, according to information available to the department.

In any case, Dr. Keenleyside said, it would have been difficult for a person to enter Canada on such passports since most persons entering usually also have a visa as well.

In obtaining a visa, a person with a faked passport would probably be screened out by immigration authorities overseas.

West Demands Soviet Promise To End Blockade

PARIS, May 26 (AP)—A British diplomatic source said today the West is demanding assurance from Russia that her promise to end Berlin-blockade restrictions will be carried out to the letter.

The foreign ministers, who went into their fourth meeting of the current session on Germany, are reported being kept fully informed of developments in Berlin, where Western authorities charge Russia has started a new type of blockade by refusing to conciliate 12,000 Berlin rail strikers.

This foreign ministers conference was called on Russia's promise to end the travel and trade restrictions in Germany May 12, and the Allied counterblockade of Eastern Germany was lifted on those terms.

The British informant said that unless the Russian administration in Berlin gives a "satisfactory" assurance that "continuing difficulties" will end, the Western foreign ministers will call on the Soviet foreign minister, Andrei Y. Vishinsky, to intervene.

Diplomatic informants say the West will demand that Russia relax her grip on East-German industries as a condition for economic unity in Germany.

United States Wednesday night laid down the principle that Russia can expect no more reparations in any merger of East and West Germany. Britain said she would not agree to any proposal which took from the Germans

Find Verulam In 'Wet' District

LINDSAY, May 26 (CP)—The 1,200 residents of the southern Ontario township of Verulam, considered "dry" for 75 years, Wednesday discovered they are living in a "wet" district.

Although no liquor has been sold for 75 years, the Liquor Control Board of Ontario ruled that the township is "wet" since no local option vote was ever taken. The Board also ruled that sale of liquor will have to go into effect in the township before residents can vote it legally dry.

Judge W. T. Robb, chairman of the Liquor Licence Board of Ontario, said today the Board had reserved decision on an application from Wilfred Peters for a licence to sell beer at a lodge near Bobcaygeon.

Say Building Strike New End In Toronto

TORONTO, May 26 — (CP) — The longest and most widespread strike in the history of Toronto's building industry may end today.

Labor Minister Daley is expected to announce a formula for settlement of the strike, now in its fourth week, which has thrown 6,000 building laborers and tradesmen out of work and tied up $80,000,000 in industrial and commercial construction. Wage losses for the four-week period are estimated at $1,440,000.

Mr. Daley is to meet later today with representatives of employers and the union. A union council meeting was set for 3 p.m. EDT to consider the final settlement draft.

Believe US To Recognize Red Government In China

WASHINGTON, May 26—(AP)—The United States is trying to line up a global bloc behind a unified policy for dealing with a Communist regime in China. The aim of this united front is to prevent any hasty recognition of a Communist government and to keep the Chinese Communists from playing one power off against another in bargaining manoeuvres.

State Department officials said the United States has talked the matter over with Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, and with Pacific powers directly concerned with Chinese relations such as India and Australia.

These informants stressed, however, that the United States has no intention of recognizing a Communist regime immediately and has no time-table for future action.

Delay Action

In this connection, State Secretary Acheson was reported to have told a Senate committee last week that the United States will not take such actions as long as a Chinese Nationalist government exists.

But with the Communist forces rapidly expanding their grip over larger and larger portions of that war-torn country, the future of the Nationalist govenment is becoming increasingly problematical.

The US government anticipates the recognition problem will arise in the not-too-distant future. When it does, indications are that the United States then will decide that as a practical matter it will be better to recognize the Communists and establish some sort of working relations with them than to withhold recognition.

Reuther Loses His Right Eye

DETROIT, May 26 (AP)—Police sifted scant clues today on the ambush-attempt on the life of Victor Reuther, United Automobile Workers union leader, blinded in one eye by an unknown attacker's bullet.

At the same time the Federal Bureau of Investigation was considering whether to enter the investigation after a stream of requests from a number of quarters, including Congress, the CIO and the State of Michigan.

Reuther educational director for the CIO's big UAW union, was shot through a living-room window of his home Tuesday night.

The police clues were the weapon, a double-barreled, 12-gauge shotgun abandoned in the Reuther yard, and a heel print.

Surgeons at Henry Ford Hospital Wednesday removed Reuther's right eye, which a shotgun pellet had virtually ripped to pieces.

Reuther, 37, also shot in the face and neck, was reported in satisfactory condition after the operation.

Find Airman's Body

PORT McNICOL, Mey 26 (CP)—Missing since Jan. 16, 1945, the body of Pilot Officer James Francis McCormick of Port McNicol has been recovered from Diepholzer Moor, northwest of Hanover, Germany, his father said Wednesday. Patrick McCormick said he was informed by the RCAF that his son's body was recovered by dredging at 27 feet and subsequently [illegible] (Buchenwald) British military cemetery.

Fears Shipbuilding Faces Bleak Outlook In Canada

OTTAWA, May 26 (CP)—Outlook for Canada's shipbuilding industry is not encouraging, president R. J. R. Nelson of the Canadian Shipbuilding and Ship Repairing Association said today in his annual report.

Mr. Nelson, general manager of Halifax Shipyards, Ltd., was addressing the annual meeting of the Association here.

"The Association is extremely concerned over the future of shipbuilding in Canada, particularly from a long-range point of view," he said. The situation points to the need for some type of government encouragement beyond the scope of present aid."

Reviewing shipbuilding activities, Mr. Nelson said in his report that 1948 employment in member shipyards had averaged about 14,500 persons in 1948, with a "definite downward trend" noted in the last quarter, particularly in Pacific Coast yards.

At May 1, business on hand consisted of 20 ships of 74,785 gross tons.

Mr. Nelson said the outlook for export orders was not promising, because of dollar shortages and higher costs of Canadian-built ships than those in other countries, where wage rates were lower.

Canadian ship operators also were hesitating to place orders for new tonnage in Canadian yards because of comparative high costs of construction.

Force 30 Jews To Leap In Sea

HAIFA, Israel, May 26 (Reuters)—Seven young Jews are feared lost after a high-seas drama in which the captain of an Israel-bound schooner drew a gun and forced his 30 immigrant passengers to strip and jump into the water.

An official police statement, describing the incident Wednesday, said 23 had been saved after being in the water for 48 hours.

In the middle of the trip from an unidentified Mediterranean country—for which each Jew had paid him $200—the captain, who was not identified here, said he could not continue as he had no landing papers. He told the men they would have to jump into the water and make for Israel as best they could.

He threw into the sea about 30 wooden barrels tied together to make a raft, and one small boat holding five.

At first the Jews refused to jump. The captain and his crew of five drew their guns. The Jews begged the captain to wait until nightfall and then try to approach the coast.

Police Break Deaf Mute Hoax

ST. CATHARINES, May 26 — (CP)—A girl claiming to be an orphaned deaf mute caused three detachments of police hours of questioning and writing before they exposed her as a fraud.

Constable J. Richards of the Provincial Police detachment at nearby Grimsby said the girl introduced herself by a pencilled note Wednesday night as Deborah Kaufman, 17. She wanted police to find her sister in Grimsby.

[illegible] turned her over to Chief William James of the Grimsby police. Through notes, she informed him her parents both died in the Windsor tornado in 1947. When she wrote she was a United States citizen, the chief called in R.C.M.P.

The girl was placed in a convent overnight while police checked Windsor officials and were told "She is faking. Call Chief Ashby of Simcoe." The Simcoe chief said the girl once gave him a three-day runaround before he broke down her deaf-mute story.

SIMPLON PASS, Switzerland, May 26 (Reuters)—Princess Margaret driving into Switzerland today after her Italian holiday, stopped to pick flowers at the top of the 6,500-foot Simplon Pass. The Princess, who will spend two days in Switzerland, crossed the border at the remote customs post of Gondo, gateway to the Pass.

Constable Finds Family Dead At Home

Grizzly Scene Meets Policeman On Return From Night Duty Shift

HAMILTON, May 26 (CP). — Arriving home from duty after midnight on Wednesday night, Constable Earl Reid found his two baby sons drowned in the half-filled bathtub and his wife lying on the bed with her throat cut, an open Bible, and a bloody butcher knife on the dresser beside her.

Dead are 26-year-old Mrs. Margaret Reid and the couple's two infant sons, six-weeks-old George David and 17-months-old Thomas Frederick.

Constable Reid went off duty at midnight last night and arrived at his summit Avenue home at about 12:30.

A few minutes later, Constable Stan Edge, on duty at Central Police Station switchboard, received an incoherent call from the constable, telling him what had happened.

The police immediately dispatched the patrol wagon, a cruiser with Constable Don Macrae, the Fire Department inhalator, and Detectives Albert Bunn and Michael Andrews to the house.

Nothing could be done to save the children or their mother, however, and police reports today indicated that they had been dead for some time before Constable Reid arrived home.

Mrs. Reid had a deep wound underneath a scarf tied around her throat. A large knife lay at arm's length away from her on a dresser. It was covered with congealed blood.

Beside the knife lay the family Bible, and with some words written on it. The words "tired" and "love" were written in handwriting identified as Mrs. Reid's.

The two children were in the half-filled bathtub, both dead. The elder boy was unclothed and floating on his side, but the baby was still dressed in a small shirt.

Constable Reid called his father, Thomas J. Reid, who lives in the apartment above the younger Reids, and he came down to give what help he could. Dr. J. Heurner Mullin, chief coroner, was called and informed of what had happened.

This morning, he said that investigations were being conducted by himself into the three deaths. He could not say yet whether an inquest would be held.

Seemed Normal

Wednesday morning, the elder Mr. Reid had taken Constable Reid's son Thomas for a walk, and, he told police, Mrs. Reid had seemed quite normal then. Mrs. Florence Foster, her mother, said that she had talked over the telephone "for several minutes" with her daughter about 4 o'clock. The younger woman had said then that she intended to do her washing that evening. Police said they found no signs of it having been started.

Constable Reid was on duty from 4 o'clock to midnight Wednesday.

He has been with the Hamilton Police Department for about one and a half years, and previously served with the RCMP in the First Provost Corps.

Wedding Will Go On Thanks To Mayor

CANNES, France, May 26 (AP)—The wedding of movie star Rita Hayworth and Prince Aly Khan will go off on schedule on Friday—thanks to Communist Mayor Paul Derigon's disregard for official red tape.

A delay in the ceremony was feared because the Prince didn't want to go through with formalities normally required for French marriages be frowned on having a notice of intention to marry posted for 10 days on the City Hall door of the village of Vallauris. He also didn't want to publish a notice of intention abroad.

Mayor Derigon of Vallauris decided he could do without official word that those formalities had been waived. In fact, they have been waived, but official word has not filtered down through government channels.

The Mayor ordered a hurry-up whitewash job of the marriage chamber in the City Hall.

Ordered To Pay $300

TORONTO, May 25 (CP)—Judge Ian Macdonnel today ordered Harold Duffield to pay $300 and costs for damages in an automobile collision last September in which two members of the Chicago Black Hawks National Hockey League team were involved. The judge found that Duffield was two thirds to blame for the accident between Sudbury and North Bay in which a car driven by winger Gus Bodnar of Fort William crashed into Duffield's vehicle as he attempted to pass it on the highway.

Shanghai Fight Collapses, Reds Take Over

SHANGHAI, May 26 (AP) — Nationalist troops today ran up a white flag atop the Shanghai post office, and it appeared the dogged defence of the lower Soochow Creek was collapsing.

The Communists crossed the Szechuwan bridge and began rounding up Nationalist prisoners. The Garden bridge was evacuated by the Nationalists but still was under fire from the nearby Broadway Mansion, 17-floor apartment where a number of foreigners are trapped. The Communists had not tried to cross the creek there.

It seemed to be only a matter of hours before this tough knot of resistance which has delayed Communist occupation of north Shanghai, would be wiped out completely.

The trick was turned when the Reds got a flanking column behind the bridge defenders and made a simultaneous attack in front.

The whole city breathed a sigh of relief for the thousands of Chinese civilians who had been trapped since early Wednesday. They had endured all sorts of fire

Trying For Cease-fire

The British and United States Consulates were trying to intercede with both sides for a cease-fire order to enable trapped foreigners and other non-combatants to escape.

For almost 24 hours small Nationalist forces had kept the Reds away from the bridges.

The battle area embraced some of Shanghai's finest modern buildings north and south of Soochow creek. These include the post office and the British and Russian consulates.

Trapped in these and nearby apartment buildings were hundreds of foreigners—Britons, Americans, Portuguese, Netherlanders, French—and many Chinese.

Rifle and machine-gun fire splattered against some of the structures. A few bullets punctured them. Two bullets landed in the bedroom of John Cabot, United States consul general, in the Glenline building.

But so far the only known foreign casulaty was a British subject, R. P. Verenberg, wounded in a street near the American consulate.

This was the pattern of the battle of Shanghai on the second day of the Communist occupation:

Changed Hospital Board To Do Away With Politics

WINDSOR, May 26 — (CP) — Mayor Arthur Reaume, today told a royal commission that reorganization of the board of governors at Metropolitan General Hospital was done to "take the affairs of the hospital out of the hands of politics."

The mayor has been named as the person who paid most of the bills for a "party" in a Detroit hotel suite on Feb. 18, attended by four nurses from Metropolitan hospital.

The inquiry resulted from the resignation in February of Mildred Maybee as superintendent of nurses at the hospital and subsequent rumors of lack of discipline at the hospital and reports of wild parties involving the nurses at Detroit.

Asked by George Mitchell, counsel for the commission, if he thought the setup of the board of governors is now improved, Mayor Reaume said he thought it was.

Formerly the board of governors was appointed by the board of health which in turn was named by an elected body, the Windsor utilities commission. Under the present system council appoints four members of the 12-man board.

Mayor Reaume said the deficit of the hospital for the years 1938 to 1948 inclusive was more than $400,000.

Referring to the construction of a new nurses home, the mayor denied he had anything to do with Gordon Fuller obtaining the contract.

"I didn't even know who tendered until they were opened," he said.

Mr. Fuller, named as one of four Windsor men on a Detroit party with Metropolitan nurses, said Wednesday his bid was approximately $11,000 lower than the next lowest.

Two Elderly Men Escape From County Home Charge Cruelty, Starvation

Pair Walk Two Miles In Night Clothes In Near-Freezing Temperature, Reeve Orders Return, Promises Inquiry

ELORA, Ont., May 26—(CP)—Two elderly inmates of the Wellington County Home for the Aged who escaped Wednesday because they were "ill treated and starved," were returned to the home today. Reeve W. MacDonald, who ordered their return, said he had given officials at the home instruction not to punish the two men.

The two men, Aubrey Lawson, 62, and Andrew Robertson, 86, said they left the institution to return to their own homes because they "got nothing to eat and were locked up all the time."

The aged pair set out in their night attire in near-freezing temperature to walk the 20 miles to their homes. But after two miles they reached Elora, 15 miles north west of Guelph, and sought shelter in the home of Mrs. Pat Kirvan who noticed them huddled in her back yard at 7 a.m.

Reeve MacDonald, who has been leading a campaign in County Council for an investigation into the house, said, "more will be heard of this matter."

Has Only One Egg

Lawson, a pensioner because of failing eye-sight, said he had eaten an egg only once in the four mosths he had been in the home Home.

Six hogs had been slaughtered, but all the pork he had seen was a piece of the hide.

Robertson, who broke out once before, but was returned by a man who gave him a ride, said he was "afraid" to return.

"He said he was afraid they would take his teeth and not give them back," said Peter Chody, a neighbor of Mrs. Kirvan. "He said he went to the home voluntarily two years ago and has been trying to get out ever since."

Chody said Robertson told him the food was "terrible."

For breakfast Robertson said he was served a small bowl of porridge, watered syrup, weak tea and two pieces of stale bread. The bread was buttered "as if with a spray gun" it was put on so thin.

Britain Consulting Allies About China

LONDON, May 26—(AP) — A foreign office spokesman said today Britain is consulting the United States and other countries in forming a policy toward Communist China.

"We have made no contact with the Communists," he said, but added that British consuls in Communist-occupied territory are attempting to get in touch with Communist authorities.

"But that's their job," the spokesman added. "Their duty is to protect British nationals and property in those areas and they must try to contact existing local authorities in order to do that.'

"The question of recognition of the Communist government does not arise at the moment," the spokesman said. "I can't say in what direction—or how far—our thoughts have gone on that."

Derby Favorite Drawn By 5 In N. America

DUBLIN, May 26 (AP)—Five Canadian or United States residents today drew tickets on Royal Forest, 3-to-1 favorite in the Derby, in the Irish Hospitals Sweepstakes.

If Royal Forest wins the Derby at Epsom Downs June 4, the 12 holders of tickets drawn on the favorite will collect £25,000 ($100,000) each; if the horse runs second, each will get £10,000 ($40,000); and if Royal Forest runs third, £5,000 ($20,000). If the favorite fails to show in the race, each ticket holder on him will get £131 ($524.)

No names or addresses of the lucky ticketholders were given.

The total prize fund this year is £723,633

The fund, announced this morning just before hospital nurses began drawing the sweepstakes counterfoils, £6,017 more than the Grand National pay-off last March.

The first counterfoil drawn was JE 49242, bearing the nom de plume of "Winder" and on the horse Saxon Three. Since the horse will not run in the Derby, the holder of the ticket—either a Canadian or an American—will get the non-starters prize of £131 ($524.)

Hospitals of the Republic of £261,995 from the Sweepstakes fund. The Irish Government gets £87,332.

The total intake for the Sweepstakes was £1,636,666, slightly less than the £1,467,657 worth of tickets sold for the Grand National Sweepstakes.

Royal Couple Visit Belfast

BELFAST, May 26 — (AP)—Princess Elizabeth and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, today became honorary citizens of Belfast and received the freedom of the city.

Their names went on the roll of freemen as numbers 49 and 50—right behind those of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower and Lords Montgomery, Alexander and Alanbrooke.

The Royal couple arrived here by plane Wednesday night on a three-day visit.

Meanwhile, R.A.F. and Northern Ireland officials sought to determine how the Irish Republican tricolor had been raised to the masthead of Aldergrove airfield [illegible] police handled.

Braves No Man's Land To Help Wounded Man

SHANGHAI, May 26 (AP) — A heroic German doctor risked his life today to treat a wounded Briton—first known foreign casualty in the battle of Shanghai.

Dr. Horst Schneider ran and crawled up Peking road, a no-man's land between Communist and Nationalist lines, to reach the United States Consulate.

The wounded Briton, R. P. Verenberg, crept through a cross-fire to the consulate after being struck by machine-gun bullets during the fighting for the bridges across the Soochow creek.

Earlier, consulate officials said Verenberg, who holds a British passport but comes from the western sector of occupied Berlin, probably would die if medical aid were not available.

May Break Atomic Deadlock Russian Delegate Hints Before U.N. Commission

Malik Makes Most Conciliatory Statement In A-Control Discussion, Says McNaughton May Ease Differences

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., May 26—(CP)—Russia today voiced the possibility of breaking the deadlock on proposals for international control of atomic energy. Jacob A. Malik, Soviet deputy foreign minister, made what informed western sources said was his most conciliatory statement before the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission.

He was answering a pledge made by Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton that the Canadian delegation will give the "most careful consideration" to explanations of the Soviet proposals which have been rejected by the commission and the general assembly.

The western powers criticize the Russian plan generally as having loopholes whereby aggressive powers could manufacture atomic bombs secretly. Russia rejects the majority plan, contending it would give the United States world control of atomic energy production.

Malik said he understood McNaughton means "perhaps to find ways and means of bringing our points of view closer together."

May Break Deadlock

"If this is so, we may be able to move away from the present deadlock," Malik added. Earlier he bitterly attacked the majority proposals and called for immediate prohibition of atomic bombs.

Without taking a vote, the commission decided to send to its working committee for further study both the Soviet plan and the majority-backed proposal which was approved last fall by the general assembly.

Later, it was learned, Frederick Osborn, United States delegate, asked Malik if he would agree to having the working committee meetings closed to the press and public. It was understood Malik refused.

Some sources interpreted Osborn's move as indicative the United States may have some new proposals to put forward.

McNaughton, formerly Canada's defense minister, will be chairman of the working committee for June. He is expected to call a meeting of the 11-member group next week.

Say Red Holds Key Palace Job

LONDON, May 26 (AP) —Members of Commons have received letters complaining that a Communist has wormed himself into a key job at the residence of the King and Queen, it was disclosed Wednesday night by Labor member Emrys Hughes during a debate on the government's loyalty purge.

After asking Prime Minister Attlee what has been done with government employees suspected of being Communists or Fascists, Hughes queried: "Are any of them at Buckingham Palace?"

Attlee did not reply. He did say, however, that 50 government employees "in certain parts of the civil service" have thus far been tabbed suspect.

The last Nationalist defenders had the bridges and had guns and snipers in many buildings.

Communist attackers were inching forward on the south side of the creek. In some places they had reached Peking road and the approaches to the bridges.

The Nationalist stand was incredible. Sooner or later they were certain to be flanked from up-stream. Behind these Nationalists, the garrison evacuation continued northward from Hongkew. All last night the Communists kept their big guns pounding against this escape corridor that fringes the Whangpoo river all the way to the Yangtze and the sea.

Drew Pledges Senate Reform If Election Won

By The Canadina Press

George Drew hammered a Senate-reform plank into the Progressive Conservative election campaign platform Wednesday night.

Pursuing his Western campaign, he told a party rally at Saskatoon that the Progressive Conservatives, if elected to power in the June 27 vote, will establish a joint Senate-Commons committee to recommend effective reform of the Upper Chamber.

As Mr. Drew continued a two-meetings-a-day pace across the prairies, Prime Minister St. Laurent toured Quebec's northwestern mining areas before striking into Ontario. M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. Leader, concentrated his vote-getting campaign in Ontario's industrial areas.

Mr. Drew referred to Communism after anti-Drew leaflets issued by the Saskatoon committee of the Labor-Progressive party were handed to all persons entering the meeting. There was no disturbance.

Communists, he added, stood for the repudiation of everything Canadians loved.

The present government had treated both houses of parliament with contempt, he said. As far back as 1921, the Liberal government had promised reform of the Senate but since then had done more and more to deny the Senate an opportunity to be useful.

Tax Change

The people of northwestern Quebec heard Mr. St. Laurent announce a tax change which, he said, should be a boon to their mining economy.

By a change under its recent budget, which was not passed by parliament before dissolution, the government is extending to the base-metal industry virtually the same right to capital writeoffs now allowed new gold mines. This, the prime minister said, "should mean a great deal in terms of more assured development of this and other base metal mining areas throughout Canada."

The government, if returned, will reintroduce in parliament a bill to compensate high-cost gold mine operators for the fact they have to operate at a fixed selling price during a costly period.

He will join Newfoundlanders June 24 in celebrating Founder's Day, commemorating the discovery of the island by John Cabot in 1497, and will make two or three speeches during a visit there which will probably conclude his campaign for the June 27 election.

Duplessis Control

Mr. Coldwell said if the Tories are elected to power on June 27 the Federal Government will be controlled by Premier Duplessis of Quebec.

"A vote for a Tory candidate is a vote for another form of invisible government at Ottawa controlled by the irresponsible hand of Maurice Duplessis," he told an election campaign meeting in Brantford.

Mr. Coldwell said he was referring to reports that Premier Duplessis' Union Nationale machine was being thrown behind Progressive Conservative candidates in Quebec in the Federal election.

It was an "unholy alliance between the ultra-Nationalist, anti-British followers of Premier Duplessis" and the "Imperialist Tory followers of (Progressive Conservative Leader) George Drw."

It was also another indication of "an insincere, hypocritical attempt by the Conservatives to achieve power by any means—moral, amoral, or immoral."

Mr. Coldwell denied he had advised anyone to vote for the Liberals if they could not vote for a CCF candidate.

Prices Irregular In Dull Trading

TORONTO, May 26 (CP) — Prices moved irregularly in dull trading here today. Base metals showed signs of tightening in early dealings but turned heavy in midseason. Industrials firmed while a few golds eased.

Wednesday's declines were halted as selling pressure rang out but the market couldn't cook up enough steam for a recovery movement. Base metals were caught between reductions in price by Canadian consumers and announcement by Prime Minister St. Laurent that new producers would be given the same help given new gold mines.

A few base metal stocks tightened but relaxed as the session progressed. Consolidated Smelters dipped $1 to a new low at $94.

Utilities eased in a quiet industrials list while a few scattered issues tightened. Junior gold producers were lower in very dull activity.

RECOVERY PROJECT

The largest single recovery project in Britain is the new iron and steel works near Margam, in South Wales.

Chevrier Raps Discord Drew Creates

MONTREAL, May 26—(CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier on Wednesday night referred to George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, as "an imperialist from Ontario, who raged against Quebec, its leaders and often its people, who suddenly extends his hand on the eve of the election to Mr. (Premier) Duplessis" of Quebec.

The minister told the annual meeting of the Montreal Young Liberal Association that the Progressive Conservatives had no chance of winning the forthcoming Federal election "because they are almost exclusively a provincial party" with strength emanating from Ontario.

He said that "throughout his life, Drew has tried to foment discord and I must admit that he succeeded."

Mr. Chevrier said he referred to Mr. Drew's action in bringing about investigations into the Bren gun contract and the sending of troops to Hong Kong.

Now, the minister said, the Progressive Conservative leader was fomenting new trouble by making groundless charges about aircraft produced in Montreal by Canadair Limited.

"His attack on the T.C.A. (Trans-Canada Air Lines) has been of such a character that people in Toronto have been known to cancel their reservations aboard these planes and receipts in the Toronto office of the T.C.A. have fallen."

the powers of self-government conferred by the three western powers. Foreign Minister Vishinsky of Russia stood firm on his proposals to unify Germany by reviewing the four-power Allied Control Council, and said suggestions to extend the Bonn Constitution to the eastern zone was a western attempt to take all Germany.

These were the main developments at the third session of the council of foreign ministers, as reported by official western press observers.

Although it was yet early in the conference, the positions taken by the four powers appeared to be hardening along the lines which deadlocked all their previous efforts to reach a German settlement.

Vishinsky yesterday proposed reviving the Allied Control Council, in which, he made clear today, Russia's veto power would be kept intact. The proposals would give her a voice in control of the Ruhr, considered vital to the European recovery program.

State Secretary Acheson, Foreign Secretary Bevin and Foreign Minister Schuman laid down what the basic agreements must be before there is any agreement on the machinery for governing Germany.

Acheson devoted his answer largely to the economic side.

He said there was no possibility of achieving unity of Germany until there was more light on the economic conditions of East Germany.

"What has been done in the Soviet zone?" he asked. "Information has been called for that was never provided."

The western powers, especially the United States, had poured millions of dollars into Germany to avert starvation and aid economic recovery, and West Germany still had a difficult economy.

"This means there is no surplus in German economy as far as the West is concerned," he said. "Here is no surplus for reparations. There is nothing that can be skimmed over without destroying much that has to be accomplished."

Good choice weighty steers brought $22-$22.60. Medium to good light steers sold for $21-$22. Good heifers brought up to $21.50.

Calves were steady at $24-$26 for choice with plain to medium lightweights selling downwards to $16.

Hogs were steady at $31 for grade A and $30.60 for grade B1.

Ede Parries Eisler Position

LONDON, May 26 — (AP)— Home Secretary Chuter Ede parried all attempts today to find out whether he will declare Communist Gerhart Eisler a genuine political refugee.

"This matter is before the court tomorrow," Ede told questioners in the House of Commons.

Eisler is scheduled to appear in Bow Street Magistrate's Court Friday for a hearing on a United States demand for his return to the United States, where he faces two prison sentences.

He was forcibly removed from the Polish ship Batory May 14 by British police at Southampton. The police acted on a warrant asked by United States authorities.

Labor member Ben Levy had asked if Ede would "satisfy himself not only that a technical charge can be substantiated but also that this is not a pretext for political action."

15 Tons Of Hay Burned To Save Fruit From Frost

MEAFORD, May 26 — A smoke-screen is credited by growers in this district with saving tender fruit blossoms from frost. When the temperature dropped to 28 degrees, three growers burned more than 15 tons of hay in a successful effort to avert a serious loss.

Smoke from the baled hay hung over the orchards like a pall and it dried up the frost as it raised the temperature. The system used was similar to the smudge pots in the tropical fruit belts and it was the first time such action had been taken in this Georgian Bay fruit belt.

The new system was used over the extensive fruit holdings of Walter Cramp, Edgar Robinson and C. E. Bennett. As soon as the temperature commenced to drop a fleet of trucks rushed the baled hay to the orchards.

On Wednesday the blossoms did not appear to be injured and the bloom was termed satisfactory by the growers. The cold weather makes it impossible for the bees to work, and this condition is also causing some concern.

Attempted Murder

CARAQUET, N.B., May 26—(CP)—George Duguay of Tracadie, N.B., sought since Saturday for the wounding of two girls of that village, was arrested by RCMP Wednesday near St. Simon, 10 miles from here. Police said Duguay will be taken to Bathurst today and charged with attempted through government stores.

Bloody Adventures Of Jake Bird Nearing Final Hour Despite Hex

WALLA WALLA, Wash., May 26.—(AP). — The violent adventures of Jake Bird appeared to be nearing their final hour today.

Unless the Court of Appeals at San Francisco grants a last-hour stay, the convicted ax-slayer will die at 4:30 a.m. EDT tomorrow on a gallows he has cheated for a year and a half.

Behind him, if and when he goes, the Negro leaves an almost incredible story of bloodshed, guile and hexes.

During his imprisonment, officers say the 47-year-old transient has confessed involvement in or knowledge of four slayings. He was sentenced to die in connection with the bludgeon killing of Mrs. Bertha Kludt and her daughter Oct. 31, 1947, in Tacoma, Wash.

During his battle to escape the noose, Bird brought his case twice before the United States Supreme Court, three times before the Washington State Supreme Court, once before a Federal District Court and a half dozen or more times in State Superior Court on Appeal. He has delayed executions set for Jan. 16, 1948, and Jan. 14, 1949.

When he received his first death sentence, Bird told Superior Judge E. D. Hodge:

"Wait and see. All of you who had anything to do with this case will die before I do."

This was the famous Bird hex. Judge Hodge died a month later of a heart attack. These others died during the next few months: Undersheriff Joe Karpach, Court Clerk Ray Scott, Detective Sherman Lyons and Lawyer J. W. Selden, who defended Bird.

Bird said Wednesday, however, that the hex "is a lot of hooey."

Bird mailed his petition to the San Francisco court Tuesday night after he failed to win a stay of execution through a petition — and two hours of arguing in his own behalf — in District Court here.

Bird's plea for clemency is based on his contention that he was forced to confess to the Kludt slaying because of third-degree methods by Tacoma police.

Jake awoke in his prison cell Wednesday with a yen to talk with all who would listen. He wanted to talk, in particular, about two cases—one of which he claims took place in Iowa 20 years ago and another in Chicago. Warden Tom Smith told Bird to put it on paper and the document would be turned over to the proper officials and the press after the execution.

Warden Smith said that 800 persons have submitted requests to see Bird hang. Most have been denied.

Said Too High Hospital Rates

QUEBEC, May 26 (CP)—Hospital rates for the majority of the public cannot be increased to a much higher level than at uresent, Arthur J. Swanson, president of the Canadian Hospital Council and Superintendent of Toronto's Western Hospital told the opening session of the council's 10th biennial meeting today.

Administrative staffs of hospitals are trying by every means to stabilize costs to patients, Mr. Swanson said.

"There are signs that hospital costs have, in the past two or three months, stabilized although there is no doubt that we are still paying disturbingly high costs for commodities and services.

"Hospital costs rose at an alarming thing to hear of public ward costs of $9-$10-per-day."

Present facilities are entirely inadequate to meet today's demands, he said. All hospital services would have to be expanded and there must be Federal or Provincial aid toward extending facilities

Boy Had Bad Dream Shoots Brother, Wife

CUMBERLAND, Md., May 26—(AP)—A 16-year-old boy who said he got up from a bad dream and shot his brother and sister-in-law was held here today on a charge of murder.

The sister-in-law, 18-year-old Mrs. Katherine Brewster, died Wednesday of two shotgun wounds in the neck. Her 23-year-old husband, Thomas, was shot in the leg.

State's Attorney said the youth, Randolph Brewster, told him he "had a bad dream" while sleeping in his brother's home.

"When I got awake, I was dazed," he said. "Something told me to get the gun, and I got it and shot him and she jumped up and screamed and I shot her."

Doctor Said Victim Of Jealous Husband

ST. LOUIS, May 26—(AP)—A Pennsylvania doctor said Wednesday night that a suit accusing him of fathering a child and billing the woman's husband for delivery of the baby was "filed for revenge and some easy money."

Dr. Paul A. Hinchberger was named in a $50,000 suit filed at Butler, Pa., by Clair W. Hutzler.

Hutzler alleged the doctor was the father of a son born to Mrs. Hutzler six months ago. Hutzler also charged Hinchberger sent a bill to him for $122.50 for the delivery.

The doctor said he had not asked Hutzler to pay "a single cent" for delivery of the baby.

Cobourg Man Awarded Damages Of $4,353.43 For Crash Injuries

COBOURG, May 26 (ENS) — In the first case tried locally under the Unsatisfied Judgment section of the Ontario Highway Traffic Act, judgment for $4,353.43 and costs was handed down in Supreme Court yesterday in favor of Daniel Parsons of Cobourg. Parsons received leg injuries in February of last year when struck by a car driven by Robert Dunn of Hope township.

Dunn admitted liability, but the action was defended on behalf of the Minister of Highways by A. R. Wilmott, KC, of Cobourg. Counsel for the plaintiff was Harry Deyman of Cobourg and the action was tried before Mr. Justice Genest. The action was primarily one of assessment of damages.

Parsons asked $1,074.95 for medical bills; $2,000 for wages and $3,000 compensation for the injuries received. He was allowed $1,972.48 for wages plus $500 for future compensation; $880.95 for medical expenses and the sum of $1,000 for pain and suffering.

Laid Up Long Time

Evidence of Parsons was that he was walking along William St. to his home, along the highway on the night of Feb. 8, 1948, when he heard a car coming behind him. He was struck and was in the hospital from the time of the accident until April 26, and was also confined to bed at his home for several months after release from hospital.

Dr. F. P. Lloyd and Dr. W. W. Wilkins gave evidence on the extent of his injuries. Dr. Wilkins gave his opinion that after about three months physiotherapy treatments, Parsons should have fairly normal use of his leg again.

Dr. Lloyd said that there was about 15 per cent. movement in the ankle as compared to a normal 50 per cent. He felt that Parsons would improve considerably as time went on, but all the physiotherapy treatments given to him would not help him materially unless he co-operated by persistent use of his leg.

Being Shanghaied

The expected capture of Shanghai by the Chinese Communists has come to pass. The city has capitulated without much damage to its fabric or loss of life within it. This is just as well — there was no point in the Nationalists making a last-ditch stand, even if they had been able to do so.

* * *

What has happened to Shanghai is significant but it is not now clear of what it is significant other than the immediate and obvious fact that the Reds are winning and the Nationalists losing in the long civil war. There is an English verb "to shanghai". It means to drug a man, and ship him as a sailor without his leave or wish. It has a broader meaning of forcing a person or an issue along a certain course despite a reluctance or violent but ineffective opposition to it. Has Russia being shanghaied into accepting China as a Communist commitment?—sprawling, teeming China which no one group has ever controlled successfully? Has the western world been shanghaied—drugged into apathy about the Orient and Communism's growing power there and waking too late to do anything about it?

Third Avenue, No Fourth Please

Peterborough's Town Planning Board has approved a request to erect a six-dwelling apartment building on Clonsilla Avenue at Third Avenue. We mention the matter because it reminds us that Peterborough has a Third Avenue. It has also a Second Avenue. Both these streets run between High Street and the Port Hope Highway (now called Clonsilla in that area) south of Sherbrooke. There is no First Avenue, no Fourth, and no other numbered streets or avenues or boulevards or driveways in Peterborough as far as we are aware. We are pleased that this is so.

Numbered streets may be well enough for New York and other American cities. Even Calgary and places in Western Canada seem to get along with them. But here in Peterborough there is a tradition that streets be named. Our Second and Third avenues are importations from the township of North Monaghan. Long before the city moved to them, the township had named, or rather, numbered them.

A street with a number and no name can too easily be as lacking in individuality, as a jailbird with a number. There is already too much uniformity in this twentieth century civilization and the way people and things are numbered off shows it: Buses are numbered, so are ration cards, workers on their unemployment insurance books, soldiers in records and on parade, cars, vitamins, babies in hospitals, books on shelves and branches of labour unions.

We admit that there are certain advantages to having houses numbered rather than named. A house known as 946 Charlotte Street is better than one named Rose Nook. A thousand Rose Nooks in Peterborough would be a bit thick. And probably it is more convenient for people who come to seek us out that this paper is published at 400 Water Street rather than at The Sign of the Eagle Eye, Formerly The Munro Public House (which it was). The only kind of numbering we really approve of is the sort implied by the numbering of the hairs of the head.

Some of Peterborough's new street names have been chosen with a singular lack of sensibility, but even Clonsilla Avenue is better than First Avenue. Incidentally, what is the matter with calling this Charlotte Street extension simply Charlotte Street? Why Clonsilla —a very mulish word to say and spell? If it must have a separate name, why not The Gravel Road, to remind us of its ancestry?

Let us have no First or Fourth or any more numbered streets. Fifth Avenue (N.Y.) has achieved its eminence despite, not because of its lack of name. And is our thesis not supported by the fact that a very much smaller street with a name like Wall Street is still more important than Fifth Avenue?

Free Conversion Of Pounds Has Been Tried Before

Mr. George Drew, Conservative leader, said in the Maritimes recently that he would, if his party were put into power, take immediate steps to make dollars and pounds freely convertible as quickly as possible. As we have already pointed out in these columns, that is a bigger job than even Mr. Drew can handle. Has Mr. Drew so short a memory that he forgets what happened when pounds were made freely convertible in 1947?

On July 15th, 1947, the large American loan to Britain came into use. So also did the terms of the loan. One on which the Americans insisted despite British misgivings was that the British convert sterling at request into any currency specified by the holder of the sterling. Of course, the currency wanted most was American dollars .

Foreseeing the difficulties, Britain had for months been making preparations to lessen them. Agreements were negotiated prior to July 15th with five of the major creditors—Argentina, Brazil, Egypt, India and Iraq. These countries agreed to freeze their accumulated sterling assets. Other sterling was not affected. On July 15th the pound became freely convertible. Immediately a run on dollars began. Within six weeks the financial situation became so desperate that the entire Anglo-American loan agreements including the convertibility clause was rescinded. When an accounting was made, it was found that out of the £1,100,000,000 loan £1,000,000,000 had been used up to August 29th.

So much for any quick way of making pounds freely convertible into dollars. We think that Mr. Drew must be talking airy politics rather than sound, practical sense, when he made his proposal in the Maritimes.

Franco Bares The Fact

Franco, dictator of Spain on a less grandiose but more successful plane than Hitler or Mussolini—because Franco's regime continues and Franco lives—gave voice to some coy statements last Wednesday. He admitted that Spain was being 'pushed' toward the American continent "wherein the United States has achieved the ruling position". It is being forced into this perhaps distasteful position because European states are "so clumsy, so old and so divided". What he might have said is that his own regime is so bankrupt that he is appealing to the United States for help. Instead he condescends to say "Realities lead us toward the United States, but with dignified relations, reciprocal loyalty and clear friendship". What a touching use of the word loyalty, in the mouth of such a man! And we suspect that the United States can get along quite comfortably without the friendship of Franco's Spain. It would be much easier to be friends with Spain if Franco were gone from it to some other world.

Franco's words flew back to the war years, when Franco gave the Allies what now seems to Franco magnificent assistance. "Not one of the foreign conspirators passed unnoticed by us, and over half of the secret agents used by foreign powers were in our employ and were playing a double game". Undoubtedly the "foreign agent" included British agents. We do not doubt that Franco played a double game with them. He is quite good at double games, and is now doing some double tracking and double talking vis-a-vis the United States.

Learn To Swim

Both the Y.W.C.A. and the Y.M.C.A. are giving swimming lessons to school children who cannot swim, and during the summer, through facilities to be provided by the Recreation Commission, instruction will be available at city pools. There is much water in this district and much fun to be had on and in it. There is also an opportunity for all people, adults and children alike, to learn to swim. The two are complementary—the opportunity to swim and the opportunity to learn to swim. Each year the number of non-swimmers is decreasing, and we hope that soon everybody in this district will have mastered the simple and almost essential skill except those who have taken a vow never to boat or bathe in open water.

The accident at Lake Couchiching near Orillia over the holiday week-end could have been avoided. A young soldier was drowned when his canoe upset. He could not swim. It is too late to say that he should have been able to swim or he should not have been in a canoe. In such matters it is not a case of 'live and learn'.

Scotland expects to export canned haggis soon, thereby adding another dainty tidbit to the stock which the prudent housewife keeps on her shelf, just in case some one should drop in unexpectedly during the evening.

From The Critic's Notebook

JEAN BAROIS by Robert Martin du Gard, translated from the French by Stuart Gilbert (Macmillan). This novel is an earlier work than "The Thibaults" which won for its author the Nobel prize for literature in nineteen thirty-seven. "Jean Barois" was written as early as nineteen thirteen, but has only recently been translated and published on this continent, so it reaches us belatedly.

It is a novel of ideas, with a rather cold intellectual quality. Many of the ideas it discusses must have seemed advanced and perhaps disturbing to its earlier readers, although now they are accepted and have become part of the viewpoint of our day. The main issue, the intellectual struggle of Barois, torn between his family's Roman Catholic tradition and the free-thinking science-worshipping cult of the eighteen-nineties, is still decidedly alive in modified form. (Judging from recent discussions in the advanced magazines, the young intellectuals of today in England and the United States have resumed the struggle with this dilemma where du Gard's hero left off. Perhaps the forty year time lag is due in part to the intervention of the two great wars.)

Jean Barois, a science teacher in a church school, is married while young to a devout Roman Catholic. Overwhelmed by doubt, and having the quality of mind which makes compromise impossible, he breaks all ties with his past and goes to Paris. There he becomes a member of a group of free-thinkers who publish an anti-clerical journal and take part in the Dreyfus case on the side of moral justice against officialdom. Through these activities the members of the group become famous, or notorious, and in this portion of the book we are given a picture of these sincere sceptics living in a refrigerated atmosphere where religious and personal emotion are outlawed. The various characters are illuminated almost entirely through their ideas, expressed in tracts, letters and speeches. The complete confidence of these fanatics in scientific solutions for all man's problems seems curiously naive and at times almost comic, as no doubt the author intended, but unfortunately it also seems so dated that the effect is like that of an early newsreel, with ideas substituted for people

Dissatisfied with materialism, and apparently a convert, Barois on his death-bed is still torn. Conclusions are not definitely drawn, but left in part to the reader.

This book is a long argument about the conflicting effects of the teachings of science and religion on the soul of one individual. As in most arguments, nothing is resolved. In a work of art, I find this ambivalence unsatisfactory, because there is no resting place beyond the struggle. The style is a little unusual, employing dialogue as it is used in playwriting, with short connecting notes of explanation. The use of short, sharply focussed scenes enables the writer to cover long periods of time without unnecessary digression but the effect is brittle. In places, the translation is downright poor.

"Jean Barois" may not be popular, but it will certainly be controversial. Recommended to those who like philosophical discussion in novel form. H.T.K.

THE THEORY AND PRACTICE OF GAMESMANSHIP by Stephen Potter. The sub-title of this book is "The Art of Winning Games Without Actually Cheating", and it fills a gap in the literature of sport which has gaped painfully for several centuries. Mr. Potter, who is a humorist of a rare sort, undertakes to show his readers a multitude of ways in which they can so rattle, infuriate or disarm their opponents that they can beat them at almost any sort of game. If it is impossible to win, he explains how it is possible to rob the winner of all joy in his success. It is a wonderful satire on the much-admired English notion that it is more important to be a sportsman than to win a game; it also reflects upon the converse American notion that it is important to win a game, whatever means may be used. In fact, it is a wonderful book about all people who forget that a game is a pastime, and not a religion. R.D.

DR. FAUSTUS by Thomas Mann (Knopf). This is Thomas Mann's most recent novel. It is translated from the German by H. T. Lowe-Porter who has done nearly all of Mann's English translations since 1924 and done them with a skill which conceals the translators' art.

Copiousness is one of the less fallible signs of greatness. Mann is copious in the variety of his themes and treatment, and in the plentitude of his ideas and imagery. He is copious even within one book, and "Dr. Faustus" a philosophic treatise as much as a novel, is a large-scale work in which two men's lives are treated with the detail and breadth of a tapestry. It is in essence a psychological inquiry into the nature of human destiny, particularly of German destiny during and between the two wars. Perhaps only a German can understand all the implications of this great study. Published in German a couple of years ago it has created a sensation in that country.

It may be said that a 500-page novel gives its author considerable page room, and that this novel is so replete with philosophic discussion, musical analysis and theological inquiry into the nature of evil that the story is lost sight of. But there is a story, and the discursions into philosophy and music are so rewarding that when the story lags a careful reader willing to use his mind will have his interested sustained. Mann demands mental and spiritual efforts from his readers; so does any great writer.

He is comparable to his compatriot Jakob Wassermann whose suicide in 1934 should have been a warning to the world of its impending social fate. Both have written in what some typify as a Germanic strain, though it is more continental European. I do not think "Dr. Faustus" is as great a novel as Wassermann's 'The World's Illusion" but that does not belittle Mann's achievement.

The story of "Dr. Faustus" is the life of Adrian Leverkuhn who deserted the study of theology for music, and God for the Devil. It is written as a biography of the fictional Leverkuhn by his boyhood companion and loving lifelong friend Serenus Zeitblom, Ph. D., a teacher. Leverkuhn dies mad, infantile. his greatness as a composer recognized by esoteric groups, his compact with the Devil to whom he bargained his soul for intellectual and artistic comprehension, sealed. Hence the title of the book.

I dare not attempt an assessment of the novel in a few paragraphs. I can but say in reference to the copiousness referred to above that few pages are without reward; a line, a disturbing phrase, an illuminating exposition of music or character. This line, for instance: "What is art today? A pilgrimage on peas". This phrase: "The highest passion concerns the abolutely questionable".

The biographer Zeitblom is supposed to be writing the account in Germany during the later war years. This device gives a timeliness to the novel which Mann exploits. I found this novelistic opportunism rather annoying in such a great writer. Post facto comment pretending to be contemporary with the events can be artistically unconvincing.

No one should be able to read this book without having his experience enlarged, and his mind and heart stirred. Unfortunately few will be able to read it. It requires more from the reader than most people have the patience, the psychic resources, or the wit to give it.

Council of Europe

(MANCHESTER GUARDIAN)

(The statute of the Council of Europe was signed at St. James's Palace on May 5th by the foreign ministers of its ten founder-members Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, Holland, Sweden, Denmark, Eire, Norway and Luxemburg. The statute contains 42 articles. The aim of the Council is defined as: "To achieve a greater unity between its members for the purpose of safeguarding and realizing the ideals and principles which are their common heritage and facilitating their economic and social growth". Matters of defence are specifically excluded from the competence of the Council. This new international organization functions both on the governmental and on the non-governmental levels. It consists of a committee of Ministers from each member-State and a consultative assembly of national delegations. The former will be entirely official; the latter unofficial. Both organs will be served by an international secretariat. The seat of the Council will be at Strasbourg. Any European State is eligible for membership provided it accepts and is capable of putting into effect the principles which inspire the Council—namely, "The rule of law and the enjoyment by all persons within its jurisdiction of human rights and fundamental freedoms".)

TRUE enough, the foundation of the Council of Europe is an historic occasion but it is also important to realise that is represents an historic experiment, and not to expect quick results. What is being set up is a Committee of Ministers, meeting as a Cabinet in private, and an Assembly, or one-Chamber Parliament, formed of members of Parliament of the various countries, who will conduct their debates in public. Neither body is to be given concrete tasks of any urgency, and the Council's job at the moment is less to make itself useful than to prove that so unorthodox and relatively democratic an international machine can actually work. Until it has found this knack we can reckon with more than the usual nonsense and muddle: but unless it risks this it has no chance of succeeding. For the essence of the Council, and specifically of the Assembly, is that it is democratic rather than diplomatic; the delegates who until now have made up all major international bodies are here replaced by Parlimentary representatives who will not be bound to speak in their Governments' name.

It is most welcome, and necessary, that our representatives should include members of the Opposition, but this is as far as we have gone in admitting new, undiplomatic principles. Communists have been excluded by definition, and though this would be only natural in a delegation which had an urgent job of work to do it is less justifiable in what is meant to be a democratic body; the argument which excludes them would exclude them from any parliament, and the claim of the Assembly to speak for all Europeans will be much weakened.

EVEN so our representatives are to be Government - appointed rather than delegated by Parliament; there is not much harm that the new body is to be allowed to do, but all the same we are playing very safe and the diplomatic tradition dies hard. With all its handicaps, the Assembly will provide the chance of a livelier manifestation of the European spirit than is seen in the usual flat official conferences, and this, once it can learn to keep that liveliness within bounds, is what it is for.

Until now there have been two types of international meeting: the one to which Governments listen but the public does not, and that which catches the public imagination but scares the Governments out of their wits. The Council of Europe has a chance at best to combine the advantages, at worst the demerits, of both. It is bound to start chaotically, and it will be hard for it to keep public interest alive without becoming over-ambitious. But its main point is to work at all, and in present-day European travel restrictions it has a good, safe, popular subject on which it might start.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the Lord spake unto Moses, saying, Speak unto all the congregation of the children of Israel, and say unto them, Ye shall be holy: for I the Lord your God am holy.... Regard not them that have familiar spirits, neither seek after wizards, to be defiled by them: I am the Lord your God. (Lev. 19: 1, 2, 31.)

❖ ❖ ❖

The Lord thy God will raise up unto thee a Prophet from the midst of thee, of thy brethren, like unto me: unto him ye shall hearken. (Deut. 18: 15.)

❖ ❖ ❖

When Jesus came into the coasts of Caesarea Phillippi, he asked his disciples, saying, Whom do men say that I the Son of man am? And they said, Some say that thou art John the Baptist: some, Elias; and others, Jeremias, or one of the prophets.

He saith unto them, But whom say ye that I am? And Simon Peter answered and said, Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God.

And Jesus answered and said unto him, Blessed art thou, Simon Bar-jona: for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven.

And I say also unto thee, That thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church: and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it. (Matt. 16: 13-18.)

Coincidence

Two New York policemen were riding leisurely in a cruiser car shortly after seven o'clock the other morning It was raining.

Suddenly a dark blob of oil hit the windshield. It came from the elevated railway overhead, and it had to land smack right on the windshield of all places! Had the weather been dry that blotch of oil might not have caused them any trouble. But it ran over much of the wet glass, and the mechanical wiper, already in operation, only made the mess worse.

They stopped to get a rag from one of the seat pockets, but there was nary a rag in the vehicle, front or rear, which was most unusual. One officer suggested that the car go slowly while he scanned the curbs for a rag. There was almost sure to be one lying about in this neighborhood.

A block farther on a rag was seen lying just off the curb. It proved to be a soiled, knotted handkerchief. As the patrolman walked back to the cruiser he began to untie the knots. It was found to contain almost twelve thousand dollars in bills.

Had this sequence of events appeared in the manuscript of a short story, it is more than likely that most magazine editors would say the author was trying to wrench the long arm of coincidence from its socket.

Labor Leader Two Aides Indicted In U.S.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26 — (AP)—Harry Bridges, left-wing labor leader, and two of his top aides were indicted Wednesday by a federal grand jury on perjury and conspiracy charges stemming from Bridges' citizenship hearing in 1945.

The United States immigration service immediately filed a civil complaint seeking to revoke Bridges' citizenship. This action declared Bridges was a Communist at the time he became a citizen and still is.

Many west-coast observers interpreted the double-barrelled action as signalling the start of a third government attempt in 10 years to deport the 47-year-old, Australian-born Bridges. He is president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (CIO).

Indicted with him were J. R Robertson, first vice-president of the ILWU, and Henry Schmidt, member of the Longshore Coast Labor Relations Committee and former president of Bridges' local here. Bail for each was set at $5,000.

The union assailed the indictments as "a political frame-up" by the government and an attempt to put the union out of business.

One count charged the three men conspired against the immigration laws by fraudulently obtaining naturalization for Bridges on Sept. 7, 1945. Another count charged Bridges with perjury in denying that he was then, or ever had been, a member of the Communist party. The third count charged Schmidt and Robertson with testifying falsely that Bridges had not been a member of the Communist party.

Home and School Elects Officers

MARMORA, May 26 (ENS) — The annual meeting of Marmora Home and School Association was held in the Public School, Wednesday, with the president, Mrs. W. G. Chrysler, in the chair.

James Sproul presented the report of the nominating committee which was as follows:

President, Mrs. W. G. Chrysler (re-elected); vice-president, Mrs. B. G. McKenzie; treasurer, Mrs. R. E. Neal; executive, Mesdames F. Grant, E. C. Prentice, A. F. Fraser and A. Cunningham and Donald P. Marett.

The report of the publicity committee was presented by W. J. Cottrell.

The recording secretary's report was given by Miss E. Serson followed by Mrs. R. E. Neal which showed a creditable balance on hand. E. C. Prentice gave the report of the program committee and Mrs. Hogarth Sabine, as convener of the social committee, gave its report.

In the absence of Hogarth Sabine, E. C. Prentice reported for the corresponding secretary. The report of the nominating committee was accepted as submitted. Mrs. A. H. Rennie was elected recording secretary and in the capacity of past president, installed the new officers.

French Canada Forges Ahead In Literary Works

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT

QUEBEC, May 26 (CP)—As a matter of statistical fact literary activity in Quebec province from 1938 to 1948 has been prodigious, and according to scholarly Jean Charles Bonenfant, it may well be the bed-rock on which will be built French Canada's "true literature."

Mr. Bonenfant makes this statement in an article published in the Quebec statistical year book, just released.

The Laval University professor and Quebec government librarian catalogues nearly 200 works in every field of creative writing.

All were writteen during the 10-year-period. And in this list, he says, are the best of French Canada's output in the last 300 years.

They include Germaine Guevremont's peasant novels, the city-life studies of Gabrielle Roy (The Tin Flute) and Roger Lemelin (The Town Below, Les Plouffe) and what Mr. Bonenfant thinks are Quebec's best plays, "Tit-Coq" by Gratien Gelinas and "Maluron," by Felix Leclerc.

There were two reasons behind the literary upsurge of the last 10 years in Quebec according to Mr. Bonenfant.

One was the forced severance of communications with France during the Second World War "while the publishing business in Quebec underwent a period of unprecedented activity industrially and commercially."

The second was "the fact that our writers were giving fresh life to the novel in its traditional peasant setting, concerning themselves at last with the problems of city life, making more expert use of historical material and attempting to probe more boldly into the mysteries of psychology."

He notes dramatic literature as a whole "has been very poor." Poetry is "a literary form much cultivated in French Canada" but this "has only been the result of a mania for counting syllable and rhyming."

Ask Conciliation Man To Help Get Contract

WINDSOR, May 26 — (CP) — Ted Oana, chairman of the Motor Products unit of Local 195, United Automobile Workers (CIO) said Wednesday that application has been made by the union for an Ontario Government conciliation officer to assist in contract negotiations.

He said the appeal had gone to Hon. Charles Daley, provincial Labor minister, after other means of reaching an agreement with the company had been exhausted.

Whip and Pat Get Main Bout Aided Some By Billy Hanson

Pat Flanagan pinned Wee Willie Davis, getting an assist from Bill Hanson to give the Flanagan-Whip Watson team the deciding fall in the main wrestling bout at the Brock last night. It came in four and a half minutes when Hanson—as a heckling ringsider, peeved at the team of Davis and Sandy O'Donnell, put a hand through the ropes unseen by the referee to trip Davis. After the gong, the four main bouters and Hanson tangled furiously in the ring as the excited fans crowded around the ring.

SKATING PRODIGY—When most youngsters are satisfied to toddle, David Altic, 19-month-old London child, demands roller skates for his travels and has become a fair expert on wheels. In fact he doesn't fall as much as when he is walking. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Altic, formerly of Calgary but now stationed in London with the RCAF.

The Whipper, weighing 232 pounds, had gone over the ropes in nine minutes of the second round to flatten 246-pound Sandy after the Whip first and then Pat, scaling 223, had softened him up. Davis, weighing 280, and his partner played it plenty rough to keep the fans booing them and Referee Bert Maxwell busy. Despite the difference in weight, Flanagan pretty well held his own on speed with ponderous Davis, and scrappy Sandy used his fists against Watson to advantage. The latter and Pat generally had an edge, though, in the hot going, but Maxwell missed a lot of illegal stuff pulled by the other pair.

Furious Clip

It started off at a hot clip and kept up in furious fashion all the way. Irked by illegal stuff used by Davis and O'Donnell, the popular pair got in the ring at once and the whole four were flying around. The referee stopped it and read the Riot Act. On resuming, Pat hung Davis in the ropes but later he and Sandy wound up hanging in the hemp as the crowd cheered the teamwork of Pat and the Whip who used the battering ram, too, and Maxwell worked overtime. However, Bert finally restored order and gave the bout in 22 minutes to Sandy and Willie via the disqualification route. The fans didn't like it.

Sliding Billy Hanson, at 228, took the semi-final in 17 minutes against handsome Art Brady, 223, with a double wristlock turned into a hammerlock to pin the shoulders. It was an exceptionally clean and scientific match, with neither grappler booed at any time, and they shook hands afterward. The referee merely had to tell them to break on the ropes and they did, but they showed a lot of fast moves and clever wrestling while it lasted. Hanson's ring experience eventually won for him.

Tug Carlsen, 228, took the referee's time-limit decision in the prelim over fighting Dan O'Connor, scaling 239. Tug was very agile and popular and had an edge but the pair staged a terrific struggle for half an hour, in and out of the ring. Dan used a piece of tape on the other's eyes, and he drew plenty of fists for his knavery. O'Connor used his entire bag of tricks and made it a real fight but Carlsen was fast and smooth to more than hold his own in the hot tilt, even throwing the referee once to get at Dan. The final decision was a popular one.

SA Seniors Win

Scoring in every inning but the seventh the Salvation Army senior softball team took an easy victory from Murray St. 16-5 Wednesday night at the Oval. The Army team pushed four runs across in the first inning, two in the second and third, one in the fourth, five in the fifth and two in the sixth. Murray St. boys got one in the first and third, three in the sixth. The three runs were scored on a series of errors by the Army team. Don Craig pitched for the Salvation Army and Ted Naish went the route for the Murray St. squad.

Lineups:

Salvation Army—C. Braund, L. Slaughter, R. Jones, R. Roughly, R. Braund, A. Shadgett, B. Henry, G. Braund, D. Craig.

Murray St. Church—G. Stewart, D. Grant, K. Drury, B. Hanbeck, T. Naish, W. Browne, R. Yelland, W. Irwin.

Record Field Expected In Derby Race

By MICHAEL O'MARA.

LONDON, May 26 — (CP). — A record purse and what may be a record field will feature the run for the bluest riband of the English turf—the 1½-mile Derby Stakes at Epsom, Surrey, June 4.

The final acceptances for the classic, announced Wednesday, showed 39 three-year-old colts of the 417 original entrants still in in the field, boosting the pot to £17,125 ($68,500) of which he winner will collect £146,170.

All 39 entries may not go to the post. But if most of them do there is a possibility that the previous record Derby field—34—in 1862 when Caracacus scampered home, will be exceeded.

Many experts are afraid the huge field, bumping its way around tortuous Tattenham Corner, will spoil the race.

Norman Pegg of the Daily Graphic, one of London's leading racing authorities, writes:

Poor Line-up

"I have never known so many bad horses left in the Derby as there are among the 39 final acceptors announced yesterday. If at least 20 were eliminated immediately their owners would be doing a good deed.

"But the field which faces the starter at Epsom a week from Saturday will be spoiled by the sheer mediocrity of 75 per cent of its number.

Only six of the 39 entries are from France which has carried off the last two Derbys with Pearl Diver in 1947 and My Love last year. They are Amour Drake, Gades, Highlander III, Mon Chatelain, Targui, and Val Drake.

The No. 1 English stable, Noel Murless' Beckhampton, Wiltshire Farm, will send only one runner to Epsom — the favorite Royal Forest. Major R. Macdonald-Buchanan's colt was quoted at 7 to 2 at Monday night's call-over here. Royal Forest will be ridden by champion Jockey Gordon Richards who has yet to win a Derby.

Central Triumphs

Central seniors of the School Softball League captured a 15-7 victory yesterday over King Edward as the schedule nears its finish. Their 10-run drive in the initial inning was enough, but they added one in the third and four in the fourth. The losers counted a pair in the first, four more in the third and one in the fourth of a fair game on the uptowners' diamond. Teams:

King Edward: Frizzelle, p; Ball, c; Crowe, 2b; Whatley, 1b; Hunt, 3b; Peters, ss; Saunders, ss; Hobart, lf; Harrison, cf; Chalmers, cf; Murduff, rf.

Central: Rowley, ss; Kelly, 1b; Delahaye, 2b; Black, c; Brooks, c; Harte-Maxwell, 3b; Patterson, 3b; Lush, lf; Gardner, rf; Noble, cf; Foster, p.

Umpires—E. Druery and L. Corbett.

Co-Op Team Wins

The Farmers Co-Op captured a 12-5 Civic Softball League victory last night from the Firemen. They tallied two runs each in the first and sixth frames, three in the third, four more next time up and one in the seventh. The Firemen pushed across two each in the second and fifth, with one in the third, as steady hurling and fielding kept them down. The Co-Op clouters hit hard and timely. The teams:

Co-Op—Bradley, Coulter, McAuliff, Berwick, Creighton, Traill, Jenkins, Arnold, Vyse.

Firemen — Vinette, Kennedy, Collins, Gimblett, Bloom, Pruner, Carr, Shearer, Gould, Cain.

Umpires—Trennum and Moher.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press.

Batting, Jackie Robinson, Dodgers—Continued hot hitting spree with two-run homer and single, boosting RBI total to 34 in 8-0 win over Pittsburgh.

Pitching, Tommy Byrne, Yankees—Struck out 12 Tigers in winning third straight, 6-2, with five hits.

Comes an entry form blank for the Ontario track and field championships, listed for Civic Stadium in Hamilton on June 18. Entries close on Saturday, June 4, and should be sent to R. G. Truscott, 127 Fairleigh Ave., S., Hamilton. Check with Jack Dane here for entry forms. Competitors in open events must have AAU of C cards but these aren't hard to get. Open track competitions include the 100 yards, 220, 440, 880, the mile, three-mile, six-mile, and 120-yard hurdles. Field events are shot put, discuss throw, javelin, broad and high jumps, and pole vault. There are relay runs, too, and several boys' contests for chaps 17 and under. Medals for prizes.

Flushed with that victorious feeling after yanking out a close one in Weston the other eve, the Petes' lacrossers—now dubbed Armstrong's Lumberjacks (a long name for a news heading)—are ready to tackle Hamilton Tigers here tomorrow night in a senior "A" scrap. The Dominion champs will be tough, but the Petes are full of fight and will do okay this semester. Coach Red Creighton says: "We're not predicting a title our first year up but we do promise fans first-class senior competition all season, and we'll win our share of games, too. Which is fair enough. The Friday fray should pack them in for sure.

Playoff With States

From the National Baseball Congress at Wichita comes a copy of the 1949 annual, running more than 300 pages. A handy book with rules, complete records of the previous years, lessons and lots of historical data. This covers amateur ball in the States, and the Canadian winner of a Congress tourney gets a crack at the world's amateur diamond title against the USA victor in the autumn. The Petes entered Congress tourney play a couple of times, and may do so again this year. The idea of international playoffs for amateur ballsters is a good one for the sport, and the game appears to be booming.

* * * * * *

Manager Eddie Murphy isn't easily satisfied and he's not doing any bragging about the Petes' two COBL victories in as many starts this season. He wants to strengthen the squad more as he figures the loop will be plenty tough down the long haul. The '48 champs looked impressive in both games so far, with two newcomers—Lefty Dadson and Joe Lowrey—apparently going to be a big help. But it is possible a few students from over the line may join the club early next month. With a break in the locals' schedule till June 1, the Petes will take on Canisius College of Buffalo in an exhibition tilt here this Saturday afternoon just to keep in shape.

Two Nifty Numbers

Girls' softball started in swell style at the Bowl last chilly eve and Bill Bennett was quite elated at the keen competition shown. It took Marines 11 innings to gain a 6-3 win o'er Westclox, while CGE had to hustle to turn back Lindsay 9-6. Two speedy struggles, the first lasting just 50 minutes. In fact, all four clubs looked well-matched and followers of the femmes—that is, the softball followers—should see some fine fixtures regularly in the colleens' circuit. Ald. Dodds, Young and Burrows performed the official opening act, and the damsels did the rest. Not too big a crowd on deck as it was plenty cool over by the river, but the girls didn't keep the folks up too late. They go again there tomorrow with Ashby's meeting Woollens at seven, followed by Lock Co. against Westclox.

* * * * * *

Nothing like a team wrestling bout for excitement. Everything goes—and ye ref nearly goes goofy. Whip Watson and Pat Flanagan, the good guys, won at the Brock last night over Wee Willie Davis and Sandy O'Donnell, with Slidin' Billy Hanson—as a biased spectator—lending Pat a hand for the crucial third fall. Then followed a five-man free-for-all in the ring as the bewildered referee tried vainly to keep up with things. The fans loved it. There was oodles of action throughout with the villains getting away with mat murder, but justice or something triumphed at the end. Hanson won over Brady in a scientific semi-final, and Carlson got the nod o'er O'Connor in a redhot prelim. A good card.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

At Toronto, the Ontario Amateur Softball Association gave notice Wednesday it must get five per cent of the gross gate receipts when any member club plays in Ontario against teams from outside provinces or the United States.

A special bulletin to branch secretaries over the signature of general secretary F. R. Feaver, says the money is used to promote minor-age softball. Any club not paying will be suspended immediately, it says.

Immediate opposition was expressed in Windsor. Frank Dayus, whose Windsor Jets play teams from across the border, said his club "won't pay a dime" so "go ahead and outlaw us."

Johnny Mitchell, who played hockey at Guelph here before he refereed in the National Hockey League, has been appointed business manager of the Guelph Maple Leafs of the Senior Intercounty Baseball Association. He succeeds George Brown, who will remain on the executive in an advisory capacity.

From Hamilton comes word that St. Louis Cardinals of the National League have signed Bert Gibbs of Hamilton. The young pitcher has been assigned to the Rochester Club of the International League and will join the club when his present school term is finished. He is the son of Bert Gibbs Sr., a former baseball and football star.

At Sydney, N. S., the Cape Breton Boxing Commission today approved the May 31 bout between lightweights Joe Pyle of New Waterford, N. S., and Pete Zaduk of Guelph, at Glace Bay. Pyle hopes to start a comeback campaign after being knocked out in three rounds last year by Canadian middleweight champion George Ross of West Bay Road, N. S.

Cleveland Barons announced Wednesday night they are willing to consider any one of their players in a trade or sale at the National League Hockey meeting in Montreal next week. The American League club now is under new ownership, with Jim G. Hendy as general manager.

Toronto Edges Rochester 1-0, Giants Triumph

By The Associated Press

Seven straight victories for Wes Bailey should earn the Jersey City ace another look from the parent New York Giants.

While the big Giants' hurling staff is beginning to run into trouble, their farmhand across the river in the International League continues to sizzle.

The last-place Baltimore Orioles were Bailey's victims Wednesday night by a 4-2 score as he dished out only four hits to win a tight battle from Al Widmar.

Leon Culberson, a former big leaguer who has been around for a few years, hit a grand-slam homer to give Newark a 7-4 edge over Syracuse. Starter Wally Hood trailed 3-0 going into the five-run fourth because of homers by Bob Usher and Dutch Mele. After the big fifth, Hood settled down to throw a four-hitter, his third straight victory.

Max Peterson outpitched Cloyd Boyer in a tight duel to give Toronto a 1-0 victory over Rochester. The only run came in the second inning on a walk to Johnny Blatnik, a single by Bill Glynn and an infield out.

Buffalo clubbed Jean Pierre Roy, making his first start of the year, and Dan Bankhead for 14 hits in an 8-3 romp over Montreal. Anse Moore led the attack with four for five.

Old Jake Wade, who went all the way for the Bisons, lost a shutout when Bob Morgan hit his fourth homer of the year, with a man on, in the fourth.

Marines and CGE Get Wins To Open Season For Girls

Outboard Marines edged out a 6-3 win in 11 innings over Westclox, and CGE defeated Lindsay 9-6 before a fair-sized crowd at the Bowl last night to start the Girls Softball League. Both were fine frays and exciting all the way through. The first fixture went just 50 minutes, and the nightcap an hour and 10. Ald. Hurrell Dodds, Herb Young and Arthur Burrows participated in the official opening ceremony.

Their 11th inning rally gave Marines the first win after Jean Vass homered to tie it in the ninth. M. Connolly tripled with two out in the 11th, and then V. Mitchell, M. Walling and E. Whittaker singled for three. The victors played heads-up ball but Westclox looked good, too. J. Vass, B. Morrow, M. Behan and V. Mitchell stood out. The pitching and fielding on both sides was good for an opener in this snappy joust. The teams:

Marines: S. Curtis, 2b, rf; H. White, rf; A. LaPointe, 2b; M. Hill, 1b; B. Larmer, c; M. Behan, ss; E. Smith, cf; M. Connolly, cf; V. Mitchell, 3b; M. Walling, lf; E. Whittaker, p.

Westclox: J. Vass, 3b; B. Morrow, ss; A. Anderson, cf; N. Whetung, 1b; M. Hawthorne, c; J. Hardy, rf; I. Clarke, lf; J. Forsythe, lf; M. Selkirk, lf; M. Myles, 2b; M. Downer, p.

A Big Heat

CGE came from behind in the nightcap with a big seventh inning stanza to score five runs and that proved enough in a good game. The Electrics played well to earn the verdict, having but one miscue, while the Lindsay lasses showed promise but need more practice. Mary Perrin fanned 14 for CGE as she and M. Todd went good defensively, P. Graham and M. Chase going best for the losers. M. Batley led the winners at bat with three for five, as several of the Lindsay team clicked for two singles. The games were well handled. The teams:

CGE: M. Batley, cf; M. Perrin, rf; I. Boyce, ss; A. DeCarlo, 1b; Mary Perrin, p; M. Todd, 3b; G. Atkins, c; R. Boyce, lf; J. Connors, 2b.

Athletics Down Pale Hose, Brooklyn Wins

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Flop is the word for Cleveland's first Eastern trip despite the long-distance clouting of Larry Doby.

Only the home-run hitting of the talented negro outfielder saved the Tribe from complete disaster. But he could not do it all.

The world champions left Cleveland May 11 in second place. No matter what happens to-night when they wind up their tour at Washington, they will go home in seventh place. No wonder owner Bill Veeck wants to start the season all over again.

As the Indians lost three at Chicago before they came East, they actually have a 2-6 record against the Red Sox, Yankees, Athletics and Senators.

Wednesday night they lost again, but Doby hit another home run. If it had not been for that, Sid Hudson would have had a shutout. As it was, he won 6-2.

Fifth Win

If things ever get tough at the Yankee Stadium, Tommy Byrne can make a living beating Detroit. The New Yorker did it for the fifth straight time of his career Wednesday 6-2, striking out 12 men. That was the season high for strikeouts.

Hal Newhouser, having one of his poorer days, was Byrne's victim.

Connie Mack's Athletics protected second place in the American League by downing Chicago White Sox 6-4 Wednesday night. The A's remained 3½ games back of the league-leading Yankees.

A five-run spurt in the fourth inning against Marino Pieretti and Clyde Shoun did the job for the Mackmen. Dick Fowler of Toronto was forced to leave after five innings because of arm trouble, but Alex Kellner held the lead.

St. Louis Browns turned on Boston Red Sox to win an 8-4 game. Jack Graham's eighth homer helped the Brownies pile up an early lead for Cliff Fannin that Al Zarilla's three-run homer in the sixth could not overcome.

Thump Pittsburg

Brooklyn tightened the National League race by thumping Pittsburg 8-6, while both Boston and New York were losing. The Dodgers are only a game out of first. Jackie Robinson continued his batting spree with a two-run homer and single, boosting his RBI total to 34.

Howie Pollet looked like the Pollet of 1946 as he pitched St. Louis Cardinals to a six-hit 3-0 victory over the league-leading Boston Braves.

Chicago's Cubs took the heat off themselves by defeating New York Giants for the second straight day 3-2. Bob Rush decisioned Montia Kennedy with the help of Hank Edwards who drove in one run and scored another.

Bud Lively came through with another well-pitched effort as Cincinnati shaded the Phillies 3-2. Lively's eight-hitter was his fourth victory.

WRIGLEY WORRIED

Two straight victories over New York Giants by his lowly Chicago Cubs apparently have placated owner P. K. Wrigley, the second successive conquest over the New Yorkers was the Cubs' longest winning streak since they took two straight from Pittsburgh in their season-opening series April 20-21.

Monday night, in a phone interview, Wrigley said he planned to meet with manager Charley Grimm, field captain Phil Cavarretta and leading Cub players. Wrigley said he would try to get "all angles" of the slump and then seek some remedy.

8 Top Golfers Face Elimination

RICHMOND, Va., May 26 (AP) —Eight top-drawer professionals faced probable elimination today as the United States Professional Golfers' Association tournament became a wild scramble to overhaul George Schneiter of Ogden, Utah, in the battle for medalist honors.

Today's test over the 6,677-yard Hermitage Country Club layout was the second 18-hole round of 36 holes of medal play. It will narrow the field of 136 down to 64 for the start of the match competition Friday.

Schneiter, the 36-year-old boss of the travelling pros, was superb Wednesday as he toured the wind-swept course in a five-under-par 66.

Golf's big-wigs who were in danger of being eliminated today were Dick Metz of Virginia Beach, Va., Denny Shute of Akron, Ohio; and Toney Penna, of Cincinnati, with 75s; Craig Wood of New York, Chick Herbert of Detroit, Vic Ghezzi of Englewood, NJ; and Horton Smith of Detroit, with 76s; and Lawson Little of Monterey, Calif., 77. Shute and Ghezzi are former PGA champions.

A stroke behind Schneiter was surprising Jack Isaacs, Langley Field, Va., professional, whose only claim to golfing fame is that he won the National Service Men's championship in 1943.

Parade, Games Held At Bethany

BETHANY, May 26—(ENS)—The Victoria Day celebration, sponsored by the Bethany Athletic Association, was a success, in spite of the rain in the afternoon which stopped some of the scheduled ball games.

The afternoon events were officially opened with a parade. First prize, best decorated girl's bicycle was awarded to Grace Bigelow, second prize, Joan Bristow. First prize for best decorated boy's bicycle went to Allan Bigelow second prize, Donald Smith. Best decorated car, first prize went to Dr. G. M. Longfield, second prize, Harry Ryley.

The school girls' softball team played their first game of the season against Millbrook, with a score of 18-5 for Bethany. The baseball game, the first of the league series, Bethany vs. Millbrook, resulted in a win for Millbrook, 7-6.

The Johnston entertainers from Blackwater gave a variety program in the evening in the town hall. The remainder of the night was spent in dancing.

Mimico Beats Tigers 14-8

MIMICO, May 26 (CP)—Mimico Mountaineers Wednesday night scored five goals in the final quarter to defeat Hamilton Tigers, Mann Cup champions, 14-8 in an Ontario Lacrosse Association senior A fixture here.

Two brawls livened a free-swinging second quarter that produced 17 of the 28 penalties imposed during the game.

Ken Dixon was top marksman for Mimico with five goals. Blain McDonald notched three for Hamilton.

Dates Announced For Matthews Trophy

ST. CATHARINES, May 26 —(CP)—Dates for the Hon. R. C. Matthews trophy in the Ontario Cricket series were announced Wednesday by J. C. Ashburner.

They are: first round:

Series A—Carleton County at Peterborough County; Series B—Ontario County at Halton County; Series C—Middlesex County at Lincoln County; Series D—Wentworth County, a bye. First round is to be completed by July 15.

In the second round, to be completed by Aug. 15, winners of series A and B will meet at Peterborough or Carleton and winners of series C and D will play at St. Catharines or London. The championship round will be played on neutral grounds on Sept. 5.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Lawson Little Jr., California golfer, won his second successive British amateur championship 14 years ago today at St. St. Annes-on-Sea. He was the third player—and the first invader—to win the title two years on a row. In 1936 Lawson turned professional and won the Canadian Open the same year.

GIVES AWAY SON

LEBANON, Pa., May 26—(AP)—A young mother Wednesday gave away her five-year-old son in order that he might have a "real home." Mrs. Lucy Whitcraft, 30, a factory worker, agreed with childless Mr. and Mrs. William Bixler that her son Tommy should live with them at their home near Lebanon for a six-month trial period before adoption.

Import Controls In Africa Now Outlined

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Some details of South Africa's latest import controls are outlined in advices to Ottawa.

Regulations will be published at an early date in which provisions will be made that no goods may be imported into the union after June 30 except under a permit issued by the Department of Economic Affairs.

Certain exceptions will be made No import permit will be required for goods shipped from sterling countries on or before June 13.

Also, no import permit will be required for goods arriving from non-sterling countries, which include Canada, the importation of which has been authorized in terms of the present exchange quota regulations.

Set Deadline

In this latter connection, a provision will be made that the goods must have been ordered and confirmed before June 30, and the South African government advises the Union's importers to approach their bank managers for full particulars of the necessary formalities without delay.

Dr. te Donges, Acting Minister of Economic Affairs, in his presentation to the House of Assembly this week, commented:

"My department is compiling the necessary statistics on which the administration of import control will be based. The preliminary figures available, indicate, however, that the money available for expenditure in the period July to December will be insufficient even to meet the Union's full requirements of essential raw materials and capital goods.

"This position has been brought about largely as a result of past over-expenditure on finished consumer goods."

2 Women Thumb Way Ottawa To Alabama

MOBILE, Ala., May 26 (AP)—A Canadian mother and grandmother, with a 1,616-mile five-day hitch-hiking jaunt behind them, are looking forward to repeat trip.

Mrs. Hattie E. Thompson, 54, and Mrs. Pearl Empey, 52, both of Ottawa, are sisters. Mrs. Thompson has five grandchildren.

They said they fulfilled a lifelong ambition to take a hitch-hiking trip by thumbing their way from Ottawa to Mobile to visit a brother, W. W. Mackie, at nearby Theodore. They hadn't seen him in 47 years.

They plan to start back later this week—by thumbing it again.

Raps Liquor Sales

TORONTO, May 26 (CP) —Rev. F. W. L. Brailey, minister of Glebe Road United Church, said Wednesday there is "increasing intemperance among teen-agers" and asked Premier Frost for a thorough investigation into sale of liquor to minors. Mr. Brailey, who led a recent deputation before the Ontario Liquor Licence Board, said in a letter to the Premier the deputation felt the result had not been satisfactory.

RESCUES FAWN — Walter Noble, nine, of London, fondles a new-born fawn he found alone near the city. Officials at the London Zoo said it was not more than three days old. "If I could only keep him," Walter mourned as he was persuaded to place him in the London Zoo.

Plan To Spend $100,000,000

HALIFAX, May 26 (CP) — A $100,000,000 program of highways and public works projects during the next five years was promised Wednesday night in the Liberal election manifesto issued by Premier Macdonald. The Nova Scotia general election is June 9.

Other highlights of the Liberal platform:

1. Public works, now a $5,000,000 business annually, probably will become a separate department to enable highways officials to give their entire time to purely road transport problems.
2. Early appointment of an Education Minister and further expansion of land settlement activities.
3. Revision of the common school curriculum, improved teacher training, improved normal college facilities, $1,000,000 in grants to cities and towns for the building of modern schools and five more rural high schools.
4. Free medical care for all pensioners and mothers' allowance beneficiaries and financial assistance for the Maritime school for social work.
5. "Special stress" on work of the housing commission.
6. Hard surfacing of highways will continue at about 100 miles a year. Secondary roads will be improved.
7. Financial aid for the Canso and Halifax-Dartmouth bridges; 40,000 acres of marshlands will be reclaimed; the Nova Scotia Agricultural College rebuilt; a $4,000,000 fund will back the government's search for new industries; $7,410,000 annually to assist municipalities.

The 3,000-word platform also outlined the Liberal record since 1933.

Big Guelph Convocation

GUELPH, May 26—(CP)—The largest annual convocations in the history of the Ontario Agricultural College and the Ontario Veterinary College were held here Wednesday. Some 256 students received Bachelor of Science degrees and 114 were granted degrees of Doctor of Veterinary Medicine.

O'Dwyer To Retire

NEW YORK, May 26—(AP) — Mayor William O'Dwyer, head of the United States' largest city since 1946, said Wednesday he will not run for re-election this fall O'Dwyer gave no reason for stepping out after one term.

No More Harsh Laxatives!

Famous cereal brings lasting relief from constipation

Are harsh laxatives causing you distress and unhappiness? Then read this unsolicited letter:

"About 8 months ago, I decided to start eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. After a few days, I realized that regular use of this breakfast cereal was making my system work naturally. Constipation doesn't trouble me any more. Believe me, it's a great relief!" P. Leveille, 4465 Rinard Street, Montreal.

Yes, if you suffer from constipation due to lack of bulk in the diet, you may never have to take another harsh laxative again. Simply eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN daily and drink plenty of water. ALL-BRAN is not a purgative, but a wholesome cereal. Eat an ounce as a cereal or in muffins for constipation relief. If after using one package you are not completely satisfied, get double your money back as guaranteed on the package. Get delicious ALL-BRAN from your grocer. Made by Kellogg's of London, Ontario.

IF YOU LIKE TO KEEP TRACK OF WHAT YOU'RE SPENDING — A&P'S SYSTEM OF PRICE-MARKING WILL BE A GREAT HELP TO YOU.

Do you add up your grocery bill as you fill your basket? Do you like to feel sure the check-out cashier is tabulating your purchases correctly? We think most of our customers do. That's why A&P employs the system whereby every can, jar and package in the Grocery Department, and every item and package in the Produce and Meat Departments paid for at the check stand, has the price marked on it. This also enables you to check your purchases against your cash register slip after you get home.

Charged With Killing

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J., May 26—(AP)—Charles A. Buttcher was charged yesterday with killing a drinking companion by banging his head on a sidewalk. Police said the 32-year-old truck driver beat George Szoldos' head on the sidewalk after an argument in a place called "The Friendly Tavern."

Siamese Kittens

AUSTIN, Tex., May 26—(AP)—Four Siamese kittens—looking like a four-leaf clover—were born Wednesday. A common growth joins the stomachs of two cats and the legs of two others. There are four heads and 15 legs (counting as a leg two growing together).

Britain Soon Prepared To Sell Vital Isotopes

LONDON, May 26—(CP)—British science, making vast strides in development and production of radio-active isotopes, soon will be selling these vital atomic by-products to the world for the advancement of medical and industrial techniques. From Britain's laboratories at an increasing rate come such things as radio "seeds" and radium needles—by-products of radium used in treatment of cancer. Also produced are a whole range of isotopes now coming into wide use as "tracers" in medicine and industry.

Both private and government laboratories have a hand in this production. And recently it was stepped up when a new, modern radio-chemical laboratory developed at Amersham, Buckinghamshire, by the Ministry of Supply went into full output.

At present the United States is the only world exporter of isotopes. But a spokesman for the Supply Minister said Britain now is almost ready to go into the world market. A campaign is to be launched to make industry isotopes-conscious and point out how their use can cut costs and time in testing metal castings for flaws.

Taken Over

The Amersham Establishment dates from 1940 when an old country house with a flower garden and two cottages was converted to turn out processed radium for use on night dials of warplanes. In 1946 the Supply Minister took it over.

Hospitals all over Britain are being supplied with radium by-products from this centre where more than 70 scientists are employed. Capable of handling radium on a scale never before attempted in Britain, the centre has in two year doubled the amount available to British doctors.

The centre is divided into three areas—the "Red" which contains the "Hot" laboratories where radioactive work is carried on; the "Yellow" area containing changing rooms and maintenance services and the safe "Green" area housing administrative staff.

About 40 scientists, including three women, work in the "Hot" laboratories.

As an added precaution all carry X-ray film in their pockets to measure exposure to gamma rays.

Alderman Praises Housing Program

Peterborough is "out front" in comparison with other cities across Canada when it comes to its housing program, stated Ald. Hurrell Dodds in an address given to the Mark St. Young People's Union, Monday night.

In his subject of Civic Government Mr. Dodds outlined the various Departments dealing mainly with our Housing Program, Roads and Parks.

Mr. Dodds said "we have 192 acres of parks, 96 miles of roads and 80 factories large and small which not only makes Peterborough an industrial city, but helps to insure jobs for times of depression."

The meeting was in charge of Wesley Wakeford, citizenship convener. Mr. Dodds was introduced by Robert Clark and at the conclusion of his address Rev. R. E. Morton move a vote of thanks to the speaker.

Doris Stockdale presented Mrs Partridge who is leaving the first part of June to reside in Napanee with an electric coffee percolator. In presenting the gift the young people tried to express the affection and love they held for their former minister, the late Rev. A. M. Partridge.

Refreshments were then served and the meeting came to a close in the friendship circle.

Have No Violence

VANCOUVER, May 26—(CP)—The eastern owned freighter Islandside Wednesday was manned without violence by a Seafarer's International Union (AFL) crew. Pickets of the striking Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) confined their efforts to jeers while the 20 SIU men—tossing aside rocks and clubs carried in case of trouble—went aboard.

NORWOOD, May 26 (ENS) — A successful bazaar was held by the Women's Missionary Society, Saturday afternoon, Mrs. G. A. Hamblin and Mrs. M. W. Bailey receiving the guests. Rev. E. E. Pugsley opened the bazaar by cutting the tissue paper partition dividing the booths.

Tea was served by Mrs. W. H. McMillan and Mrs. R. J. Girven. Assistants were: Mrs. A. R. Atkinson, Mrs. Fred Gardner, Mrs. Ralph Cuthbertson, Mrs. Alfred McMillan, Mrs. J. Humphries, Mrs. Rork S. Ferguson, Mrs. S. Buck, and Mrs. Gordon Parker.

The fancywork table was in charge of Miss M. A. Carter, Mrs. John McConnell, Miss Crawford, Miss Ince McConnell and Mrs. Roy Brown.

Home Cooking Conveners

Home cooking booth was directed by Mrs. A. M. Weir, Miss Maysie Buck and Miss Pauline Weir. The plants and vegetables were in charge of Mrs. R. J. Leeper and Mrs. A. E. Hogg. Mrs. John Marks, Mrs. Edward Scott and Mrs. Max Brown prepared food for the tables.

Donations were received from Mrs. G. A. Brethen, Mrs. J. G. Keefer, Mrs. H. H. Fife, Mrs. Carbrey, and Miss L. M. Scott, the latter of Toronto.

The sum of $105 was realized.

Presides At Hearings

MONTREAL, May 26—(CP)—Judge Irenee Legarde of the Montreal sessions court has been appointed to preside at preliminary hearings in Sherbrooke, Que., of 4 Asbestos workers and union officials, it was learned Wednesday night. He will replace Judge Aime Chasse who withdrew from the case last Friday when the defence presented a petition for a writ of prohibition, charging him with prejudicial conduct during the arraignment of the accused.

Extra Benefits FOR YOUR BABY

Libby's The Only Baby Foods Homogenized For Easy Digestion

In preparing foods for your baby, Libby's alone use a double process, straining plus homogenization. Homogenization breaks up the food so that it is at least ten times finer in texture than foods which are strained only. This makes Libby's Baby Foods so easy-to-digest that clinical tests show that even a six-week-old baby can digest Libby's easily, without upsets. This enables doctors to recommend supplementary feeding at a much earlier age than would be possible with strained foods, in cases when he deems it advisable. It has also been proved that baby gets more actual nourishment from the same amount of food, with Libby's.

Make sure your baby enjoys the extra benefits which Libby's straining plus homogenization offers.

Ban Cabbage Imports

OTTAWA, May 26 (CP)—Effective May 26 until further notice cabbages may not be imported under open general permit into Ontario or Quebec, the emergency import control division of the Finance Department ruled Wednesday. The domestic crop is expected to be more than enough to meet the needs of the two central provinces, the announcement said. However, if local shortages develop, special import permits will be considered.

Must Allow Visit

KITCHENER, May 26 (CP) — Loe Weber of nearby St. Clements Wednesday was ordered to permit his sisters and a brother to visit their 97-year-old mother. Magistrate H. R. Polson ruled that the Weber home must remain open to visitors as long as the mother lives. The ruling was made following a complaint from Weber's two sisters and a brother that they were not permitted to visit their mother.

Houses Held Up

TORONTO, May 26 (CP) — Construction work on a $1,000,000 housing project in suburban North York Township, which halted nearly two weeks ago, will not be completed until the contractor, a spokesman said, finds "some other system of continuing." Norman Kershaw of Kershaw Construction Company Wednesday paid $9,000 in back wages to the 100 workers who left their jobs for lack of payment.

BANANA CAKE!

Creaming Method
½ cup Swift'ning
1½ cups sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs
2¼ cups sifted cake flour
Yield: Two 9-inch layers
¼ teaspoon soda
3 teaspoons single acting baking powder (or 2 teaspoons double acting)
1 cup mashed bananas (2 medium bananas)
¼ cup sour milk or buttermilk

Cream Swift'ning. Add sugar, salt and vanilla. Cream until fluffy. Add eggs and beat well. Sift together flour, soda, and baking powder. Add dry ingredients alternately with bananas and sour milk, adding dry ingredients first and last. Mix until thoroughly blended. Line bottoms of two 9-inch layer pans, with two layers of waxed paper. Pour equal amounts of batter into cake pans. Bake. Baking Temperature: 375° F. Baking Time: 30 minutes. The flavour and texture of this cake are improved upon standing 24 hours. Frosting: Need not be frosted, or use Lemon Orange or Snowy Cream Frosting.

To make ¼ cup sour milk, place ¾ teaspoon vinegar in measuring cup and fill to ¼ cup mark with sweet milk.

DIGESTIBLE AND NUTRITIOUS, TOO!

You'll be delighted with the way Swift'ning—the new kind of shortening—makes baking easier and quicker. Keeps without refrigeration and is really digestible and nutritious too! Get your Swift'ning today.

Frost Gives Dangers Of Socialism

COCHRANE, May 26 (CP). — Premier Frost said Wednesday night that, in the June 8 Ontario by-election in Cochrane North, the voters must choose beween Socialism and free enterprise.

Th Premier, fighting his first by-election campaign since he took office last month, addressed a public meeting in a Cochrane theatre.

The by-election was called to elect a successor to John H. Carrere, Progressive Conservative, killed in an automobile accident near here last October. The candidates are Marcel Leger of Hearst, Progressive Conservative, and Roy Kenney of Kapuskasing, CCF.

"The Progressive Conservative Party is, like the Liberal Party, a free enterprise party believing that the great driving powers of individual initiative are necessary in the development of a great new land such as ours," said Premier Frost.

"The party believes in the political liberty and the economic liberty of the individual and that the state should be the protector and the helper, neither absorbing nor destroying the rights and liberties of the subject.

"Communism and, indeed, modern Socialism, which both arise from the Marx Manifesto of 1848, decry free enterprise and believe in the concentration of what we term economic liberty in the state, with the result that all economic forms and drive become concentrated in the state and, therefore in a few individuals. That, in the end, destroys liberty."

TRULY INTERNATIONAL—With 35 countries exhibiting their products at Canada's second International Trade Fair, opening in Toronto May 30, the fair will be truly international. Here girls from seven of the countries peek from behind the sign over the entrance to the main building. Left to right, they are: Peggy Hinch of Norway, Helen McLean of Canada, Marjory Hart of France, Gina Avola of Italy, Hilda Veenstra of Holland, Sylvia Ring of Sweden and Olive Mark of China.

Report Increase Of 10 Per Cent In Car Makers

The number of drivers' licenses and license plates for cars, trucks, trailers, and motorcycles issued so far this year by the Chamber of Commerce show a ten per cent increase over the number up to the same time last year, J. J. Dorris, secretary said today.

There has been a steady increase in the number of licenses issued over the past three years, Mr. Dorris said, there having been a ten per cent increase also in the number issued in 1948 over 1947. The figures give a good indicati[on] the steady population growth experienced by Peterborough during that period.

In 1947 a total of 8,500 car license plates were issued, the figure jumping to 9,400 in 1948. Taking into consideration the number of licenses issued so far this year plus the number normally issued during the remainder of the year to new car owners, cars transferred from other provinces, etc., the total for 1949, it is estimated, will run 10% higher than last year or well over the 10,000 mark. In 1948 a total of 16,100 drivers' licenses were issued.

Song Astounds Publishers

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 26 (AP)—A young cowpoke went ridin' to Hollywood one day...

The first line on Stan Jones' sensational song hit, "Ghost Riders in the Sky," almost fits his own story.

The haunting song astounded the music business last week by leaping to the top of the hit parade without a previous showing in the top tune list. Observers believe it's the first time this has happened. The event makes a Death Valley Ranger the current king of Tin Pan Alley.

The story of the song goes back to Jones' boyhood on the range near Douglas, Ariz. An old cowhand filled him with stories about a ghost herd in the sky pursued by a band of bedeviled wranglers. The old-timer was said to have seen the ghost riders just before he died.

Serenade Tourists

After serving as a Red Cross worker during the war, he became park ranger. At night Jones would strum a guitar and sing his songs for the tourists. Last year when a film company was shooting in Death Valley, Randolf Scott heard him and advised him to take his songs to Hollywood.

Jones took the advice and tramped the music publishers. They all shook their heads. "Too hymn-like," they shrugged. Finally Edwin H. Morris of Mayfair Music Publishers snapped up the song and it was started on the golden trail.

Success Reason?

Morris can't put his finger on the reason for the song's sudden success.

"It couldn't be the tune—everybody knows it's taken from 'Johnny Comes Marching Home'," Morris says.

Jones himself is astounded by the success. He hopes some day to retire with his wife to a little ranch in Nevada. And he's got a lot more songs in his bag which he thinks will bring that day closer.

Marmora News

Miss Joan Gehan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Desmond J. Gehan, of Fort William, and granddaughter of James E. Gehan of Marmora, received her B. A. honor degree from Queen's University, Kingston, at the recent convocation.

Use Potatoes As Feed

OTTAWA, May 26 — (CP) — Surplus potatoes, bought under the federal prices support program, are being returned to farmers for cattle feed, a government official said Wednesday. The support board buys surplus New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island potatoes at $1.15 a hundredweight for Canada No. 1 grade. But the market is draggy and there is little prospect of resale, officials said.

Loblaw Market May Be Sited On George St.

Loblaw Company is reported to have decided upon purchase of a site on the west side of George St., south of Sherbrooke St. for their new groceteria in Peterborough which appeared in the winter to be more than a possibility for location on the market square.

Two of the owners of property in the Ackerman factory block confirm reports of renewed interest by the company in that location, and it is expected that final arrangments for the sale and transfer will be completed early next week.

Information from several sources indicated that the company is considering the purchase of a southern section of the terrace owned by Fred O. Goodfellow and John Dougherty, with the vacant lot immediately south of it, and also a property on the north side of Dalhousie St. which would provide a traffic entrance to the George St. frontage.

Arthur H. Lewis is listed as the owner of the vacant lot north of Ackerman company property. It has a frontage of 69 feet, 6 inches, and the unit frontage of the five house terrace is shown as: 18 ft. 4 in.; 16 ft. 4 in.; 15 ft. 9 in.; 15 ft. 9 in. and 24 ft. 10 in.

Site Sales

The Lewis lot was bought during the war years as a proposed site for Elim Tabernacle. Its members finally decided to remain in their present building on Simcoe St., which has been recently undergoing extensive alterations and improvements. That lot was bought by Charles H. Elliott who was considering erection of an automobile sales building. It is understood that he sold it to Arthur H. Lewis. At any rate, it is listed in the assessment office as owned by Mr. Lewis.

Another report was that Loblaw Company first discussed the buying of the entire terrace owned by Goodfellow and Dougherty, but that recently they reduced their interest to a south section of that building.

The grocery company negotiated with the city council early in the year for a block of the market square at the northwest corner of Water and Charlotte streets. That deal eventually fell through, and recently it was learned that the company was concentrating on the George St site.

IF THE UE PERSISTS in using its sound equipment outside the CGE plant in order to address union members a testing of Peterborough's anti-noise law may be in the offing. Shown above is C. S. Jackson, Canadian president of the UE-CIO, addressing workers within the CGE property. The sound equipment truck is parked against the west Park St. curb outside the main gate.

Truck Located In Field Near Lakefield

A safe weighing 900 pounds and containing between $70 and $80 was stolen overnight from the American News Company, news agents on Hunter St. east of the bridge. City Police, who are searching for the safe, found a truck stolen from Lakeshore Cleaners, abandoned in a field at Lakefield today. They strongly suspect the safe was transported out of the city in the truck.

All Connected

The tool shed at the C.N.R. station in Lakefield was also broken into overnight and two pinch bars, a clawbar and sledgehammer removed. City Police Sergeant Detective John Stevenson and Detective William Clarke are working on the assumption that the abandoned truck and stolen railway tools are closely connected with the safe robbery.

When Wilfred Wrigler went to the news stand to start the day's work, he found the back door of the shop had been broken open and the safe was missing. Lakeshore Cleaners, whose new truck has been on city streets only a few weeks, reported theft of the vehicle this morning as soon as it was discovered.

City Police Identification Officer William Aggas, who has returned from Lakefield after seeing the truck believes that marks and residue inside the vehicle were caused by the safe being placed there.

Pried Off Sash

Entry to the toolshed was made through a window, the thieves having pried off the entire sash.

They left untouched a considerable quantity of gasoline, oil, and other equipment, strengthening the belief that they were merely in search of tools with which to do the safecracking job.

The break was discovered by Section Foreman Joseph Delledonne when he arrived at work at 7.00 a.m. today

New Housing Subdivision Adds Assessments Of $468,000 To City's Total

The Brookdale housing subdivision, now nearing completion on the north border of the city, represents the creation of new realty values totalling $468,000. The municipal tax on this property at the rate of 45 mills this year will amount to approximately $20,060. An undertaking of Sands and Bateman, the Brookdale subdivision is now the realization of their planning and enterprise. It is situated on the west side of the Chemong Road north of its branching into Stewart and Reid Streets. Of the 52 houses, all but seven are finished and sold. Most of them are occupied, or about to be. The remaining seven are in the final stage of the builders' work.

A small block of the area has been reserved at its southeast corner, fronting on the highway, for a shopping centre of three or four stores. Another lot has been kept vacant for a children's playground at the corner of Downie and Wolsley streets.

Purchasers of the Brookdale houses are proceeding with the landscaping of their premises, a detail that has been left to their own devising. Top soil is being levelled for lawns, and already there is some planting of trees and shrubs and flower beds. Much of the work of laying and grading the new roads which wind through the subdivision is done, and the whole project is emerging in actuality as it was drafted in blue-print form 18 months ago.

Become Homes

The Sands and Bateman houses have become homes. Family life is taking residence in them, and the subdivision in its final process is assuming an attractiveness which its designers contemplated. The ultimate appearance will eventually be enhanced by the emerging of walks and lawns, the effect of which in refinement and improvement should materialize with the aid of this season's growth of grass.

Brookdale subdivision has become a collective dwelling place with all the present evidences of occupation, particularly in the feminine graces of window hangings and their suggestion of accompanying interior decorating have been changing the appearance of the houses with an air of brightness and domesticity since the first owners moved in for the comfort and elbow room, and also for the security of possession, for which many of them had been impatiently waiting.

It is altogether likely that Ald. Adam Sands and Mr. Lorne Bateman knew many days of worry when the weather was against them, and their subdivision appeared to be bogged down in the rainy seasons. But, that condition now seems to have been long ago. Brookdale is out in the sunlight of virtual completion even to the drainage system that was an essential feature of the plans.

Sands and Bateman took an old pasture field on the township side of the Peterborough-Smith border and transformed it into a residential section of the city of substantial realty value and especially of a persuasive attractiveness that becomes more distinct and arresting with each week's progress of finishing touches.

2nd Arrest Made In Cattle Rustling Case

A second arrest was made in Toronto this morning in connection with alleged rustling of a considerable number of cattle from the pasture of Oliver Knapp and Harold Allen at Orono when E. A. Allen of Orono was taken into custody by Provincial Police. Allen had been sought since Tuesday when Henry Sucee, also of Orono, was arrested on the same charge by Provincial Constable J. R. Pollard of Orono and Provincial Constable Nicoll of Cobourg and lodged in the Cobourg jail.

Allen was arrested by members of the Criminal Investigation branch at Toronto headquarters of the Provincial Police and was being held there pending the arrival of Constable Pollard, who has been despatched to bring him to Cobourg.

Allen is charged with the theft of six cattle, the property of Oliver Knapp, and the accused is a brother of Harold Allen, owner of the cow allegedly stolen by Sucee, and which was found in a Peterborough packing house last Thursday. Four of the cattle alleged to have been rustled by Allen are now under seizure by police in the Toronto stockyards, and the other two are alleged to have been sold in Elora, near Guelph. Succe is also charged with stealing six steers from Knapp.

A total of 25 cattle are believed to have been rustled altogether from the pasture The steer found in the Peterborough packing house bore a brand name used by the owner.

City Must Buy Property For 100 Houses

City council has no reserve of vacant property for the 100 houses for veterans and their families for which application was recently made to Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

The special committee appointed by the council with Ald. A. B. Burrows, chairman, has been scanning available lots, and from that approach it is evident that most of the land for this No. 11 project will have to be bought by the city.

The committee is inviting W. W. Scott of Central Mortgage to come to Peterborough for a discussion Friday, June 3 at 4 p.m.

Because of their association with the council in providing services for housing tenants, the Board of Education and the Utilities Commission are being asked to send representatives to the meeting next week when the question of location of the houses will be considered. Several blocks have been listed by the Burrows committee for the approval of the two other municipal bodies. According to a recent letter to the council, Central Mortgage and Housing are urging that the property preliminary be settled as early as convenient.

Students Buy Oil Painting

Bronco Busters, an oil painting by Andre Bieler, resident artist at Queen's University, has been bought by the Students' Council of PCVS. Catalogued at $300 Mr. Bieler sold the painting at a considerably reduced price in order to help the students in their collection of originals by Canadian artists.

Recently the painting caught the eye of visitors to the exhibit of the National Art Gallery at the Public Library. Mr. Bieler painted the bronco busting scene two years ago when he was in the western provinces

This year the money for the painting was donated by the organizations in the school and from the school fund.

In buying this painting the Students' Council is following in the footsteps of last year when the move was started to purchase a collection of paintings, both water and oil.

Early in the fall Henry Dinsdale, president of the Council, presented to C. S. Browne, principal, two paintings by A. J. Casson on behalf of last year's Council. The students bought a painting of Mr. Casson's, who had donated another.

Cast Your Vote Campaign In Preparation

If a large total vote is not polled in Peterborough in the Dominion election of June 27 it will not be the fault of the Senior and Junior Chambers of Commerce and the local branch of the Canadian Legion. These organizations, the Examiner learns, are now drawing up plans for a concentrated "Get Out the Vote" campaign in an effort to impress upon the voters the importance of exercising their franchise. They believe that widespread apathy to voting threatens democratic institutions at a time when they are being vigorously assailed by exponents of anti - democratic ideals.

Heading the campaign will be the two Chambers of Commerce. Their respective presidents, W. M. Gemmell of the senior and Douglas Vaisey, newly-elected leader of the "Jaycees," both said today that their organizations would meet soon to draft definite plans.

Mr. Gemmell called a special meeting of the Chamber of Commerce this afternoon to draft arrangements for the next regular directors' meeting on June 14. Mr. Vaisey said his group would begin discussion on their contribution to the drive at a meeting to be held next week.

Legion to Take Part

The local Legionnaires at an executive meeting last evening considered a request of the Dominion Command of the Canadian Legion that they launch such a campaign on their own, along with other Legion branches across the country. However, the Peterborough branch decided not to act on the suggestion because they did not wish to do anything to interfere with plans they knew the Chambers of Commerce had in mind. They agreed, instead, to offer their services to the other groups if they should be needed. The executive also decided to get in touch with Provincial Command headquarters at Toronto for further advice.

The Peterborough branch executive did, however, adopt their usual procedure of deciding to send out letters to all their own members asking them to be sure to vote on Election Day.

Union Officials Claim No Violation Of Bylaw

There has been no positive re-action from civic officials over the possible contravention of the existing anti-noise bylaw. On Wednesday, C. S. Jackson, Canadian president of the UE-CIO, spoke from a sound truck outside the main gate at CGE.

Union officials claim they are not violating the anti-noise bylaw which forbids: "Noises from or caused by sound amplifiers or radio or other loud speakers placed outside any building or on any vehicle or in any other position or location which sound on and over the highways of the City of Peterborough and cause annoyance to others."

When queried by an Examiner reporter earlier today as to what action the City might take, Mayor Max Swanston said the matter had still to be dealt with.

"Somebody told me of the press reports of the incident, but I did not read the article myself. However I intend to see the City Solicitor later today."

"I've nothing to say about it, at all," was the only comment elicited from Chief of Police John Thompson.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

COUNCIL MEETS

The film, Ballot Boxes, will be shown at the monthly meeting of the Film Council Friday night in the auditorium of the Public Library. After the film a discussion will take place on "The Power of Your Vote".

SPEAKS SUMMER SCHOOL

Dr. C. H. Stearn, professor of classics at McMaster University, spoke to the students of the Normal School Wednesday on summer school for teachers. He is the Director of University Extension. The students finish school Friday if no examinations have to be written.

CELEBRATE ASCENSION DAY

Sixty choir boys from St. Peter's Cathedral left this morning on their annual pilgrimage to St. Augustine Seminary in Toronto. Twenty-eight girls of the girls' choir went on an outing to Cobourg.

SEE MOVIE

Inside Football, a movie on punting, placement kicking, passing and receiving, was shown Wednesday to the boys of the Collegiate in place of their regular gym classes. In the movie were American football stars such as Lou Little, Ken Strong and Sid Luckman.

PAYS OFF

It pays to advertise. Recently the Recreation Commission in Peterborough advertised for playground supervisors, swimming, track and field, and tennis coaches and lifeguards. So far 45 applications have been received from Timmins, Sudbury, Toronto, London Oshawa and other centres of Ontario. No applications have been received for the position of tennis coach.

COMPLAINANT ARRESTED

When Mrs. Rose Spears, 733 Chamberlain St. went to city police station to lay a charge of assault against George Smith, of the same address, little did she expect the police to place her in a cell. She told Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, at city police court today that she has been placed in a cell and charged with drunkenness when she visited the station to lay the charge. In the first case in court today Mrs. Spears was the complainant, and the charge against Smith was dismissed. Then Mrs. Spears was the defendant, and was also acquitted on the drunk charge.

Odd Fellows Plan Big Rally In City

Peterborough Sanctorum of The Ancient Mystic Order of Samaritans will be hosts on Friday and Saturday to the northern division which is holding the spring convention and ceremonial at the Odd Fellows Hall, with headquarters at the Empress Hotel.

Apart from the divisional sessions a full program has been arranged. One of the best patrol teams in this division will be here from Windsor, also their very efficient degree team to confer the degree of Humility on Saturday evening which follows the banquet at The Empress Hotel and will be the concluding item.

The city should be much enlivened by the parade on Saturday afternoon from the market to the cenotaph for a very brief ceremony, being assisted by the C.G.E. Pipe Band, after which Patrol Drills may be seen at the park.

A motor parade is also on the lists, and a well planned entertainment, which includes a civic welcome to the guests who will be here from the various branches in the U.S.A. and Canada. The Junior Chamber of Commerce will be represented at this welcome.

Attempted To Take Muskies From Nets

Herb McIlmoyle and Max Kidd, RR 3, Lakefield were today each fined $15 with $2.50 costs for attempting to take muskies from the Government nets on Lake Katchewanooka. They sent written pleas of guilty to Magistrate W. R Philp, KC, who passed sentence at city police court.

Buster Whitton, 22 Manning Ave., Peterborough, was fined $10 with $2.50 costs for fishing for pickerel out of season.

All three charges were laid by Conservation Officer Stanley Windsor.

Two Motorcycists Acquitted In Court

Roy Harrison, 220 Brock St. and Kenneth Heard, 84½ Hunter St. W. were acquitted of charges of careless driving today at city police court by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC. Acquittal followed a two-day court hearing earlier this month when 12 witnesses described an accident which occurred August 24 last year. It had resulted in Charles King, 187 Lock St. suffering a badly fractured ankle.

Both accused men had been driving motorcycles.

Temple Band Visits N.Y. State

The Salvation Army Silver Band and Major Charles Watt and Mrs. Watt made an extensive tour last week-end. They arrived in Brockville at noon on Saturday where dinner was provided by the Brockville Corps. In the evening they presented a varied program at the Collegiate Institute which was presided over by His Worship Mayor C. Renolds, who was presented with a letter from Peterborough's Mayor, Max J. Swanston.

Their Sunday program started with a radio broadcast by the Band over Station CHJM followed by service at the Citadel. In the afternoon they presented a Festival of Music at the Town Hall in Prescott and had supper as guests of the Prescott Corps. They returned to Brockville and held a joint open air service with the Brockville Corps and presented another concert of band music later at the Regent Theatre.

On Monday morning the Band went to Ogdensburg, NY, where they were welcomed to the United States by Brigadier C. O'Neill, divisional Commander of the Salvation Army, Eastern New York State. With him were Capt. Payton, Ogdensburg, and Capts. Gouley and Orsborn, Divisional headquarters, Albany.

Following a luncheon they motored to Canton, NY, where they were welcomed by the Mayor. They gave a musical program in the city park and later gave a program at the High School auditorium in Potsdam before 600 students.

Supper was served at Messena at the Masonic Temple and was followed by a concert in the Auditorium. The Band members stayed there overnight and returned to Brockville on Tuesday morning and enjoyed a trip through the Thousand Islands.

Returning to Peterborough, they stopped at Cobourg for supper as guests of Lieut. C. Williams and the Cobourg Corps. Major Watt expressed a great deal of credit to Capt. and Mrs. Joseph Craig, of the Brockville Salvation Army Corps for their hard work in organizing the successful tour for the Peterborough Corps.

Exhibition Game

TORONTO, May 26 (CP) — Toronto Balmy Beach of the Ontario Rugby Football Union has promised to play an exhibition game Labor Day, Sept. 5, in aid of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children, Conn Smythe, the society's financial chairman, said Wednesday night.

Two Cars Damaged In Park Street Crash

Two cars were smashed in a collision at Park and Lansdowne streets Wednesday early afternoon. Frank J. Milhalewicy, 148 Park St., told Constable Vern O'Donoghue that he did not see the stop sign as he approached Lansdowne St. from Park St. His car was in collision with a car driven along Lansdowne St. by Harry Martin of Brantford.

Expert estimates of the damage have not yet been obtained but Constable O'Donoghue thought that the vehicles were each damaged to the extent of more than $200.

Chief Constable John Thompson says Milhalewicy will be summonsed to appear at city police court on a charge of failing to stop at the stop sign.

Final Respects Paid Mrs. Morris

A concourse of friends, relatives and civic officials on Wednesday afternoon paid their final respects to Mrs. Kate Morris, first woman member of the Board of Education. Mrs. Morris died Monday at her residence on Homewood Ave.

Pallbearers were George Clark, R. H. Parsons, D. J. Lawrie, Dr. J. J. Craig, R. Stevenson, and J. W. McDermid.

Among those present were Frank Jobbitt, chairman of the Board of Education, K. S. Wightman, Superintendent of Schools, C. S. Browne, principal of PCVS; Dr. G. S. Cameron; Dr. J. M. McCullough; A. L. Killaly, James Juby and Ross Dobbin, general manager of the Utilities Commission.

Many representatives from women's organizations in the city were also present, including the Home and School Association, Women's Auxiliary to The Canadian Legion; Local Council of Women; Women's Art Association; Y.W.C.A.

The funeral was from the family residence to St. John's Anglican Church where service was conducted by the Ven. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Mrs. Morris was first proposed as a candidate for the Board in 1919 and succeeded in being elected the following year. She was chairman of the Board in 1931 and retired in 1943.

PCVS Cadets May Bugle CNE

Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School's Army Cadet Bugle Band may go to the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto this fall. They have been chosen with the Lindsay Collegiate's bugle band as the two best bands in this district. If the Army Cadets are asked to take a band to the Exhibition, these two bands will be the ones to go, Captain R. C. Groves, Eastern Ontario Eastern Ontario Cadet Training Officer, told Major H. A. Craig, Cadet Training Officer at the Collegiate.

The Collegiate band impressed the inspecting officer on May 11 with its smartness on parade and its clear playing. The band has been practising since the fall with their new instruments. Albert Croasdale is the band's dirctor.

Wednesday afternoon the bugle band went to Lndsay to practise with the Lindsay boys. Next week the Lindsay bugle band will come to Peterborough. The boys were taken to Lindsay in two troop-carrying vehicles of the 50th Heavy AA Regiment, RCA.

Doctors Urge Rehabilitation For Sick Food

LONDON, Ont., May 26—(CP)—Many persons who weather the crisis of severe illness have difficulty in fitting themselves back into everyday life, especially if after-effects bar them from returning to their normal occupations. But something is being done to help them.

The rehabilitation problem now is being looked upon as one of the important phases of medical treatment, Dr. Howard A. Rusk professor of physical medicine at the University of New York, said Wednesday. Addressing the closing general session of the Ontario Medical Association convention he said:

"We have been focussed upon the acute problem of chronic illness rather than upon the patient's rehabilitation. I am convinced that we have lost a lot of patients due to neglect of this aspect.

"We have done much to add years to life; it is our responsibility to add life to years. The only way we can meet this problem is to accept it as a social and medical responsibility."

Dr. Rusk said he opposes bed rest in treatment of the chronically ill. He said he found in tests that within six weeks of confinement to bed, blood volume decreased to 15 per cent.

Dr. G. C. Brink, Ontario director of tuberculosis services, said it is expected that by the end of this year, all hospitals in Ontario will have compulsory X-ray chest examinations on admission. He said 60 hospitals in the province now provide this service.

Jack Wise Dies In Kent, Ohio

KENT, Ohio, May 26—John Edwin "Jack" Wise, 59, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Sylvan Knapp, of New Milford, where he had been living for the past six months. He had been in failing health for several years.

Born in Peterborough, Ontario, he was a resident of Kent for many years. He was a former machinist at the C. L. Gougler Machine Co., Kent, and a member of the Church of England.

Surviving are his wife, Martha; his daughter, Mrs. Knapp, two brothers and a sister living in Canada; and one grandchild.

Services were held at the Wood funeral home, Ravenna. The Rev Allen O. Birchenough of Grace Episcopal church, Ravenna, officiating. Burial was in Homeland cemetery, Rootstown.

THIS IS THE DESIGN for a Canadian flag recommended by the Quebec provincial convention of the Canadian Legion. The field is composed of equally spaced blue and white bars, symbolizing the 10 provinces. Forming part of the design is the Union Jack, with the fleur de lis superimposed on a red maple leaf in white. Designed by G. A. Henstridge, it will be submitted to the Secretary of State for consideration when Parliament once again takes up the matter of a national flag.

Lords Planning To Delay Steel Nationalization Bill

LONDON, May 26 (CP)—The Conservative-dominated House of Lords has given the Labor government's highly-controversial iron and steel nationalization bill second reading. However, it has labelled the measure with a great big "but."

The opposition has declared its intention of introducing an amendment when the bill reaches the committee stage that would postpone its enforcement until after the general election, scheduled for the summer of 1950.

Last night the Lords passed the bill without voting on second reading. But—and it's the biggest but of the current parliamentary session—if the Conservative Peers force through the amendment which delays the nationalization of Britain's vast dollar-earning iron and steel plants from May 1, 1950 to Oct. 1, 1950 it might mean nationalization will never take place.

The general election must be held not later than mid-summer next year—when Labor's five-year term, won in 1945, expires—and the iron and steel issues is sure to be one of the hottest in the election campaign.

Winston Churchill, Conservative party leader, has gone on record as saying that if the Conservatives oust the present government at the polls in 1950, iron and steel plants will remain under private control. But nationalization of these plants is one of the major planks in the Labor platform.

Vital Issue

The issue is vital to the future course of British economy. Opponents of nationalization say such an important industry must not fall victim to the "bungling" of nationalizers. They point to higher coal and gas costs as evidence that nationalization does not pay.

But government backers say the people want iron and steel nationalized — as they demonstrated when Labor was returned in 1945—and nationalization of these plants is essential to carrying out a planned national economy which is the keystone of the Labor program for Britain.

Warn Dance Halls About Teen-Agers

TORONTO, May 26 (CP). — Operators of dance halls who permit 'teen-agers to "go stag" were rebuked Wednesday in court during the hearing of the charge against two Toronto youths of creating a disturbance in a local dance hall.

"Going stag, as seems to be a custom among 'teen-agers, is a mistake which should not be permitted by dance hall managers," the judge said.

The three youths, said to be members of a 'teen-age gang which invaded the dance hall last May 4, were fined $30, or one month each. The court refused them time to pay.

A similar charge against nine other youths was dismissed because of insufficient proof.

Wallet Ploughed Up

BETHANY, May 26 (ENS)—When ploughing with a tractor on his father's farm, Vern Mulligan, Bethany, lost his wallet containing a considerable sum of money, driver's license, papers, etc. He had no idea where he lost it . . only knowing that it must be some place in the newly-ploughed field. On Monday afternoon friends staged a "Bee". Walter Neals took his tractor and back ploughed the furrows and the remainder of the group of neighbors, armed with forks and shovels, followed him, turning over the soil carefully. Late in the afternoon the lost wallet was found.

Lakefield Man Receives Degree

LAKEFIELD, May 26 (ENS) — Robert Spence, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Spence, Lakefield, with his wife and daughter, is spending a brief holiday in the village following his graduation from Queen's University with a Bachelor of Science degree.

Born in the village and educated in Lakefield Public and High Schools, he also attended Peterborough Collegiate and graduated from Peterborough Normal School in 1934.

He taught one year at SS No. 9, Smith, then at Lakefield Public School until 1940. The next year he was employed by the Tweed Steel Works, returning at the end of fifteen months to join the staff of Lakefield Preparatory School.

In 1943 Mr. Spence joined the Royal Canadian Artillery and was assigned to special radar work in heavy "ack-ack" for three years. He has accepted a position with the Canadian Westinghouse Company in Hamilton.

Waiting For China

HARTFORD, Conn., May 26—(AP)—The wartime commander of the Flying Tigers in China says that the Communists "will not go to war in Europe until the China question is settled." Maj.-Gen. Claire L. Chennault also told the 50th annual meeting of the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce here Wednesday night that "if the western provinces of China can be held, it is my firm conviction that any possible war in Europe may be nidefinitely delayed."

FAHRENHEIT FAILURE

The Danish merchant Fahrenheit, who invented the thermometer, was a business failure.

MONTREAL, May 26th—Lady, be good to your pretty Summer clothes and guard your popularity with NONSPI! Underarm perspiration will injure fabrics as well as popularity . . . but Nonspi will completely stop perspiration . . . best way I know to give your clothes sure protection! And so very simple to apply . . . with the convenient, exclusive-to-Nonspi applicator! Just follow the directions in the booklet that comes with every bottle of Nonspi . . . you'll find, as I have, that this truly effective liquid anti-perspirant is skin-safe—fabric-safe! It's accepted for advertising by the Journal of the American Medical Association! Protect your charm — your poise — your clothes — with Nonspi . . . Lady, be good to yourself!

Your Children will ask for more of this cocoa—with-a-dash! Extra-good because it's made with LIBBY'S EVAPORATED MILK . . . and a dash of cinnamon in each cup for "wide-awake" flavour. Yes, there are lots of luscious ways to give your children the good nourishment of Libby's Evaporated Milk . . . in custards—sauces—scrambled eggs. In fact, almost every dish you serve can be richer, tastier, more nourishing—when you use Libby's. You see, it's made from pure, country-fresh milk with all the original cream left in and half the water removed. It's so rich it whips! And it contains all the top quality nutrients which you expect from whole milk—plus added Vitamin D—the "Sunshine vitamin"! So when your recipe calls for milk . . . use Libby's Evaporated Milk —see and taste the difference it makes!

Look For Special Displays at your grocer's this month . . . displays featuring the famous 57 Varieties —celebrating HEINZ 40TH ANNIVERSARY in Canada! Yes, it was forty years ago that Heinz installed their first Canadian kitchens at Leamington, Ontario. And, today the folks at Heinz number their Canadian friends by the thousands and thousands! The House of Heinz has grown because we Canadians like good eating . . . know fine quality when we see it! And we can be sure that in the years to come, Heinz will continue to give us the quality we've come to expect from them—the good food we appreciate so much!

There's No Need to be resigned to using shampoos that leave the hair dull, lack-lustre! Not with this wonderful, special offer of the new KREML SHAMPOO! The makers of famous Kreml Shampoo have told me I can send you a 30c bottle of Kreml Shampoo on receipt of your letter and just 10c. It's an opportunity you won't want to miss . . . for Kreml Shampoo does everything you've ever wanted a shampoo to do for your hair. You see, it has a natural oil base—leaves your hair soft as a lamb to manage. And Kreml Shampoo contains an amazing new ingredient called "Folisan" ® that makes rinsing "wink-quick" and thorough! Result — naturally gleaming, glossy hair! So write to me, enclosing your "Kreml Shampoo" dime . . . Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.

Pleasant, Isn't It, to hear your husband boast about your cooking? One good way I know to put husbands in a "boasting mood" is to give a meal a "happy ending" with a BENSON'S CORN STARCH dessert! Try this one, for instance:

VANILLA BLANC MANGE
2 cups hot milk — ½ cup white sugar
3 tbspns. Benson's Corn Starch — ¼ tspn. salt
2 tbspns. cold milk — 1 tspn. vanilla

Scald 2 cups milk over boiling water. Mix Benson's Corn Starch, sugar and salt with cold milk. Add slowly to hot milk, stirring constantly until thick. Cover and continue cooking 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat, add vanilla. Pour into serving dish or into individual molds lightly oiled with Mazola or rinsed in cold water. Chill. Unmold and serve with Crown Brand Corn Syrup, jam, canned or fresh fruit, etc.

Sure To Wake Up The Drowsiest Dreamer . . . KELLOGG'S ALL-WHEAT is a cool, crisp breakfast dish—just made for a warm May morning! And it's such a wonderful way to add extra whole wheat to your family's diet! Made by Kellogg's in London, Ontario—All-Wheat is choice whole wheat magically transformed into crispy, crunchy toasted flakes that taste just grand when you top them with milk-'n-sugar! It's fun to add fruit to a bowlful of All-Wheat—too. Makes a breakfast-dish as merry as the month of May!

Your Family Will Love "Left-overs" . . . meats and vegetables . . . when you "glamourize" them with SHIRRIFF'S wonderful new product SALA-JELL! All you do for truly delicious salads—meat loaves—jellied consommes . . . just add salad ingredients to Sala-Jell as it thickens! Here, for instance is an out-of-this-world salad—easy-to-prepare with this savoury, herb-flavoured aspic jelly mix! . . .

MEXICAN SALAD
When Sala-Jell commences to set, dice and add:
4 cup celery — 3 tomatoes
1 pimento — 1 green pepper

Ask your grocer for Shirriff's Sala-Jell next time you're shopping and enjoy the thrilling new taste experience it brings. In every package of Sala-Jell you'll find a booklet of recipe suggestions just as good as the one above!

Galling All Recipe Collectors! . . . Here's a free recipe booklet you'll not want to miss! 75 wonderful recipes in the "Swift'ning Recipe Book" . . . and it's yours if you'll print your name and address and send with one Swift'ning carton top to me:— Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q. You'll enjoy cooking with SWIFT'NING —the new kind of shortening that makes it easy to bake delightful cakes and pies in less time with less trouble . . . Try this recipe from the booklet:—

CREAM PUFFS
Yield: 18 medium cream puffs
½ cup Swift'ning — 1 cup sifted flour
1 cup boiling water — 1 tspn. salt
4 eggs

Add Swift'ning to water and bring to a boil. Add flour and salt all at once and stir vigorously until ball forms in center of pan. Cool slightly. Add unbeaten eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each egg. Mixture should be very stiff. Shape on greased cookie sheet by dropping from spoon or pastry bag. Bake. Cool; fill with cream filling, ice cream, whipped cream, or chicken salad, ham salad, liver sausage or sharp cheese. Baking Temperature: 450 deg. F. Baking Time: 15 minutes. Reduce to: Baking Temperature: 350 deg. F. Baking Time: About 30 minutes.

Your Home Will Be No Home At All To Mr. Moth! Not when you mothproof your clothes the famous "LARVEX" way! And it's so very easy! Just spray your woollens—suits—coats—dresses or rugs with Larvex! There's no need to wrap or store away . . . one spraying actually mothproofs the cloth itself for a whole year. And you can wear the "Larvex-ed" garments right away for there's no unpleasant "moth-ball" odour to tell tales! Larvex is completely effective! Moths will starve to death rather than eat anything sprayed with it! And another thing you'll be glad to know about Larvex . . . it's so inexpensive—costs no more to "Larvex" a suit than to get it dry-cleaned. No wonder Larvex is fast becoming a household "buyword" in thousands of Canadian homes. I urge you to try it and discover its excellence for yourself!

Welcome The Summer Sun with new-looking curtains and upholstery . . . economically Tintex-dyed! Have fun under the summer sun in gayly colored beach and playtime-clothes made to look like new with the Tintex "beauty treatment" . . . necessary ingredients—TINTEX COLOR REMOVER and All-fabric Tintex Tints and Dyes! Substract faded color with the Color Remover . . . and add summer-bright color with All-fabric Tintex! All-fabric Tintex comes in a wide range of fashionable shades—eliminates all worry and guesswork from home dyeing! Just follow the directions on the package! Ask for All-fabric Tintex tomorrow—at your favorite drug, department or variety store. Only 15c a package.

"A Woman's Curiosity," says a philosophical friend of mine "is more often a good thing than a bad one! Take my curiosity about why so many women are switching to TENDER LEAF TEA BALLS! Naturally, I tried them for myself . . . and what a grand discovery! . . . Tea at its tastiest!" Yes the new, improved Tender Leaf Tea Balls are truly Orange Pekoe at its flavour-best . . . made from the little top leaves! And so easy to serve . . . so very economical! You can get two cups of tea from just one tea ball! I'm sure, after the first sip, you'll be one of the thousands of Tender Leaf Tea Ball fans!

Showers Of Happiness for the bride-to-be . . . or the sweet young graduate! And a fitting occasion for this exquisite Silver Moon Cake made extra tender, extra delicious with the finest of cake flours — SWANS DOWN CAKE FLOUR.

SILVER MOON CAKE
3 cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour — 1¼ cups sugar
3 teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder — 1 cup milk
½ teaspoon salt — 1 teaspoon vanilla
2/3 cup butter or other shortening — 5 egg whites

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together 3 times. Cream butter, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Beat egg whites until they will hold up in moist peaks. Stir quickly but thoroughly into batter. Bake in three greased 9-inch layer pans in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Spread a boiled frosting tinted a delicate pink between layers and over cake; decorate with a lacy border of Baker's Coconut.

Holland Sees Difficulties In Food Project

OTTAWA, May 26 — (CP) — The Netherlands will support Canada's feed-the-hungry-nations plan for disposal of surplus foods, but o top-flight Netherland farmer believes the plan will hit a lot of economic barriers before it can be put into operation.

The plan will be placed before the International Federation of Agricultural Producers which meets in Guelpr, May 31, by H. H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture. More than 100 delegates from 2- nations will attend.

"The difficulties in its general acceptance," said H. D. Louwes, the Netherlands representative to the 10-day conference, "is that it may disrupt economic price levels in a hungry nation such as China or India.

"We will support the plan, but there will be much difficulty in putting it into operation."

Subsidy Plan

Conceived by Mr. Hannam, the plan provides for an international subsidy to be shared equally by a UN agency and the surplus-producing country.

It will allow for the sale of surplus foods to hungry nations at 2- per cent below-normal price with the deficit being made up by the UN and the government of the selling country.

The producer himself will lose nothing by the deal.

Mr. Louwes, president of the Netherlands Agricultural Foundation and first vice-president of the IFAP, sees the movement of vast supplies of food into a hungry country as unbalancing the price level in that country.

"Another difficulty is payment," he said. In an interview during a brief stopover in Ottawa before moving on to Guelph "How will the hungry nation find enough money to pay for the products. These are the problems which will have to be discussed at the conference.'

Pope Pius Asks Catholics To Make Pilgrimage In 1950

VATICAN CITY, May 26 (AP) Pope Pius today called on the Roman Catholic world to make a pilgrimage of peace to Rome during the 1950 Holy Year.

In a papal bull officially proclaiming the Holy Year, the 73-year-old Pontiff implored that "peace finally return to the hearts of everyone, within domestic walls, in individual nations, in the universal commonwealth of peoples."

A gray-haired Prelate read the bull in the great portico of the Basilica of St. Peter according to ancient custom. It will be read later in the Basilicas of St. John Lateran, Saint Paul and Santa Maria Maggiore in Rome.

The Pope himself did not appear at the public ceremony attended by some 2,000 persons.

In the bull the Pope warned pilgrims expected to pour into Rome by the tens of thousands beginning next Christmas eve, not to come for a good time.

Not Pleasure Trip

"These pilgrimages must not be made with the mentality of those who travel for pleasure," the Pope said, "but with the spirit of piety which animated the faithful of past centuries who, overcoming obstacles of all kind, often afoot, came to Rome to wash away their sins with tears of sorrow and to implore of God peace and forgiveness."

Roman Catholics who make the Holy Year pilgrimage to Rome and observe certain conditions receive a plenary indulgence—full remission of temporal punishment to due forgiven sin so that no further expiation is required in purgatory.

In ancient time Holy Years were proclaimed every fifty years Later this was shortened to every 25 years. The Pope, however, can proclaim an extraordinary one at any time he may desire for special reasons. Pius XI proclaimed one in 1933 on the anniversary of the death of Christ. The last normal Holy Year before that was in 1925.

The Pontiff enumerated eight points to be held in mind by the faithful during the 1950 Holy Year.

He exhorted them to reform their customs and acquire Christian virtues.

Secondly he said: "It is necessary to ask God insistently that the faith due to the divine redeemer and to the church by him, be kept by everyone with inflexible spirit and strong will."

Study Arab League

BAGHDAD, May 26—(Reuters) —The premiers of Iraq, Egypt and the Lebanon will confer shortly on the future status of the Arab League, and on Palestine and Arab unity, it is authoritatively understood here. The talks will take place at Aley, Lebanese summer resort about 18 miles from Beirut.

HOWARD W. RICHARDSON, Canadian Trade Commissioner at Bagota, Colombia, who has returned to Canada to tour industrial and commercial centres in the interests of trade with his territory, which also embraces Panama and the Canal Zone.

Dutch Anxious To Export Labor To Canada

OTTAWA, May 26 (CP) —More human cargo is what the Netherlands want to export to Canada.

"We would like to sell greater amounts of herring, cheese and cocoa products in return for greater quantities of Canadian wheat," H. D. Louwes said today in an interview, "but most of all we would like to send more immigrants—especially farm labor."

The president of the Netherlands Agricultural Foundation and first vice-president of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers stopped off en route to the 10-day IFAP, conference in Guelph.

On Canadian-Holland trade, he said there soon would be a period of expansion on both sides, but the dollar problem first had to be solved. Meanwhile, the temporary solution was for Canada to import greater quantities from the Netherlands, thus making more dollars available for purchases in Canada.

He said the Netherlands always would have a soft spot for Canada. Canadian soldiers had liberated the country from the Nazis in the Second World War and Canada already had provided homes for 15,000 farmers.

He emphasized the importance of more Netherlanders emigrating to Canada. "Our homes were decimated during the war, but our population was not," he explained.

The Netherlands' population now amounted to about 10,000,000, a few million below that of Canada.

"In a few years," said Mr. Louwes, "the Netherlands may be providing population for all of Western Europe."

Doby Hits Longest Run Wallop Carries 500 Ft.

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)— Larry Doby of Cleveland Indians Wednesday night hit one of the longest home runs in Washington's baseball history.

Repeating his Yankee Stadium performance of last Friday, the negro outfielder slammed a fast ball over a sign atop Griffith Stadium's right-centrefield wall.

Veteran baseball writers estimated the wallop carried 500 feet. It cleared the sign, which is 55 feet above the ground, by about 10 feet.

"I think it was the longest I've ever hit," Doby said in the clubhouse.

In New York last Friday, Doby blasted one into the centrefield bleachers and veteran observers said it was the first homer ever hit into that section. It carried at least 430 feet.

CAVAN, May 26 — (ENS) — Cavan waters are proving to be a fisherman's paradise this spring

Ross Cox, 41, Natalie Street, Toronto, arrived for an early morning fishing expedition at Scott's Pond on May 24. At about 9.30 o'clock he came into Stinson's Store and proudly displayed his catch, a large brown trout which tipped the scales at ten pounds and measured sixteen and a half inches long. He also caught a number of speckled beauties of a good size.

BEWILDERED WEATHERMAN—Winter paid an out-of-season visit to Winnipeg May 23. As a result Joyce Howell, six, was able to make a snow man for herself with sprouting flowers in the background. A little more than half an inch fell in several flurries overnight and during the early morning.

Pearl Johnson Bride Of Vernon Grady

Sacred Heart Church was the scene of a lovely wedding Tuesday as Pearl Marie, daugher of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Johnson became the bride of Vernon Joseph, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Grady. The Rev. G. Sullivan officiated. Mr. J. A. Armstrong presided at the organ and Miss Doris Furphy sang "Ave Maria" and other hymns.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a beautiful wedding gown of white satin with nylon net yoke trimmed with lace, and gathered full skirt and long train edged with lace, caught up at the front with lily-of-the-valley making visible ruffles of white lace. Her veil was of embroidered white net caught to her head by white gardenias and lily-of-the-valley. She carried a shower bouquet of red roses.

Miss Lois Johnson was her sister's maid of honor and was wearing pink brocaded satin and net. Her headdress was of pink veiling gathered with tiny pink flowers.

The bridesmaids were Miss Thresa Collins and Miss Mary Gutherie. Miss Collins wore nile green satin and net. Miss Gutherie wore yellow brocaded satin. Each wore a short veil, caught with tiny flowers and carried a colonial bouquet of roses.

Miss Doyne Johnson, cousin of the bride, was flower girl and wore pale blue nylon dotted dress with sweetheart hat and mittens to match and carried a nosegay of roses.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Clare Grady. Ushers were Lionel Johnson, brother of the bride, and Mr. James Goselin. Gary Johnson, brother of the bride, and Danny Toomey, cousin of the groom, served the nuptial mass.

The reception was held at 209 Lock St., home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Hawkins, where a wedding breakfast was served.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Johnson chose a gown of powder blue crepe with lace and wore a picture hat of powder blue felt and navy mohair. Mrs. Grady, mother of the groom was dressed in a grey crepe with matching hat and gloves. Each wore a corsage of red roses.

The bride wore a navy two-piece dress with navy accessories and grey topcoat for travelling to Montreal and Quebec City.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady will reside at 175 Montgomery St.

Byersville League Sale and Tea Aid Denial Effort

The Salvation Army "Byersville Home League" held a sale of work and afternoon tea in aid of their self-denial effort Wednesday. Major Charles Watt and Mrs. Watt were in attendance. Mrs. Watt declared the sale officially open with Miss Clara Barnes, Home League secretary, in charge, assisted by Mrs. D. Best.

The tea table was set with a white cloth centred with tulips, narcissus and lily of the valley. Mrs. C. Hunter poured the tea. The hall was decorated with mauve and white lilacs.

A large display of hand made pillow-cases was in charge of Mrs. J. Sloan, Mrs. B. Meeks and Mrs W. Halstead. Mrs. M. Tully was in charge of a nice showing of novelties of aprons on their table.

Mrs. H. Tippett was in charge of serving, assisted by Home League members Mrs. L. French, Mrs. G. Collins, Mrs. A. Padgett Sr., Mrs. J. Simmons, Mrs. H. Winterbottom, Mrs B. Reid Mrs. F. Cristmas and Mrs. J. Castle.

A great attraction for the children was the fish pond which did quite a rushing business. Mrs. R Oliver handled the fishing rod on the outside of the pond with Mrs A. Allen on the hook inside.

Fitchett-McIntosh

The marriage took place at the bride's home in Castleton of Kathleen Rosemary, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George McIntosh, and John Eber Fitchett youngest son of Mr. and Mrs B. Fitchett, Morganston. The Rev J. E. Griffith officiated.

The bride's gown was of white satin with filet lace and she wore a finger-tip veil held by a matching headdress and carried red roses. Miss Doris Huycke bridesmaid, was in robin's egg blue taffeta with matching headdress and carried red roses.

The groom was attended by his brother Harold Fitchett.

The bride's mother wore a green printed silk jersey dress with black hat and accessories The groom's mother was in grey crepe with black accessories, and each had a corsage of red roses and sweet peas.

Friends of the bride who served at the wedding reception were Leona Reid and Arlone Cain of Peterborough, Jean Anderson Warkworth, and Marjorie Carr, Castleton.

For a motor trip to Ottawa and points east, the bride donned a powder blue gabardine suit, navy topcoat and accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Fitchett will live at 624 Beverley St., Peterborough

NEW WASHING DISCOVERY WITH SUPER-WETTING ACTION

washes everything FASTER, CLEANER, EASIER than any soap on earth!

FAB's Super-Wetting Action means that when you wash with FAB, the FAB-and-water solution instantly penetrates materials . . . soaks them more thoroughly. FAB—with Super-Wetting Action—gets inside materials; pushes dirt out!

FAB means faster, cleaner, easier washing of dirtiest overalls, towels, work and play clothes . . . FAB brings extra-dirt-removing power for extra-dirty wash! FAB—with Super-Wetting Action—does away with clinging soap scum! Brings you whiter shirts, towels, and sheets!

Don't miss *FAB*ulous FAB . . . the only thing you'll need for everything you wash!

New scientific washing preparation by Colgate-Palmolive-Peet is a FABulous work saver for the dirtiest overalls, work shirts, children's clothes, towels, shirts... everything that's extra dirty!

WHAT IS SUPER-WETTING ACTION?

See for yourself! Take a length of cotton sewing thread. Roll it into a ball. Drop it into a glass of water. It floats; does not become completely wet for a long time.

Now drop another little ball of thread into a glass of water and FAB. It sinks, becomes completely soaked at once. This simple test shows you how FAB makes water wetter . . . instantly penetrates all washable materials faster . . . pushes dirt out!

That's FAB's *FAB*ulous Super-Wetting Action . . . something in soap on earth can give you!

FAB WASHES DIRTIEST CLOTHES CLEANER THAN ANY SOAP

FAB—with Super-Wetting Action—instantly penetrates materials; pushes out dirt. Washes grimiest overalls faster than soap! Makes tough dirt like the "line" on shirt collars disappear like magic! FAB leaves no soap scum to "gray" or "yellow" white wash . . . Wash is whiter, cleaner when washed with FAB!

FAB BRIGHTENS SOAP-DULLED COLORS!

Soap-dulled washables look *FAB*ulously brighter, fresher, and newer after being washed with FAB. That's because anything you've washed with soap is made duller and grayer looking by soap scum . . . FAB—with Super-Wetting Action—removes that soap scum . . . leaves no film or scum of its own even in hardest water.

FAB WASHES CHEAPER... IN HARDEST WATER

Laboratory tests prove that cup for cup, in hard water, FAB washes up to twice as much family wash as soap. This economy is another *FAB*ulous miracle. Yes . . . FAB—with Super-Wetting Action—is up to twice as economical as soap in hard water. You'll notice that all of FAB washes . . . Nothing is wasted in soap scum!

Faster And Better for all family wash and Dishes

Fab is the trademark of Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Company Limited, for a household detergent.

Singers Thrill Tea Guests Of St. Paul's Evening WMS

Much pleasure was experienced by more than 175 tea guests of the Evening Auxiliary WMS in St. Paul's church parlors Wednesday evening. Miss Evelyn McBride, contralto singer, and Mrs. Gordon Brown, lyric soprano, came from Port Hope to entertain, Miss Jean Fairbairn gave several amusing monologues in her inimitable manner, and the contralto voice of Mrs. Jessie Spencley was heard in the "Second Minuet."

Duets combining the unusual quality of Miss McBride's voice with the pleasing high tones of Mrs. Brown's thrilled the audience. Their first song was "Sympathy," followed by "The West, a Nest and You" both beautifully done, and later they granted the audience' requests with a delightful rendition of the popular number "Galway Bay."

In "Clorinda,' Miss McBride's first solo, her wonderful deep notes were brought out to advantage. She also sang "Shortnin' Bread" and it evidently was a favorite of her own. Many in the audience had first been thrilled with her voice when she sang here in the music festival and was winner in the oratorio class. With her exuberant spirit and charming personality, this talented young lady, who is partner in a dress shop in Port Hope at present, may carve a fine career in the music world. She has spent several years studying in the States. Mrs. Brown was also well received when she sang "Thine Alone" and "Morning."

Mrs. Vernon Read, an Auxiliary member, played the piano accompaniment for the program.

Lovely Tea Setting

Lilacs in profusion marked this event as the Lilac Tea. Miss Margaret Reid, president, and Mrs. J. McLeod, vice-president, welcomed the guests who had been directed to the tea room by Miss Margaret Duthie. There was seating accommodation for all at quartette tables with pretty covers and dainty bouquets in the centre, arranged by Miss Marjorie Best.

Clear bright colors of the tulips in a silver basket on the tea table drew attention in that direction, and the flanking tapers were purple and gold. The tablecloth of Chinese linen had inserts of fine filet net. Background was a lovely garden with comfortable chairs and a table with cool drinks set under the large umbrella, all on a thick carpet of green grass.

Tea Assistants

Tea cups were filled by Mrs. D. T. Diplock and Mrs. H. McKenzie. Table hostesses were: Mrs. Rod Barrie, Mrs. A. Bennett, Mrs. James Anderson, Mrs. C. R. Hagerman, Mrs. W. M. Perks, Miss Marjorie Nesbitt, Mrs. Vernon Read, Miss Verna Johnston, Miss Ethel Rae, Miss Mary Moss, Mrs. Robert McIlmoyle, Miss Mary Greer, Mrs. A. E. Barrie, Mrs. John Buckley, Mrs. C. A. Craig, Mrs. Garnet Jarvis, Mrs. Garnet Brown, Mrs. W. L. McNeil, Mrs. Leighton Ross and Mrs. Harry Barrett. The relishes were passed by Mrs. Gordon Constable, Miss Agnes Bell and Mrs. Frank Dyer. Plates were replenished and tea cups replaced by Miss Nan Duncan and Miss Isabel Sutherland.

Mrs. O. Rome was general convener of the tea, assisted by the social convener, Mrs. A. Wragg. The program was arranged by Mrs. Fred Board.

Home cooking was for sale at a table attended by Mrs. Donald Dickson and Mrs. Robert Pearse. Mrs. Stewart Finnie and Mrs. Stuart Hall had a table of nicely hand made aprons and miscellaneous articles for sale.

Miss Eva Roberts and Mrs. Robert McIlmoyle attended the treasurer's table.

MISS HELEN SHEA, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Shea of Warkworth, whose marriage to Mr. Iden J. Bonds of Hastings will take place Saturday, June 11, in St. John's Anglican Church, Warkworth.

garlanded the skirts of bazaar tables. Aprons and children's wear was for sale by Mrs. S. Windsor and Mrs. H. J. Devey. Mrs. T. Sarginson and Mrs. C. McWilliams were attending the table of home cooking and Mrs. A. Gynane was selling home-made candy.

Receiving were Mrs. A. Mason, president of the auxiliary, Mrs. G. Stevens, vice-president, and Mrs. Harold Yelland, whose husband is president of the men's branch. Mrs. R. Ritchie and Mrs. A. Wagstaff were taking tickets at the door.

A teacloth of oyster linen cutwork was on the table and the flowers in a crystal bowl were set on a handsome reflector that was bordered with white lilacs. Matching crystal candelabra held flanking white tapers. Presiding before silver tea sets at each end were Mrs. M. J. Swanston, Mrs. M. E. Clarke, Mrs. C. J. Ray and Mrs. G. K. Fraser.

Mrs. A. Parrington and Mrs. E. Graham were co-conveners of the tea. Hostesses were Mrs. A. Wade, Mrs. J. Frape, Mrs. C. Murray, Mrs. J. Chambers, Mrs. Wm. Davies, Mrs. C. W. Kernohan and Mrs. H. Dodds. The plates were refilled by Mrs. H. Beresford, Mrs. J. Earnshaw, Miss Ada Jenkinson and Mrs. P. R. Castle.

Cottesloe News

Holt and Mrs. R. Thompson.

Those not present who are also lending their patronage are Sister Gonzaga, Mrs. G. S. Cameron, Mrs. W. G. Hall, Mrs. Ross Williamson, Mrs. Agnes Logan Green, Senator Iva Fallis, Mrs. Harold Scott, Mrs. John Dewart, Mrs. Gordon K. Fraser.

Michael Lynde, an English actor recently arrived in Canada after working with Laurence Olivier for two years, spoke briefly to the dinner guests. William Needles of Toronto, a prominent radio actor, also spoke and emphasized the wealth of opportunity that can be created by this summer theatre from the actor's point of view. Others representing the Peterborough Summer Theatre were Michael Sadlier, its director, and George Ferguson, its business manager.

Maclaren-Crowe

A quiet wedding was solemnized in Grafton United Church by the Rev E. D. Snelgrove when Mary Rebecca, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Crowe, Stony Lake, was betrothed to Stewart Allistor Maclaren of Peterborough son of Mrs. J. Maclaren and the late Mr. Maclaren.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Leslie Crowe. Wedding music was played by Mrs. E. D. Snelgrove. The church was decorated with spring flowers.

The bride wore a dress of white taffeta with slight train and long sleeves pointed over the hands, matching bonnet with finger-tip veil caught to crown with white rose buds. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Her attendant was Mrs. Don Ireland of Peterborough who wore pink taffeta with matching headdress and carried a bouquet of sweet peas.

Mr. Jack Williams of Peterborough was groomsman.

The couple left for a wedding trip to Niagara and Buffalo, the bride wearing a grey gabardine suit with navy accessories and corsage of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Maclaren will reside in Peterborough.

Empire Day Tea Given By Legion Auxiliary

Flags set the keynote for the Empire Day tea given by the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion Wednesday afternoon in the YWCA green room. Flowers for the tea table were selected to bring out the red, white and blue, using full blown deep red roses and sweetpeas.

There were five prizes offered to tempt buyers of draw tickets. These included an attractive box of cologne and powder, won by Mrs. Kemp, 542 Bethune St., two large iced cakes won by Mrs. A. Mason and Mrs. H. Howell, a box of candy won by Mrs. E. Walton, and a crocheted centrepiece that will go to the holder of ticket No. 36. The tickets were sold by Mrs. D. Wilson, Mrs. A. Pilling and Mrs. J. Sanderson.

Best Security for Old Age Lies in Parental Nest Egg

DEAR MISS DIX: I think that it is the duty of all parents to give their personal attention to the rearing of their children and not to depend on nurses and governesses and baby-sitters to do the task. But I also think that all parents should make a provision for their old age so that they will not be dependent on their children.

Dorothy Dix

I find from personal experience that no matter how much we fathers and mothers have loved and cherished our children that there comes a time when the old people are a burden.

PAST 71

ANSWER: Certainly there could be no arguing about its being the duty, above all other duties, of parents to give all that they have of wisdom and strength and high ideals to the shaping of the characters of their children. For how a child turns out is not a matter of luck. It is relentless logic. Every baby who is born is clay in its parent's hands and they can make of it something noble and fine and beautiful, or by their neglect let it develop into something that is a heartache and a shame to them.

Parents owe much to their children, but not everything, and when fathers and mothers sacrifice themselves to their youngsters they do them as deadly a wrong as malice itself could invent. And we see this happen so often in the spoiled brats who make doormats of Pop and Mom and treat them with a contempt that they show to no other human being.

Parents Starve

All of us know plenty of fathers and mothers who starve that their children may eat cake; who go shabby that their children may have fine clothes; who literally work themselves to death to send their children to fashionable schools, and who justify themselves for spending all they make on their children by saying that Johnny and Mamie will take care of them when they are old, that their children are their savings bank. But, unfortunately, grateful children are the exception, not the rule, and when mother and father get too old to work Johnny and Mamie do not often welcome them into their homes with cries of joy. They consider them an infliction.

The moral of all of which is that while parents should be generous to their children, they should never lose sight of the necessity of laying up a nest egg for themselves. It is better and happier for all concerned, for between parents who are independent and who have gifts to bestow and parents who are pensioners, there is a great gulf fixed.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am 19 years old. Was married when I was sixteen and have a 15-month-old baby girl. I stood my husband's drinking and cursing me for 2 years, then I went back to my family and got a divorce. Here is my problem:

A nice young man whom I have known all of my life has asked me to go out with him, but my father had a fit when I told him about it. He has forbidden my going out to any place of amusement unless my mother goes with me all the time, and that's hard on her and me, too. My father has never wanted me to have any boy friends and, in fact, I never went out with my ex-husband alone until the night before we were married, and that was the first time he had ever come to my house. What should I do? I love my father and don't want to hurt him.

UNHAPPY

ANSWER: Your father is suffering from a complaint that is very common among men with an only daughter. He is simply eaten up with jealousy. He can't endure the thought of giving you up and of you loving some other man better than you do him.

Many a girl is an old maid because she had a green-eyed father who would never let her have any dates or boy friends, or go to any parties, or have any chance of meeting eligible young men. I have seen a man, who was really a fine character and charming to everybody else, who growled like a bad-tempered watch dog every time a boy came near his daughter and who was so insulting and unpleasant that no lad ever called on her twice.

You are young and you would be foolish to let a jealous father cut you off from any chance of marrying again. Assert your right to a husband.

DOROTHY DIX cannot reply personally to readers, but will answer problems of general interest through her column.

Child's Request Starts Girl On Big Career

SOMERSET, Penn., May 26 — (CP)—A German child asked for a piece of chalk—and Peggy Reiley started her combined career as Foreign Correspondent for a small-town newspaper and year-round Santa Claus.

During the war Peggy, attractive 29-year-old blonde, served with the Red Cross. In Germany she became interested in the plight of children in the war-ravaged country.

One day, as Christmas approached, she asked a little girl what she would like as a present. The child thought it over, then announced her wistful decision:

"A chalk stick."

Peggy says she then realized children in wartime world had nothing. She decided to do something about it? That was in 1946.

When she returned to her job as women's editor on her father's newspaper, The Somerset American with a circulation of about 5,000, she immediately began planning for a return to Europe.

Gets Club Aid

Enlisting the aid of the 4-H Club—similar to the Junior Farmers Club in Canada—she started collecting old dolls. The club members spent many evenings fashioning wardrobes for the dolls. Other groups contributed toys and money.

With the money she bought clothing—and let Somerset children wear it for a couple of hours so it could be shipped duty free as "used clothing."

Then Peggy received pemission from the United States Army to enter the American zone of Germany as special correspondent for the Somerset American. Laden with boxes and bundles she arrived in Germany.

She visited hospitals, homes, youth centres, dispensing dolls and clothing. Often the German youth association would suggest a town where there were needy children. She would ship a couple of boxes to the town, then pack a suitcase and bicycle off to supervise distribution of the gifts.

EPILEPSY RATIO

It is estimated that one in every 250 persons is afflicted with some form epilepsy.

Social Situations

SITUATION: You are a guest in another person's home.

WRONG WAY: Complain about the temperature of the room.

RIGHT WAY: Realize that it is rude for a guest to complain about being uncomfortable.

Shrum-Masters Nuptials Here To Live in Toronto

The marriage took place in St Paul's Presbyterian Church on Tuesday May 24 of Charlotte Bernice Masters youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Masters of Peterborough and Kenneth Arthur Shrum son of Mr. Arthur Shrum Toronto.

The Rev. R. D. Duncanson of Norwood officiated.

The church was decorated with baskets of spring flowers and the wedding music was played by Mr. C. Gledhill, organist.

As the guests assembled Mrs Al Spencley sang "O Perfect Love," and during the signing of the register, "Because."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was in a gown of moire taffetta, made on semi-princess lines with sweetheart neckline and long lily-point sleeves, and the full skirt fell into a sweeping train. Her finger-tip veil was held with a tiara of seed pearls and she carried a cascade of Sweetheart roses. Miss Mary Franks as bridesmaid was in baby-blue brocaded taffeta in off-the-shoulder style with bustle drape and wearing a shoulder veil and sequin tiara. She carried a colonial bouquet of Bettertime roses and sweetpeas.

Groomsman was Mr. Kenneth Masters, brother of the bride and ushers were Bill Brown and Reg Fowler.

A reception was held in the Y.W.C.A. Green Room for about 30 guests. The bride's mother received wearing grey figured crepe with matching hat and corsage of pink carnations. Later the bride and groom left for a motor trip to Michigan via Sarnia. For travelling the bride wore a powder-blue crepe dress with matching hat navy gabardine coat and corsage of red roses.

CUTICURA

TAKE THAT TIRED LOOK OFF YOUR FACE!

Not Vitamins—but Iron—May be what You Need To Put Pep In Your Step and Fresh Sparkle in Your Eyes.

If that constantly tired feeling has got you looking down in the mouth as well as acting that way—try Dr. Williams Pink Pills.

Persistent fatigue that finds you as weary in the morning as if you had had no sleep, that makes you too listless to eat, that stales your energy, is often caused by a lowering of the iron level in your blood. This condition may also have a further reaction on health, for without sufficient iron your body may not be able to get the full advantages of the vitamins and protective food elements in what you do eat.

Don't let this state of affairs go on and on until you are really sick. Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today from your druggist—see how good it feels when you pep up with more iron in your blood.

Delicious Desserts with Durham

Look for the Recipes on the Durham Corn Starch Package

Butterscotch Pudding Recipe
Thoroughly mix ¾ cup brown sugar (lightly packed), 4½ tablespoons Durham Corn Starch, ⅝ teaspoon salt; slowly stir in 3 cups scalded milk. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly, until pudding thickens; cover and cook, stirring occasionally, 8 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in 2 tablespoons butter and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Turn into dessert glasses or wet moulds and chill.

When you have Durham Corn Starch on your kitchen shelf, you need never be at a loss for dessert suggestions. Printed right on the box are recipes for several delicious desserts including this compliment-capturing butterscotch pudding.

Another outstanding feature of Durham Corn Starch is its streamlined package. The box opens without ripping, tearing or cutting and closes neatly after use—no muss or fuss in the kitchen.

6—In Memoriams

DE LA PLANTE—Treasured memories of a loving brother, Ozias (Joe) de La Plante, who passed away so suddenly, May 26, 1948 at St. Joseph's Hospital, Toronto, Ont.
His last parting wish
We would like to have heard
And breathed in his ear
Our last parting word.
Only those who have lost
Are able to tell
The pain in the heart
In not saying farewell.
—Too dearly beloved to be forgotten by Georgina, Godfrey, Armine of Toronto and Fremus of Longview Wash.

PETERS—In loving memory of Mrs. Fred Peters, who passed away five years ago May 25th.
O happy hours we once enjoyed,
How sweet their memory still!
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill
—Ever remembered by her sisters, Margaret Thompson and Anne Russell.

System Works

Reference to the drainage system is recommended by lingering impressions and notions that Brookdale's cellars were wet, as they actually were in the early stages of construction. There were months when the combination of rain and temporary roads in the field, churned up by the traffic of trucks bringing building material, retarded the work of the builders.

"If any of that opinion is casually retained these days," said Mr. Bateman today, "you can say that is nothing by myth. The drainage system has taken care of that."

In its natural state the field that has become a residential area sloped gently from east and west to a central hollow that carried surface freshet water from the farms to the north, down and across Park Hill Road, emptying into the Jackson Park creek just east of Green's foundry. Once upon a time it was called the Downie St. creek, sometimes filling with chunks of ice in the spring and overflowing its narrow banks.

Brookdale drainage system has been laid toward that creek bed. The remedy applied by Sands and Bateman was to widen the course through the subdivision and deed it to the city. When this job is done, it will consist of a steel pipe line, laid in the creek bed, and covered over to the level of the adjoining property. Its diameter will be wide enough to carry off the freshet volume of water, and that will be the last of that comparatively low-lying part of the field that used to be flooded with back-logged water in springs of excessive rain following winters of deep snow.

Necessary Detail

That attention to drainage of Brookdale was a necessary detail of its conversion into a residential section of new houses averaging $9,000. The old creek bed will eventually be covered and forgotten, with the new surface drains leading into it from the winding roads of the subdivision.

"There are five houses to the Brookdale acre," Mr. Bateman said. "Most of the houses in the city, especially excepting some of those in the west end, are 10 or 12 to the acre. That allotment of land gives a fair idea of the ground space."

The subdivision was begun late in the fall of 1947. The type of houses were carefully selected, and their "spotting" or placing on the curved roads was accepted from the experience of Peerless Houses of New York city, who sent a man here to advise in the layout of Brookdale. City Engineer Chalmers also had a hand in the street lines as well as in the road-making.

Avoid Dullness

The new streets, Mason and Chesterfield Avenues and Brookdale Crescent, winding through the area, afford broader outlook, and also avoidance of the usual dullness of straight lines, with houses arrayed side by side, narrowing the prospect of nearly every one. Most of the exterior painting, where it is required, is plain white, some trimmed with green, and others with a soft pink color of decidedly pleasing effect.

Some of the houses are built on Aberdeen Ave., Stewart and Wolsley Streets. The average one in the subdivision, representing all of them, is compactly and stoutly built, providing economy of space with facility of use. The three bedrooms upstairs are flooded with light, and the whole interior is notably bright, cheerful, and [illegible]ble.

Nothing Overlooked

The cellar height made allowance for tall men. Ample accommodation is provided for linen and clothes closets. The basement pillars are of steel. Every house has air conditioning equipment. Storm windows are just another detail. Sands and Bateman even assumed the legal fees for the buyer's acquiring of his property deed.

Lorne Bateman knows better than anyone the appearance of Brookdale in the wet spring of 1948. It was a mess of mud. It seemed that the subdivision could never untrack itself from the gumbo.

"Wait till Brookdale is finally established," Mr. Bateman said today, "when new lawns are in grass and shrubs and young trees are growin, and the streets are finished and we can say that the job is done. We'll forget what the pasture field was like when we first looked it over as a subdivision possibility, and tried to imagine what it would be some day."

Cinderella From Coal Mines Becomes Mrs. Rockefeller

By RICHARD KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

America is the land of opportunity. It's the place where a farm boy turned haberdasher can become president of the United States, where an Irish immigrant can become Mayor of New York —and also where a coal miner's daughter can become Mrs. Winthrop Rockefeller.

That's the story of Jievute Paulekiute, alias Eva Paul, alias Barbara Sears, and even alias Bobo. And that's the story that countless mamas will undoubtedly tell countless ambitious daughters for years to come, or until some newer Cinderella romance knocks the tale of the coal miner's daughter and the Rockefeller heir into pale pink oblivion.

Not every girl could have done what Jievute Paulekiute did however. It took a good head, a pleasing personality, a driving ambition and a handsome pair of legs to do it.

Hero of the piece was, of course, Winthrop Rockefeller, fourth of five sons of John D. Rockefeller, Jr. Win was tall, handsome and loaded. He went to Yale, then messed around in the Texas oilfields. During the war, he saw action and was wounded on Okinawa.

The News Was Juicy

He was, naturally, a prize catch. When an alert Florida newspaperman, in February, 1948, noticed an application for a marriage license issued to Winthrop Rockefeller and Barbara Sears, all the Sears families in the world checked their offspring to see if they had one named Barbara.

A fashionable society columnist blurted out, to a panting public, that Barbara Sears came of Main Line Philadelphia stock. The next day, the public panted louder when they learned the truth about Barbara.

They heard the fascinating gossip about the coal miner's daughter who looked good in a bathing suit. They learned the juicy news of her modelling career and her stage appearances. They were told the gory but glorious details of her unfashionable walk-up apartment in New York with the rubbish cans in the hallways.

ON WAY UP, as Eva Paul, Bobo was "Miss Lithuania" in 1933.

STORYBOOK ENDING in 1948 found Bobo as Mrs. Winthrop Rockefeller, reading congratulatory messages with her new husband in Palm Beach. The courtship went unnoticed in society, but not on New York's Third Avenue (right) where she lived.

AS MRS. SEARS in 1941, Bobo made the Social Register.

Jievute Paulekiute came of Lithuanian stock. She was born in the coal country of Noblestown, Pa., which is on the main line of a railroad, but not of society. In 1924, her parents were divorced, and she and a younger sister went with mother to Chicago. Mother worked in a mattress factory, married a carpenter named Peter Neveckas and they lived in an apartment from which, on a clear day, they could smell the stockyards.

In grammar school Jievute sensibly Anglicized her first name to Eva. In high school, she figured she might as well do the thing right, and changed her last name to Paul.

By 1933, her legs had begun to assert themselves, and she won the title of Miss Lithuania for Lithuania Day at the Century of Progress fair. Popular and bright in high school, she was admitted to Northwestern University and studied there for a year and a half before her ambition drove her on toward the bright lights.

Out of The Catalogue

She became a model, and, if you consult some of your old Montgomery Ward catalogues, you'll find Eva Paul on quite a few pages. When she decided there was little future in that (except, possibly, graduating to Sears, Roebuck) she hied herself to New York.

She wanted to go on the stage. She couldn't make a Broadway show, but got a part playing Pearl in "Tobacco Road" for a road company. The show went to Boston.

She met Richard Sears, Jr., of a Beacon Hill family. They were married in 1941. She acquired the nickname Bobo, and called herself Barbara about this time, and Dick and Bobo Sears became habituees of cafe society. She was very well liked by her in-laws, and quickly won admittance to the social register. They lived in Boston, Los Angeles (where she did a few bit roles in films), and Paris, where Dick became third secretary in the United States embassy.

Bobo also lived in Reno, in October of 1947, where she won her divorce.

She came back to New York and lived in a walk-up flat on drab Third Avenue with her sister. But she kept up her social contacts with the right people One of these, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth (Liz) Whitney, invited her on a blind dinner date.

'I Knew I Was Gone'

"Win," said Liz Whitney to the blind date, Winthrop Rockefeller, "I want you to meet a perfectly charming girl."

Rockefeller recalled later that "I saw her and I knew I was gone."

After a courtship, during which Rockefeller often called for her in his chauffeur-driven car on Third Avenue, causing a minor stir among the other residents, they were married in the Palm Beach, Fla., estate of socialite polo player Winston Guest on Feb. 13, 1948.

Barbara, the coal miner's daughter, sports a 1½-carat, square cut diamond, set in platinum. Barbara, the coal miner's daughter, had, at her wedding, the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, the Marquess of Blandford and assorted socialites, polo players and polo ponies.

Barbara, the coal miner's daughter, had come a long way.

Hides Liquor After Accident

TORONTO, May 26 — (CP) — Ernie Dickens, Chicago Black Hawks hockey player, said in court Wednesday he threw a bottle of liquor out of the window of a car in which he was riding after it was involved in a collision between Sudbury and North Bay.

He testified he did so because he realized that liquor in the car would add to the trouble of its occupants.

Gus Bodnar, a fellow hockey player, was driving the car, owned by Ernest Chamandy of Toronto. Bodnar claimed he was trying to pass a car driven by Harold Duffield when it cut sharply across the road for a left turn and he colided with it.

Chamandy is suing Duffield for $500 damages to the front of the car. Occupants of the Chamandy car denied they had been drinking. The liquor had been "left over from a party."

Judge Ian Macdonell said he would investigate the reasons for the extent of the repair bill when only the front of the Chamandy car was damaged.

Students Deny Wild Parties

FORT ERIE, ONT., May 26 — (CP) — Several Buffalo High School fraternities and sororities Wednesday denied charges they have been guilty of immoral conduct and "wild parties' on Canadian Lake Erie beaches.

The Property Owners' Association of nearby Long Beach protested Monday about parties attended by Buffalo High School students. They directed their protest to students' parents and asked that only properly chaperoned parties be held in the future.

The Buffalo denial said in part:

"Maybe there have been a few 'teen-agers who have done wrong —but this has happened at every vacation spot in the country. Such occurrences are no excuse for ruining the reputation or Long Beach.

"Our parents won't allow us to go there until this thing is cleared up and Long Beach property owners are made to understand that a lot of girls who stay at cottages here know how to behave themselves.

"A grea share of the trouble up there has been caused by Canadians, and particularly a bunch of boys from Port Colborne. They have broken into cottages, destroyed property and everything else."

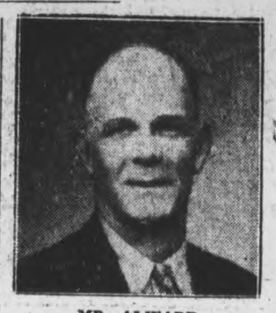
'Feels Like New Man Since Taking Syntona,' He Says

Suffered from Gas, Heartburn, Bloating and Acidity. Also Backache, Rheumatic Pain and Headaches. Tells of Relief.



MR. ALWARD

"It is a real pleasure to tell you how much Syntona has done for me and I hope other sufferers will read this and benefit also," said Mr. Laurence Alward, 81 Thames Street, Chatham, Ontario, in a recent report.

"My appetite was poor and whenever I ate anything my stomach would get so bloated I felt uncomfortable for hours. I suffered with heartburn, gassy cramps and sour acid risings. Often I would get dizzy spells and sick headaches. Heartburn was very bad at times. I couldn't get my proper sleep at night and many mornings I felt so sick I couldn't eat breakfast. The poisons went all through my system and I developed rheumatic pains and backache. My joints were stiff and sore.

"But since I've been taking Syntona the sourness, gas and heartburn are cleared up for the first time in many months. Appetite is improved and I enjoy my meals once more. Gradually the dizziness, headaches and backache have gone away. The stiffness and soreness is gone out of my joints and I am getting more sound restful sleep. As a result I do not feel tired as I did before and I am so pleased with this medicine I will be glad to verify this experience to any person who wants to ask me."

He testified he did so because he realized that liquor in the car would add to the trouble of its occupants.

Gus Bodnar, a fellow hockey player, was driving the car, owned by Ernest Chamandy of Toronto. Bodnar claimed he was trying to pass a car driven by Harold Duffield when it cut sharply across the road for a left turn and he colided with it.

Chamandy is suing Duffield for $500 damages to the front of the car. Occupants of the Chamandy car denied they had been drinking. The liquor had been "left over from a party."

Judge Ian Macdonell said he would investigate the reasons for the extent of the repair bill when only the front of the Chamandy car was damaged.

Students Deny Wild Parties

FORT ERIE, ONT., May 26 — (CP) — Several Buffalo High School fraternities and sororities Wednesday denied charges they have been guilty of immoral conduct and "wild parties" on Canadian Lake Erie beaches.

The Property Owners' Association of nearby Long Beach protested Monday about parties attended by Buffalo High School students. They directed their protest to students' parents and asked that only properly chaperoned parties be held in the future.

The Buffalo denial said in part:

"Maybe there have been a few 'teen-agers who have done wrong—but this has happened at every vacation spot in the country. Such occurrences are no excuse for ruining the reputation of Long Beach.

"Our parents won't allow us to go there until this thing is cleared up and Long Beach property owners are made to understand that a lot of girls who stay at cottages here know how to behave themselves.

"A grea share of the trouble up there has been caused by Canadians, and particularly a bunch of boys from Port Colborne. They have broken into cottages, destroyed property and everything else."

'Feels Like New Man Since Taking Syntona,' He Says

Suffered from Gas, Heartburn, Bloating and Acidity. Also Backache, Rheumatic Pain and Headaches. Tells of Relief.

MR. ALWARD

"It is a real pleasure to tell you how much Syntona has done for me and I hope other sufferers will read this and benefit also," said Mr. Laurence Alward, 81 Thames Street, Chatham, Ontario, in a recent report.

"My appetite was poor and whenever I ate anything my stomach would get so bloated I felt uncomfortable for hours. I suffered with heartburn, gassy cramps and sour acid risings. Often I would get dizzy spells and sick headaches. Heartburn was very bad at times. I couldn't get my proper sleep at night and many mornings I felt so sick I couldn't eat breakfast. The poisons went all through my system and I developed rheumatic pains and backache. My joints were stiff and sore.

"But since I've been taking Syntona the sourness, gas and heartburn are cleared up for the first time in many months. Appetite is improved and I enjoy my meals once more. Gradually the dizziness, headaches and backache have gone away. The stiffness and soreness is gone out of my joints and I am getting more sound restful sleep. As a result I do not feel tired as I did before and I am so pleased with this medicine I will be glad to verify this experience to any person who wants to ask me."

BRITISH JUDGE FREES GERHART EISLER

Won't Order Strikers Back On Job

U.S. General Refuses To Intervene In Berlin Rail Tie-Up

BERLIN, May 27 (AP)—Gen. George P. Hays, Deputy United States Military Governor, said today "we have no intention" of ordering striking Berlin railway workers to operate the city's paralyzed rail yards.

The strikers held tight their stranglehold on rail traffic to Berlin, announcing they would relax it only on orders from the western powers.

Said Hayes in an interview:

"We have no intention of ordering strikers to operate the rail yards. We do not want to be in the position of being a strike breaker."

His statement followed a conference of western officials yesterday which reached no conclusions and issued no statement. The western officials have shown sympathy for the workers' strike against their Russian bosses.

Hays said German officials in west Berlin are being encouraged to find a basis for settlement of the strike, however.

Offer To Unload

He pointed out that the strikers have offered to unload trains but that authorization of the Russian conrolled railway management is required for that. The management has not replied to the offer, he added.

Said Ernst Scharnowski, chairman of the striking anti-Communist UGO (Independent Labor Organization) which called the strike Saturday:

"If the allies issue a directive we are certainly ready to handle allied trains and trains for west Berlin. But we cannot take the responsibility of handling cars on our own."

The United States army stopped all trains at Helmstedt, on the Soviet-zone border because of the strike-caused traffic jam. Thirty-five loaded trains lay idle on the single track that links Berlin with Western Germany.

Masked Gang Raids Vessel

VANCOUVER, May 27 (CP)—In a pre-dawn raid, 15 masked men boarded the strikebound SS Triland at the West Indies dock in North Vancouver.

After a bloody battle, the attackers, wielding fire axes and "monkey-fists"—a round ball on the end of a three-foot cord—fled.

On the blood-spattered deck and in a cabin, they left six seamen wounded, one, John Hunter, 49-year-old fireman, in serious condition from head wounds.

The ship is manned by a partial International Seafarers Union (AFL) crew, who alleged the raiders were Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) men.

A spokesman, however, denied that CSU men were involved in the attack.

"It was attempted murder", said the owners' spokesman. "This is a long way from peaceful picketing."

The raiders scaled bow hawsedoors and attacked the sleeping crew members in their bunks.

Sick Woman, Family Evicted By Mistake

TORONTO, May 27 — (CP)—Richard Drinkwater, 25, unemployed father of three small children, was evicted by "mistake" Thursday from his home in the suburban Long Branch emergency shelter. As a result of the eviction, his wife, who had been ill for several months, was taken to hospital.

Truckers from the bailiff's office dumped the furniture from his apartment on the highway. Drinkwater said they used a garbage truck for the eviction.

Three hours later the county sheriff ordered the family put back in their home and said a mistake had been made. He then sent Mrs. Drinkwater to the hospital.

Troops Unload Food Ship, Strike Spreads

BRISTOL, England, May 27—(CP)—Troops late today began unloading 11,000,000 bananas from the British freighter Bayano which dock workers refused to handle.

The Tommies went to work as the dockers' strike in sympathy with the world-wide walkout of the Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) spread to Liverpool where 1,500 stevedores defied orders from union chiefs and quit work.

The government stepped into the dispute to save the perishable £50,000 ($200,000) cargo aboard the Bayano. The troops—200 men of the King's Shropshire Light Infantry—entered the docks at Avonmouth, Bristol port, by a side entrance. Three minutes later the conveyor belts were moving.

Children's Ration

In Britain only children receive a ration of bananas.

The walk-out affected eight freighters and the passenger and cargo liner Nova Scotia which had almost completed loading for Canada.

The Liverpool stoppage started over a dispute about the unloading of the 4,096-ton cargo-vessel, Dromore, which had berthed here from Avonmouth where dockers are idle after refusing to work Canadian ships involved in the two-month strike called by the Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC).

Preliminary Hearing To Begin At Espanola

SUDBURY, May 27 (CP)—Preliminary hearing of a murder charge against Albert (Punch) Quesnel, 38, of Espanola, will begin here Monday, Crown Attorney E. D. Wilkins announced today.

Quesnel is charged with the strangulation murder on March 25 of 71-year-old Mrs. Harry Cleland of Espanola, 25 miles west of here.

Rita Hayworth Married Now Becomes Princess

VALLAURIS, France, May 27—(AP)—Radiant Rita Hayworth of the movies today became the Princess bride of Aly Khan in a ceremony performed by this town's Communist Mayor. It was a town-hall ceremony spangled with some of Hollywood's tinsel and the riches of the east. The ceremony climaxed a 10-month courtship—some called it a "road-show performance"—for Rita, 31, and the 38-year-old heir to millions. She has been a Roman Catholic; he is Moslem.

Cheered by 500 villagers, the couple drove slowly away in a grey convertible. A reception heavy with lobsters and champagne waited at the Chateau De L'Horizon—the Prince's house, where he wanted to hold the wedding. (The French government said no).

Rita, who used to be Margarita Cansino of Brooklyn, N.Y., wore a big picture hat of blue and a blue, Paris-designed gown that came down to the calves of the legs that helped to make her famous in the movies.

The simple civil ceremony—the couple answered "oui" to questions—was over only eight minutes after the couple arrived, Rita in the big convertible and Aly by a back door.

It was a double ring ceremony; they put on their rings after Derigon pronounced them man and wife. Then they got their wedding certificate and emerged into a shower of rice.

This was the third marriage for Rita and the second for the Prince. He is the heir apparent to leadership of the Ismaili sect of Moslems, now headed by his father, the Aga Khan. The father and his wife, the Begum, witnessed the ceremony and signed a "golden book" made up by the village for the occasion.

She will be known formally as "Rita Hayworth, Princess Aly Khan," according to best available information.

There is no rule, since the princely title usually given her bridegroom, the Aly Khan, is only a matter of courtesy. It will be the practice to refer to her as "Princess Aly Khan," and not as Princess Rita.

Toronto Man Has Big Chance

TORONTO, May 27 (CP) — Norman Crawford, 35, said today he holds an Irish Hospitals sweepstakes ticket on Royal Forest, 3-1 favorite in the Derby being run at Epsom Downs June 4. The ticket is worth $100,000 if the horse wins.

Gordon Richards, Britain's leading jockey who has never been astride a Derby winner, is riding the horse.

Crawford, a war veteran and father of two, came to Canada from Northern Ireland 12 years ago. He says he has "lots of uses" for the money. Besides the $100,000 first prize, he is eligible to win $40,000 if Royal Forest places second or $20,000 for third.

Crawford used the name "Phy Club" (short for Pyramid Club) on his ticket picked yesterday in the sweeps draw in Dublin. His ticket was the last one remaining in a book of 12 he sold. He kept it because, he told his wife, "I think this is the lucky one."

Two other Ontario residents reported they share a ticket on Noblest Roman, listed as a non-starter in the Derby. Mrs. S. McKeig and Mrs. R. Gingrich, both of Galt, will divide the $500 prize for drawing a horse.

Two Nazi Generals Ill, Given Freedom

LONDON, May 27 (AP)—The War Office said Thursday night Field Marshal Gerd Von Runstedt was released Thursday from military custody in a British military hospital in Hamburg.

The announcement said it was understood Von Runstedt will stay with relatives in the British zone for a time before going to the United States zone where he intends to remain.

Former Col.-Gen. Adolf Strauss was similarly released from custody Monday and was immediately admitted to a civilian hospital in Hamburg, the War Office said.

War crimes charges against Von [illegible] of Adolf Hitler's leading generals—are being dropped by the British because they are considered too ill to stand trial.

Molotov's Recovery Plan Fails In Far East

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—The so-called Molotov plan for Eastern Europe acclaimed as Russia's answer to the Marshall Plan, is now being dismissed by diplomatic authorities here as a failure.

They base their conclusion on evidence on economic conditions in the Russian satellite countries. These countries seem to be running into serious difficulties which can be relieved only if they are able to get large quantities of goods from the western countries, especially the United States.

American officials blame the plight of these countries on the fact that, in their opinion, the Molotov Plan has not paralleled the Marshall Plan but has operated in an opposite manner. Instead of pouring recovery goods into Eastern Europe, Russia has been draining those countries of their resources for its own benefit.

The Molotov Plan is the name popularly given the network of trade treaties and economic arrangements which Vyacheslav Molotov, former Soviet Foreign Minister, fostered to tie together Russia and the countries it dominates.

Reports now are reaching here of possible drastic moves by Russia or the satellite countries to try to ease the situation.

Czech exiles in Washington say they have information from Prague that the Communist government, under Moscow direction, plans to put a number of non-Communists into official positions to try to make the whole regime more acceptable to the United States and other western countries.

The purpose of such a window dressing manoeuvre could be to interest this and non-Communist countries in relaxing controls on shipments to Czechoslovakia and possibly giving other assistance.

Emergency Operation

TORONTO, May 27 (CP) Eight-year-old David Johnson today was rushed 85 miles by ambulance to hospital here for an emergency operation after being struck by an automobile near his home in Niagara Falls, Ont. Hospital authorities said the boy was unconscious when admitted shortly after noon. Extent of his injuries was not immediately determined. Preparations were made for an emergency operation about 1.30 p.m.

U.S. Demand Rejected For Return

Believes Prisoner Committed Offence But Rules No Perjury

LONDON, May 27 — (AP)—Britain today refused to send Gerhart Eisler back to the United States to serve out two prison sentences he drew during investigation of his Communist activities there.

Bow Street magistrate's court rejected the United States demand that Eisler be extradicted. That left Eisler—called No. 1 Communist agent in the United States by a Congressional committee—free to go on to the Russ-

After almost two hours of argument in Bow Street court—the only British court which can deal with extradition cases—Magistrate Sir Laurence Dunne rejected the American demand. He said the United States failed to prove that the fugitive Communist had been convicted of an extraditable offence.

In his finding, Sir Laurence said the whole case hinged on this: "Is what he was convicted of in America an extraditable crime in both America and here?"

"In my opinion," the magistrate said, "it is abundantly clear that in no circumstances whatsoever can that offence of which Mr. Eisler was convicted in America be brought under the technical head of perjury in this country."

The Judge ordered Eisler freed.

He said Eisler "no doubt committed the offence for which he was convicted . . ."

"The question is whether he was convicted of an offence in the United States which is considered both in the United States and here akin to perjury.

"I should have thought the answer is obviously not."

Eisler sat stolidly in the prisoner's box while the Judge gave his verdict. He showed no emotion and shook hands first with the police who had guarded him.

Opposing counsel in the case had agreed the main issue in the case was the single point of law discussed by the Judge in his summation.

Sir Valentine Holmes, representing the United States Embassy contended the crime was the same as perjury.

D. N. Pritt, left-winger member of parliament leading Eisler's defence, retorted that making a false statement on a form was 100 miles from perjury."

Pritt demanded that the United States be made to pay the full costs of the action "because I have no hesitancy in saying they acted in bad faith."

Dunne rejected this plea.

Not Giving Up

WASHINGTON, May 27—(AP)—Attorney-General Tom Clark said today the United States has not given up on its efforts to get Communist Gerhart Eisler back from Britain to serve his prison sentences.

Clark said: "The Bow Street decision in the case of Gerhart Eisler, as reported in the press, appears to be based on the most narrow technical grounds.

"We shall exert every effort to secure the return of the fugitive".

4 T.B. Patients Stage Walkout

TORONTO, May 27 (CP) — Four tuberculosis patients who walked out of hospital Thursday endangered their health and possibly the health of others, Dr. C. A. Wicks, superintendent of Toronto Hospital for Tuberculosis said today.

Three of the four patients returned Thursday night. The fourth a woman, who is still missing, cannot be permitted to return to the hospital, he said.

"We have a waiting list of over 60 and one of this number will have her bed," he explained.

Dr. Wicks said the incident has been reported to Ontario and Toronto medical officers and the patient still at large is subject to be placed in isolation in an Ontario hospital.

The four patients walked out on the complaint that there had been no heat in the hospital for a month. They admitted being persuaded to leave by the other woman "in a moment of hysteria."

REUTHER SHOT — Victor Reuther, 37, brother of United Auto Workers' president Walter Reuther, was shot in the face and seriously wounded by a shotgun blast through the window of his Detroit home. Victor is also a UAW official.

Fighting Ends In Shanghai With Surrender

SHANGHAI, May 27 (AP) — The Red blanket of Communist quietly enveloped all of Shanghai today.

The gunfire ceased. The last Nationalist holdouts surrendered. Veteran troopers peacefully carried Red rule in the northern part of the world's fourth largest city.

The Communist occupation was complete three days after it began. Red political officers began taking over the government of the greatest Asian commercial centre and its 6,000,000 people.

The Nationalist garrison of Woosung fortress folded up. The government evacuation fleet pulled out, down the Yangtze and into the East-China Sea.

The ships left behind the Nationalist troops who had failed to make the 10-mile northward march down the Whangpoo River escape corridor from Shanghai to Woosung. How many only the Reds will know after they round them up.

Make Mad Stand

The sharp—but minor—fighting for Shanghai really was over Thursday night. But not until today did the handful of Nationalist rearguards who made the final, mad stand in the heart of the city make up their minds to quit.

For two days they had held the bridges across Soochow Creek which flows through downtown Shanghai and into the Whangpoo at the north end of the famous Bund. And they held the big, modern buildings that commanded the bridge approaches.

Their orders were to hold the bridges, to protect the Shanghai garrisons' withdrawal to Woosung.

Holed up in the buildings, they stayed at their guns long after the Reds had crossed up-stream, flanked them from behind and moved through the northern part of the city after the retreating garrison.

It was the foreigners trapped in the buildings with them who finally persuaded the last of them to give up.

Tunnel Under Channel

LONDON, May 27 — (CP)—A tunnel under the English Channel linking France and Britain—an engineer's dream, a strategist's nightmare and a public talking point for 70 years—is in the news again.

The latest scheme, which has been discussed by parliamentary committees in both London and Paris, is on the agenda for discussion by the House of Commons and will eventually be submitted to the United Nations.

The original tunnel, which penetrated a mile under the sea bed, has been filled up, but Gatehouse was invited to inspect another tunnel which exists as part of the cliff drainage scheme. His faith is undimmed by the years. One day, he says, motorists will drive from London to Paris.

A battle royal is raging as to whether the tunnel will "promote understanding and peace" or make Britain vulnerable to invasion in the event of war.

"The tunnel might well be of strategic value if ever western union were involved in war," says B. O. Masse, Chief Executive of the International Road Federation, Limited, which holds regular business meetings in support of the scheme.

"It is doubtful," he added, "whether the existence of a tunnel, which presumably could be blown up or flooded without difficulty, would seriously increase danger of invasion."

Expense of the tunnel, according to the International Road Federation, would not be more than £1,000,000 ($4,000,000) a year each to Britain and France.

Western Powers Draft Plan To Unify Germany Will Go To Russians Soon

Demand Political, Economic Management Be Left In German Hands, Refuse To Allow More War Reparations

PARIS, May 27—(AP)—The western powers have drafted a plan to unify east and west Germany, official sources close to the Big Four foreign ministers said today. The sources said the western blueprint would be placed before the Russians "in a day or two." It comes after the Soviet proposal to the Foreign Ministers' Conference for an elected German Control Board to run the conquered country.

Today, as they have done in the last three days—Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain, State Secretary Dean Acheson of the United States, Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France are expected to continue prodding Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky of Russia into defending his terms for German unity.

If they failed to obtain the satisfaction they seek, they are expected to spend the week-end readjusting their counter offer of German unity.

Delay Rejection

So far the west has not rejected the Russian call for a return to four-power control and for an elected German economic and administrative council.

But they have served notice they want:

1. To turn management of political and economic affairs over to the Germans.

2. To retain supervision only of security, demilitarization, industrial production and foreign policy matters.

3. Russia to understand it cannot expect to receive any more reparations out of west German or all-German current production.

4. To see Russia loosen its grip on the economy of the eastern zone by dissolving all industrial trusts it has acquired and formed in the region.

Set Up Road Blocks For Hit-Run Driver

TORONTO, May 27 (CP) — Road blocks were set up on all highways within 50 miles of Toronto today in an effort to trap a Michigan motorist who ran over and killed a man lying on the Queen Elizabeth highway. The man had been injured a few minutes before and was waiting for an ambulance when the car struck him, police said.

Toronto, Hamilton and Provincial police are co-operating in setting up the blanket road block over the area.

Reject Peace Bid

DETROIT, May 27 — (AP) — A company peace bid to settle the 23-day Ford strike today was rejected by the United Automobile Workers (CIO).

Ford's proposal covered arbitration of work standards on disputed assembly lines in two strike-bound plants.

It was concerned only with whether work standards impair the "health or safety" of employees, in line with the Ford-UAW contract.

Satisfied Farmers Said Bulwark Against Reds

OTTAWA, May 27 — (CP). — A world-famous nutritionist said Thursday that world prosperity is the only way to get world peace. He added that a strong international farm organization is needed to stop the spread of Communism.

Lord Boyd-Orr, Director General of the United Nations food and agricultural organization, said Communist expansion in China was a "revolt against poverty."

He warned that prices of farm products were dropping, and so were prices of industrial products.

"We can't go back to another world crisis, we must not," he said at a luncheon given by the Federal Government to more than 100 delegates to the annual conference of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers which opens at Guelph May 31.

The organizer of the FAO, Lord Boyd-Orr said there would be no halt to the spread of Communism if there was not bolder action on behalf of farmers' security and on behalf of hungry people.

He advocated an international food policy to stabilize prices, guarantee markets to prevent accumulation of hug surpluses with no place to sell them and to maintain stores of food in case of famine.

Only this, he said, would stop Communism. Asiatics did not know the difference between Communism, democracy or Fascism—but they knew the meaning of hunger.

A strong international farm organization could help stabilize international prices and give farm producers the protection that industry now had. National stabilization policies could not be successful without an international policy.

Run Over By Bus Tourist Killed

HAMILTON, May 27 (CP) — A Michigan visitor to Canada was killed and a woman passenger was seriously injured today when their car was struck broadside by a Grey Coach Lines bus at the western end of Bronte Bridge.

The man was pitched from the car and the heavy bus ran over him. The woman was taken to Hamilton General Hospital. Extent of her injuries was not yet determined.

It is not known yet exactly how the accident happened but local [illegible] have had a blow-out and swung across the road in front of the heavy bus.

Report Quintuplets May Become Nuns

CALLANDER, May 27 (CP) — oOliva Dionne, father of the quintuplets, said today he would not be surprised if one or more of his five famous daughters become nuns.

He emphasized that the girls, who celebrate their 15th birthday Saturday, have complete freedom of choice in their vocations. Since birth the quints have received their religious and scholastic education from the Sisters of the Immaculate Conception.

It is rumored here that Mrs. Dionne is encouraging her daughters to enter an order. One rumor has all five considering the idea.

Report T.L.C. Considering Suspending C.S.U. Because Of Red Domination

Predict Constitutional Change Giving More Votes to Anti-Reds! Hall Then Could Carry 50% Of Voting

OTTAWA, May 27—(CP)—Informed union sources today expressed belief the executive of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, meeting in a special session here, is debating the possibility of suspending the Red-dominated Canadian Seamen's Union from the Congress. The C.S.U., now on strike against east coast deep-sea shipping, has been the storm centre of a long battle over Communism within the T.L.C. Action against it would be direct reversal of executive policy.

Today's discussions stemmed from a meeting last week at Cleveland, in which the American Federation of Labor executive conferred with Congress executives and members of a the T.L.C. led by Frank Hall, Montreal rail union chief.

Mr. Hall and other Canadian heads of some international AFL-TLC unions have been pushing the executive to get rid of Communists within the Congress—specifically by giving recognition to the right-wing Seafarers International Union (A.F.L.), which is battling the C.S.U. for mastery of the east coast.

Dewar Ferguson, national vice-president of the C.S.U., said in Toronto Thursday night that the A.F.L. had given the Congress an ultimatum to expell the Seamen's Union.

Has 50% Backing

Mr. Hall is backed by officers of international unions, comprising more than half of the TLC's 400,000 members.

It was reported the compromise involves a shift to "block voting" at conventions, the system now used by the AFL. This would give the Hall group virtual control of the conventions which formulate Congress policies. It gives each union a vote for each of its members, whether it has its full representation of delegates or not.

The present system calls for one vote per delegate. The Hall block claims this gives control of conventions to Communist sympathizers.

Storm-centre of the dispute is the shipping industry. The Congress now recognizes the Canadian Seamen's Union as having jurisdiction in this field. The Hall faction charges the union is Communist-dominated and wants it replaced by the anti-Communist Seafarers' International Union, an AFL affiliate.

Plan To Change Liquor Set-up

TORONTO, May 27 (CP) — A Toronto paper said Thursday in a front-page story the Ontario Government plans to centralize liquor authority under the Provincial Secretary's department and will completely revamp licences and selling regulations.

The story said the new plan was approved by the cabinet at a meeting Thursday and will be announced by Premier Frost on his return today or Monday from a speaking trip in the Cochrane North Provincial by-election.

Changes are rumored since the recent cabinet shuffle when Provincial Secretary Welsh also became chairman of the Liquor Control Board, with Maj. J. W. Foote, VC, wartime padre, as vice-chairman.

Authority at present is divided. The Liquor Authority Control Board, headed by Judge W. T. Robb, is concerned primarily with supervising beverage rooms and cocktail bars. The Liquor Control Board has concentrated on buying of liquor and supplying of retail outlets.

Market Losses Widen As Major Stocks Drop

TORONTO, May 27 — (CP)—Losses widened out as the session on Toronto Exchange progressed to-day with all major groups showing declines. This is the fourth successive session of a declioning market. Industrials, Western oils and base metals sold at the lowest price levels for the year or longer and producers in the gold list declined steadily.

Volume for the first three hours was 454,000 shares.

Selling pressure increased steadily as the session progressed with key issues showing the worst declines.

The market opened quietly with a few firming tendencies appearing but these soon disappeared and by mid-session the major groups showed widespread losses.

Consolidated Smelters led the downtrend in base metals, dipping more than $2 and touching a new low at $90. Several issues continued downward to new lows as the group sold at the lowest price level since March, 1948.

Papers, steels, utilities, liquors and textiles were lower in the industrial groupings as the losses ranged up to a full point.

Key Western oil issues declined steadily with about six stocks selling at new lows. Senior golds producers weakened from early firmness and almost all junior issues showed losses.

COLLIDES WITH CAR

Ronald Benson, 597 St. Catherine Street, had a fortunate escape from serious injury while bicycling home from school at noon to-day. Benson was cycling west on Charlotte Street and ran into the pathway of a car as he turned south into Stewart Street. Constable Don Mackay, who was standing nearby, saw the driver of the car, H. Fair, RR 3, Peterborough, jam on the brakes in time to avoid a serious mishap. A fender of the car knocked the boy off his bicycle, but he suffered no worse injury than a bruised knee and cut arm.

Liberals Ready To Increase Gold Mine Aid

By The Canadian Press

The Social Credit Party came up Thursday night with a four-point general election program which it said would banish fear and want and "strengthen the forces of righteousness."

Announced by Solon Low, the Party Leader, in an address broadcast nationally, it included revision of the country's tax system and adoption of Social Credit monetary theories.

Elsewhere in the campaign for the June 27 general election, Prime Minister St. Laurent completed a 17-day tour of Eastern Canada with an address at Timmins before returning to Ottawa for a week-end rest.

Mr. St. Laurent told a Liberal rally in Timmins, in the Northern Ontario goldmining area, that the government planned to provide further assistance for high-cost marginal gold mines. At the same time, he rejected Progressive Conservative demands for dollar devaluation on the ground it would increase the cost of living.

Mr. St. Laurent said the government's bonus plan for gold mines already has meant a "substantial" increase in gold production and has given the industry financial aid "roughly equal to the devaluation of the dollar by 10 per cent."

Through the plan, 88 mines were obtaining aid which amounted to nearly $9,500,000 last year, an average rate of $3.27 an ounce produced. This gave more than $38 an ounce, or about the equivalent of a 10 per cent dollar devaluation. In 1949, the average would be $4.25.

Wants Controls Back

The Liberal and Progressive Conservative Parties were accused at Windsor by M. J. Coldwell, CCF Leader, of answering the "pleas of big business" in dropping price controls and subsidies.

He told a CCF rally that the Liberals and the Progressive Conservatives had "united" in ignoring the requests of the people for retention of controls.

"The tragic increase in living costs which has hurt so many Canadians so much in so few years," he said, "is the result of united action by both old parties in answer to the pleas of big business for the removal of beneficial price controls and subsidies."

While farmer, city worker and pensioner suffered from inflation "big business" reaped its highest profits in history.

Mr. Coldwell expressed surprise at a denial by George Drew, Progressive Conservative Leader, that his party is associated with "big interests," and asked:

"Was it not the great monopolistic publishing, gold mining and department store interests which promoted his candidature as the Leader of the Conservative Party?"

Canada First

A policy of "Canada First" in matters of trade and development was advocated Thursday night by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader at Edmonton.

Mr. Drew told a national radio audience that "our policy in the opening out of the wide frontiers which still remain to be developed, should at all times frankly be, 'Canada First.'"

At a public meeting, he said the free countries of the world should not be forced to endanger their freedom by trading with countries behind the iron curtain. Exchange difficulties were forcing the free countries to trade with nations behind the iron curtain.

He promised that if his party formed the government after the general election it would take steps to make the pound sterling and the dollar convertible.

Hunt For Safe Intensified

Police search for the 900 lb. safe containing $70 stolen from the American News Company, Hunter St. E. Thursday, continues today around Lakefield.

As soon as a truck, stolen from Lakeshore Cleaners was found Thursday morning abandoned in a field at Lakefield, police began combing a wide area of lanes and highway, in the hope that the missing safe was left somewhere nearby.

Today Peterborough City Police Chief John Thompson has joined City Constable Claire McGillen and Chief Samis of Lakefield in the search.

Obituary

WILLIAM WESLEY McKIM

William Wesley McKim, 573 Division St., agent for the Pilot Insurance Company in Peterborough for many years, died today in hospital after an illness of some months, at the age of 56.

Mr. McKim, a native of Hastings, had resided in Peterborough practically all his life. He was a veteran of the First Great War, serving for five years with the 21st Battalion. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Wesley McKim of Hastings.

He is survived by his wife, formerly Sara Lockie of Peterborough; two daughters, Victoria and Marilyn, both at home; and two sisters, Miss Ileen McKim of Peterborough and Mrs. Vernan Ellis (Evelyn) of Toronto.

Funeral service will be held from the Nesbitt funeral home, 347 Charlotte St., Monday, at 2.00 p.m., with Rev. Dr. James Semple, minister of George Street United Church, officiating, and burial in Little Lake Cemetery.

Not A Winning Ticket Here

The big horse race at Epsom Downs Saturday will be just another marathon heat for the flock of hopes around town that have been tenuously wrapped up in those $2.50 coupons bought surreptitiously a couple of months ago.

Peterborough customers were missing from the two columns of names in type in the papers that published the results of the first draw Thursday. Luck seemed to be winging in all directions across the border, but the local folks will have to content themselves with an electric toaster in the forthcoming distribution by the Women's Auxiliary of Civic Hospital. Most of them are bound to stay in town with all the tickets that have been dropped into the ballot boxes.

As for a jackpot of $100,000, presumably some persons will be on the receiving end, somebody else, not of Peterborough. Information at the telegraph offices said today there were no wires for this city and district from Dublin, not even for a non-starter at Newmarket. So, that's that, but for those taking themselves to the Woodbine for the running of the King's Plate Saturday, they'd better lay off Speedy Irish that's being touted in the Toronto sports columns as almost a sure thing. But there are Epic, Bunty Line and Bolaris.

But, at any rate wait till that Free State ticket agent comes around for the fall race!

Havelock Liquor Vote Will Be Taken June 15

A Canadian Press despatch carried in The Examiner on Thursday intimated that the residents of Havelock would vote on the sale of liquor on June 21. This was incorrect as the vote is scheduled for June 15 and The Examiner regrets this Press Association error.

Patients Walk Out

TORONTO, May 27 — (CP) — A number of patients Thursday walked out of the Toronto Hospital for Tuberculosis complaining there had been no heat for a month. Dr. C. A. Wicks, hospital superintendent, said "three or four patients very childishly decided to leave." He said there was less heat than usual because a boiler was shut off for repairs before "an unfortunate break in the weather' brought a sudden cold snap a few days ago.

Well, fishermen, pretty disappointed in the pickerel catches to date, no doubt. It certainly has not been anything to brag about and because they were not biting, several theories have been expounded. It still remained, among the varied opinions, that the run was over before the season opened this year. Some fishermen took their daily limits of six fish, but few. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kraus of Pine City, N.Y., and Mr. and Mrs. James Stephens of Elmira, caught a total of 35 pickerel during their stay at Cap. Sloane's Camp on Lake Katchewanooka. Trout are biting better according to reports from veterans. One of the greatest of living fishermen, Edward R. Hewitt of Neversink, N.Y., betters the report of the 11-pound, 13-ouncer taken recently near Barry's Bay. In 1879, he said, the Canadian Geodetic Survey recorded a 19-pound trout being taken in Lake Nipigon. Mr. Hewitt said he landed several weighing more than 14 pounds and that the Barry's Bay bruiser is nothing exceptional. Looks mighty good to us, however. Orville Heimbecker, HOLLAND CENTRE, caught a 10-pound brown in Bell's Lake near Markdale on the 24th. On the same holiday people of Timmins shivered as snow fell from early morning until late afternoon.

Travel agents get around. EL PURVIS arrived back from a TCA familiarization flight to the Carribbean on Wednesday. He was gone a week and the flight went something like this. He left Toronto midnight of May 17, arrived NASSAU, Bahamas, next morning shortly after 6 a.m., flew to KINGSTON, Jamaica, three hours later and spent four days touring the island and resort hotels. He spent another night in PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, and got back to Nassau in time to spend Victoria Day. Since it is off-tourist season down that way, aircraft carried half loads and on one leg of flight had six children abroad, all under two years of age, and bound from CHILE to MONTREAL. "All flights were wonderful," said El. The aircraft, NORTH STAR.

Shades of pioneer times on coming to life in tales of the WILD TURKEYS, an extinct game bird for many many years. The Department secured four hens and two toms from the PENNSYLVANIA GAME COMMISSION recently and released them in Lambton County. They are not expected to increase greatly but to maintain themselves, for old time's sake.

George Davis, Girard, Ohio, arrived back at Sturgeon Lake a week ago. He is building a new cottage up that way and came in to the office the other day with a newspaper clipping. It told of his winning the first prize in pickerel at 1948 Grey and Bruce Fish Derby and was from the YOUNGSTOWN Vindicator., dated Dec. 26, 1948. Imagine the stout fellow who could write about pickerel fishing the day after Christmas, or anything else for that matter. But they do.

Deer hunting may seem a long way off but hunters wishing to plan Fall holidays will be interested to know the Department has released DEER HUNTING dates for 1949. They are from November 14 to 23rd. inclusive, and the Act describes our area as follows; 'The District of Parry Sound and Muskoka, and that part of the District of Nipissing south of the Mattawa River; the counties of Haliburton, Victoria, Peterborough, Lennox and Addington, Renfrew, Lanark, Leeds, Grenville, Dundas, Frontenac (except Howe Island), Carleton (West of the Rideau River), Hastings (North of No. 7 Highway) and Ontario (north of and including Thorah township). There are four other areas described in detail, as well.

Speaking further of deer, there is an interesting experiment going on at APSLEY. Messrs Passmore, Draper and McKenzie of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, are conducting a survey for the Department of Lands and Forests on diseases of deer and elk. One affliction in particular which has attacked cattle, sheep and elk, originally of foreign source, finds a host in small snails on natural pasturage, and causes disease to the livers of these animals. These gentlemen are examing elk livers, and also deer, to form a report for the Department in their constant battle of conservation. To veterinarians, the disease in cattle is known as Liver Fluke. The original parasite, FASCIOLA spp., causes gall stones, produces a blood-dissolving toxin and generally undermines the health of cloven-hooved animals. The disease is worldwide and has been recognized by veterinarians for a great many years.

The hour-long battle to land a 46-pound muskie by Donald Newcombe on the MONTREAL RIVER, Tuesday, is just a prelude to the battle he will have to fight against the Department of Lands and Forests. They will soon show him that the 'lunge season does not open until July 1st, in case he didn't know, IF the fish proves to be a muskie. The only other monster around that size could be a STURGEON and it is closed season for them, too.

An EVENING DATE for your books is Monday, May 30th, 7:30 p.m., the first meeting to see where we are at in connection with a proposed KAWARTHA CANOE DERBY to be run this year for the first time. It will be held in the auditorium of the PUBLIC LIBRARY, with much talk, a fine color film and a trip through the Peterborough Canoe plant. See you there.

Fish poachers are stupid when they think they can help themselves to spawning muskies, especially out of the spawning trap nets. Conservation Officer STAN WINDSOR laid a charge against two men in the Lakefield area who tried, but failed, to take fish from traps on Lake Katchewanooka recently. They were fined $25, plus $2.50 costs, each in City Police Court on Thursday.

NOO AT THE ZOO. Nature has added to the population of the Filtration Park Zoo this week, first with a fawn in the deer park and later with six goslings in the Canada Goose water pen. Picnic benches and tables have been moved from their old sites near the fountain to a new landscaped spot north of the reforestation area. JIM HARISON is improving things constantly and the Park is a credit to the city.

McGUIRES HAVE IT—The jolly clowns from the Shriners Circus got a little confused when they entertained children at the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children in Montreal and found a surplus of McGuires around the place. Inset, Michael MacGuire, six, of Ottawa, is fascinated by Bozo's funny nose. Below, Michael McGuire, four, also of Ottawa, but no relation, dubiously accepts a package of popcorn from another funny man.

4% Dominion's Population Out of Work During March

OTTAWA, May 27 (CP)—Unemployment—and employment—both increased in Canada during the last year.

Some 199,000 persons—slightly more than four per cent of the Dominion's total labor force—were out of work in March, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today. That was an increase from the 156,000 persons unemployed in February, 1948, when slightly more than three per cent of the labor force was unemployed.

The labor force—those working and those looking for work—increased from 5,825,000 in February last year to 4,899,000 in March this year.

During the same period, the number of persons working rose from 4,669,000 to 4,700,000. The number of women working fell from 982,000 to 970,000.

The bureau said it based its figures on a survey of "scientifically-selected sample of the civilian population of Canada." It included those over 14.

Maritimes Worst

Highest percentage of unemployment was reported in the Maritimes where 5.8 per cent of the labor force was looking for jobs, followed by British Columbia with 5.2 per cent. Percentages for other areas: Quebec 4.8, Ontario 3.2 and the prairie provinces 3.2.

The bureau made its survey in March when unemployment is at its peak because of the seasonal factors in industries like agriculture and forestry. The 156,000 persons unemployed in February, 1948, had dropped to 82,000 by June and 67,000 by September. Unemployment rose to 106,000 by November.

It attributed a falling-off in forestry workers — from 127,000 last November to 112,000 in March—to adverse March weather on the west coast.

Manufacturing was the biggest year-round employer, the bureau reported, with 1,269,000 people engaged in manufacturing in March with 1,236,000 in February 1948.

Agricultural employment was 956,000 compared with 965,000.

The total unemployment figure compared with 141,000 out of work in March 1947 and 213,000 unemployed in February, 1946.

Herald Goes To Nickle

MONTREAL, May 27—(CP)—The Herald announced today that next Monday it will increase its price from four to five cents a copy "to meet constantly rising costs."

The Herald, an evening paper printed in tabloid form, is the sixth of Montreal's seven daily newspapers to increase its price to five cents. The seventh, the French-language morning paper Montreal Matin, also a tabloid, sells for three cents.

HASTINGS, May 27—(ENS)—Mrs. C. Dodds, Mrs. Reta Johnson and Mrs. W. E. Wilson are conveners of the May tea and sale of home baking and aprons being held Saturday afternoon, May 28, in the old post office building, sponsored by St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church WMS.

Appeal Granted Hanging Delayed

WALLA WALLA, Wash., May 27.—(AP).—Warden Tom Smith of the State Prison announced Thursday he had been notified that a court of appeals has granted Jake Bird, convicted (Negro) ax slayer, an additional 30-day stay of execution.

The court will hold a hearing within 10 days on the question of whether a "certificate of probable cause" shall be issued, the prison warden was notified.

Such a certificate is necessary before the court can entertain an appeal in the case, Smith explained.

If it is then decided to hear such an appeal, the convicted slayer, who has twice before cheated the gallows, will probably be given additional time to perfect the appeal.

Bird was scheduled to be hanged at the State Prison here shortly after midnight.

COBOURG, May 27—(ENS)—The death occurred here of Mrs. J. J. McAvoy, 257 Walton St., who died after an extended illness. She was Mary Fox before her marriage, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. Fox, and she attended the separate school and the collegiate institute.

She is survived by her husband and a daughter, Mary; four brothers, Vincent and Frank of Toronto; Cecil and Basil of Cobourg and one sister, Alma of Toronto.

Following requiem high mass at St. Michael's Church on Saturday, interment will be in St. Michael's cemetery.

Land Mystery Trout

COBOURG, May 27—(ENS)—Local sportsmen are trying to figure out how these trout got into Rice Lake. Last weekend a Port Hope lad hauled in a speckled trout at Gore's Landing, which weighed close to a pound. A few days before a nice brown trout was caught near the same part of the lake.

Provincial Constable Dies Accidentally

LITTLE CURRENT, May 27 — (CP)—Ontario Provincial constable Reginald Morden, 25, of Sudbury headquarters staff of the Provincial Police met his death on May 17 due to an accidental automobile collision near Birch Island according to the verdict returned by an inquest jury here Thursday.

Testimony given before Magistrate W. J. Golden of Little Current indicated that a borrowed car driven by Morden in which he was accompanied by Provincial constable Schroeder also of Sudbury had accidentally collided with a taxi driven by Bill Michie of Little Current. Morden car overturned four times. Dr. J. F. Bailey said the policeman was dead when he examined him and that death was due to multiple fractures and internal hemorrhage.

Crown Attorney E. L. Claridge of Gore Bay conducted the examination of witnesses.

Council Meets Early

COBOURG, May 27—(ENS)—Usually held later in the month, the June session of Northumberland and Durham counties council will open on Monday next, it was announced by counties clerk-and-treasurer Bill Barr. Prospects are for a routine session with little of a contentious nature likely to arise.

Plan To Sell Wartime Houses

KINGSTON, May 27 (CP). — Tenants of 325 wartime houses constructed in Kingston Township during World War II may now purchase the houses for which they are presently paying rent, it was announced Thursday night by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

The Crown company's decision to offer the units for sale followed a request made last fall by the Tenants' Council of the project for permission to buy.

Under proposed sale arrangements tenants will be able to buy through a small down payment and regular monthly instalments approximating their present rentals. Sale prices will include the installation of permanent foundations under the houses to replace the cedar posts on which the units are now standing.

The corporation's announcement also stated that in the promise made to the Tenants' Council last October, agreements to purchase will be back dated to November 1, 1948, for purchasers who were tenants at that time. Rentals paid after that date will be credited as monthly payments on agreements for sale, providing he full down payment is met by August 1.

Barely Miss Frost

COBOURG, May 27—(ENS)—Local gardeners say that night winds on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week were all that prevented a touch of frost. However, most gardens in town are well advanced except in some sections where heavy clay made it impossible to make an early start.

Newfoundland Polling

Today the citizens of the Province of Newfoundland go to the polls to elect their first Provincial Legislature. Canada's most easterly province has had an interim government headed by Premier Joseph R. Smallwood since it entered the Canadian federation on May 1st. Premier Smallwood has campaigned as provincial Liberal party leader. He is opposed by H. G. R. Mews, leader of the Progressive Conservative Party in the province.

• • •

The provincial and federal election campaigns in Newfoundland have overlapped, and Mr. George Drew has already made a personal election appeal there. The main issue for Newfoundlanders today and on June 27th, when federal general elections are to be held, is of course Confederation. Mr. Drew has promised a revision of the terms, presumably in favour of Newfoundland.

• • •

This sort of election appeal is both rash and cheap. It is cheap because it is an appeal to greed; an offer of a handout. It is rash because, if fulfilled, the many months of conference, planning and careful calculation which resulted in the terms by which Newfoundland became a Canadian province would be set at naught. Such a tactic is as unwise as it is unwarranted. The financial arrangements between the Dominion and the new Province are conceded to be generous to Newfoundland. By making an issue of the terms so soon after they were accepted, Mr. Drew, national leader of a national party, is deliberately fomenting dissatisfaction and dissension, instead of allowing time for matters to settle and find their own adjustment. Has Mr. Drew the welfare of united Canada at heart when he makes such political bids?

• • •

Premier Smallwood was the chief Newfoundland advocate of union with Canada. By his appeal to all the people and a very active campaign, and by the people's refusal to accept the blandishments and dictation of big business in St. John's, the union was achieved. It will be interesting to know the results of a similar democratic appeal after today's voting. Although the results of a Provincial election should not be relied on too much as an indication of the way the polls will go in a Federal election, the issues in Newfoundland are so specialized that it is likely that today's polling will be an augury of the polling there on June 27th.

The High Cost Of Psychiatry

Dr. William C. Menninger, President of the American Psychiatric Association which has been holding its annual meeting in Montreal this week, told his colleagues that mental illness is "probably the most expensive disease a patient can have." He mentioned this as a contributary cause of the increase in quackery in this branch of medicine. "Mental healers", "personal counsellors" and "social consultants" set up shop and thrive financially because psychiatry pays well and there are not enough trained psychiatrists to go around. The practice of psychiatry, a [illegible] is much more useful and necessary than many people are willing to credit. It is a social misfortune that the cost of psychiatric treatment by competent doctors is so high. A result is that patients are, as Dr. Menninger admitted, usually selected on the basis of their ability to pay. And unless a government agency, a hospital, or the armed services (who have their own psychiatric staffs) provide for the treatment, only the wealthy can afford to consult a psychiatrist. It is not only wealthy people who suffer from psycho-neurotic instability.

Here in Peterborough there is no psychiatrist, though it is obvious that in a city of this size there must be many people who need psychiatric treatment. However, there are not enough wealthy people who could afford to keep him here at the present rate of fees. One or two visits with a psychiatrist may cost as much as a hundred dollars. If a patient needs prolonged treatment, and most do, for the methods of cure take time, the cost would range between one and five thousand dollars. This matter of the expense of treating mental disorder should be carefully investigated by the American Psychiatric Association, and the medical fraternity generally, as well as by governments. Mental disease is not restricted to the rich; the prerogative of treatment should not be theirs alone.

Special Grants To Married Teachers

When the Associated High School Boards of Ontario met in Peterborough last week the suggestion was made that a married high school teacher should receive a salary allowance of $1,000 because of his married status, and an allowance of $500 for each of his children. We cannot think what prompted such a suggestion, for it seems plain that married men receive consideration in payment of Income Tax and in the Family Allowance which helps them with their responsibilities; also, it would be foolish to establish the belief that employers are directly responsible for the personal problems of their employees.

The suggestion, however, is another evidence of the growing tendency to think of teachers as union workers rather than as professional people. It is clearly impossible to lump all teachers together in matters of salary, for their abilities vary widely. Indeed, we should like to see a system of payment for teachers which provided more directly for this variation in ability. Good lawyers and doctors can expect to receive more money than mediocre or poor ones; why should teachers not have the same chance to capitalize on their superior talents? If all teachers are lumped together it will become very hard to attract the most gifted people into this work, for the qualities which make a good teacher can be more profitably used in other professions in which rewards are a direct reflection of capacity.

Not Institutions, But People

Our contemporary the Brantford Expositor suggests that in future the 24th of May be called Empire Day, or Commonwealth Day, instead of Victoria Day, and that it be celebrated on the Monday nearest to the 24th. Queen Victoria, says the Expositor, is not remembered by modern children, and a celebration of her birthday is out of place.

We disagree. Queen Victoria, who was a great woman herself, and about whose memory a great legend has grown, will of course be forgotten if we push her off into Limbo and do all that we can to erase her name from the national memory. But what is to be gained by that? The legends and aspirations of great peoples do not form themselves around constantly changing institutions, such as an Empire which has become a Commonwealth in which the King is recognized by some parties and not by others, and which will be something else in twenty years time: great traditions form themselves around the memories of great people, like Queen Victoria. National spirit can experience nothing but vitiation if a great Queen is shoved aside in order that we may honour an institution which appears to be going the way of the Holy Roman Empire.

Victoria Day is a Canadian holiday—the only one, save Dominion Day, which we do not share with the rest of the world. Let us keep our one holiday, and our pleasant custom of honouring a great Queen. Perpetual tinkering is not to be confused with progress.

After a "world-wide" hunt for some valuable paintings which were missing from the Frankfurt Art Galley since 1945, they were found in the Gallery's own basement. Not long, we presume, after the discovery of the Curator's spectacles, which had been on his forehead all that time.

We read that someone is offering a course in lion-taming by mail. At present several charities, hospitals, universities and government agencies are trying to tame us by mail, and to put us in a giving mood, and so far they have not succeeded. We don't imagine that lions are any more responsive to the mail approach.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column, particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

DEAR ALPHA: Who does own Victoria Park, and who the fountain, to which editorial reference was made in the Examiner last week?

ANSWER: Victoria Park, formerly called the Court House Park, is the property of the County of Peterborough. At a meeting of the County Council in its chambers at the Court House on March 15th, 1885, a deputation from the Horticulture Society, headed by J. H. Roper, brought up the matter of improving and beautifying the park. At the preceding session of the Council a grant of $75 for five years had been made, and the Council were prepared to lease the grounds to the Horticulture Society for 25 years. The society planned to lay out paths, and lawns, and to plant shrubs and flowers. It asked the Council for a grant of $300 for the initial capital expenditure. The Council was favourably disposed toward the project. Mayor James Stevenson actively supported the proposal, and he and Mr. George A. Cox, already a prominent financier, agreed to set up a fountain at their own expense. The water company—forerunner of the Utilities Commission—agreed to provide free of charge, water for the fountain and for the grounds, shrubs and flowers.

SO it can be seen that the Court House Park, now Victoria Park was developed as a joint enterprise of County and City bodies, and of private citizens. It is to be regretted that such a whole-hearted communal effort is not made again to bring back the park to its former glory, its fountain to play, and even its bandconcerts, which were summer's-night entertainment annually from 1884 until a few years ago when the bandstand was taken down.

The fountain is, of course, County property. I am skirting around the question of who is now responsible for keeping the park trim. The City Parks Committee takes it on, probably in default of anybody else doing anything about it.

Since it is the only County land in this city which is a County town, and since the park could vie with the finest anywhere and do the County Council proud, as well as the county people whom it represents, it surprises me that the County Council is not indefatigably insistent and watchful that the park be the show place of the County. It could be, with its fine trees and with one of the finest, best porportioned old stone buildings in southern Ontario—I mean the Court House—overlooking it. It could be the County's pride and joy, if the County would give it a little thought and a little money.

SIR: Last Saturday on the Examiner's Feature Page, the ancient song "Sumer is acoming in" was printed. It was a new version to me. What is the correct one?

ANSWER: There are almost as many versions as there are manuscripts of the song. Here is one which is very close to the original vocabulary and spelling, as close as our present script makes possible:

Sumer is icumen in,
Lhude sing cuccu!
Groweth sed, and bloweth med,
And springth the wude nu—
Sing cuccu!

Awe bleteth after lomb,
Lhouth after calve cu;
Bullue sterteth, bucke verteth,
Murie sing cuccu!

Cuccu, cuccu, well singes thu, cuccu:
Ne swike thu naver nu;
Sing cuccu, nu, sing cuccu,
Sing cuccu, sing cuccu, nu!

This version almost needs a glossary. Lhude is loud, awe is ewe, lhouth is loweth, sterteth—leaps, swike—cease. It is likely that all the final e's would be pronounced. Thus the rhythm would be complete.

This is, I believe, the earliest known song in the English language of which we have both words and music. It comes down in written form from about 1250 A.D.

QUESTION: Is it true that our mosquitoes bite British people who come over here more strongly than they do us natives?

ANSWER: There may be some scientific way to determine this, but I can only judge by the size and quantity of the lumps and the amount of scratching. I do not even know whether, when a mosquito sucks blood, it injects a certain amount of foreign substance—a mild poison—into the irritated blood-donor's epidermis. If so, I would guess that people who have grown up with Canadian mosquitoes develop a degree of immunity. I have noticed that Britons over here for the first few years seem to be particularly susceptible to mosquito bites, that the swellings seem larger than, for instance, my own, and that they seem to suffer more. Perhaps some learned local entomologist can give you, other readers, and myself, more precise information.

Britain has mosquitoes, but the variety there are relatively [illegible] member, writes in his Ode to Autumn, that the "small gnats mourn". In this country the gnats are big, vicious and no poet would have anything kind to say about them; he, not the gnats, would do the mourning.

SIR: When people talk about "mixed metaphors" with a knowing grin, I grin but without understanding. What are these famous "mixed metaphors"?

ANSWER: A metaphor is an implied comparison, a figurative term. For instance, to say music is colourful is to speak metaphorically. Painting has colour, music has not, but the implied comparison between the two arts is illuminating. "That man is an ox" is metaphorical. That man is like an ox"—a statement which is a direct comparison—is a simile. (The metaphor is "ox", the simile is "like an ox".) People mix their metaphors when they use two metaphors or more which cannot properly be put together without vitiating the meaning. The result is usually lamentable, often ludicrous. Here is a mixed metaphor which a Canadian mayor (not of Peterborough) lately used: "I don't care whose ox is gored; let the chips fall where they may".

Here is a high-flown one which came either from an after-dinner speaker or a pulpit: "We pursue the shadow; the bubble bursts, and leaves the ashes in our hands." (A remarkable shadow which forms a bubble and drops ashes in its disintegration!) Here is one from the office, and the cart is not before the horse, but on it! "I am glad to see the old warhorse back in the saddle". Perhaps the most ripping of all North American mixed metaphors which dig into the treasury of hackneyed slang is "The hand that rocked the cradle has kicked the bucket". Some hand, some cradle, some bucket. By the way, did you spot my own cunningly-contrived bumbled metaphors in the third last sentence?

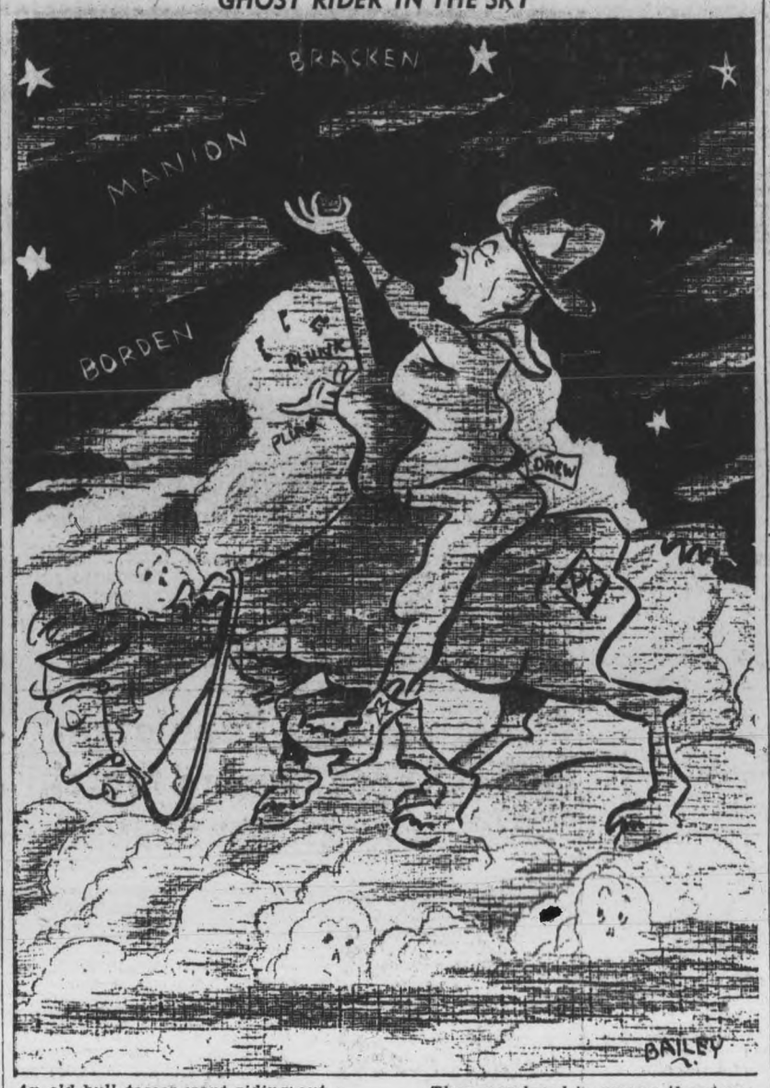
FOR THE RECORD: Television has come to Peterborough—the first receiving set, that is. There is of course no sending station in Peterborough or anywhere else in Canada. This set is being displayed by a George Street electrical and radio store and its prowess demonstrated. I have not seen it, and reluctantly look forward to my first view of the new mass means of communication. I have already abstained from bars in Toronto, Hamilton, and Windsor where television receiving sets are installed. The Peterborough set reportedly picks up a Buffalo station, and may be able to tune in to Rochester when that city opens its station.

GHOST RIDER IN THE SKY



An old bull-tosser went riding out
One dark and cloudy day,
He was 'riding hard' the Northern Stars
But not the usual way.
When all at once a mighty herd
Of red-eyed guys he saw.

They wandered in among the stars
And up a cloudy draw.
Yi-pi-ay
Yi-pi-yi-o
The ghost herd in the sky.

Dr. Chisholm On The Press

(MONTREAL STAR)

DR. Brock Chisholm, the eminent secretary-general of the World Health Organization, has joined himself to the large body of critics who complain that the press publicizes conflict and ignores agreement and progress. We often wonder what kind of newspaper these critics would themselves produce. The production of a newspaper demands in its way the same kind of expert knowledge that is demanded, let us say, of a doctor or a psychiatrist. Newspapers seldom criticize the doctors and the psychiatrists, but they have no objection to the doctors and psychiatrists going after them, though we doubt if it would be beneficial to our society if newspaper publishers were drawn wholly from the ranks of the Pollyannas.

What is needed is some kind of balance, and we fancy that Dr. Chisholm would be very ready to admit that the modern newspaper does publish daily a very large amount of news relating to the constructive and useful activities of mankind. Too much reportage of Pollyanna-ism could be just as bad as too much reportage of conflict.

The fact is that we achieve progress and improvement by maintaining large numbers of people who deal with things that go wrong. The things that go right don't need the same attention. Physicians treat sick bodies. Psychiatrists deal with sick minds. A doctor can say with pride. "I saved a life." He is never heard to say that there are millions and millions of people who never need his care. Newspapers, we think, perform an essential function in calling attention to things that go wrong in the world. That is the first step toward setting them right. Perhaps they are not as good at cure as they are at diagnosis, but we fancy that goes for many doctors and psychiatrists too.

At the same time newspapers are delighted when they are able to report the steady drive of men of good will to reduce the areas of conflict in, for instance, national and international affairs. Readers of The Star are familiar, to cite an illustration, with the reportage of its correspondent, Mr. Walter O'Hearn, of the affairs of the United Nations. This represents a well-informed and high level of reporting which lays due and essential emphasis upon the problems and conflicts that have to be met in order to report also the progress made in their solution.

Once a problem is solved, the reporter moves on to something else, just as a doctor, his patient cured, returns him to normal life and tackles the next sick being on his list. This is as it should be, and we are sure Dr. Chisholm would agree it is the right thing to do.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And now, O ye priests, this commandment is for you....And ye shall know that I have sent this commandment unto you, that my covenant might be with Levi, saith the Lord of hosts....For the priest's lips should keep knowledge, and they should seek the law at his mouth: for he is the messenger of the Lord of hosts.

But ye are departed out of the way: ye have caused many to stumble at the law; ye have corrupted the covenant of Levi saith the Lord of hosts....Ye have wearied the Lord with your words. Yet ye say, Wherein have we wearied him? When ye say, Every one that doeth evil is good in the sight of the Lord, and he delighteth in them; or, Where is the God of judgment? (Mal. 2: 1, 4, 7, 8, 17.)

◆ ◆ ◆

Woe unto them that call evil good, and good evil; that put darkness for light, and light for darkness; that put bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter!....Which justify the wicked for reward, and take away the righteousness of the righteous from him! (Isa. 5: 20, 23.)

◆ ◆ ◆

But of the times and the seasons, brethren, ye have no need that I write unto you....Ye are all the children of light, and the children of the day: we are not of the night, nor of darkness.

Therefore let us not sleep, as do others: but let us watch and be sober. (1 Thess. 5: 1, 5, 6.)

Night Farming

Essex County farmers are working practically around the clock, sowing corn and soy beans. Which emphasizes the value of the tractor in agriculture.

Spring always is the season of feverish activity on the farm. There is so much to do, and so little time in which to do it if the soil is to be properly cultivated and the seed sown at the right time.

When farmers had to rely on horses, there was a limit to what could be done. The horses had their own pace and, though capable of a great deal of work, had to get their rest at night. Also, customarily they were given a breathing space of a few minutes several times during the morning and again in the afternoon of a hot day.

It is not only that tractors can go at a greater speed, and steadily, so that more can be accomplished in the same space of time. Also, with their powerful lights, they can be operated longer hours, as far into the night as the farmer wishes to work. But, unless drivers can be switched, it means even longer work hours for farmers. And, goodness knows, they were long enough in the spring even when horses were used.—Windsor Star.

Stranded Ship Leaves Halifax

HALIFAX, May 27 — (CP) — The 7,000-ton collier Wabana, last of nine ships stranded here by a Seamen's Union strike called two months ago, slipped out of port Thursday under soggy, grey skies.

The Wabana was boarded late Wednesday without incident by a 36-man crew of Seafarers' International Union (AFL) members. An SIU spokesman said all were Canadians and 15 were former members of the striking Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC).

Halifax Signals reported the collier left her mid-stream anchorage shortly after dawn for an unannounced destination. It was presumed, however, she was heading for Newfoundland.

The Wabana and her sisterships Louisburg and Arthur Cross were moved into the stream by their officers more than a week ago. All are owned by Dominion Coal Company.

(Stevedore members of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) began unloading the Arthur Cross at Sydney, N.S. at midnight Wednesday night after a five-day stand-off. CSU pickets did not interfere as the dockworkers, backed by 150 steelworkers, arrived at the pier.)

Local lacrossers don't pick soft touches—they certainly had no bed of roses winning two provincial senior "B" titles—and their step up this season to senior "A" should result in some swell scraps here. Tonight at 8.45 in Miller Bowl, the Petes—dubbed the Armstrong Lumberjacks—tackle Hamilton Tigers, who are Dominion senior champs, and that should be a honey of first grade buckwheat flavor. Action hot from start to finish is indicated when the battling Creighton crew tears into the tough Tigers. This is top lacrosse, the fastest summer game for teams there is, and fans certainly shouldn't pass it is one up.

* * * * * *

Canisius College touring ball players of Buffalo (favorably remembered here for past performances) meet the Petes, COBL champs, in a three p.m. exhibition tomorrow in Riverside. A right interesting diamond duel should result, and Ed Murphy will probably use three twirlers and all of his club talent this time. Ed Whitehill, who led all COBL flingers last summer, gets a deserved plug from the Quinte columnist for his showing 'gainst Batawa there on the holiday. He says: 'The veteran was in rare form for six innings and had Batawa eating out of his hand. The Gunner held the Batawa bludgeons to a measly three clouts widely scattered for six and a third innings before tiring." He'll do okay in warmer weather.

Minors Working Out

Nothing lately on the City Baseball League, but 'tis hoped to get the schedules away in another week and a half. Secretary Al Watkins is working on the lists now, and something should be known shortly. Various minor clubs are working out regularly—while the seniors and juniors have seen action—and others are getting lined up rapidly. Walter Dinesen had a promising juvenile squad shaping well in the northend but wants to form a midget team, too, so is calling an open drill for Saturday at 2.30 in the Oval. For boys living north of McDonnel St. and of midget age. Getting grounds for all teams has been a bit of a holdup recently.

* * * * * *

Some more Church Softball League midget games at Keene or Central are listed thusly: May 30—St. George's at Keene; June 1—George St. at Keene; June 9—George St. vs. St. George's; June 14—St. George's vs. George St.; June 16—Keene vs. St. George; June 20—Keene vs. George St. Postponed games are: June 21—George St. vs. All Saints at King Edward School; peewees on June 2—Keene vs. St. Andrew's at the Oval; and June 6—All Saints vs. Keene at the Oval. Clip these out, boys. Other sections of this loop are busy now, too. Church schedules all end by the middle of June.

Valley Of The Trent

Six teams in the Trent Valley Softball League, Frankford, Colborne, Stirling, Wooler, Campbellford and Hastings-Norwood Combines. Carl Austin of Wooler is president, and Barney McCall of that village secretary-treasurer. They opened it up on May 24 and followed with a brace of tilts last evening. Colborne goes to Campbellford and Stirling meets Wooler in Trenton next Tuesday, while June 2 sees Frankford at Colborne, Hastings at Stirling, and Wooler at Campbellford. All these small centres play under the lights, which is more than lots of good-sized towns can say. While the TVL softballers may not get into as many arguments as the TVL puckists, rivalry in the summer sport should be keen enough, too.

* * * * * *

Petes pulled out a 2-0 soccer win over O'Halloran's before a slim gathering at King Edward last evening, and the short-handed losers really made it a battle till the final few minutes. Goalie Hutchinson guarded his charge well till Cribbis and Payne finally beat him near the finish. A doubleheader in football tomorrow aft on the southend pitch with Petes playing Electrics at two, followed by Lindsay against O'Halloran's, J. Buchan handling the first fray and T. Foster the second. These games are in connection with the competition for the Mayor Ovens' injured players cup.

Connors Sparks Royals To 14-5 Victory

By The Associated Press.

Chuck Connors, happy-go-lucky first baseman of the Montreal Royals, is making life unhappy for International League pitchers.

Connors, reported to be in disfavor with the parent Brooklyn organization because of his pranks and quick wit on and off the playing field is proving he's dead-serious [illegible] bat in his hand.

The lanky, 21-year-old infielder is sailing along at a .386 gait for the Royals.

The colorful Connors sparked the Royals to a 14-5 triumph over the Rochester Red Wings Thursday night, driving home five runs on a grand-slam homer and single. Connors has knocked home 15 runs in 13 games.

Montreal hopped on Erv Dusak, Don Hile and Willis McDonald for six runs in the first inning. Connors' four-bagger was the big blow of the uprising.

Despite the grand opening, Pat McGlothin, making his first start for Montreal since reporting from Brooklyn, was in trouble throughout.

McGlothin yielded eight hits and walked six. And rookie Steve Bilko chimed in with his sixth home run. Al Gionfriddo of the Royals hit his second homer of the season in the seventh.

Scheduled games between Syracuse and Newark and Jersey City and Baltimore were rained out. Toronto Maple Leafs and Buffalo Bisons were not scheduled.

Tie In Civic Loop

Duffus and the Bus Drivers battled to a 13-all Civic Softball League tie, called for darkness, on Wednesday night. A five-run drive by the Busmen sewed it up in the seventh, after they had scored three each in the first two innings and one each in the third and fifth. Duffus counted two in the second, three each in the third and fifth, with five in the fourth. Teams:

Busmen—Rowe c, Parnell 2b, Gordon lf, Jamieson ss, Grey 3b, Brown 1b, Simons cf, Knox rf, Clarke p.

Duffus—Hill c, Sharp p, Manbeck 1b, Shields 2b, Corkery 3b, Logan ss, Anderson lf, Thompson cf, Grainger rf.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

We've been asked by officials of our club to make this announcement: "It is with regret that we have been forced to cancel all lawn bowling until Monday evening."

It seems that the Board of Directors held a snap meeting Wednesday evening and, after taking everything into consideration, the weather, condition of the greens, plus the fact that there is new grass coming on, they came to the foregoing decision.

They expressed the hope that the week-end would show improvement in the weather, and that we would be able to get on with the schedule

We might add, that after looking up records for a number of years, we find we have this same situation about every three years.

This will in no way interfere with the ladies' program, for Friday afternoon. If they cannot bowl, they can play bridge.

Lindsay Ball Season Will Open Today

LINDSAY, May 27 — Boasting a 500 record on the road, Lindsay Merchants, who made their debut in the OBA intermediate Lakeshore group this season, open at home today.

Two hockey stars, Bill Shill and Hank Goldup at short and first, along with a young fastball pitcher from Peterborough, Doug Loucks, led the team as they were edged 5-4 by last year's champs, Port Hope, Ont., and took Bowmanville Royals, 12-10, in 10 innings.

Lindsay's new stadium is expected to be packed when Manager Rowley's collection of veterans and rookies introduce intermediate ball to the home fans against Bowmanville. Premier Leslie Frost has been invited home for the opener to throw out the first ball.

Confed. Boys Win

The Confederation St. gained two more points last evening by setting Queen Mary down to the tune of 22-9.

In spite of the score, the game was exciting at times. Confederation used double plays at two different times to cut off Queen Mary threats.

Daniels walked five for the winners, while whiffing eight. The Queen Mary pitcher walked only one and struck out five. Watson and Stave homered for the losers. Teams:

Queen Mary—B. Brady, R. Dunn, Franks, B. Watson, B. Stave, K. Cullen, J. Dreury, J. Clement, B. Burgess, Stuart.

Confederation—G. Holden, M. Bryan, A. Daniels, K. Outwater, G. Croates, R. Tyndall, G. Simmons, R. Holland, C. Simmons, R. Brooks.

Umpires—Plate, C. Bullock; bases, W. Paterson.

Hastings Victors

HASTINGS, May 27 (ENS). — The Legion softball team came out victorious over Asphodel by a 15 to 8 score here Wednesday in a seven-inning game. The players:

Legion — B West, L. Stevens, I. Bonds, J. Jones, J. Wilson, Covert, S. Richardson, L. Myles, M. McMillan.

Asphodel — H. Fife, B. Woods, A. Lobb, Clysdale, Blackbourn, Scriver, R. Warner, J. Elmhirst, McConnel.

Score by innings:

Legion ..... 10-10 211 x—15
Asphodel ..... 011 140 1— 8

Teachers Victorious Over Normal Team

The Normal students and the men teachers of the city played an exhibition softball game last evening at Queen Alexandra School grounds and the experience of the older men earned them a 7-5 victory. The win gave the teachers a 2-0 adge in the annual spring classic between the teachers and the students.

Drew in the outfield pulled down several long hits to help the loser's cause. Batten hit a homer and a triple in three trips to the plate, Loveday also hit a triple for the winners. Dreury hit a round tripper as well. The teams:

Students—E. Evans, M. Paterson, E. Loveday, D. Torney, H. Hutchinson, B. Batten, A. Perry, C. McKague, V. Drew.

Teachers—R. Rutherford, H. Currie, J. Weir, E. Dreury, D. Lawless, W. Paterson, J. Burns, A. Olmstead, Gainor, J. Barnard.

Umpires—Plate, F. Woods; base, B. Oliver.

Petes Capture 2-0 Win In Soccer Tilt

The Petes defeated O'Halloran's 2-0 in a soccer match last night at King Edward Park. Playing 10 men, O'Halloran's held the others to no count till four minutes from the finish when Cribbis and H. Payne scored. Pyle, Hutchinson and Dunn shone for the losers, while T. Foster and N. Downer were best for the winners.

O'Halloran's went on the offensive from the start, but G. Foster held them out. Dunn had two good tries. Later, the Petes forced play, but found Hutchinson hard to beat. There was no score in the first half. Early in the second, O'Halloran's again dominated the play to make the goalie jump to save. With four minutes to do, Cribbis sent in a low shot which Hutchinson fell on, but it bounced into the net against an "offside" appeal. Harold Payne got one more in the final minute. Teams:

Petes — G. Foster, goal; T. Foster and D. Downer, backs; W. Cribbis, M. Downer, and N. Lane half-backs; L. Payne, H. Payne, J. Downer, G. Downer, and E. Lane, forwards; subs, H. Downer, J. Hennesey.

O'Halloran's — J. Hutchinson, goal; A. Downer and T. Scott, backs; A. E. Smith, H. Pyle, and D. Gray, half-backs; H. Latham, J. Garvey, A. O'Halloran and J. Dunn and J. Langton, forwards.

Referee, J. Adams. Linesmen, E. Woodcock and M. Buchan.

Canadian Legion Team Defeats Sergeants

The Canadian Legion cribbage team defeated the Sergeants' Mess team in a tournament match Wednesday night by 187, points. The Legion's score was 6,277 and that of the Sergeants' Mess 6,090. Frank Bell was captain of the Legion team and Fred Hopgood led the Sergeants' Mess Players.

Prize winners, all members of the Legion team, were:—first, Art Pilling and Mel Pakenham, 941; second, McDonald and J. Kemp, 933; and third, Bert Simmonds and McCartney, 915.

Cards Showing New Life Whip Pittsburgh By 13-6

By The Canadian Press

St. Louis Cardinals, tabbed in pre-season predictions as a weary bunch of veterans who had no place to go but down, suddenly have come to life and are showing some of the class that made the Red Birds the feared Gas House Gang of old.

In recent games Eddie Dyer's veterans have shown new spark and Thursday night's 13-6 victory over Pittsburgh Pirates lifted St. Louis into a fifth-place tie with Philadelphia Phillies.

The Red Birds had to come from behind to crush the slumping Pirates.

Pittsburgh sailed into Red Munger for four runs in the first inning, three of them on Ralph Kiner's 10th homer of the season, but the Cards stormed back with seven in their half and were in front the rest of the way.

Kirby Higbe made his first start of the season for the Pirates but only got two batters out. Hal Gregg and Cliff Chambers also saw duty in the first before the Cards were retired.

Jim Hearne, who replaced Munger in the first, was chased in the second frame during a two-run Pirate rally that cut the Card advantage to 7-6. Ted Wilks rescued Hearn and stopped the Pirates on four hits the rest of the way to gain his third victory.

Musial Steps In

Chambers blanked the Cards until the sixth when Stan Musial slammed his sixth homer, Enos Slaughter socked his third four-bagger in the seventh and the Cards rapped Chambers for four more runs in the eighth.

Washington Senators also came from behind and beat the slumping Cleveland Indians 5-4 in a night game at Washington. The game was called after eight innings to allow the Tribe to entrain for their home lot.

Larry Doby, who has homered in each of Cleveland's last three games, hit one over the fence with one on in the first but Gene Bearden couldn't hold the lead.

Mickey Haefner, who stopped Cleveland with one hit on May 10, went the distance for Washington, allowing seven blows.

Boston Red Sox overcame a 5-3 deficit and nipped the St. Louis Browns 7-5 in the major's only day game. The Red Sox scored four runs in the eighth inning to win.

Ed Pellagrini's error with the bases loaded, a disputed play at second and Ted Williams' two-run single broke up the game.

The scheduled game between Detroit and New York at the Yankee Stadium was postponed because of rain. The remainder of the teams were idle.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Creating history for the classic, H. C. Hatch, Agincourt, Ont., breeder and owner, sent a three-horse entry to the post five years ago today in the 85th running of the King's Plate and captured three of the first four positions, Acara, a sturdy grey colt was the winner and Ompalo and Sayonara finished second and third respectively.

Mierkowicz Tops League Hitters .367 Average

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—Ed Mierkowicz, Rochester's hefty outfielder continues to lead the International League in hitting with a .367 average.

The 25-year-old fly-chaser, has collected 44 hits in 120 at bats. Among his safeties are four doubles, three triples and two home runs. He has driven in 19 runs.

Statistics include games of Wednesday, May 25.

Johnny Blatnik of Toronto is second in hitting with a .352 mark and Bobby Morgan of Montreal is third with .350. The two were tied for second last week at .365.

Toronto's Ed Sanicki leads the circuit in home runs with 13. Wes Westrum, Jersey City's hard-hitting backstop, is first in runs batted in with 34. Westrum has hit 12 homers.

Glen McQuillen of Baltimore and Henry Thompson of Jersey City are tied for the runs scored leadership with 26 apiece.

Wes Bailey, Jersey City's ace righthander, tops the league in pitching with a perfect 7-0 slate. Clyde King of Montreal is second with 4-0.

Irish Golfers Ready To Concede U.S. Win

PORTMARNOCK, Ireland, May 27 (AP)—Ready to concede an American victory, Irish golf fans today are finding it hard to choose between Frank Stranahan and Willie Turnesa for the British amateur title.

Stranahan, the Toledo strong boy, won the crown a year ago and Turnesa, the little Elmsford, N. Y., veteran, was the winner in 1947. One or the other seems certain to make it three straight for the United States.

Stranahan Thusday disposed of two oppenents without losing a hole in the 24 he had to play. He downed George Loveday of London, 7 and 5, then ousted David Blair, a Scottish army Major, 8 and 7. Turnesa defeated Robert Walker of Scotland, 5 and 3, then came from behind to beat Irishman Brendan Scannell, two up.

Won't Take Sides

BLACKPOOL, England, May 27 —(Reuters)—Leaders of 12,000 employees of the British Prudential Assurance Company decided today not to take sides on the question of nationalization. Nationalization of industrial insurance companies is in the Labor party's 1950 general-election program.

More and more people are changing to Pepsi-Cola. Among them, Gordon Carroll, Toronto salesman. He says, "Pepsi's lively flavour is always a treat." Right, Gordon. The quick, delicious flavour of a Pepsi-Cola hits the spot anytime, anywhere. It really satisfies your thirst. Take time out to enjoy a Pepsi today. See if you don't bounce back refreshed and ready to go!

In Edmonton, too, people are changing to Pepsi-Cola. Dorothy Yells, photographer, says, "We changed to Pepsi-Cola for its better flavour and bigger value." There's real, satisfying refreshment in a Pepsi. There's more for your money, too. Two full glasses for only one-cent more. No wonder people everywhere are picking Pepsi over any other soft drink. Why take less when Pepsi's best?

Athletics Down Weston 13-12

ST. CATHARINES, May 27 (C)—St. Catharines Athletics held off a strong finishing rally by Weston Yorks here Thursday night to gain a 13-12 victory in a Senior Ontario Lacrosse Association game.

Damico, Urquhart, Whitely, Madsen and Fitzgerald each got two goals for the winners. McNulty, O'Hearn and Croft followed up with one apiece.

Tom Towner paced the losers with four counters. Allewell got two while Chard, Reddy, Hill, Gair, Schkordoff and H. Downer nipped one each.

Clover Leafs Capture Basketball Crown

VANCOUVER, May 27 (CP) — A solid eight-man unit has reestablished its right to the title of Canada's outstanding present-day basketball team.

A decisive 83-64 triumph over Windsor Assumption College on Thursday night wrapped up a precedent-setting third consecutive Dominion title for Vancouver Clover Leafs.

Clover Leafs, whose compact, polished style of play reminded Western Canada experts strongly of the great Winnipeg Toilers of 20 years ago, disposed of the highly-rated Windsor club in three straight games in the best-of-five final.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

The status of Bob Feller is as uncertain as ever.

Nobody is willing to say just when the famous Cleveland convalescent will be able to pitch again. Even Bob himself refuses to hazard a guess.

One thing is sure—the 30-year-old hurler is definitely not ready now, not even for relief.

In the clubhouse after Wednesday night's game at Washington rapid Robert glumly said: "I haven't won a game since May 7 and it looks like the next one I win will be after July 4. And I'm not so sure I'll win a game after the fourth of July.

"I'm going to take a rest. That's about the only thing that will help me."

There will be no changes either in the field or office management of Chicago Cubs, owner P. K. Quigley said Thursday after a two-hour meeting with five key officials of the club.

Manager Charlie Grimm said: "we've been in a slump, but we're coming out of it. I still believe we've got a good ball club. The players aren't discouraged. They are hustling for me and I'm all for them I'll take the blame for defeats."

Negotiations for a welterweight championship fight at the Polo Grounds in New York June 17 between Ray Robinson and Kid Gavilan of Cuba fell through at the last minute Thursday because of a disagreement over radio and television rights. When the boxers and Promoter Harry Markson got together to sign contracts for the bout, Robinson and his representatives refused to sign because, they said, Madison Square Garden, the promoter, should "yield" the rights to them. Markson refused to do this.

At Fairmount Park, Ill., High Hanover, driven by Walter Dispanette, scored a stunning upset in the ninth race on the Grand Circuit program Thursday night, paying backers $105.80 to win in the 18 class trot feature. The same trotter was ninth in the first half of the feature, the sixth race. Second place in the ninth event went to Guy Tramp, who paid $50.20. Guy Tramp was eighth in the first half.

Willie Morrissey, president of the Ontario Division of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association, said Thursday at Toronto the association will form a national body before June 18.

He said he hopes formation of the national association will curb the power of the Incorporated Canadian Racing Associations. He felt the ICRA, representing race track owners, has "too much power" over Canadian racing.

At Paris, the first bid of Richard Gonzales, United States champion, for a European tennis title ended suddenly Thursday when he was upset by Budge Patty, another Californian, in the semi-finals of the French International championships, 6-4, 6-2, 3-6, 6-3. In an all-Los Angeles final Saturday, Patty will play defending champion Frankie Parker, who flattened Eric Sturgess of South Africa, 6-2, 6-1, 6-4, in the day's other semi-final.

New York Giants Thursday sold veteran infielder Dick Culler to Jersey City Giants and at the same time announced the recall of infielder Jack Lohrke from their International League farm club. The Giants shipped Lohrke, a highly-promising youngster, to their farm club last week. Culler was kept then in preference to Lohrke because he needed only 10 more days to become a five-year man in the majors. That would qualify him for the recently-installed pension plan. Culler became eligible Thursday. It means that he gets $50 a month from his 50th birthday on.

Wade Hoping Conquer Jinx

RICHMOND, Va., May 27 (AP) Ray Wade Hill, an unknown "orphan" golf professional from Shreveport, La., set out today to conquer a jinx which has dogged the medalist year after year through the history of the United States Professional Golfers' Association tournament.

Hill waltzed off with medalist honors in the 31st tournament Thursday by touring the 6,677-yard Hermitage County Club layout in a four-under-par 67 for a 36-hole qualifying score of 136—two strokes over the medal record.

Only twice since 1931 has the star who carded the best score in the qualifying play managed to take home the crown at the close of match competition. Olin Dutra turned the trick in 1932. Byron Nelson, co-medalist with Johnny Revolta in 1945, also was around at the finish.

A single stroke behind Hill in the wild scramble for medalist laurels was slammin' Sammy Snead, the long-driving masters' champion from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. Snead played the back nine in three under par 32 yesterday for a 36-hole total of 137.

Another unknown like Hill, Howard Schmidt, of Chino, Calif., finished the qualifying with a 138 as did Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C., and Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C. George Fazio of Conshohocken, Pa., had a 139.

Three Horses Spotlighted In King's Plate

TORONTO, May 27 — (CP) — The race entries this afternoon will show just how many horses will probably run in the historic King's Plate at Woodbine race track Saturday, but so far as the turf faithful are concerned there's only two or three horses in the list.

General opinion among trainers is that the race lies between George McCulagh's Speedy Irish and E. P. Taylor's Epic, with a threat from John Stuart's Bunty Line.

Those three horses have captured all the attention in pre-race speculation of the 90th renewal of the oldest continuously-run race in North America.

The weather question was unsettled early today. The district forecast was cool, cloudy weather with showers until late tonight; whether it will be clear by race-time Saturday afternoon wasn't known.

The Ontario Jockey Club now has a five-stall section which can be hooked up to the regular starting gate, to give an automatic break to 17 starters for the mile and an eight classic.

Depending on the size of the field, the race will be worth from $15,000 to $17,000. This includes the winner's purse of the King's 50 Guineas and $10,000 added by the OJC.

Actress Gets Divorce

LAS VEGAS, Nev., May 27 — (AP)—Actress Martha Vickers Thursday was awarded an uncontested divorce from Hollywood publicist A. C. Lyles. Actor Mickey Rooney told reporters he planned to marry her June 3 in California. Rooney's divorce from beauty-queen Betty Jane Rase becomes final next Thursday.

Falls Off Stool

WORCESTER, Mass., May 27—(AP)—Amedee Bolduc, 55, is at city hospital with a skull fracture, his name on the danger list. Patrolman Benjamin Epstein said Bolduc fell off a stool last night in a tavern.

TURNING THE PAGES OF "CANADA UNLIMITED"

In early Canada, the flickering fire from the hearth gave the habitant his only light.

Lamps burning animal and fish oil gradually came into use during the 17th century. In 1759, by order of the Governor, citizens had to carry lamps when they went out at night.

Gas was hailed as a great advancement when it was first used for lighting in 1841 in Toronto. 36 years later, Montreal harbour-front saw the first electric lights—and a new era was born. Today, even in remote country places, homes and buildings are efficiently illuminated by electricity.

Now the uses of light are many, from decoration to display, and each new use opens up many more. In the application of lighting to our life there is a shining future, with great opportunity for Canadians. Yes—there's room to grow in Canada Unlimited.

Playwright Marries

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., May 27 — (AP)—George S. Kaufman, 60-year-old playwright, and English actress Laureen MacGrath were married here Thursday. It was the second marriage for Kaufman and third for Miss MacGrath.

WESTERN BERLIN RAILWAY WORKERS jeer at a blithely unconcerned Soviet officer at the Tempelhof elevated railroad station, after 15,000 of the workers in Western Berlin went out on strike, demanding payment in West marks instead of Soviet marks. Since all Berlin railroads are operated by the Reichsbahn directorate under Russian control, Soviet soldiers and eastern sector police were able to move from station to station in other sectors as they tried to break the strike.

Bill Sims Wants Peterborough Choral Society

William Sims, O. K. Bill Sims to thousands of sports fans who know him as the Dean Of Montreal radio sports announcers, has come to live in Peterborough, where he is teaching singing and diction. Mr. Sims has broadcast the Montreal Royals baseball games for many years and only last season, commentated on the famous Governors Cup series.

This popular radio personality was first a singer, having started in Toronto where he became a concert and church soloist. Going to New York to study for Grand Opera he finally gave up owing to hay fever and turned to radio. He assisted Maestro Carlo Perroni in producing one of the first series of opera broadcasts in New York City.

Mr. Sims sings in seven languages, has coached many singers and radio announcers. A serious leg ailment has forced him to leave his position as consultant with CKVL of Montreal.

Music Chosen

Formation of a Peterborough Choral Society is being considered by Mr. Sims. He hopes to form two sections, one, an all girls chorus and the other a male choir which would combine for such work as Handel's Samson, Judas Maccabeaus and The Messiah. Other works he would like to present are Haydn's Creation, Mendelssohn's Elijah, Pinafore, The Mikado, and Hiawatha is one of his favorites along with Lehman's Persian Garden.

On New Year's Day Mr. Sims made possible a radio version of Offenbacks' Tales of Hoffman, a concert version of which he thinks would delight Peterborough music-lovers.

During the summer season Mr Sims hopes to prepare a few soloists for one or two productions to be given this fall. He is giving auditions now in his new and attractive studios at the corner of Simcoe and Water streets.

Violent Clashes

ISTANBUL, May 27—(AP) — Violent clashes with police occurred Thursday night in the midtown European section of Istanbul, following a huge demonstration protesting Turkey's loss of a soccer game in the Mediterranean competition at Athens, Friday. It was the worst manifestation of anti-Greek sentiment here in more than 25 years.

Livestock Gives Professor Hectic Holiday At Lakefield

LAKEFIELD, May 27 (ENS)—Members of the family of Prof. M. G Griffiths, of the faculty of the University of Toronto, will have vivid recollections of how they spent the Victoria Day holiday weekend for some time to come, thanks to the antics perpetrated by some of the livestock on "Glynwood Farms" here, which is owned by the professor.

Professor Griffiths, Mrs Griffiths and children Bail and Glynn have returned to Toronto to recuperate from their "quiet" holiday spent on the farm.

The first event of the holiday took place the first day of their arrival, when "Copper Lady," a pure bred Ayrshire cow, decided to explore the depths of an abandoned well on the "Tait" estate and fell in. Davis and Charlton's tow truck was summoned to the scene and eventually "Copper Lady" was lassoed and dragged to the surface unharmed.

Piglets Lose Mother

The next morning, a sow gave birth to five little pigs—quite little pigs. Mother pig looked her five tiny offspring over, rolled over and died in disgust. The five little pigs were left to the "tender?" mercies of Professor Griffiths, since his farm manager, Clarence Coons, was away for the holiday.

Nothing daunted, the professor set up a "pig nursery" in the kitchen and put the babies on a four-hour formula.

Are "Doing Well"

The students of Toronto University would have appreciated the "homey' scene, with the professor in a nylon apron (a preventative against moisture) giving the bottle to the quintuplets.

The latest bulletin says the pigs were doing fine and have been turned over to the farm staff.

Gets Final Divorce

TORONTO, May 27 — (CP) — Mrs. Gertrude Dennis of Toronto Thursday was granted a final divorce from Gerrard Dennis, alleged society jewelry thief now awaiting trial at White Plains, N.Y. Mrs. Dennis obtained a decree nisi in 1947 but her counsel said application for a final decree was not made earlier because of his client's reduced circumstances.

Search Goes To Ottawa

MONTREAL, May 27—(CP)—Provincial police said Thursday night search for two convicts who escaped Wednesday from a St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary road gang now is centred in the Ottawa area. The search switched to Ottawa following the recovery there Thursday on Lorne Avenue of a car stolen at Terrebonne, Que., shortly after the men made their getaway.

139 Candidates Seek Election In British Columbia

VANCOUVER, May 27 (CP)—A total of 139 candidates seek election June 15 in the British Columbia provincial election—eight less than the record 147 of the 1945 vote.

Combined Liberal and Progressive Conservative candidates, whose coalition formed the last government, are contesting each of the 48 seats open in the 41 ridings. The C.C.F also have 48.

The Social Credit had no representation in the legislature dissolved last April. Coalitionists had 36 seats to 11 for the C.C.F. and one for Labor. Social Credit has put 16 candidates into the field while the Union of Electors —an off-shoot—has named 12 independently.

There are eight individual Independents, two Labor Progressives, one People's Party, one People's Party of B.C., one Straight Conservative, one Socialist Labor and one Labor.

Report Milk Flood Peak Is In June

A "tremendous volume" of milk is flowing into Peterborough William J. Ovens of Campbell's Dairy told the Examiner to-day.

"We are deluged with milk," J. E. Weir of Silverwoods Dairy described the present production from the herds of the district. And, the season still in May, with the peak to be reached in June, according to the usual experience in the dairy business.

The rise of the level of the Peterborough milk pool is apparently being duplicated throughout the province.

In Lincoln County, centering around St. Catharines, this week's report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture says: "Dairy cattle are now at maximum production with a surplus of whole milk all over the district." The comment from Huron is similar: "Milk production is very high due to ideal pasture conditions."

"The production of milk is away above this time last year," Mr. Ovens said. "I hardly know what we will do in June when the volume reaches the highest point of the year in the normal season."

"Temporarily," said Mr. Weir, "we are beyond our capacity, but with Silverwoods' big expansion of our ice-cream plant we expect to be looking for more milk in June with warmer weather and the influx of tourists."

Serious Setback

The manufactured milk branch of the dairy industry, including evaporated, condensed and powdered milk, has been seriously set back by a drastic decline in the export market. One of the large condensing plants in the province is reported to have 200,000 cases in stock, and also to have suspended operations for this year.

Another factor is said to be the depressing effect of margarene, first on the butter division of the business, and later on the manufactured branch when many dairy farmers switched to that outlet from butter. There has been a price drop in the manufactured milk branch.

Diversion of milk to cheese factories is generally reported. In this area, the Indian River factory of Silverwoods is said to be taking more milk than last year. Killarney Factory is the only cheese plant in the eastern section of the county that has not resumed production.

Meanwhile, the main local dairies are eccepting all the milk that is flowing from the farms, and management is hoping that there will be no interruption of this established business.

Young's Point News

Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Douglas, Sylvia and Robbie, are visiting Canon and Mrs. Fife at Young's Point. Mr. Douglas is returning on Saturday to attend convocation at McGill College, and receive his Ph. D. in physics. He will continue research in the Radiation Laboratory there.

The Reverend J. R. Fife, B. A., Professor in New Testament and Apologettes at Emmanuel College, Saskatchewan University is visiting his home at Young's Point.

Mr. George Booth graduate of Queen's University is to address the congregation at Holy Trinity Church, Haultain, on Sunday, May 29 at 2.30 p.m.

32 Motorists Fined

Increased traffic on the roads has resulted in a greater number of traffic offences in and around the city. Magistrate W. R. Philp K. C. Thusrday imposed fines totalling $226 on 32 motorists all of whom pleaded guilty to speeding, careless driving, driving without brakes or lights, cycling on the sidewalk or parking.

Dog Owner Fined

Dog owners who allow their pets to run at large during the summer will be punished by the law. Humane Society Inspector Gerald Dunford has told the Examiner.

At city police court Thursday James Cross, 657 Dunsmuir St. was fined $3 by Magistrate W. R Philp K. C. for this offence.

Three Firemen Complimented On Retirement From Brigade

Members of the Peterborough Fire Department on Thursday night bade good-bye to three of their number at a banquet held in the Fire Hall dormitory. It was sponsored by Local 519, Provincial Association of Firefighters.

Presentations were made to all three men by Chief George Smith on behalf of their fellow firemen.

Two of them, Captains William Jones and Archie McDonald, are retiring on pension, and the third Robert Hall, is leaving for medical reasons.

Veteran Firefighters

Archie McDonald has put in 38 years with the local Department and has served under every fire chief since it was organized on a permanent basis.

William Jones has helped guard Peterborough from the fire hazard for the past 30 years and most of the veteran members, including Chief Smith, have received instruction on firefighting from him.

Robert Hall, age 37, joined the local department in 1944 after serving overseas with the 4th Battery 3rd Anti-Tank Regt. He is an Englishman by birth who came to Canada in 1922.

Chief Smith recalled that when he joined, both Messrs. Jones and McDonald were experienced firefighters. An hour after being introduced to the former he was called out to battle a fire under the veteran's instructions.

"He taught me a lot," said the Chief.

During their stay in the Department they have seen the change from horse drawn equipment to its modern mechanized counterpart, including what none of them ever expected to see in Peterborough—an aerial ladder truck. The chief concluded by inviting the departing men to drop in to the Fire Hall to see their old comrades any time they wished.

Director Speaks

A detailed explanation of the Fire Departments Act, 1949, was given by guest speaker Edward Beavis, director of Fire Services, Ontario Fire Marshalls Dept. He traced the history of attempts by firemen to better their working conditions since 1921 and related them to this most recent piece of legislation.

Ontario is the first province or state on this continent to adopt the British method of giving direct financial aid to Fire Departments, he said.

Britain learned through wartime experience the necessity of having standard training and equipment and a central authority to maintain these standards. She also found it desirable to set up Fire Colleges in the country. About a year and a half ago the fire services were returned to the municipalities which were given subsidies on a conditional basis.

New Act Explained

The Fire Departments Act 1949 falls into two parts, he said. The first deals with benefits to firemen, and the second with details of financial aid to the municipalities maintaining Fire Departments.

It applies to all municipal departments whether permanent or volunteer. Grants are anywhere from 10-25 per cent of the annual cost varying with the size of the municipality.

At the moment those with 10,000 population are subsidized 25 per cent of their annual costs. The scale varies in inverse proportion to the population: 10-25,000—20 per cent; 25-70,000 (this includes Peterborough)—15 per cent; more than 70,000—10 per cent.

There are two important omissions from the present Act, he stated. One is a contribution towards the upkeep of the water system; and the other is the repair of fire stations.

From 24-Hour Day

He traced the improvement in the lot of the firemen since 1921. Before the Act of 1921 they worked 24 hours a day, seven days a week, with one and a quarter hours a day off for meals.

"Those were the days of slavery," he commented.

After the 1921 Act the men got one day off a week. The fire department's hours of Labor Act in 1925 guaranteed those working in municipalities of 10,000 or more a 72-hour work week and one day off in seven. As this was a private bill that passed the Legislature, the policing had to be done by the Provincial Federation of Firefighters, he said, and it was difficult for that organization to detect and prosecute offending municipalities.

When the administration was handed over to the Ontario fire marshall's office in 1944 there were 36 municipalities complying with the Act; 19 were infringing on the hours of work provision; and four did not give their men one day's rest in seven.

Now a 72-Hour Week

Regardless of the size of the municipality it cannot now work its men more than 72 hours; firemen must be included in the Workman's Compensatnon Act or one of which the WCA approves. There is provision for a pension plan and collective bargaining.

The Act is so worded that Orders in Council will be sufficient to amend and improve it as seen fit, stated Mr. Beavis.

"The citizens of this province should be proud of the steps which have been taken to ensure them a more adequate and efficient firefighting service, the speaker concluded.

Among the guests were Mayor Swanston, the complete city council with exception of Ald. Sands, Major Charles Watt of the Salvation Army, the Rev. John Hodgson of Ottawa, David Lowes, district vice-president of the Prov. Assoc. of Firefighters, Joseph Miller, Inspector of the Fire Marshal's Dept., and the speaker.

The speaker was introduced by Mr. Lowes and thanked by Ald. Douglas Miller, chairman of the Power, Fire and Light committee Claire Bennett, president of Local 519 was in the chair.

Ladies of the Salvation Army catered for the banquet.

Fingerprinting Uses Said Unlimited

Uses for fingerprinting are almost unlimited and the demand is constantly growing for this method of identification, Identification Officer William Aggas of the City Police told the Kiwanis Club, Thursday. He deplored the attitude of mind that considered fingerprinting useful only in police work and felt a stigma was attached to anyone submitting to it.

"The general adoption of our method is only as distant as the time it will require to convince the general public of the needfulness and the practicability of fingerprint identification in almost all walks of life," he said.

Many businesses are now using this method, he contended, because they are convinced of its reliability and simplicity as well as the "very reasonable expense of introduction and maintenance." Such enterprises as railroads, insurance and express companies, banks, mercantile houses, hotels and department stores, have adopted it.

During the recent war the Army, Navy and Air Force fingerprinted their personnel and the Police Departments have done so for many years. One of the latest additions to this list is the Civil Service.

At the moment Ottawa has 795,000 prints from those convicted of an indictable offence and 1,200,000 non-criminal ones. The FBI, by comparison, has 2,250,000 prints.

Other Methods

Fingerprints used are the reproduction of the pattern formed by the minute ridges of the finger tips. Only the first is necessary for classification. Palm and foot prints may also be used for identification purposes.

The Police officer said that fingerprints are divided into two classes—visible and latent.

Visible are those fingerprints left upon receptive surfaces contacted by fingers, palms or feet that have become coated with ink, blood, grease or similar substances that can be seen. Latent are those left by perspiration from the invisible outline of the ridges impressed on a smooth object.

Identity is established by the continuous agreement of detail or identical ridge characteristics in sequence.

Fingerprints are divided into nine patterns: loop, arch, tented arch, whorl, central pocket loop, double loop, lateral pocket loop, composite and those non-conforming patterns lumped together as "accidental."

Complex System

By a complicated index system, attributing different values to each pattern a serial number is arrived at, and it can be filed for ready reference or cabled in that form for the information of other police departments.

He then gave a brief outline of the history of the fingerprint method of detection.

More than 1,000 years ago the Chinese used the fingerprint signature on documents and manuals. This method signature, together with the written one, was used in Ireland in 1665.

In 1686 Marcelle Malpighi, an Italian professor of anatomy, using the microscope discovered ridges and sweat glands on the fingers.

Dr. Parkinge, a German professor of anatomy in a treatise pointed out, among other things, that fingerprints may be divided into nine different patterns. This is the system of patterns used by Sir E. R. Henry.

In 1880 Dr. Henry Faulds and Sir William Herschel, two Englishmen, suggested the possibility of tracing people by fingerprints. Chief credit goes to these two men for scientific research on the subject, said Identification Officer Aggis.

Sir Francis Dalton suggested a method of classification in 1893 but it was not adopted. A year later British authorities decided to look into the subject. Under the aegis of Dalton and Mr. Herbert Asquith, then Home Secretary, the system was introduced.

Sir E. R. Henry, a British government official in India, was in 1897 appointed Commissioner of Police for Scotland Yard. The Henry method of identification is now used in the United Kingdom, United States, Canada and Australia.

It was introduced into Canada in 1910 with the inauguration of the Fingerprint Bureau, largely the work of Inspector Edward Foster of the RCMP.

Credit for the single finger print method goes to Chief Inspector Harry Battley in charge of finger-printing, New Scotland Yard. The Battley system, still used, bears his name.

Other methods of fingerprint detection, the speaker said, were the Vucetish, used in Mexico and Latin America, an adaptation of a Galton method; French, a combination of Galton, Vucetich and the Bertillon systems; Gasti (Rome) perfected by Prof. Gasti of the University of Milan; Klott, a German one of 1903, considered a combination of the Henry and Windt systems; Zemox, in Kenya Colony and South Africa, a combination of Galton and Henry systems.

The speaker was introduced by Ralph Standish and thanked by ex-Mayor William Ovens. Both men spoke highly of the speaker's work since he had entered the local force in 1945. They particularly praised his work in organizing the Identification Office.

Rink-Townsend Site Rejected

The Rink - George - Townsend Sts. site for the proposed Peterborough Memorial Recreation Centre was rejected Thursday night at a meeting of the Recreation Centre Commission held in the offices of the Chamber of Commerce, with the chairman, Joseph Jebson, presiding. The site was previously considered in 1945.

The commission received a letter early this week from the City Council suggesting that this location for the arena be reconsidered, and last night's meeting was called to discuss it.

Members of the commission, rejecting the latest proposed site, recalled that engineering surveys had been made in 1945 which indicated that there was considerable water a few feet below the surface, which would necessitate driving of much piling to support a building of the size proposed. The commission members were of the opinion that this work would be too costly and would boost the overall cost of construction beyond its resources. A letter to this effect will be forwarded to the City Council today by the secretary, J. J. Dorris.

Other sites previously considered and which were rejected by one side or the other were: the Children's Aid Society property on George St. south, and the Nicholls Oval. The Burnham Rd. property now remains the only suggested site not yet rejected by one side or the other.

Commission members expressed surprise over the city again suggesting the Rink and Townsend Sts. site, as they were under the impression that it had been discussed and rejected by the 1945 Council.

CIRCUS COMING

G. A. Gillespie reports that Roberts Brothers circus will raise their tents at the Exhibition Park June 13.

New Dining Hall Proposed For Ex Ground

Exhibition Board debated for an hour or more Thursday night a proposal to invest something like $10,000 in a combined dining hall and agricultural building.

Harold T. Rehill and several of the other members expressed doubt of completing erection of a presentable permanent building of attractive appearance in time for the Exhibition in August. And Art McIntyre remarked that the element of time was causing a last minute rush in the undertaking.

All the members have been in favor of a suitable building and Don Milburn suggested broad community uses for it, especially if it was built to withstand winter weather. It was recalled that Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture, had provided grants for buildings which would serve the rural community. Lack of public meeting place accommodation in the city was mentioned, and Mrs. G. K. Fraser said that recently an agricultural meeting, the Holstein Association, had to obtain the use of the auditorium of the nurses' residence at St. Joseph's Hospital.

To Get Architect's Plans

The board adopted Mrs. Fraser's motion, seconded by Clare Collins asking the grounds committee to consider the project further and also obtain architect's drawing. Mr. Rehill had said that plans were essential to a building of any size. It would be 50' x 150'.

Nothing was said in the session of the possibility that the city might be interested in sharing room in the financing and use of the building which Mr. Milburn conceived for community purposes. It would be on the edge of the large new section of the city south of Lansdowne St. The provincial government has a plan of grants on the basis of three-way participation by the Dominion, the province and the municipal government.

On the suggestion of Mrs. Fraser, second by Alex Huston, the secretary was requested to send flowers to Norman W. McConkey who has been seriously ill.

G. A. Gillespie reported the prize list is being printed and will be ready for distribution June 9, one month ahead of last year.

Dr. A. E. Archer Dies In Alberta

LAKEFIELD, May 27 (ENS)—Dr. Albert E. Archer, a former president of the Canadian Medical Association, who died at Lamont, Alta., Monday, was a brother of William Archer of Lakefield. He was 70.

He was born at Campbellford, attended school at Port Rowan, and after graduation from St. Catharines Collegiate Institute, he took a teacher training course and taught school for a year near Port Dalhousie.

Dr. Archer was a graduate in medicine of the University of Toronto in 1902, spent a year on the staff of Hamilton city hospital, and moved to Alberta in 1903. He settled in the village of Star in the Lamont area. Forty years ago at Lamont, 40 miles northeast of Edmonton, he founded the hospital at which he died this week. It was the splendid achievement of his life.

In 1905 Dr. Archer married Jessie Walker Valens, formerly of Lucknow, Ont., a graduate nurse of Hamilton City Hospital. He became a fellow of the American College of Surgeons in 1921 and of the Royal College of Surgeons of Canada in 1931. In 1942 he was made a commander of the Order of OBE. Recently he was mentioned as a possible successor to J. C. Brown, Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta, but he let it be known that because of failing health he would not be able to accept the honor.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

GRADUATE OF O.A.C.

A. R. Wilson of Smith township was one of the sixteen graduates of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, this week who have been assigned to the extension service of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, in county agricultural offices.

HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

Y's Men's Club held their annual meeting in the YMCA diningroom Thursday night. Reports from the various committees for the year 1948-49 were given. Meetings are now over until September with the exception of summer project committees.

TWO ARE FINED

Roy Latour, 387A George St. and Thomas Crowe, 51 McDonnel St. were arrested in a George St. restaurant Thursday night and charged with drunkenness. Today they were each fined $10 with $2.50 costs by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, at city police court.

FINES OF $25

Fines of $25 and $2.50 costs were imposed on each of Max Kidd and Herb McIlmoyle, RR 3, Lakefield, at city police court Thursday for attempting to take muskies from the government nets on Lake Katchewanooka. Both men sent written pleas of guilty to Magistrate Philp, KC.

GIFT FROM COUNCIL

In the report of the congratulations and good wishes that were extended to Rev. C. J. Carroll of St. Paul's Church, Norwood, on the 25th anniversary of his ordination, the gift of a silver entree from village council was inadvertently omitted. The presentation was made by Reeve Rork Ferguson at the noon luncheon.

LILACS FADING

The bloom of the white lilac may be amaranthine in the fragrant ads of the magazines, but in real life it goes the way of all mortality. Already, at the foot of the garden their perfume has lost its potency, and the white beauty is turning rusty. About Maytime there is a haunting melancholy for all its music and quickening of the senses.

EXCAVATION COMPLETED

Excavation completed, the building of the new church of the Christian and Missionary Alliance congregation has started. The church is being erected at the corner of Park and Dublin Streets and will be known as the Park St. Alliance Church. At a cost of $21,541.40 the church is being built by Walter Mortlock, contractor.

REFLOORING BRIDGES

The swing bridge across the Trent Canal at Young's Point is being re-floored this week and is expected to be completed either today or Saturday. Traffic is diverted periodically from the Maples corner north along the west side of Lake Katchewanooka into Young's Point. The Locks bridge on Highway No. 7 south of the city has also been re-floored.

York Township Pupils Visit Liftlock

One hundred and twenty-seven pupils of Harwood Public School, York Township, Toronto, were greatly thrilled on Wednesday and Thursday when they had their first glimpse of Peterborough's world-famed Liftlock. They visited the city in chartered buses and spent a very enjoyable time picnicking and seeing other interesting sights Peterborough has to offer.

Eighty children, in charge of three men teachers, came on Wednesday and the remainder on Thursday, the latter group being in charge of Principal V. A. Wilcox and teachers Miss S. A. Vaughan and Miss I. G. Bessey. Last year the children were taken to Midland and the previous year to Niagara Falls.

The pupils had lunch in the park on the shore of Little Lake and supper was served to them by the Women's Auxiliary of St. James' United Church in the Sunday School room.

The children displayed a keen interest in the Liftlock and its workings and one little girl was heard commenting that "it was well worth coming all the way from Toronto to see." Several expressed admiration of the new color scheme recently applied to the lock.

At least one drugstore soda fountain and the hot dog stand near the George St. wharf did a land office business as the youngsters descended upon them, pretty well cleaning out available stocks of hamburgers, hot dogs, soft drinks and bars.

Each member of the whole party was presented with a copy of the Peterborough Examiner's Vacation Edition as a souvenir of their visit to the city by James S. Fraser, manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

Regiment Makes Plans To Attend Camp

Members of the 50th. Heavy Anti-Aircraft Regiment are now looking forward to what promises to be an outstanding summer camp at Picton. Officers of the unit announced yesterday that they are receiving generous co-operation from the various Peterborough industries and stores who have been asked to make it possible for their employees at attend camp.

Only two parades remain, to be held next Tuesday and Thursday nights, before the winter training season ends. The regiment can feel justly proud of the progress made during the past year. In all phases of AA procedure it is fast approaching the state where it can soon be self-administered and trained by its own personnel.

Classes for assistant instructors held last fall have produced some good men. NCO's qualifying courses have been successfully concluded, with some good pass marks, and the work on the instruments and guns has shown gratifying results. Radar, which just a few months ago was an awesome "secret" weapon to most, is now just another one of the fire control instruments to many officers and men.

Officers of the unit feel that a good share of the credit for the fine progress made by the me. should go to the citizens of Peterborough, who have taken a keen interest in their welfare and have thus inspired them to put forth their best efforts. During the coming camp period the men will have an opportunity to put into practise what they have learned during the winter.

Not Student But Star Marries Prince

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, May 26 (AP)—What kind of girl is Prince Aly Khan marrying today?

She is a child of show business. Since she can remember, she has been aimed at stardom. She can't tell you what Disraeli said to Gladstone, but she probably can recite the figures her pictures grossed in Des Moines.

She is not an intellectual, but she has made strides in educating herself. During her marriage to Orson Welles, a friend once observed her reading a volume on geopolitics. She carefully circled the words she didn't understand and wrote the dictionary meanings in the margin.

She is a "Liberal." This also is the Welles' influence. During the marriage she lent her name to several Liberal organizations.

She is not news-conscious, but she knows the value of publicity to her career.

She is a chain smoker, although she smokes little of a cigaret. She drinks only to be sociable.

She is loyal to her co-workers. Whenever they got in trouble with the studio, she tried to take the rap.

She has a sense of humor. Like many show business people, it takes the form of practical jokes.

For an earlier view of Rita Hayworth, I called on Laura Hollinshead-Meyer, principal of her junior high school.

"Rita was one of the kindest, most motherly girls I ever knew.

"As a student? Well, she did the best she could, which wasn't too good."

Miss Meyer admitted she never would have imagined that little Marguerita Cansino would some day marry a Prince.

SALTS' ORIGIN

Epsom salts were so named because they were first manufactured by evaporating the water of the mineral springs at Epsom.

Cheer-Up Campaign

WASHINGTON, May 27—(AP)—A vast anti-depression program reached the final drafting stage Thursday following an official report that the industrial ouptut of the United States has fallen for five straight months. Designed to provide advance safeguards against any sudden country-wide slump, this measure will be introduced shortly by a group of Senate Democrats.

400 Girls of YWCA Classes Take Part In Gym Pageant

Sound healthy bodies, as neatly stream-lined as nature will allow, and easy graceful carriage. These are the desire of every young woman. These are what the health education program of the YWCA gives her an opportunity to attain in the physical fitness program.

More than 400 girls demonstrated what they have accomplished along these lines to a crowd of 1,600 in the Summer Gardens Thursday night. It was the Gymnasium Pageant that has been an annual presentation by Miss Caroline Littlefield, YWCA physical director, for many years.

Miss Littlefield is outstanding among physical directors in that she is also a highly qualified teacher of ballet. While she is justly proud of the work of her gym girls, she loves to see her ballet dancers in action. Each year she writes a new story, makes up choreography to suit and designs the costumes for each number.

This time it was a Sea Ballet with every creature of the sea joining in the fun. Solemn King Neptune in a garment of seaweed green and long flowing hair watched from his throne, with a background of fishes of every color, shape and size.

Little sea gulls from the babies' ballet stole the show from the moment they "soared" into view. All in white, with ruffled feathers (what can't be done with plastic?) on their wings and tails they danced as much to the applause as to the music. Very much pleased with this reception was tiny Joy Ann Russell, just three and a half years old.

Among the mermaids, wind and wave spirits of the senior ballet there were several dancers whose movements were more beautiful to watch. They were without restraint and showed delight in interpreting their parts. Also charming were the lovely sea maidens tossing their big blue bubbles. These girls of the teen age class were in filmy white ballet dresses trimmed with sparkling blue ... they also portrayed ... seaweed maidens ... ing shell tambourines. Costumes for this had a distinctly slithery and ragged appearance.

There were two schools of baby gold fish, solemnly copying their teacher's swimming movements, who were from the tiny tots' gym class. Pink baby sunbeams were from the babies' ballet, and junior gym girls were scarlet lobsters in trick costumes with big claws.

Rah! Rah! Rah! The rugby dance! A new and intricate routine mastered by the senior ballet girls from a pattern learned in New York by Miss Littlefield. The team looked very sports in black with red helmets and shoes, and large red numbers on their backs. Melva Lee Doxsee carried the ball.

A special class of ten senior girls, led by Madge Banks, demonstrated club swinging and went through difficult routine without a hitch. Medau ball movement by the senior business girls was also demonstrated with skill. Circle patterns on the gym floor and massed rhythmic routines are always effective.

Always after these demonstrations of flexibility, one moves stiffly toward a neighbor and says "I must join the gym next year."

The revue was formally opened, after the march past, by massed classes with Miss Littlefield and a tiny tot in the lead, by Mayor Max J. Swanston.

Presentation of flowers and gifts was made to Miss Littlefield and to the gym pianists, Mrs. E. Foster and Mrs. L. Rawson.

Sign Pay Agreement

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP) — The Railway Express Agency and the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks have signed an agreement by which about 50,000 employees get pay boosts of seven cents an hour retroactive to last Oct. 1. This will average about $1.40 an hour and a cut in the work week from 44 to 40 hours will be equivalent to another 10 per cent increase, the agency said.

Backs Magazine Ban

ALBANY, N. Y., May 27 (AP)—New York City's ban against the magazine The Nation in its public schools was upheld today by State Education Commissioner Francis T. Spaulding. The magazine was eliminated from city schools last June 8. The city board of superintendents claimed that a series of articles by Paul Blanshard contained "systematic attacks" on the Roman Catholic Church.

17 Killed By Lava

CALI, Colombia, May 27—(AP)—Seventeen persons were killed by flaming lava when they tried to scale an active volcano, it was learned here today. The group of engineering students led by a professor were on a field trip at Purace, site of the volcano, about 150 miles southwest of Bogota. Continued eruptions have prevented recovery of the bodies.

Merchants Signify Willingness To Back "Come To Britain Week"

More than 25 local merchants have already signified their willingness to co-operate in the "Come to Britain Week" to be proclaimed in Peterborough May 30 to June 4. It has been undertaken to bring to the attention of local residents what Great Britain has to offer tourists.

As a means of publicizing this project city merchants have agreed to feature British goods during the week and also display complimentary window displays. Special posters will be provided for those wishing to make up a window display. They show excellent photographic reproductions of such famous historic buildings as Buckingham Palace, Westminster Abbey, Houses of Parliament, Royal Courts of Justice and St. Paul's Cathedral.

The sporting tourist will also be attracted by the illustrations of hobbies such as golf, hiking, fishing, yachting, motoring and horse racing.

Other posters are attractive snaps of Britain's most well-known scenic locations: Beachy Head, Sussex, Fountains Abbey, Yorkshire, The Gorge and Caves, Somerset, Giant's Causeway and the Round Tower and Abbey, Northern Ireland, and some from Scotland.

Display material will be available from G. M. Hague, travel representative of the British Travel Association who has an ample supply at the Examiner. Three cash prizes will go to the merchants with the most attractive window-dressing display.

June tourists in Britain will find the calendar packed with interesting events. Lovers of concerts, music and drama will be particularly fortunate. There will be the Halle Orchestra at Oxford; London Philharmonic Orchestra and Choir, Royal Albert Hall, Liverpool Philharmonic, Folkstone.

Many Interesting Events

June tourists in Britain will find the calendar packed with interesting events. Lovers of concerts, music and drama will be particularly fortunate with the Halle Orchestra visiting Oxford, Edinburgh, Kirkcaldy, Dundee, Glasgow and Cheltenham; London Philharmonic Orchestra and Choir, Royal Albert Hall; Liverpool Philharmonic Orchestra, Folkestone; Birmingham Symphony Orchestra, Cheltenham Spa; Warwickshire Symphony, Leamington Spa; London Symphony, Folkstone.

Jascha Heifetz will give a violin recital in London; and the first festival performance of "Othello" will be played at the Stratford-on-Avon Memorial Theatre.

For the sporting visitor: motor racing, Spalding professional golf tournament at Worthing, England vs. New Zealand Test Matches. Royal Henley Regatta, Racing, Royal Ascot, Lawn Tennis Championship, Epsom Summer Meeting and the International T. T. Motorcycle races at the Isle of Man.

These and a host of other activities, not to mention the pleasurable pastime of just leisurely sight seeing are available to Peterburians who would like to see the Old Country at the most favorable season of the year.

Peterborough is the second place to stage a "Come to Britain Week". A previous one was held in Lindsay.

British Films Praised

TORONTO, Mey 27 (CP) — British and foreign films are praised and Hollywood's products covertly censured in the annual report of Ontario's Motion Picture Censorship and Theatre Inspection Branch released Thursday.

The report noted that British-made films were "mature in outlook, socially significant and. . . highly entertaining."

British producers had displayed a "sense of responsibility" in producing at considerable cost a great number of short subjects to meet demands for children's entertainment.

Increased popularity of the foreign film was due to the elements of appeal not usually found in Hollywood products. "European dramas are unusually realistic."

The Board of Censors, reviewed a total of 606 motion pictures from the United States, Great Britain and Continental Europe about 25 per cent required "scissoring" before being exhibited. One subject was rejected entirely.

Delete Brutality

"Men being kicked on the head and body and other forms of too realistic brutality, were ordered removed from many feature motion pictures."

Violence appeared to be "running rampant." Men were shown being kicked and beaten into unconsciousness in many of the cheaper grade and gangster-type feature pictures. The Board viewed this trend "with alarm."

Excessive display of fire-arms in newspaper and poster advertising was reduced to a greater extent than ever before and deletions of guns were ordered in several western-type pictures.

Back P.C. Candidate

HULL, Que., May 27—(CP) — The Quebec Union Nationale party will support the Progressive Conservative candidate for Pontiac - Temiscamingue, John M. Argue, of Shawville, Que., in the forthcoming general election. In a statement released Thursday, John Watson, chief organizer for the Union Nationale party in the last provincial election, announced he will direct the organization for the Progressive Conservative party in the riding.

Call Special Session

EDMONTON, May 27—(CP) — Premier Manning said Thursday night that a special session of the Alberta Legislature has been called for July 4 to enact further legislation governing the conservation and pro-ration of natural gas and oil. Other main reason for calling the session, the premier said, is to make legislative provisions for dealing with applications by companies who might wish to export natural gas.

Protests Treatment

WINNIPEG, May 27—(CP) — Norman F. Musgrave, a manufacturer's agent, charged Thursday before a three-man commission investigating complaints against Winnipeg police that he had been held incommunicado for five hours after an automobile accident. Musgrave said he had been denied the privilege of contacting his wife or lawyer and had been kept in a police cell for five hours before receiving needed medical attention.

War-Maimed Child Given New Start by Adoption Plan

By MARIENNE IZSAK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, May 27—(CP)—How would you like to be foster-mother to 60,000 children?

Of course, no one can really be foster-mother to that many children but Mrs. Edna Blue, international chairman of the Foster Parents' Plan for War Children, takes a personal interest in each child. Through her hands pass the files on each one "foster-adopted" by kind Americans and she personally sees as many of them as possible on her trips abroad.

Mrs. Blue first became interested in international social work when she saw pictures of maimed children during the Spanish Civil War.

"Most women—especially mothers—feel their heart contract when they see pictures of crippled children. But not many do anything about it. I decided our own country was all right and we should try to help others," she says.

The Foster Parents' Plan for War Children was first founded in London in 1937 to aid children who were victims of the strife in Spain. However, it soon went out of existence there. It came to life in the United States the following year and now is an entirely American organization.

Mrs. Blue was executive chairman of the organization shortly after its re-establishment in the United States and then, after 1941, international chairman. She has received one of Belgium's highest decorations—the Golden Palms of the Order of the Crown—for her 11 years' social work. Five thousand Belgian children have been aided by the Foster Parents' organization since the outbreak of war.

Direct Personal Interest

Foster Parents does not do mass relief but arranges for the "adoption" of children by American foster parents. They contribute $15 monthly towards the support of the child and correspond regularly with them through the Plan office. The foster parents receives a picture and case history of the child selected for him. Each child is treated as an individual with the idea that he or she will live as nearly a home-like life as possible.

On one trip from abroad, Mrs. Blue wrote:

"There are times when I feel I cannot finish the trip but must return home right away to raise money for these kids. Soon they will have to support themselves—and if they have two arms and legs, even though they are not their own, they feel they can get along."

Through the Plan, a young Italian boy was recently fitted with artificial arms in the United States. Mrs. Blue flew back with the lad and he will demonstrate his ability to use his new arms for others who hope soon to be similarly equipped.

All the Blue family help in welfare work.

Mrs. Blue's son, 24, was with the Office of Strategic Services in China during the war. He helps her with the welfare work in China. Her 22-year-old daughter besides working with her mother teaches veterans to dance. Her husband, who is in the textile business sends the organization samples from which patch quilts and children's clothing can be made. He is also a member of the board of directors of Foster Parents.

Rev. Ivan Morgan Addresses WCTU

With Mrs. Gordon Adams, president, presiding, an inspiring WCTU meeting was held Thursday afternoon in the YWCA green room.

"We Would Be Building" was the timely theme of the opening worship when all repeated the WCTU pledge.

Business session included: Appointment of Miss Margaret Ferguson as local delegate to the Ontario WCTU convention, to be held in Kingston, May 31, June 1 and 2. Reports of the recent county convention held at Plainville when the various representatives brought highlights of the work of their departments. Announcement was made that the June meeting will be held in the form of a picnic at Mrs. A. J. Throop's cottage, Lakefield Park, Thursday, June 23.

A reception service for new members was conducted when Mrs. Malcolm McIntyre was welcomed into the society.

Worship service was carried out on the theme, "Evangelism and Christian Stewardship," which was also the topic of the afternoon address by guest speaker, the Rev. Ivan Morgan. Mrs. W. H. Morton read the scripture, and Miss M. Ferguson offered prayer. "One of God's Days" was the message in song given in duet by Mrs. E. Wood and Mrs. H. Pearson, accompanied by Mrs. J. Ellis.

In his challenging address Mr. Morgan stressed the Christian virtue of forgiveness. Referring to the parable of the unforgiving servant, he urged all to forgive their debtors. "God's forgiveness is conditional upon the way we forgive others, and no one can ever repay God for His forgiveness of us."

Mrs. Adams expressed thanks to the speaker and all who assisted in the program.

Mothers, Teachers Entertained By Central Pupils

Mothers and teachers of the graduation class of Central public school were entertained by the pupils Thursday afternoon in Mr. K. McKee's class room. Tea was served after a well prepared program of music, recitations and folk dancing.

Floral decorations were white and mauve lilacs mixed with sprays of lily of the valley. Art and handicraft designs were displayed throughout the room.

Guests were welcomed by the class president, Helen Wright, who was responsible for the following program: piano selections by Donald Harte-Maxwell, Carol Fausett and Shirley Pritchard, and a guitar solo by Donna Brotherstone. Sybil Andrews entertained with a recitation and Joyce Black danced. Fern VanNest, Dorothy Dawson, and Joyce Black also did a folk dance.

Lunch was prepared by the girls of domestic science room under supervision of Mrs. E. Scott and Miss L. Dewart. Musical recordings were played by Joy Finnie during the tea hour.

Assisting in preparing and serving the tea were Eileen Armstrong, Ruth Searle, Joan Tremaine, Jack Rowley, Delmar Noble, Bill Foster, Bill Guppy and Gordon Gillespie.

Few Lady Golfers Play at Kawartha

A few ardent golfers of the ladies' section, Kawartha Golf Club, were on the course Thursday in spite of the weather, and some were making their first 18-hole round. Mrs. V. Selkirk was in charge of the regular field day competitions.

Low gross winner was Mrs. V. Selkirk and low net winner was Mrs. R. Woodcock.

First round of the spring trophy was played and won by Mrs. Woodcock.

Nine hole players had a tie on hidden holes between Mrs. Wm. Nash and Mrs. Leo Copp, and Mrs. Copp won the draw.

Mrs. Lionel Browne poured tea during a pleasant social hour after games.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

A Sparkling Personality Can Not Be Created

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: What is the best possible way to achieve a sparkling personality? Does it depend on the people you associate with, or the education you have acquired, or both? Can you develop your personality, no matter what your age?

Dorothy Dix

CURIOUS STUDENT

ANSWER: The ability to sparkle is a gift of the gods. It is nothing that you can create for yourself. You can acquire an education. You can polish up your manners. You can learn to walk among other people's peculiarities without stepping on their toes. All of which are desirable accomplishments that make you popular with your fellow travellers. But a sparkling personality cannot be attained. Only Nature can endow you with that.

We see this illustrated all about us. We know plenty of men and women who possess a high degree of intelligence and on whose judgment we rely. They are well-educated, well-read, full of information on almost every subject, but their conversation is as dull as dish water. There is never a glint of humor in it, and turn what they say as you will, it never emits a sparkle.

And, on the other hand, among our most cherished friends are spellbinders who are nothing but sparkle. They are gay and amusing company, though they never say anything worth listening to. They can put a laugh in a dull story, as they can kill the wit in a good one, just by their personality.

Other Virtues

Don't try to be brilliant unless you are sure God made you a diamond. Most women who try to scintillate only achieve being shrewish. But you can develop your personality by acquiring the kindly virtues to which we are all amenable. Cultivate your mind so that you will be interesting to talk to. Use tact in your dealings with everyone. Be gentle. Be courteous. And, above all, be sweet. That is what makes a woman lovely and loved.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a divorcee, just a little over 25 years old. Almost three years ago my husband left me with two children and went to another state where he married a young girl. Since we were divorced he has not bothered me in any way and lately I have heard that he has left his second wife and is contemplating divorcing her.

My problem is: Should I consider dating him again? Should I date other men? Should I tell the gentlemen who ask me for dates that I have been married and have two children and a mother dependent upon me? Or do you think that I should just go with men and have a good time without saying anything about the children? My experience is that when a man finds out that I have been married and have two children, one of them nine years old, he doesn't waste his time on me.

Everything is fine until he finds out about the kids.

What do you think I should do?

H. J. W.

ANSWER: I think you would be worse than foolish if you ever went back to your husband after the way he ditched you, leaving you to support the two children. Evidently he has the marrying complex as he is also about to divorce his Number Two wife. It bodes a woman no good to remarry a man who has the habit of swapping wives.

Whether a grass widow with two children should tell her dates that she has an ex-husband and kids is, of course, her own affair. Certainly it will cramp her style with the boy friends if they knew that she has encumbrances, for few men want to take on a ready-made family in these time. But, on the other hand, it may save you a lot of heartache to be frank and honest about your situation. It is a bitter tragedy to a woman to learn to love a man and then have him forsake her when he finds out that she has children.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Is there any law against selling my baby? Do you know any good, kind people who will take my illegitimate baby and give me a few dollars to get a new start in life? I am sick and penniless and desperate.

A. B. C.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Babies are sold in the black market, I believe, but you need not be driven to such an inhuman act. Go to the Volunteers of America and that noble institution will take care of your poor little unwanted baby.

✧ ✧ ✧

Dorothy Dix cannot reply personally to readers, but will answer problems of general interest through her column.

Aid Nursery Fund Through Tea By Thursday Club

Thursday Club members are highly pleased with results from their afternoon tea and sale of baby's things which is to benefit their Civic Hospital Nursery Fund.

The residence of Mrs. L. D. W. Magee, at 371 Reid St., was setting for the event on Thursday. Mrs. G. S. Cameron, president of the Club, received with the hostess.

Tea was poured by Mrs. F. M. Dela Fosse and Mrs. John Eastwood at a table that was charming with spring flowers from Mrs. Magee's garden arranged as a centrepiece. Among the members assisting to serve were Mrs. J. L. McKelver, Mrs. G. H. Roper, Mrs. H. Eastwood and Miss Margaret Stevenson.

Articles of children's wear made by the Club members as part of their service project were offered for sale by Mrs. T. A. Mackay, Mrs. A. Stratton, Miss Maud Rush and Mrs. Park.

Donations were made at the door for a cake raffle and this was won by Mrs. Hugh Waddell.

Chapter Member Hostess For Lilac Tea

The home of Mrs. F. A. Gray, 218 Aylmer St., was again opened for the annual Lilac Tea of Otonabee Chapter, IODE. Mrs. Gray received a larged crowd of guests, assisted by Mrs. A. McWilliams, regent of the Chapter, Thursday afternoon. The door was opened by Mrs. D. E. Bell.

Lovely flowers in baskets on the verandah defied cold winds to offer a bright welcome. Lily of the valley, colorful tulips and potted African violets in the living room were admired.

A cake was given the Chapter for a draw by Mrs. C. Sherwood and Mrs. R. J. Martin was selling tickets. It was won by Mrs. Lynch of Park St.

Mrs. R. R. Hall and Mrs. W. A. Conner poured tea in the dining room. An all-white bouquet in a heavy cut glass bowl was most effective and featured softly clustered double lilacs with the single variety and spikes of lily of the valley. A handsome white madeira cloth with border of filet net was on the table and the only color accent was in the pale pink tapers.

Mrs. W. Comstock ushered the guests into the dining room and they were served by Mrs. F. Mowry and Mrs. S. A. Archibald. Mrs. S. Mitchell replenished the plates and Mrs. A. E. Dryland made the tea.

Nurse Shortage Said Permanent

QUEBEC, May 27—(CP)—Canadian hospitals are short 8,200 nurses today and the shortage is permanent, not temporary, says a report to the 10th biennial conference of the Canadian Hospital Association here.

The report, made by the association's nursing and nurse education committee, was prepared by Miss Edith G. Young, director of nursing at Ottawa Civic Hospital, and formerly at Peterborough Civic Hospital.

The report said that the nurse shortage situation "will grow progressively worse in spite of the fact that student enrolments have been higher in recent years." The situation was at a point where it was questionable whether luxury private duty nursing in hospitals should continue.

The report adds that it is up to the hospital, medical and nursing professions to inform the public of the present emergency situation and enlist assistance in demanding a national survey of health needs.

"The whole picture forms a vicious circle. Many of the conditions in the hospital cannot be improved until there are enough nurses, and until conditions are improved, graduate and student nurses will continue to leave the hospital," the report said.

Canadian Homes Impress Scottish War Bride's Mother

By HAZEL PAULL

"Peterborough is a very attractive city and I am charmed by it all" was how Mrs. Mary Harrow, on her first visit to Canada from Scotland, to see her daughter, Mrs. Mary Holman, summed up her first impressions of the city.

During the past three years war brides and wartime sweethearts have been migrating to Canada from Britain. They sent home glowing accounts of their new homes and this year hundreds of mothers are crossing 2,000 miles of ocean to see for themselves how their daughters are living in the new land. All the brides are here now and 1949 might well be called Mothers' Year.

This week Mrs. Harrow arrived from Edinburgh, Scotland, to spend the summer with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Holman, R.R. 6 Peterborough. Like many a mother from Britain, she has never before travelled more than four or five hundred miles.

This is a great adventure for Mrs. Harrow, who saw her grandson Sunday for the first time and her daughter after three years' separation.

Mrs. Harrow was still looking around wide-eyed when I asked her Wednesday what she thought of the New World. "The most thrilling spectacle was to see Montreal as we travelled up the St. Lawrence," she said. "I always thought the Clyde surpassed any river scene I would ever see but it was wonderful to see Mount Royal and the tall towers and steeples rising up as we approached the city.

Since Mrs. Holman left Scotland three years ago as an 18-year-old bride, she has helped her husband build their home on the River Rd. and has a son less than two-years-old.

"This is a nicer home than they would have had in Scotland" Mrs Harrow confided as she showed me round the four-roomed bungalow Mrs. Harrow was somewhat alarmed when she first heard of the couple's plans to build their own home. "People do not set to build in Britain as they do here," she said, "and I thought it would be an awful snack."

Mrs. Harrow likes Canadian houses "and they are kept so smart and tidy," she said in her soft Edinburgh accent. She is also fascinated by the stores, particularly the groceterias with the help-yourself service.

Mrs. Harrow also has plans to visit her cousin, Mrs. Jessie Hayworth in Oshawa, whom she has not seen for 26 years.

Nurses To Graduate

COBOURG, May 27—(ENS)—Two Cobourg girls are among the nursing graduates from Toronto hospitals. Helen Booth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Booth, King St., will graduate from Toronto General Hospital this week. Frances O'Connor, daughter of Mrs. L. V. O'Connor and the late Judge O'Connor, will graduate from St. Michael's Hospital.

Social Situations

SITUATION: When taking a trip, your friends ask you to telephone some friends of theirs in a city through which you will pass.

WRONG WAY: Give the people you telephone a chance to invite you to their home for a meal, or an evening's entertainment.

RIGHT WAY: Let them know by your attitude that you do not expect them to entertain you. (The first is really an imposition.)

Labor In US Preparing For 1950 Election Drive

By GEORGE RONALD

WASHINGTON, May 27—(CP)—The country-wide 1950 election campaign already is taking shape. Organized labor in the United States is seeing to that. The American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations are planning a new drive for the kind of legislation the unions want. Their strategy is to elect another Democratic United States Congress, but one which will waste no time writing President Truman's "fair deal" into law.

The present 81st Congress, although dominated by Democrats has made little progress in that direction.

That is why labor is looking ahead 17 months to November, 1950, when a new House of Representatives will be chosen and 32 of the 96 Senate seats will be contested. Truman and his administrators will remain in office until 1952; between 1950 and 1952 the "fair deal" could be made a reality.

Labor Law Impasse

Labor's chief complaint right now is the juggling of Truman's pre-election promise to repeal the Taft-Hartley labor law. This legislation survived a recent onslaught in the House of Representatives and still is on the books.

A new attempt will be launched—perhaps within a month—to replace this law, but the AFL and CIO are not at all pleased about the delay. Nor is Truman himself.

He promised that the Taft-Hartley measure would be killed; he is back in the White House to a large extent because of the backing labor gave him last November; and he intends to carry out that pledge.

Won't Sit Back

But even if the present Congress does come through with a Labor Act acceptable to the unions, the AFL and CIO won't sit back and take it easy. They want action, too, on national health insurance, housing, civil rights.

MILLIONS OF LOGS yearly race down Canadian streams from the forests to the mills. Symbolic of the close relationship to the rayon industry of Canada is this photo by Malak of Ottawa. The ballerina dancing in a mist of pulpwood wears a gown of gossamer rayon whose origin is wood. Through processes wood pulp is transformed to rayon, a material which Canadian mills will produce at the rate of 200 million yards this year.

Buy Powdered Milk

OTTAWA, May 27 — (CP) — The United Nations Appeal for Children Fund Thursday announced that through some new generous donations it will be able to purchase $75,000 worth of powdered milk in Canada for distribution to needy children in war-ravished countries. The purchase will be made on the open market on behalf of the fund by the Canadian Commercial Corporation. Open market prices will be paid.

Senate Asks Inquiry

WASHINGTON, May 27—(AP)—The United States Senate Thursday adopted unanimously a resolution requesting President Truman to direct that the Federal Bureau of Investigation investigate the Victor Reuther shooting case. Reuther, educational director of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) was severely wounded Tuesday night by an assailant who fired a shotgun through a window of Reuther's Detroit home.

Fumes Kill Worker

TORONTO, May 27 — (CP) — James Murphy, an employee at Victory Mills, Ltd., Thursday was asphyxiated by fumes while repairing a big processing tank. Firemen wearing gas masks climbed down 150 feet to the tank bottom to bring him out. Firemen said Murphy's mask probably was defective.

Prepare For Emergency

VANCOUVER, May 27—(CP)—The Vancouver Board of Trade is ready to establish a citizens' committee to meet transportation emergencies in the event of a transit strike. Three thousand transit workers in Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster have voted to strike, demanding a 40-hour week and pay boosts. The present work-week is 46 hours.

Tells Employees To Vote For CCL

PORT COLBORNE, May 27 (CP)—Pat Conroy of Ottawa, secretary of the Canadian Congress of Labor, Thursday night told a meeting of International Nickel Company employees they should vote for the CCL in next week's ballot on union jurisdiction.

Conroy said that a vote for the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers would be a vote for the Communist party; "a vote for an organization outside the pale of organized labor, and a vote against the labor government."

The Ontario Labor Relations Board directed a ballot by the 1,325 local employees of the company after a group of company employees seceded from the IMMSW last year. The vote will be held June 2 and 3. The CCL formed a local and has been campaigning to succeed the smelters union, which it alleges is Communist-dominated.

Conroy declared: "If you want to vote for the workers of Canada, to bring Port Colborne back into the Dominion of Canada, maintain your right to freedom and the privilege of keeping your house in order, you will vote for the Port Colborne Refinery Workers' Union, CCL."

Host To Farmers

GUELPH, May 27—(CP)—Canada for the first time in her history plays host this year to a world farmers' conference. Delegates from some 30 nations will converge on the Ontario Agricultural College here next Tuesday for the third annual conference of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers.

Textile Plants Handle 72% Of Home Market

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Back in 1671 intendant Jean Talon wrote home that he could clothe himself from head to foot in garments made in New France.

That might be called the first boost for the Canadian textile industry.

Intendant Talon referred mainly to wool and furs. It is too bad he can't revisit us to see the host of materials which is the home-grown textile industry of today.

Canadians are sometimes accused of under-estimating their own products and it is doubtful if we fully realize that most of the lovely things we see on display are the products of our own cities, towns and villages.

For gone are the days when the "imported" stamp was the special hallmark of quality, although it does retain some appeal. By and large, however, Canadians clothe themselves in Canadian fabrics.

Takes 70% of Market

The textile industry estimates that in ordinary times it supplies from about 72 per cent of the home market in cottons to almost 100 per cent in other lines. In fact, it estimates that in normal times it can produce just about enough to meet Canadian needs, and that is why it worries about the competition of imports.

It is the special industry of smaller centres. More than 650 primary textile plants—wool, cotton, rayon—employ 96,000 workers, of whom 43,000 are women, in some 200 cities, towns and villages.

More than 200 of the plants are in places with populations of less than 5,000; and 150 in cities between 5,000 and 25,000. In addition to these, of course, are the secondary, or cutting, trades, which make materials into garments.

$94,500 Awarded For Cancer Research

TORONTO, May 27 (CP) — Arthur R. Ford, chairman of the Ontario Cancer Treatment and Research Foundation, announced that a Foundation meeting Thursday awarded $94,500 in grants to laboratory and clinical cancer research.

The successful applicants include 21 doctors and other scientists. Total amounts awarded Universities and hospitals where they work: University of Toronto $67,230; Queen's $4,600; University of Western Ontario $9,230; McMaster University and Royal Botanical Gardens in Hamilton $3,600 Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, $8,300, and Women's College Hospital, Toronto, $1,000.

Mr. Ford pointed out that new investigations are receiving constant attention and said the foundation has spent $370,000 since beginning its cancer - research program in 1944.

$1,500 Minimum Pay

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., May 27—(CP)—The Amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada have agreed at their annual meeting that minimum salary for government employees should be $1,500 a year.

Building Strike Ends In Toronto

TORONTO, May 27 (CP) — The strike of common laborers which tied up millions of dollars worth of construction in Toronto ended late Thursday.

The Hod Carriers and Common Laborers' Union (AFL) went on strike four weeks ago seeking a modified closed shop, under which all non-union members employed by the Toronto Builders Exchange would be compelled to join the union within 30 days. The Builders Exchange, representing contractors, claimed the union did not represent a majority of its employees.

Wages and working conditions were not an issue in the strike which halted construction on the new Hospital for Sick Children and other big projects here.

Settlement was announced by Ontario Labor Minister Daley, with notice that the union will apply to the Ontario Labor Relations Board for certification as bargaining agent. All pickets are to be withdrawn and skeleton crews of building trades workers will be back on the job tomorrow.

If the union succeeds in its application for certification, negotiations will open on a contract between the Exchange and the Union.

Pupils And Parents Visit Capital City

Pupils, parents and friends of No. 3 Douro and No. 12 Otonabee with the arrangement of the teachers Misses Rita and Marguerite Hefferman chartered on May 24 two buses, for a trip to Ottawa.

On arrival at Ottawa, lunch was eaten at Dow's Park, on the lakeshore. The group then visited the Art Gallery and Museum. At 2.30 p.m. they were driven to Parliament Hill where they were guided through Peace Tower, Memorial Chamber, House of Commons and Senate Chambers.

Following the group toured the city under the direction of two from the Tourists' Bureau. Among many of the outstanding points of interest were, Gatineau Hills, Rideau Canal, Lansdowne Park and Exhibition Grounds, the War Memorial, Foreign Embassies, Royal Mint, Rideau Hall, Earnscliffe, Chaudiere Falls, and the E. B. Eddy Paper Mill. The trip through Hull and along the driveway of the Experimental farms and residental section proved most interesting.

On their return journey stops were made at Carleton Place and Madoc for refreshments.

WOMEN ACCLAIM PURE JAM QUALITY, VALUE!

EVERYWHERE, CANADA — Long recognized as keen judges of value, Canadian women have expressed a growing preference for pure jam quality in the increased demand for E. D. Smith's — Canada's most famous brand of pure jams. The consensus seems to be that pure jams, because of their rich fruit flavor, spread more slices per jar, making the few cents extra a good investment in economy as well as flavor enjoyment.

Canadian women are equally as definite in acclaiming Strawberry and Raspberry jams as two of the most popular varieties. E. D. Smith's, however, also offer many other varieties that enjoy wide popularity in many thousands of Canadian homes — such varieties as Pure Cherry, Pure Peach, Pure Plum, Pure Damson, etc.

Nurse Planning To Keep Quiet During Inquiry

WINDSOR, May 27 (CP)—An unidentified engineer today said one of the Metropolitan Hospital nurses told him she was "going to keep her little mouth shut" about Horace Atkin, the hospital's business superintendent.

Mr. Atkin, who resigned pending outcome of the Ontario Royal Commission probe of hospital affairs, has been charged by hospital nurses with trying to date them.

Judge Eric Cross, one-man commission, has been probing hospital affairs following the resignation of Mildred Maybee, former superintendent of nurses, who said she resigned because of lack of discipline at the hospital.

The Commission earlier heard testimony about a party last Feb. 13 at the Detroit Press Photographers' ball when Mr. Atkin, Mayor Arthur Reaume of Windsor and two other business men were alleged to have escorted hospital nurses.

The engineer, who was identified as Mr. A when he asked to remain anonymous, said he met Miss E, a previous witness in the probe into the affairs of the city-owned hospital, a few days before the inquiry opened.

(Under a Royal Commission ruling nurses who testify are identified by letter.)

Judge Albert J. Gordon, chairman of the Hospital Board of Governors, was scheduled to be the first witness today but others were heard when the judge arrived late. Other members of the board are also slated to take the stand today.

Miss E, in her testimony, said Mr. Atkin had tried to date her several times and she refused. She said he tried to get her to go to Mayor Arthur Reaume's cottage and on another occasion go for a week-end trip.

Mr. A said he met the nurse in the dispensary at the hospital about May 1.

"I asked her what was going to come of the investigation," he said.

"She said Mr. Atkin never bothered her and we both smiled at this," he said. "Then she said Mr. Atkin has been a good boss and 'I'm going to keep my little mouth shut.' "

200 Fifty-Cent Pieces Stolen From Home

A red tea can containing $100 in 50-cent pieces was missing from the cellar of Frank Smith's home, 602 Charlotte, when he returned Wednesday after spending the holiday out of town.

Smith has told city police that a cellar window has been broken.

2 Messenger Boys Escape Cellar Blast

TORONTO, May 27 — (CP).—Two messenger boys escaped injury Thursday when a blast in the basement of the drug store in which they were working touched off a two-alarm fire.

The boys groped through dense smoke to safety minutes before flames spread to the staircase, only exit from the cellar.

A score of optometrists, holding a meeting above the West Toronto drug store, fled through smoke-filled corridors to the street before firemen arrived.

Damage to the building is estimated at $8,000.

Few Evictions Expected Under New Law

The number of Peterborough residents who have been given six months' notice to vacate rented accommodation, by virtue of an amendment to the rentals control orders enacted by the Dominion government last November, is not as large as it was at first thought would be the case, Thomas Thompson, local rentals control officer, informed the Examiner today. As far as he knew, Mr. Thompson said, the situation resulting from this relaxation of the controls did not show signs of causing acute hardships locally.

It has been estimated that some 6,000 Canadian families have been told to look for other accommodation since the amendment was passed. It provides relief in cases where a landlord claims that he needs a particular accommodation for his own use. The tenant can stay put if he wishes, in which case the owner must prove to the satisfaction of a county court judge that he is in dire need of the house, flat, etc.

If the judge decides in favour of the landlord, the latter can then institute eviction proceedings in the usual way. A large number of eviction notices have been pouring through the mails since last fall, and the majority of them are falling due next month.

To benefit by the change, the landlord must have owned the accommodation in question on March 1, 1947.

OTTAWA, May 27—(CP)—The Canadian Pacific Railway declared today in a brief submitted to the Royal Commission on Transportation that politics should not enter into railway regulation. The railway's submission was an outline of the material it intends to place before the Commission in its inquiry into national transportation which opens June 1 at Winnipeg.

BOOKS FROM HOLLAND—Children of Holland were so pleased with school supplies sent them by Canadian children they have sent 6,000 copies of a book entitled "Behind the Dunes and Dykes" for distribution in Canadian Schools. Former Prime Minister Mackenzie King is shown accepting a token copy of the book telling of everyday life in the Netherlands from Tina Van Roijen, 13-year-old daughter of the Netherlands ambassador. Seated atop a pile of the books is four-year-old William Van Roijen.

Runnymede Principal Bruce Clarke Resigns

TORONTO, May 27 (CP) — Bruce W. Clark, Principal of suburban Toronto's Runnymede Collegiate for 23 years, resigned Thursday. His resignation was accepted after he declined to reconsider his action.

In 1942, Clark was suspended by the Board of Education for one year for alleged mishandling of school funds. Runnymede students went on strike in protest and he was reinstated following a Board of Reference investigation. At the time the Board termed the suspension "hasty and ill-advised." Students formed a welcoming parade two blocks long on his return.

In 1947, a fist fight broke out at a Better Education Association meeting between rival factors seeking his dismissal.

In a statement, Mr. Clark said he had three reasons for tendering his resignation at this time

"First, superannuation; I am inside the age by several years. Second, when I was dismissed in 1942, I determined to stay afterward until all my pupils had graduated. And, third, and most important, I have always objected to pressure groups in church, school or politics, and I was determined to come back and face out the group that had opposed me."

Freak Accident May Cause Loss Of Sight

PORT DALHOUSIE, May 27 (CP)—A freak accident in his home here Thursday night may cost Bruce Bryson, 11, the sight of his left eye.

The boy was watching his father bore holes in the wall. When Mr. Bryson was removing the brace-and-bit from the wall it slipped, the bit struck the boy's left eye.

Doctors who operated on the lad last night say they fear he may lose the sight of his eye.

Will Be Warmer

WINNIPEG, May 27—(CP) — Fairly general light rains across the northern sections of Alberta and Saskatchewan and over southern Manitoba Wednesday night and Thursday have brightened the outlook of many prairie farmers. With warmer weather forecast for today and more light rain, especially in Alberta, setbacks caused by frost damage in the last few days are expected to be offset soon.

Ontario Leads In Labor Laws

• KAPUSKASING, May 27 (CP) ——Premier Frost said Thursday night in a provincial by-election address in this predominantly trade union town that Ontario "leads the world" in several aspects of labor legislation and social security.

The Premier spoke in support of Marcel Leger, Progressive Conservative candidate in the June 8 by-election in Cochrane North. The seat was made vacant by the death of J. P. H. (Johnny) Carrere, who held it for the Progressive Conservatives.

In his first major political appeal since he was elected Provincial leader last month, Mr. Frost said Ontario need take its hat off to no one for its labor and social security programs.

"I would be the first to admit that much of our present legislation is not perfect," he said. "But at least it is a start and we will amend it progressively as the years progress."

He asked organized labor to call on him at any time and said "my door and my mind are always open to help to adjust any management-labor squabble."

Killed By Freight

OTTAWA, May 27 — (CP) — Peter Huron, 57-year-old railway worker, was killed Thursday when a Canadian National Railways freight train smashed into his track car between here and Arnprior, 32 miles to the west. Huron, a CNR track patrol foreman, was riding the car around a curve when it was hit by the train. It was believed he was trying to back the car to a cut-off when it was struck.

Battles Thugs

WINDSOR, May 27—(CP)—An attempted armed robbery was frustrated Thursday night when the intended victim, William Parker of Detroit, fought the thugs off with a set of car keys.

Mr. Parker told police he had just come out of a house and entered his car when two men jumped in. One drew a revolver and ordered him to drive away, he said.

Sweden Sends Back Refugee Pilot Flew

LONDON, May 27 (Reuters)—The Russian air force plane in which a Russian pilot recently arrived in Sweden to claim asylum as a polifical refugee today was shipped back to Russia, radio Stockholm reported.

The aircraft was shipped on a Russian freighter on demand of the Soviet diplomatic representative in Stockholm, the report said.

It added that the aircraft was despatched at night from the Swedish airfield where it had landed to the port so as not to arouse unnecessary curiosity.

The 27-year-old Russian pilot, whose name has not been disclosed took off from a base in the vicinity of Riga in the Latvian Republic and landed in Sweden May 18. He was interned.

The report said his case is being considered by the Aliens Department which is expected to make a decision next week.

Hold Special Service For Youth Sunday

LONDON, May 27 (CP) — A special service in connection with Empire Youth Sunday will be broadcast to Canada May 29 on the general overseas program, the British Broadcasting Corporation announced today.

The half-hour broadcast, arranged by the youth department of the Free Church Council, will include an address by Sir Donald Finnemore, a vice-president of the Boys' Brigade. It will be heard in Canada at 8.30 p.m. EDT.

OTTAWA, May 27 — (CP) — The number of representatives of British Commonwealth countries in Canada has increased to seven with the announcement that Pakistan has opened an office in Ottawa.

M. O. A. Baig, who represents Pakistan in Washington, is in the capital temporarily until the arrival next month of Mohommed Ali, Pakistan's first high commissioner to Canada.

Kinsmen Club Nominates New Executive

Nominations for the 1949-50 executive of the Peterborough Kinsmen Club at the Thursday night meeting filled the slate but left four senior positions uncontested.

Last day for nominations is June 4, five days before the election June 9 Nominated for President was Harley Weir who is first vice-president in the existing executive. For second vice-president, Clarence Smith, now secretary.

Standing for treasurer is Beacham Boucher who is the present treasurer.

The position of registrar is being contested by Harry Huff and Harry Tewsley. Eight men will be running for the five director posts. They are Clarence Smith, William Roche, Bill Godson, Jack Lewis, Howard Doolittle Wilfred Langan, Dr. Harvey Ball and Harry Tewsley.

George Russell, Oshawa, Deputy Governor of District 8, made an official visit to the Peterborough branch. In a short talk, he advised men nominated for a place on the executive not to back out, but to accept the nomination for the good of Kinsmenship. He also reminded the club of the district convention to be held June 16 to 18 at the Cleveland House, Muskoka.

Delegates appointed to attend the convention are president Stan Gilmore, second vice-president Harley Weir, secretary Clarence Smith and directors Edwin Henwood and Harry Huff.

Last meeting of the season will take the form of a mixed party, Director of the House Committee, Harry Huff, announced. It is scheduled for June 25 at Irwin Inn at Crowe's Landing.

Guests for the evening were Arthur Clark, Grimsby, and George VanKoughnet, Peterborough.

The first complete copy of the English Bible in Braille filled 39 large volumes, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Costs Him Two Years

CALGARY, May 27 — (CP)—Charles Reed of Vancouver, a safecracker who turned to drink after failing to open an office safe, Thursday was sentenced to two years at hard labor on charges of breaking and entering. In an apparent attempt to drown his sorrow over failure to open the safe, Reed drank a 26-ounce bottle of whiskey he found on the premises and also consumed four cans of soup.

Industrialist Striken

MINNEAPOLIS, May 27—(AP) —Viscount Leverhulme, 61, world industrialist, died in a hospital here Thursday night. The Viscount was stricken shortly after boarding a train at Banff Monday night. His condition was such that he was taken to hospital when the train arrived in Minneapolis. The Viscount's Unilever Company controls 516 firms dealing in soaps, oils and margarines in 40 countries.

Penitentiary Term

HAMILTON, May 27—(CP)—Three and a half years in Kingston Penitentiary was imposed this morning by Magistrate Beamer W. Hopkins for a breach of the Narcotics Drug Act on 42-year-old Joseph Connolly, Toronto who will also pay a fine of $500 or remain in custody for an additional six months. He has a record of similar offences.

Drew Challenged To State Grain Policy

STONEWALL, Man., May 27 (CP)—Justice Minister Garson Thursday night challenged George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, to make a flat declaration of his stand on the marketing of western grains.

Addressing a Liberal campaign rally, the Justice Minister accused Mr. Drew of defection from declared party policy on grain marketing as set down at the National Progressive Conservative convention last fall.

Mr. Garson said that Mr. Drew in addresses at Melfort, Sask., and Saskatoon undertook to modify his party's policy, and attempted to "take both sides" in the controversy.

Ford Strike Believed Nearly Over

Negotiators Confer All Night; Argue On Arbitrator

DETROIT, May 28 — (AP)—Negotiators labored today toward a settlement of the Ford strike.

All indications pointed toward an imminent peace in the 23-day "speed-up" fight which has idled 106,000 workers.

Locked in unprecedented night-long negotiations, Ford and the United Auto Workers (CIO) were reported determined on "riding it through" to a finish.

Only a totally unexpected collapse in the talks, both company and union men indicated, would prevent an agreement.

At 6 a.m. (EDT) the group of some 25 negotiators had been in continuous session in a Detroit hotel suite for 8½ hours.

They resumed conferences Friday night after five hours of talks earlier yesterday in two separate sessions.

Selection of the man to arbitrate the "speed-up" issue and a union demand for the reinstatement of 21 discharged or suspended workers were reported the only unsolved matters.

Ford Wants Engineer

Spokesman for both sides said Ford wanted an industrial engineer as arbitrator and the union opposed this.

The union has claimed heretofore that the "human factor" involved in assembly line production rates could not properly be judged by a "technical" expert.

Production rates and manpower on the Ford car assembly lines have been the core of the dispute.

Ford argued at the start that arbitration should deal only with the subject of whether work rates impaired the "health or safety" of employees.

On the other hand, the union said it was a question of whether man to work at a rate above "100 per cent of established standards." The UAW charged the company had done this in violation of an understanding.

Tories Lead In St. John's Four Seats

Elect Independent, Returns To Come For 19 Districts

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., May 28 — (CP)—Four Liberals and one Independent were elected in Newfoundland's first provincial election on the basis of results coming in from Friday's balloting.

The voting was for 27 seats representing 24 electoral districts.

The Independent was Peter Cashin, in Ferryland, finance minister in the last Conservative government in Newfoundland back in the 1930s.

At the same time, Progressive Conservatives were in the lead in the two dual districts, four seats, of St. John's East and Harbor Main-Bell Island.

Critic of Confederation

Mr. Cahin, outspoken critic of confederation, was elected over Liberal and Progressive Conservative opposition.

There was still no count from Newfoundland's third two-seat riding—St. John's West — where Progressive Conservative Leader Harry Mews was a candidate.

At 10:30 a.m., NDT, the popular vote showed the Liberals leading almost two to one. The Liberals had 10,192 in the seven districts heard from and the Progressive Conservatives 5,549.

The Liberals won with large majorities in Harbor Grace and Port de Grace on the east coast and in the central district of Grand Falls. They were ahead in Carbonear-Bay de Verde and Placentia-St. Mary's.

When polls closed Friday night, returning officers were faced with the big task of gathering ballot boxes from more than 1,200 stations, many by means of motorboats.

Just when sufficient returns will be available to name the winner in other ridings is uncertain, but several are expected to be known today.

The whole operation is hampered by the antiquated provisions of a 1913 Election Act, designed for efficient handling of polling in a day when conditions were vastly different in Newfoundland.

The Act states that all ballot boxes must be assembled in any particular district before counting begins. In two or three isolated areas this may take a week. There is no poll-by-poll count—the tally is made on a district basis. Fifty-six candidates entered the fight—27 Liberals, 27 Progressive Conservatives and two Independents.

More than 176,000 persons were eligible to vote and it is believed a high percentage cast ballots. In two referendums last summer, when Newfoundlanders chose Confederation as their future form of government, almost 90

Coffee Can Not Safe

ST. CATHARINES, May 28—(CP)—The traditional coffee can has outgrown its usefulness as a hiding place for money. A Grantham Township resident, Mrs. M. Payne, called in township police Friday night when she returned home to find $18 in silver missing from her kitchen cache. Entry had been gained by forcing a window.

Aged Man Hid $320,000 In Old Boiler

MONTREAL, May 28 (CP).—The story of a fortune of $320,000 hidden in a rusty hot water boiler by an aged man, came to light to-day, just a month after his death.

The money was mostly in small bills.

Revelation of the fortune, now deposited in a bank by the man's niece, was another strange aspect to the life of a strange, miserly man.

Joseph Napoleon Belanger was often seen on the streets of Montreal wearing old, shabby clothes, his shoes laced with wrapping string. He was known to many persons only as "Hot Dog," because he was always eating them.

Belanger died April 29 from burns suffered when a two-storey shed collapsed on him at the rear of his home on Hutchison Street. He insisted on repairing the shed himself to save money.

Property Worth $150,000

Last October Belanger and his 35-year-old niece, Miss Alice Belanger, were nearly asphyxiated by gas fumes from a stove in their home. They both recovered after a long stay in hospital.

The niece said that in addition to the money found, it now is known her uncle had property valued at possibly more than $150,000.

Belanger was said by acquaintances to have been a veritable pinch-penny, saving every bit of change he could get his hands on.

The cellar boiler was largely made up of bills ranging up to some of $100 denomination.

Belanger was formerly an employee of the Canadian Pacific Railway. He was born in St. Pie De Bagot, St. Hyacinthe, 64 years ago. Until he became engineer on freight trains and in his later years before retirement he was engineer of yard engines in the Outremont Yards at Montreal.

Warns Berlin Rail Strike May Have To Go Before Big Four Foreign Ministers

People of German Capital Beginning To Get Blockade Jitters; Reds Want Air Corridor Narrowed

BERLIN, May 28—(AP)—United States spokesmen said today Berlin's paralyzing railway strike, which has become involved in the cold war, may have to be settled at higher government levels by the Four Powers. If there is no settlement in the next few days, it may have to go up to the government level," said James W. Riddleberger, the United States state department's chief adviser in Germany. "The Paris conference can, of course, step in any time and take action."

C. A. Dix, American transport expert, said so many questions of high policy have crept into the picture that neither the Russian nor Western officials here can take a positive stand. The Russians especially "bump up against their higher policy all the time," Dix said.

The people of Berlin, pinched by the week-old strike and recognizing its place in cold war manoeuvering, are getting blockade jitters.

Called by West Berlin anti-Communist railway workers against their Russian bosses, the strike has been described by the western allies as justified.

Today, however, Brig.-Gen. Frank S. Howley, United States commander in the American sector of Berlin, charged that the Communists wanted this situation to develop. He claimed they hoped it would help Russian negotiations in the big four meetings at Paris which seek to settle the entire German problem.

Same Idea

The Russians have contended that the western powers are backing the strikers, with the same idea.

The Russians came up with a new angle Friday night, warning the western allies to narrow one of their air lift corridors to Berlin because Soviet gunners would start air-to-ground target practice today in that area.

American and British authorities said they would not change the corridors, because it would hamper the lift which the strike has made the chief supply line to this beleaguered city.

West Ministers Prepare Plan For Germany

PARIS, May 28—(AP) — The three western foreign ministers participating in Big Four conferences in Germany left this morning in an unheralded session at the French foreign office.

The meeting of Ernest Bevin of Britain, Dean Acheson of the United States and Robert Schuman of France had been in session for an hour before the foreign office confirmed that it was in progress.

It was considered likely the western ministers were putting final touches on their own proposals to be brought before the four-power meeting.

An informed source said Friday night the western plan was to be laid before Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky of Russia today. This was not officially confirmed.

Basic idea of the western plan is to extend over all of Germany the governmental system now in force in the western zones.

The Russians have given no indication that they would find the western model acceptable. Vishinsky has proposed instead that the old Allied control council be re-established and that, under it, a new German agency be created to handle subjects passed on to it by the four powers—if they could agree on any.

British sources said the western ministers also are discussing Berlin's latest situation, resulting from a strike of German railmen employed by Soviet-appointed authorities which began a week ago.

In proposing restoration of four-power control Vishinsky has insisted upon the principle of unanimity (the veto) in the control body. He did not use the word veto.

Transport Dept. Official Dies

OTTAWA, May 28 (CP)—Finlay Malcolm Maclellan, 62, assistant deputy minister and comptroller of transport, died in hospital today, after undergoing a surgical operation.

Mr. Maclennan had been ill for only a short while. His death ends a government career that started in 1910 when he first became associated with rail and ship transportation developments that have marked Canada's growth during the last 39 years.

Native of Port Finlay, Ont., Mr. Maclennan was associated with the development of the Hudson's Bay railway, the Welland ship canal, the completion of the national trans-continental railway and the building of the Quebec bride in 1915.

He helped in the reconstruction of railway facilities following the devastating Halifax explosion in 1917; became identified with Grand Trunk receiverships when the eastern Canada network of railways failed to pay their way and were taken over by the Federal government, later to become the C.N.R.

Four Men Are Injured In Crash Near Fenella

COBOURG, May 28 —(ENS)—Four Akron, Ohio motorists were taken to Cobourg hospital yesterday after their car went into the ditch near Fenella on Highway No. 45. According to police the car, driven by Wilbur Brown of Akron went out of control on a curve and rolled over into the ditch. Brown, D A. Cardwell, G. A. Feltar and A H. Nelson were taken to the hospital. Nelson sustained back injuries while the others received cuts and bruises. All but Nelson were released from hospital soon afterward.

Order Dockers To Cease Strike

BRISTOL, England, May 28 — (CP)—Dock-union leaders ordered stevedores today to end a 10-day strike that has blocked the unloading of food ships in four British ports.

The order came after one group of striking dockers themselves appealed for government intervention to end the deadlock.

Strikers at Bristol said they would ask the Ministry of Labor to send troops to unload a Canadian ship around which the dispute centres. Troops were called Friday to unload a banana boat at Avonmouth.

The strike began at Avonmouth when dockers refused to unload Canadian ships involved in a strike of Canadian Seamen's Union (T.L.C.) members.

Port authorities suspended 150 stevedores and refused to order other ships unloaded until the Canadian ships were cleared. The stoppage later spread to Portishead, Bristol and Liverpool.

TLC Heads May Suspend Canadian Seamen's Union

OTTAWA, May 28—(CP)—Suspension of the Red-influenced Canadian Seamen's Union was reported under consideration by the executive of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada Friday as it sought a solution to the T.L.C.'s internal split over Communism in its ranks. But at the end of the second day of closed meetings on the explosive problem, the Congress chiefs gave no official indication of what moves they might propose to heal the breach that has divided the T.L.C. membership down the middle for almost a year.

The meeting of the six executive council members adjourned until Saturday, and Congress sources said they expected then a decision one way or the other on the fate of the stormy Seamen's Union, centre of the hot fight over Communism in the 400,000-man Congress.

Suspension of the C.S.U. would be a sharp reversal of the policy of the Congress executive, and it also would represent a major victory for the militant anti-Red stand of a group of Canadian heads of international unions in the Congress led by Frank Hall of Montreal.

Have A.F.L. Backing

Mr. Hall and his supporters have been pressing the Congress to throw out Reds—particularly the C.S.U.—and they have the backing of the American Federation of Labor, the T.L.C.'s counterpart in the United States.

Union sources said it was more likely that this meeting—attended by TLC executive members and some of the Hall group—had made it evident some of the international unions individually would exert pressure on the TLC to turn against the CSU.

Aim of Mr. Hall and his group is to have the CSU replaced by the right-wing Seafarers' International Union (AFL), now engaged with the CSU in a British struggle for mastery in Canada's deep-sea shipping on the east coast.

Shanghai Crawling Back To Normal After Siege

SHANGHAI May 28 —(AP)—This largest city under Chinese Communist rule was returning to normal today after the long siege and disruption of its economic life. But the complex problems attendant to the running of a metropolis of 6,000,000 persons already were beginning to be felt.

Communist officials have not set the rates for their new currency. Consequently, merchants who are rapidly reopening their places of business won't take the old Nationalist currency, which was afloat in great volume before the Communists took the city.

The open-money market already was dealing in Communist money along with Chinese silver dollars and United States currency. These three are all merchants will accept.

The Nanking-Shanghai railroad is ready to resume regular service. Newspapers say, however, that there is only a 10-day supply of coal.

Another problem is shipping, without which Shanghai cannot live. Most of the ships still along the miles of Shanghai wharves were those sunk by the Nationalists before they fled the city. The rest departed with the government.

Chinese Communist administrators came on the heels of the conquering army. These civil officials wear the same olive green uniforms of the soldiers.

The traffic jam a tremendous snarl without which the city seems almost naked, is back again as exasperating as ever.

Feared Victims Of Volcano

BOGOTA, Colombia, May 28—(Reuters) — Seventeen students today were feared buried in burning lava below the 15,240-foot Puraco Volcano, 25 miles east of Popayan, in the southwestern corner of Colombia.

Nine unidentified bodies have been found, according to newspaper reports reaching here from Popayan. Two of the party of 19 were found alive, though injured, in a cave which had protected them from the burning lava.

The students, aged from 15 to 19, had set out on their expedition Thursday without fear since the volcano had been inactive for the last 16 years. The eruption from the great peak caught them by surprise.

Three Canadians Held By U.S.

SYRACUSE, NY, May 28. (AP) — Three Canadians, who police say admit being ex-convicts, are being held for United States Immigration authorities after they were taken into custody Friday.

Detective-Sgt. Arthur Casey identified the trio as: Alexander MacDonald, 30, Alfred Goldfinch, 28, and Harry Deakins, 31, all of Toronto.

Casey said the three were taken into custody in a downtown hotel after a delegate to a Knights of Columbus convention reported the theft of $165 from his hotel room. Casey said no evidence was found to connect the trio with the theft.

Samuel E. Lyons, officer in charge of the United States immigration office here, said warrants would be requested from the Buffalo headquarters charging all with illegal entry into the United States.

Lyons said their failure to declared felony records when entering the United States could constitute illegal entry.

In addition, Lyons said, a felony charge may be pressed against Goldfinch here. He has previously been deported from the United States.

Dairy Helper Crushed By 700 Lbs. Of Butter

OTTAWA, May 28 —(CP) — John Ball, 49-year-old dairy employee, was crushed to death early today when a 700-pound case of butter toppled over him in a manually-run elevator cage.

Ball had loaded the butter onto a wagon on the second floor of the dairy and was descending to the first in the elevator when the heavy load apparently became unbalanced, toppled over and pinned him to the cage wall.

He was discovered by another employee when the 700 pounds of butter failed to show up. Fire axes were used for almost an hour to cut a hole into the elevator cage which had stopped midway between the second and first floor.

Police said an inquest will be held.

13 Move Back After Eviction

TORONTO, May 28 (CP) — Thirteen persons were evicted Friday from an apartment house in suburban Mimico—but they moved right back into the building.

Sheriff's officers spent three hours carrying out furniture, then went to supper. On their return they found about 25 persons had moved all the furniture back into the apartment. The officers threw up their hands and left in disgust.

Mayor A. D. Norris said the three families concerned had known since January that they would have to move. He said that for the last two months, no rent had been accepted.

The three families are Mr. and Mrs. Clare Colbary and their three children; Mr. and Mrs. John Presley and their two children; and Mr. and Mrs. H. Goodwin and their two children.

British Housing Situation Still Acute; Begin Survey

LONDON, May 28 (CP) — Demand for housing in Britain remains so acute that there has been little opportunity to vary the basic austerity building program.

The post-war target of 750,000 new homes was passed in September without clearing the long lists of applicants maintained by building authorities. A detailed survey now is in progress to determine how accurately the lists reflect the country's need.

Health Minister Bevan, who is responsible for housing, told the House of Commons recently that demand is sustained by three factors:

1. People are getting married at lower wages than formerly.

2. "A very large number of people are now on housing lists who before the war could not afford to pay rent for new houses and did not apply."

3. A much larger number of old people continue to live in their own homes.

Bevan told the Commons it had been necessary to concentrate on three-bedroom houses. Demand for this type of average family dwelling will have to be met before the authorities can adopt more ambitious plans of varied architecture which would lead away from the "one class" street, home improvement and slum clearance.

Fugitive Eisler Is In Hiding

LONDON, May 28 (AP)—Bail-jumping Gerhart Eisler, Communist fugitive from the United States was in hiding today to be "safe from Americans," he said.

Eisler was freed Friday by a Bow Street Court Magistrate in extradition proceedings instituted by the United States.

Meanwhile in Washington, Attorney-General Tom Clark said his office would "exert every effort to secure the return of the fugitive" and would not give up efforts to get him back."

"I expected it," Eisler said in a press interview. "I expect every dirty trick from them—the House Un-American Activities Committee and the Justice Department."

Held After Shooting In Beverage Room

TORONTO, May 28 —(CP) — Bertram Hawkins, 22, of Toronto, today was charged with attempted murder as a result of a shooting in a midtown beverage room Friday night. He also faces charges of theft and receiving a stolen weapon, carrying a concealed weapon and discharging a firearm.

Police said Hawkins and Harry Tilly, 25, were talking in the tavern when Hawkins pulled a gun. Tilly pushed his hand down and the bullet went into the floor.

Hawkins fled but was captured later when police searched several nearby houses. They found two guns on the lawn, one of which was allegedly stolen.

CCF Will Not Join Coalition Says Coldwell

By Canadian Press Staff Writer.

M. J. Coldwell, CCF Leader, has made it clear that his party is opposed to coalition with either the Liberals or the Progressive Conservatives after Canada's June 27 general election.

He told a political rally last night in Hamilton that there will be "no compromise, no coalition" in the new House of Commons so far as the CCF is concerned, whatever the outcome of the election.

As the national campaign rolled to the end of its third week, Prime Minister St. Laurent rested in Ottawa after a 17-day sweep across Eastern Canada. George Drew, Progressive Conservative Leader, completed a five-day tour across the Prairies and prepared to move into British Columbia.

While Mr. Coldwell was declaring "no coalition" at Hamilton, Mr. Drew told a party meeting in the Central Alberta town of Lacombe that the CCF was ready to support the Liberals in the new Commons because they wanted to continue the trend towards centralization.

He argued that the only way to prevent the advance of Socialism in Canada was to vote for the Progressive Conservatives. They alone could form a government and "stem the tide of state control."

Vote For Socialism

A vote for the Liberals would be a vote for Socialism because the Liberals, to form a government, would have to rely on support from the CCF. The CCF was ready to give that support, Mr. Drew added.

Mr. Coldwell said at Hamilton that his party did not have to enter into a coalition because it was responsible to none but "the people who elect us to Parliament." The Liberals and the Progressive Conservatives were responsible to "big business interests" which contributed to their campaign funds. He predicted the CCF Party will be subjected to a "smear" campaign soon, but said it had no fear of that type of attack.

While national leaders sparred in the hustings, a 74-year-old veteran of Canada's political battles appeared before a Liberal nominating convention at Glengarry, Ont., and told the delegates that only his years and ill-health were keeping him out of the campaign.

He was Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King, former Prime Minister. He turned down a courtesy nomination from the Glengarry Liberals who elected him to Parliament in 1945 and the convention selected W. J. Major, North Lancaster, as Liberal candidate.

Woman Injured In Car Crash

MARMORA, May 28 (ENS)—Injured when her car smashed into a school bus two and a half miles north of here late Friday afternoon, Mrs. Frank Leal, Marmora, was taken to Belleville General Hospital by Dr. W. J. Donevan for treatment.

The bus, driven by Charles Archer, was returning from its afternoon trip and there were no children aboard. Damage was heavy to both vehicles.

Provincial Constables J. Hatch and T. Lummiss, Madoc, investigated.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, May 28—(CP) — Coarse grains continued to move narrowly in dull trade on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday, but prices showed a firm trend. Dealings in oats were light with occasional buying appearing from American accounts. Offerings were on a fair scale. Exporters were buyers of barley, along with United States houses. Offerings were fair but well taken.

Rye trade also was thin, with occasional buying for American accounts.

No export allocations were made to the United Kingdom, but Belgium was credited with taking 370,000 bushels of Canadian wheat, while Switzerland also took 220,000 bushels. Reports indicated that Norway had completed a barley deal with Canada, probably a continuation of yesterday's business.

Cloudiness was variable during the night with isolated shower activity reported by a number of localities. Continued cool weather is forecast for Saturday with scattered showers in eastern and northern regions. Little change is expected for Sunday, though an active disturbance now moving northward through the Maritimes will likely give more frequent showers in northern sections of the province, and a weak disturbance moving southeastward from the prairies may bring showers to southwestern Ontario by evening.

Forecasts:

Lake Erie, Lake Huron, Western Lake Ontario, Niagara and Southwestern Georgian Bay regions: Variable cloudiness today and Sunday. Scattered showers Sunday evening. Continuing cool. Winds light today, west 15 Sunday. Low tonight and high Sunday at St. Catharines 40, 60; St. Thomas 38, 62; Wingham 36, 40.

Summary for Sunday: Variable cloudiness, evening showers.

Summary for Sunday: Variable cloudiness, cool.

Says Eastern Ontario Needs New Industries

OTTAWA, May 28 — (CP) — W. J. Cairns, secretary-treasurer of the Ottawa Board of Trade, said yesterday there was too much time spent constructing industries in Western Ontario. Eastern Ontario was clamoring for more industries.

He was certain, he said in an interview, that the Ontario Department of Planning and Development now was convinced of this. There had to be a change in thinking in Ontario for industrial development.

Eastern Ontario boards of trade have been busy establishing contacts for new developments, he said. Both the CPR and CNR have been approached, as well as the Ontario Planning Department and the federal trade department.

In particular, Pembroke, Renfrew and Arnprior were interested in bringing new enterprises into their midst. Interest has become wider, Mr. Cairns said, because Brockville and Smiths Falls, two Eastern Ontario communities, obtained new industries last year.

Remanded To Monday On Assault Charge

COBOURG, May 28 (ENS) — Harry Goodell and Harry Ketchum, charged respectively with assault and with having stolen tools, were remanded until Monday when they appeared in police court Friday.

Goodell was charged with having stolen tools, later found in his possession, on April 30 in Percy Township, the property of Daniel Veliers. Ketchum was charged with assaulting Provincial Constable D. W. Coffey of Peterborough on the same date.

The court was informed that additional charges would be tried in Peterborough.

Minister Read Out Of Church

EDINBURGH, May 28 (CP)— Rev. Sir George MacLeod, leader of a romantic religious community on Iona, a tiny island off Scotland's west coast, Friday was read out of the Church of Scotland.

At a solemn trial in its timbered meeting hall, the church's General Assembly ruled that the island is outside its jurisdiction and Sir George is ineligible to hold office in the Church of Scotland.

Sir George is well-known in Canada. As a young man out of theological seminary he worked as a missionary in British Columbia lumber camps. Recently he toured the Dominion to explain the aims of the Iona community.

Sir George left his Glasgow parish of Gavon shortly before the Second World War to revive the ancient religious community of Iona as an experiment seeking a new approach to contemporary problems.

The community, composed of theological students, factory workers and clerks, live simply in wooden huts. They receive training for work in populous parishes and new housing developments.

Northland Railway Will Use Diesels

TIMMINS, May 28. (CP) — Diesel engines are soon to be introduced into service on the Ontario Northland Railway, Premier Leslie M. Frost said Friday. The premier said he may make another trip to Cochrane soon on a train making the trial run over the ONR lines with the diesels.

Mr. Frost said he had been advised by the railway management that a trial run was planned for some time soon, probably June, and that representative citizens of the area served by the ONR and government officials might be invited to be passengers on the train.

It has been known for some time that the introduction of diesels was under consideration, but this is the first definite intimation that action may be expected soon. It has been suggested that the use of diesels in yards would eliminate the smoke and noise nuisance in the communities concerned. Timmins is one municipality in which this matter has been raised.

James H. Gooderich Dies In Castleton

WARKWORTH, May 28 (ENS) —The man who brought electricity into Warkworth 40 years ago, James H. Goderich, 87, died in Castleton at the home of his nephew, Fred Gooderich whom he had gone to visit a week before his death.

The funeral service was held at the home of Fred Gooderich.

Mr. Gooderich was predeceased by his wife a few years ago. He had been married twice. His only son, Leo, died some years previously.

Mr. Gooderich was a life-long resident of Warkworth He was one of the first to own an automobile in the village.

Two Hold-Ups Foiled

TORONTO, May 28 — (CP)— Two armed robberies were foiled Friday when the intended victims grappled withe the bandits. 18 Normalites Get Out On Season's Work

Eighteen students of the Peterborough Normal School were told in a brief ceremony Friday afternoon that their work at Normal is over and they will be recommended for the First Class Interim Certificate. Approximately 50 students must remain for examinations which will be held next week. Some students have only one or two examinations to write while others have to write more.

The Ven. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson, St. John's Anglican Church, and the Rev. James Semple of George St. United Church presented religious guidance certificates to the students.

Shirley Palmer delivered the valedictory address. Those students who do not have to write examinations are Joyce Abernethy, Florence Bate, Marion Brown, Marion Gaebel, Ruth Hircock, Matthew Hutchison, Vevey Jameson, Margaret Kelly, Shirley Palmer, Margery Pearse, Nan Pitchford, Irene Sidey, Donald Torney, Jean Turner, Grace Webber, Vivian Welburn, Nancy Wilkinson and Marion Sloan.

Examinations written next week will be marked in Toronto.

Only 15 of the 86 students attending the Normal School have yet to make contracts for schools. Most of the 15 are making arrangements but have still to sign a contract. Those who have schools are: Joyce Abernethey, SS No. 7, East Oakwood; John Armstrong, Galt; Ruth Avery, Hamilton; Florence Bate, Ontario School for the Deaf, Belleville; William Batten, SS No. 6, Dummer; Marion Bayne, Brantford Public School; John Bleecker, Bancroft Public School; Gwendolyn Brady, Napanee; Marion Brown, Peterborough Public Schools; Betty Burley, Pelham Township; Evelyn Bushey, Garden Hill; Melba Cainan, Mount Zion School; Kenneth Carleton, SS No. 1, Janetville, Marilyn Cavano, SS No. 15 Bethany; Mary Copp, SS No. 5, Fenelon; Collen Craig, Brighton; Margaret Creasy, SS No. 1, Athol; Katherine Crocker SS No. 5, Dummer; Leafa Drew, SS No. 3, Thurlow; Norris Drew, SS No. 7, Thurlow township; Edward Evans, Yarker Public School; Mona Ferguson, SS No. 19, Darlington; Marion Baebel, O.S.D. Farmers Could Solve Problems Faster, Claim

LONDON, Ont., May 28 (CP). —Representing nearly 20 countries, more than 100 members of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers arrived in London Friday after a whirlwind tour of Western Ontario's rich farming areas.

To-day they are off again, visiting points of agricultural interest in Middlesex, Oxford and Brant Counties, then touring the Niagara Peninsula before returning Sunday night to the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, where their third annual conference opens next Tuesday.

Climax to Friday's tour was an evening banquet here. The City of London and County of Middlesex were joint hosts, and Sir James Turner, internationally famous British farmer and IFAP president, gave the principal address.

"If a lot of the world's problems were left to farmers to solve, they would be settled much more quickly," declared Sir James.

Often farmers are said to have but one comomn bond—"talking shop," he observed.

"But there is another, and that is the belief that land should be cherished, and passed along to the next generation, not in the same condition as they find it, or worse, but better. That is the real challenge to the agricultural community."

PROCLAMATION

"Visit Britain Week"

In order to express our sincere good wishes to the people of Britain,
I PROCLAIM that the week May 30th to June 4th, 1949, be known as

Miller Play Is Outstanding

By PAT USSHER

NEW YORK, May 28 (CP). — The Manhattan theatre season of 1948-1949 closes next week with Arthur Miller's magnificent drama of a frustrated salesman as its outstanding achievement.

"Death of a Salesman," the sombre story of one of the "little men" of business who found he could not go on, well deserved the honors heaped upon it, including a Pulitzer Prize and the Critics' Circle Award as the season's best play.

Memorable also among the productions of the last 12 months were two fine musicals. "South Pacific," with the superb voice of Ezio Pinza, and "Miss Me Kate," a sprightly tale based in part on Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew."

Among the really worth while things in the season about to end were "The Madwoman of Chaillot," with Martita Hunt; "Anne of the Thousand Days" with Red Harrison as Henry VIII and Joyce Redman as the unfortunate Anne Boleyn; and the performances of Robert Morley and Peggy Ashcroft in "Edward, My Son."

French plays were prominent in the season's varied fare. An adaptation of Jean-Paul Sartre's "Red Gloves" had a lengthy run with Charles Boyer in the leading role.

The revivals included Mae Wests's triumph in "Diamond Lil." It seemed all set for a good run when Miss West suffered an ankle injury which made it necessary to suspend the production.

LOOKING OVER THE LAYOUT of the 20 houses Sands & Bateman began this week in their Parkdale subdivision east of Nichols Oval are, left to right: Max Lloyd, Arnold Steele, who has the Parkdale contract; James Fitzgerald, Mayor M. J. Swanston; Lorne Bateman; Stan MacLeod and Ald. Doug Miller. Excavation of cellars on Snelgrove Road was the initial stage of the project this week. Mr. Lloyd and Mr. Fitzgerald are two of the Steele builders, and Mr. MacLeod is on the staff of Sands & Bateman. The Parkdale property, on the south side of Parkhill Road, was bought from Curtis Brothers, for a subdivision of 76 dwellings. The first 20 will be erected this summer.

Fraserville News

Mrs. E. Johnson of Peterborough was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Pue over the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Clarke of Millbank are visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. Clarke.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Ross and daughter spent the holiday week-end with Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Lobb of Fraserville.

Fraserville residents attending the play "Home Ties" presented by St. James' Church at Springville on Friday included Mr. and Mrs. F. Lockey and son Earl, Earl Ward, Mrs. H Moon, Mrs. V. Colon and daughter Viola, Miss Olive Moncrief, Mrs. A. Hewitt and Mrs. L. Hewitt and son Herbie.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Hewitt included Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hewitt of Eagle Lake, Miss Waneta Stamp and Lawrence Hogg of Minden.

Plan To Build $45,000 School In Bridgenorth

Ratepayers of S.S. 5, Smith Twp., on Thursday night voted 47 to 10 in favor of building a new Public School on the east side of the Selwyn Road, just outside of Bridgenorth. The estimated cost is $45,000 and this must still be approved in a money bylaw.

The passing of the bylaw by the Smith Council is regarded as a mere formality.

Built in the centre of the district, the school will have two rooms accommodating up to 90 pupils. An auditorium is to be constructed in the basement.

The old school was built in 1876 for $850 and trustees and ratepayers felt it had outlived its usefulness. Most of those present supported the view it was not good business spending $20,000 on an addition to the old building and voted for the new one.

School Overcrowded

There are now 68 pupils in the school section and approximately 25 of these have to take their schooling in the basement of the Bridgenorth United Church because of overcrowded conditions.

Other factors which weighed in favor of the new school were: a two-acre lot permitting two additions to be added quite easily and a possible four if necessary; the extra size of the lot giving the children a sufficiently-large playground; and the superior lighting and ventilation of the new building.

Location of the new school was decided on after a vote. The majority felt it should be erected in the central portion of the school section and in an area of growing population. Both of these conditions, they felt, were satisfied in their choice of the lot on the Albert Nicholls property.

In the immediate area of the new school more than half a dozen new homes are under construction and should be ready for habitation by winter. Within the year this number should be more than doubled.

Another suggested location was opposite the Pines Pavilion on the highway, but as the site was on a hill and near the heavy traffic of the highway it was considered less safe than the one chosen.

Work will commence as soon as the money bylaw is passed. The architects will be Blackwell and Craig. The province is expected to grant a 45 per cent subsidy on the building.

Trustees are Don McKay, chairman; Ray Harding, secretary, and Cliff Hartman.

Changes Announced In Top Naval Posts

OTTAWA, May 28 — (CP) — Shifts in three top naval posts were announced Friday by Naval Headquarters, including a move that sends Commodore Horatio Nelson Lay to Washington as the Canadian naval attache and naval member of the Canadian Joint Staff.

Commodore Lay, 46, was commander of the Canadian destroyer Restigouche when it took part in the Dunkirk evacuation in 1940.

He now is Assistant Chief of Naval Staff for Plans and Air. His air service duties will be taken over immediately by Captain Charles N. Lentaigne, Director of Naval Aviation, while Commodore Roger E. S. Bidwell becomes Assistant Chief of Naval Staff for Plans when Commodore Lay goes to Washington July 15.

In Washington, he succeeds Commodore V. S. Godfrey, previously appointed Commodore Newfoundland.

Better yet, call the Beaver Lumber Co. about a brand-new roof! Catching drips that seep through a worn, old roof does not stave off home damage and costly repair bills . . . and doesn't add to home comfort, either. Call us about that new roof this week.

You will be amazed at the low cost of re-roofing with either B.C. Red Cedar Shingles or Asphalt Shingles.

SATURDAY, MAY 28, 1949

Mr. Coldwell's Platform

On the 13th of May we outlined briefly the platforms of the Progressive Conservative and Liberal parties, but said nothing about the C.C.F., which at that time had not declared itself. It is now clear that the C.C.F. will offer no new inducements to electors; its program, as before, is one of moderate socialism. And its principal asset, as before, is the personality of its leader, Mr. M. J. Coldwell. He is an extremely able speaker and debater; he is not, like some of his followers, a narrow doctrinaire or a rabble-rouser; he is, within the framework of socialist thought, a realist. It is safe to say that without Mr. Coldwell's able leadership the C.C.F., composed as it is of groups which have little natural affinity, would have gone to pieces long ago. As it is, the party enjoys a considerable measure of influence.

• • •

Mr. Coldwell, in his campaign speeches, has been holding up Great Britain as an example of a socialist state. His hearers may make of this what they will, for Britain has not been, since the war, a state in which any party government could have a free hand; what Labour has done is, in a great measure, what the Conservatives or Liberals might have done. As for the particular socialist moves in Britain, the best that can be said is that some of them have succeeded, and some have not. Leaving Great Britain out of it, we may dispute Mr. Coldwell's assumption that Saskatchewan is the best-governed province in Canada; we should need a lot of convincing on that score.

• • •

The C.C.F. is promising subsidized housing, a better national health plan, better old age pensions, a renewal of wartime controls on trade and the return of the excess profits tax. These promises are directed at a group which Mr. Coldwell calls "the workers"—meaning manual workers. This attempt to suggest that some people in Canada are "workers" and that the remainder are drones is, we are sure, bound to fail; the leisure class in this country is infinitesimally small; we are all workers here, in one way or another.

• • •

Mr. Coldwell has stressed in his speeches that the benefits he offers will have to be paid for, but he tells his hearers that the paying will have to be done by those who have money. This line of reasoning will not succeed with anyone who has examined, even superficially, the reports on Income Tax in this country. The bulk of Canadians earn less than $5,000 a year; those who earn more than that, and particularly those who might be considered rich, could not pay the enormous bills of the C.C.F. schemes, even if their taxes were raised to punitive levels. The burden of government expenditure would have to fall upon the lower incomes under a C.C.F. government, exactly as it would under a Liberal or Conservative government.

More Growth Than Growing Pains

One of the more pernicious effects of the Great Depression was the lack of confidence in our economic system, even in Canada's future, which it bred. This lack of confidence persists, though subdued, in the marrow of our society because most of today's workers, farmers, housewives, and leaders of industry and finance were battered to some extent by the Depression. So these years of prosperity and full employment seem too good to be true. There is apprehension in the midst of them. Any present difficulties, such as those relating to our export trade, are eyed with alarm and the progress and soundness of this country are too generally discredited. Symptoms of economic strain preoccupy us because they demand our attention, as Mr. Donald Gordon, Deputy Governor of the Bank of Canada, said recently. "It's the squeaky wheel which gets the grease".

• • •

Mr. Gordon's address given earlier in the month to the Dominion Mortgage and Investments Association meeting in Toronto was salutary because it was a survey of the real development in Canada during the last decade. Canada has grown remarkably, and cynics cannot belie it. The growing pains have been insignificant in comparison with the achievement of stature.

• • •

Our population, including Newfoundlanders, is 13¼ million, which is 16 per cent. more than in 1938. It is a larger increase than any advanced country has had during the same period. And with this growth has come a greater national solidarity. The number employed has risen by forty per cent. Half of the absolute increase of 1,400,000 in the number at work has come, Mr. Gordon pointed out, through the reduction of unemployment to minimum levels. The total output in goods and services of these working Canadians was about 75 per cent. greater in physical volume in 1948 than in 1938. To achieve 75 per cent. more production with 40 per cent. more workers, is remarkable. Mr. Gordon remarked that "This record entitles us to view our capital investment activities with some satisfaction, as well as the initiative of Canadian management and the productivity of Canadian workers".

• • •

Twenty to twenty-five per cent. of our output is sold abroad. This dependence on export may be a weak spot in our armour, but Mr. Gordon believes that Canadian exporters are in a stronger competitive position than ever before, and new discoveries of raw material and processes of manufacture are strengthening it further. He was not unduly worried about the present export, and dollar-pound situation. "As time goes on, I suspect the facts of life will prove even more stubborn than political and economic ideologies, and I have little doubt that a greater degree of common sense will manifest itself in international trade".

• • •

There is no justification for being tremulous about a Canada which in 1948 had investment capital 140 per cent. greater in terms of 1938 dollar value than in 1938 (340 per cent. in current dollars); whose citizens were able to buy in 1948, in physical volume not in inflated dollar value, three-quarters more than they bought in 1938; where the average standard of living has risen by fifty per cent. in the last decade; whose people were saving a larger portion of their income after tax than before the war (about ten per cent. in 1948 as compared with five per cent. in 1938). Canada's growing pains should be easily borne by us Canadians who drink a third more milk, eat two-thirds more pork, buy 75 per cent. more new houses, use twice as much gasoline, chew twice as much gum, buy twice as many new refrigerators, eat three times as much ice cream and drink more than twice as much liquor as we did before the war.

Fairy Tale

Miss Rita Hayworth is now a princess, the bride of the rich Prince Aly Khan, an Indian and Mohammedan. It is not the last chapter in a rags-to-riches story of the Alger type; we doubt that Rita Hayworth ever wore rags outside a film scene. It is the twentieth century's version of a fairy tale, and her marriage on Friday was the penultimate sentence of the romance. The last sentence is, of course, "And they lived happily ever afterwards". Glamorous as the new Princess may be (the titillated reporters in France call her "radiant") we cannot feel as delighted by this modern fairy tale as we were charmed by Cinderella. Cinderella left more to the imagination; she was not, so to speak, in the flesh.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A Montana newspaper suggests that if Alaska becomes a State of the Union "Western Canada will want to come in with it". Hmm. It might be a good idea to take a vote first.

The St. Mary's Journal-Argus says that 33 young men were graduated from the Ontario Agricultural College and "practically all, 33 to be exact" went back to the farm. The "practically all", we presume, is a delicate way of hinting that several of them left their hearts in Guelph.

The Canadian Legion is sponsoring a national campaign which urges everybody to vote on June 27. This is an excellent move, for it must not be forgotten that if democracy is to thrive it must have the fullest support of those who benefit from it; its enemies are always 100 per cent. behind their schemes.

Diary Of Fond Farewell

By SAMUEL MARCHBANKS

SUNDAY: As I sat in the belvedere at Marchbanks Towers this afternoon, my eye fell upon a robin dealing with a worm which it had found. I am not a bird-lover or a bird-watcher; I am indifferent to the feathered race. But after I watched this robin's performance with the worm my indifference to birds became tinged with downright contempt. That birds eat worms is a natural fact with which I have no quarrel. This nasty robin, however, harried, chivvied, terrorized and mangled the worm, and obviously got a lot of horrid pleasure out of what it was doing. It would permit the worm to creep away, and then it would crush the hope in the worm's bosom with a sharp peck. It was, in fact, a sadist. Finally it swallowed the worm in one of the most revolting exhibitions of greed that I have ever seen. Then it sang, or rather, it emitted the toneless creak which passes for song among robins. It sounded as though the bird had indigestion, and I hope this was the case.

✧ ✧ ✧

MONDAY: Joined some friends in a picnic this afternoon. Why, I wonder, do people eat so much more on picnics than they would if they were at home? Is it the open air? In my opinion it is the sandwiches. A man who has eaten a sandwich does not feel that he has had a bite; he eats sandwiches by the dozen, regardless of the fact that each sandwich represents two slices of bread and butter, as well as a large gob of whatever nameless substance is spread between them.... Two sandwich-swollen children who were of the party found a sandpit, and soon exhumed quite a large part of the corpse of a cow which had been buried in it. When they were forbidden to dig further, for fear of even more disgusting revelations, they passed to the congenial task of shoving paper napkins down rabbit-holes, to surprise the rabbits. I wonder what rabbits do with the napkins, and banana skins and other picnic debris which is presented to them in this way? Have they some garbage disposal system of their own? Do they eat it? Or do they just swear in rabbit language and toilsomely drag the stuff over to the nearest groundhog hole, and shove it down that?

✧ ✧ ✧

TUESDAY: A warm day today, and I see several girls in shorts bicycling down the streets; in the brilliant sunshine their newly-uncovered legs are the colour of Ontario margarine. There is always a painful period every year when the people who expose themselves to the sun are still the nasty colour of slugs which have been lurking under stone. It is a shame that the sun worsnippers cannot get their tan in a single afternoon. But they cannot, and for weeks to come they will expose themselves to the sun, smeared with goo, whenever they get the chance, hoping that at last they will be the colour of a cup of restaurant coffee. The people who get a really good tan, of course, are the bricklayers who take off their shirts in May and do not put them on again until October. Whether they do this for beauty, or health, or convenience, I have never learned, but they are all as red as Indians—the genuine copper shade which the sun alone cannot give, and which is imparted only by a generous burning from the wind. Why any girl wants to be the colour of a bricklayer's diaphragm is beyond me, but they do.

✧ ✧ ✧

WEDNESDAY: To the movies, to see Bing Crosby in a film called "A Connecticut Yankee In King Arthur's Court", though any resemblance between the film and Mark Twain's book of the same name was purely coincidental. As a matter of fact, the film was a good deal better than the book. Mark Twain lived in a golden age of American expansion, when it was possible to believe that Yankee ingenuity could solve any problem, and when it was possible to maintain, quite seriously, that people of today are more intelligent than people in the past. Mark took a hefty swing at the feudal system in his book, but he knew as little about feudalism as he knew about economics; he was a great writer, but an uncommonly poor arguer....In the Crosby film all Mark's nonsense had been dropped, and some elements of his story had been retained and this, combined with the undoubted charm of Crosby's personality, and a splendidly comic performance by Sir Cedric Hardwicke created an entertainment which was almost as good as sitting on the stoop at the Towers, telling myself jokes in the moonlight.

✧ ✧ ✧

THURSDAY: A friend of mine has a remarkable gadget near his front door, which tells him not only the tmperature, but also the humidity. I have an equally effective arrangement in my own house. The thermometer tells me how hot it is, and the piano tells me how wet it is When the humidity increases a little, the B in the second octave of the bass sticks; more humidity causes the E above it to stick; when humidity is great the B, the E, and the A, G, and F also stick. To play under these conditions I have to station a child at my left elbow, to unstick these notes whenever they are stuck. In certain pieces, such as my grandiose rendering of "Rule, Britannia" this creates a good deal of work for my stooge, and in any rapid passages the child is likely to be badly clawed. However, I pay highly for this dangerous work in wine gums, Edinburgh rock and humbugs.

✧ ✧ ✧

FRIDAY: As a necessary part of spring housecleaning I removed all my books from their shelves this evening, dusted them, and put them back again. To beguile the boredom with which this task fills me I turned on my radio and listened to three hours of the most unmitigated balderash and twaddle, including a political speech, two quiz programs, a jazz pianist, a hillbilly quartet, a program of blues and a forum. I had never listened to a full evening of radio before, but I am told that there are people who spend every night of the week doing so, and I wanted to see what it was like. They must have stronger minds than mine; I am sure that my intellect would be rotted by any long subjection to such an ordeal. The quiz programs were the worst. When I heard a woman get quite a large sum of money for knowing which way the blades of an electric fan revolved something inside me snapped, and I sat on the top of my ladder, sobbing like a little child.

✧ ✧ ✧

SATURDAY: Worked on my garden this afternoon, scattering fifty pounds of a fertilizer called Milorganite, which is made from the excrement of the citizens of Milwaukee; in spite of my considerable experience as a book-reviewer, I do not suppose that such a quantity of American ordure has passed through my hands in a single day before....As I worked I pondered upon a matter which has troubled me for some months: of late this Diary has grown tedious and repetitious, and I feel that it should be brought to a close. So next week I am going into a monastery, and will be there for quite a while, burnishing my Immortal Soul.... And so, Ladies and Gentlemen, Dear Sticky Little Children, Jolly Doggies and other faithful readers, this is the end of the Diary of Samuel Marchbanks. Next autumn, if the gods are good, I may greet you once more, but very likely it will be in a different form. Until that time, Adieu.

THE MYSTERIOUS EAST

Letters To The Editor

LOOK BEFORE YOU LEAP

Sir: I would like to reply to a letter from Mary S. published in your column. She says there would be fewer unhappy marriages if more couples had intimate physical relations before marriage.

I hope couples reading this will take time for thought before they act. One wrong step doesn't necessarily spoil a girl's life but it's very apt to do so.

If they are sincere in their love for each other they will become engaged and learn each others likes and dislikes. If they are sure of each other they'll be willing to wait until the wedding vows have been exchanged before they have intimate physical relations.

A MOTHER.

TRIBUTE TO MRS. W. R. MORRIS

Sir: With the passing of Mrs. W. R. Morris, Home and School Associations across Canada have lost a faithful friend, one who was ready and willing at all times to advise and unconsciously inspire the present day leaders in this great work.

Mrs. Morris was one of the pioneers of this movement. Her interest was created in the Queen Mary Association, with Mrs. S. T. Medd and Mrs. Borbridge as co-workers. Together in 1919 they represented Peterborough at the first annual meeting of the Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations, known at that time as the Toronto Home and School Council. She was appointed to the executive as a Trustee Representative.

In 1928 Mrs. Morris was elected to the presidency of the Federation and in this office saw the formation of the National and International Federations.

On completion of this responsibility in 1931 she was honoured with the presentation of a Life Membership Award.

Her interest continued and because of her experience in all departments of Home and School work, she was appointed to such executive positions as Representative to the Department of Education, the Ontario Education Association, convener of committees for Resolutions and Constitution, also Provincial Organization and Extension Work, and at the same time gave executive service on the National Federation. Executive associates will long remember her sound judgement, her ability to make decisions, her unfailing parliamentary knowledge and last but not least, the courage she possessed to stand by her convictions. In 1946 she retired from executive work, having watched the development of Home and School over a period of thirty years, grow from a small informal group to a world wide organization.

We must not forget her service to the citizens of Peterborough during these same years, when she made valuable contribution as a member of the Board of Education and to many other civic organizations. Also her great interest in the work of the local Home and School groups. In closing her final provincial presidential address, after speaking on Vocational Guidance, Junior High Schools, medical inspection for secondary schools and Pre-school Clinics, she left the following words with her listeners: "We have been consolidating our position and advancing steadily. New avenues of interest and service are opening before us and we meet them gladly."

Today Home and School members of this district, will do well to accept this challenge, because even greater avenues of service are before us in "serving the child". Let us continue to foster the ideals of Home and School wherever possible and hold the torch that she has passed on to us, just a little higher than ever before.

Her example of service to others and good citizenship has left its mark in our community. I close this tribute to an outstanding woman with those familiar words that must be re-echoing in the minds of all who had any contact with her: Well done thou good and faithful servant.

(MRS. E.) SARAH CHAMBERS.
District Chairman,
The Ontario Fed. Home & School Assoc. Inc.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might. Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil. For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places.

Wherefore take unto you the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand.

Stand therefore, having your loins girt about with truth, and having on the breastplate of righteousness; and your feet shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace; above all, taking the shield of faith, wherewith ye shall be able to quench all the fiery darts of the wicked. And take the helmet of salvation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God. (Eph. 6: 10-17.)

For though we walk in the flesh, we do not war after the flesh: (for the weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds;) casting down imaginations, and every high thing that exalteth itself against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captivity every thought to the obedience of Christ. (11 Cor. 10: 3-5.)

VILLAGE OF PETERBOROUGH, IN UPPER CANADA. "Its appearance is very characteristic of the raw aspect of those scenes. Five years ago, the spot on which this thriving village is erected was a solitary forest. It is now busy with shops of all kinds, mills, schools, churches, markets, and all the bustle of an active settlement." The sketch above is one of forty etchings made in 1827 and 1828 by Captain Basil Hall, R.N., and reproduced here by permission of the Public Archives of Canada.

A Shirt And A Half Ironed Each Minute; Half A Century Of Soiled Linen

By HAZEL PAULL

A modern housewife takes almost as long to iron a shirt as did her grandmother, in spite of the march of scientific progress. Up-to-date equipment has made life a good deal less irksome for her in most respects but as far as ironing shirts is concerned, there is no short cut to pressing out the creases. Practically every woman will say that the task she likes doing least of all is ironing shirts. It is a tiresome job and is likely to remain one as long as mothers have husbands and sons and sisters have brothers.

When a Peterborough woman returned home recently after spending a week with friends in western Ontario she was confronted with 26 shirts to be laundered for her family. At the rate of 15 minutes for each shirt, she had a six and a half-hour task of ironing, not to mention the washing time.

The picture is not really as black as it looks, however, because science has done more for the organized laundry than for the lone housewife. There is a modern laundry in Peterborough which irons shirts at the rate of one every minute and a half.

One of the oldest established businesses in the city is Fanning's laundry where for 51 years, tens of thousands of garments have been washed and ironed. Mrs. Clara Fanning, who retired not long ago from active management of the laundry has seen every mode of dress during the first half of the century pass through the wash tub.

Since modern improvements in laundering more and more people have abandoned this branch of their weekly house chores. Fifty-six men and women employed in the establishment now wash and iron for 800 families and hotels, under the management of John Fanning. In the past 20 years old prejudices against button breaking, scorching, laundries have been broken down by modern methods, and five times as many people use the laundry.

Popular opinion has it that a laundry is only a makeshift to be used in dire necessity by bachelors and housewives hard pressed for time. It is an industry which has probably had more complaints levelled against it than any other.

Garments are said to come back with buttons ripped off, towels are reported shredded and colors have run. As "the customer is always right" the laundry is blamed for ruining the "almost new" garment, which very often has long since seen its better days.

How many people pause to consider how the complex problems of washing hundreds of articles satisfactorily and making sure they are returned to the rightful owner are dealt with?

Clothes are sorted into some 12 separate categories after being stamped for identification before they go into the washer. Never is a white shirt washed with anything but another white shirt. Not even other white articles such as sheets and pillow cases are allowed in the same tub. All the materials which are not harmed by high temperatures are laundered in water around 160 degrees with the result that any risk of germs is eliminated. And the water is changed every 10 minutes, sometimes for as long as one and a quarter hours before they are ready for drying.

There is no artificial heat system for drying laundered articles, except for curtains and a few isolated household lines requiring special stretching treatment. The clothes are whisked round in a large cylindrical bin until they are the right texture for ironing, and then there is a variety of gadgets for speedy and yet highly efficient finishing. Sheets and similar flat articles pass under six rollers, 12 feet in width, carefully padded and covered.

There are four presses for ironing different parts of a shirt, and two girls press 40 shirts an hour. There is a fascinating device for drying comforters and fluffing towels.

It's all a long rub from the old tin scrubbing board and the flat iron of the kitchen stove.

Home Town Old Town

(Note: These paragraph are taken from Dr. Poole's History of Peterborough).

Scott's mill was for many years a land-mark to the immigrant and the visitor to the new settlements; and until 1827 Peterborough had no other name than "Scott's Plains". Its present designation was then chosen, as a merited compliment to the Hon. Peter Robinson, to whose successful labors in promoting immigration the country felt itself so much indebted.

The first houses, next to those of Mr. Scott, were erected at the time of the immigration of 1825; and a cursory reference of these, we trust, will not prove uninteresting. We will commence with those erected by Mr. Robinson for the purposes of the immigration, as being among the first in point of time as well as of importance.

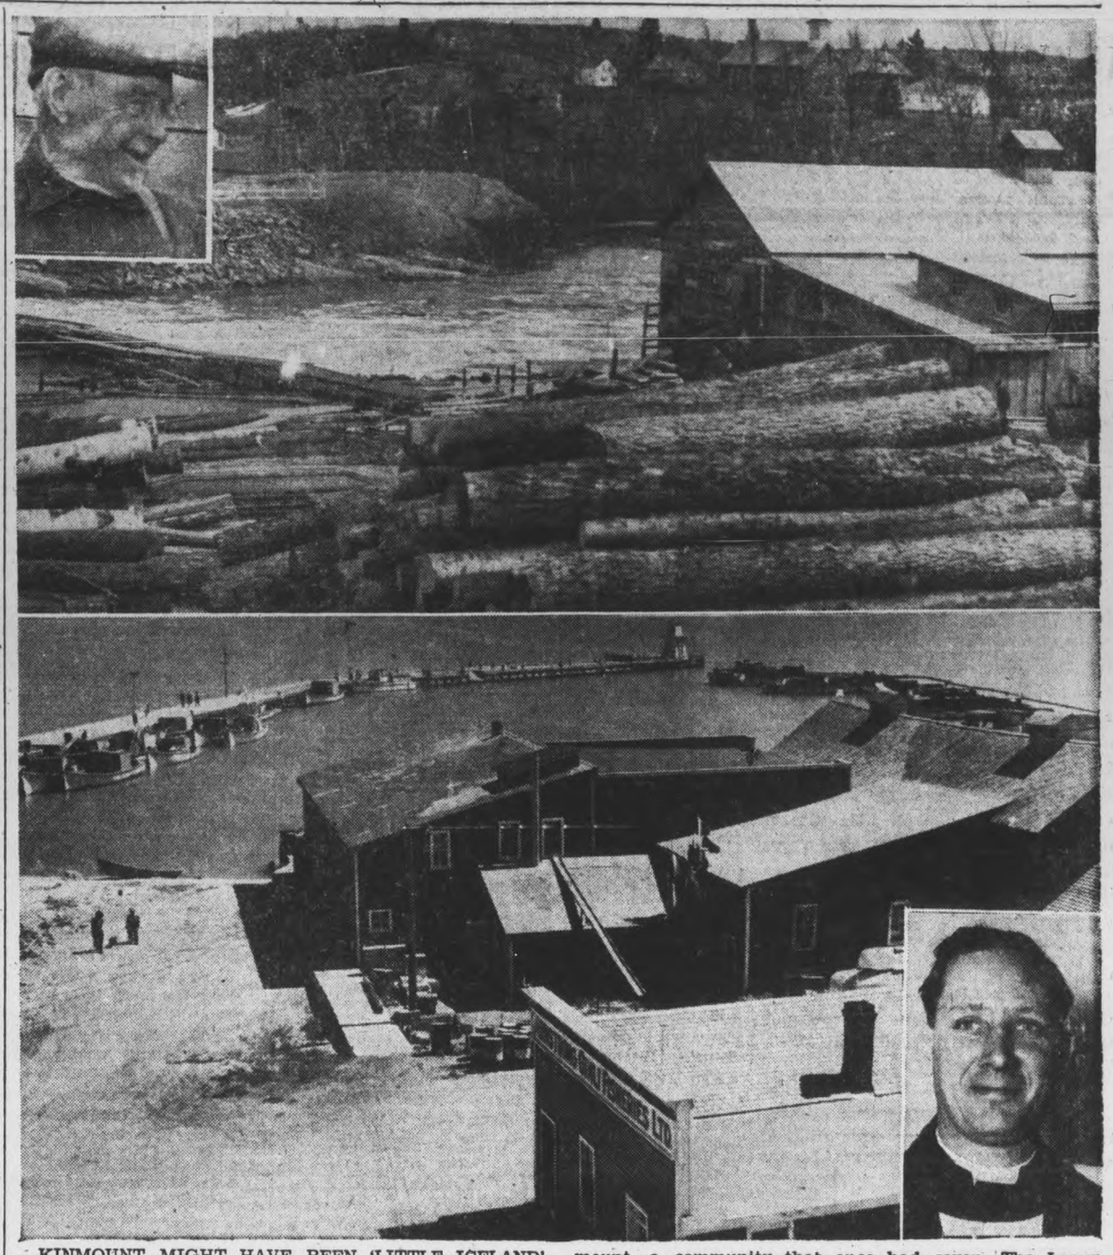
They were all built of logs, with square gables and shingled roofs. Four of them stood in a row on the eastern portion of the market square, fronting upon Water Street. The largest of the four, which was also the most northern, occupied very nearly the site of the front portion of the present market house. Its size was about 18 by 20 feet, while the others were somewhat smaller. This one was used as a residence for Dr. Reade, surgeon to the immigrants, and as a temporary church, in which mass was celebrated by the Rev. Mr. Crowley.

The two central were used as storehouses for the provisions for the immigrants, and probably for other purposes. The one nearest the south was Mr. Robinson's general office, where accounts were kept and business transacted by himself and his chief clerk, Mr. Richard Thornhill. The fifth and largest of these building was long known as the "government house", and as being the residence of Mr. Robinson, Col McDonnell, and Mr. John Smith, surveyor, who assisted in locating the immigrants, and for a brief time the resting-place of Vice-Royalty itself; and is worthy of fuller description.

Like the others, it was built of logs, was forty feet long by about twenty feet wide. It stood on the eastern side of the lot now occupied by the Bank of Montreal (S. E. corner of Simcoe and Water Streets) about thirty feet from the former and forty from the latter, very near the southern end of the brick stable now belonging to those premises.

The logs, both of walls and partitions, were hewed to a level surface in the interior, and the interstices, both within and without, carefully secured with "chinks" and mortar. A considerable portion of ground, extending across and north of Simcoe Street, was fenced in as a garden, while some small outhouses occupied a position nearer the bank of the river.

Such were the modest structures erected by Mr. Robinson; which were very well adapted to the purposes intended. Should any of our fastidious readers profess to sneer at their homelines, as presented in the picture we have drawn, we can assure them that at the time of their erection, and for at least several years later, they were regarded as first-class houses, and models of taste and perfection in the youthful town.



KINMOUNT MIGHT HAVE BEEN 'LITTLE ICELAND' had the original Icelandic colonists, who tried to settle there 75 years ago, been able to find sufficient work. They found short employment on the railway project but were forced to move to Manitoba. Their history is unknown to present-day people of Kinmount except to Robert Hughes, 82, Top Left Insert, who remembered them working for his father. Top photo shows the one remaining sawmill in Kinmount, a community that once had seven. The Lower photo shows the harbour in the neat fishing town of Gimli, Manitoba, where original colonists from Kinmount first settled. Present Rector of St. James' Anglican Church, Kinmount, the Rev. Earl Sigston, although of Icelandic heritage, knew nothing of the early settlement. His name, he said, was Anglicized from Sigurdson.

Icelanders, Pioneers Since 1000 AD, Settled In Kinmount

By NICK NICKELLS

A development of deep satisfaction has taken place recently in the province of Manitoba in the founding at the University of Manitoba of a Chair of Icelandic Language and Literature. It is an extension of the work of the university into a new cultural field in Winnipeg a city which contains the second largest Icelandic population in the world. Only the capital of Iceland, Reykjavik, exceeds it. For many years Manitoba has been their centre of culture in the North American continent.

Manitoba's Icelandic gain is Southern Ontario's great loss, for, the original settlers who founded the Icelandic settlement of Gimli once in Manitoba tried to make a start in the north-east corner of Victoria county 75 years ago, at Kinmount.

In an effort to piece together the story of Icelanders in Kinmount a chain of letters was formed between Peterborough and Lindsay, Toronto, Kinmount, Winnipeg and Wolfeville, N. S. One source produced a history of Iceland, another some historical and scientific pamphlets and a third, a letter from Dr. Watson Kirkconnell, President of Acadia University, finally established the information as being correct.

On a recent visit to Kinmount I set about the illusive task of tracking down the story of Icelanders' settlements from local sources.

The Rev. Earl Sigston of St. James Anglican Church was the first person approached. He admitted Scandinavian ancestry, his name having been anglicized from Sigurdson, but knew nothing of them. A retired merchant could forward no clues but an Irishman, by the name of English, said he could take us to the very man and did.

Four miles east of Kinmount on the Monk Road lives Robert Hughes, a genial gaffer of 82, who remembered the Icelanders in his boyhood. His father had hired one of the men to work on his farm for a while and he recalls him as a very decent fellow. He said a diphtheria epidemic was fatal to many of the immigrants and told where they were buried south of the village in unmarked graves.

The Icelandic movement to Canada started in 1872 when Sigtryggur Jonasson, aged 29, arrived in this country, just to look around. An elderly Scotsman and fellow travelling companion advised him to explore various parts of Ontario.

During the following winter Mr. Jonasson travelled widely and was favourably impressed. He wrote to friends in Iceland, possibly with some elequence on the subject. The upshot was that a party of 180 people arrived in Halifax during the summer of 1873. A few of them went to friends in Wisconsin and the remainder availed themselves of free land grants in the Muskoka district around the present village of Rosseau.

Mr. Jonasson visited them and helped them explore adjacent areas in the Parry Sound and Magnetawan River districts. They were not satisfied with the country as a future home.

News reached the Rosseau colony in 1874 that 365 of their people were on the way to Canada. The Ontario Government Land Agent at Rosseau induced Mr. Jonasson to meet them on arrival in Quebec.

Many of the immigrants were very poor and required immediate employment. The old Victoria Railway was then under construction between Lindsay and Kinmount and it seemed a logical place for them to find work.

News of their coming spread well in advance and the Kinmount Canadians were both excited and curious. They thought, for some strange reason, that they were Eskimos and this name has stuck with them for the past 75 years in the district. Mr. Hughes referred to them as such just the other day.

The Icelanders went to work at once on the railroad but due to financial difficulties the project was temporarily suspended a short while afterward. It left the immigrants in a very sad plight indeed.

A general topic of interest to Eastern Canadians at the time was the opening of the West and in desperate straits John Taylor of Kinmount, who had befriended these people from the start, went to Ottawa at their request to secure Government assistance in establishing them in the West.

Cabinet ministers were dubious about Icelanders as desirable settlers, but Mr. Taylor went over their heads directly to Lord Dufferin, the Governor-General. This gentleman was a sympathetic ally and had once visited their homeland. They impressed him favourably and he was instrumental in having the Government pass a settlement grant bill on their behalf.

Four delegates from the Kinmount colony, including Mr. Jonasson, went West in 1875 via Milwaukee to Fort Garry, now Winnipeg. The Red River country did not look any too inviting on

Millions Spent On Humanity By Rockefeller Foundation

Improved communication is fundamental in solving the problems of modern society, Chester I. Barnard says in his first Annual Review since he succeeded Raymond B. Fosdick as President of The Rockefeller Foundation on July 1, 1948. Observing that the "confusing ferment of opinions" in the daily press, periodicals and current books suggests the need of a clear-cut reclassification of these problems, he points out that good understanding based upon intelligible communication is the first step toward co-operation.

"The purpose of the Foundation is to serve the welfare of mankind, and it is neither religiously oriented nor nationalistic in a narrow sense. It has served, and is now serving, without national, sectarian or racial discrimination throughout the world. The freedom of the Foundation is enhanced, moreover, by a singular combination of circumstances. It does not have to make profits, it seeks no funds, is bound by no traditions, has no alumni, represents no political or religious interests, is not an agency of any government and does not aim to be perpetual.

In addition to appropriatioins from annual income, the Foundation has appropriated to date almost $125,000,000 out of principal and under the current policy of the Board of Trustees might be allowed to terminate its activities within the lifetime of another generation.

Old men's prayers for death are lying prayers, in which they abuse old age and long extent of life. But when death draws near, not one is willing to die, and age no longer is a burden to them.

Euripides (484-406 B.C.)

"The chartered purpose of the Foundation with its wide scope and its absence of preconceived or specialized interests has in a quite informal and undesigned manner caused the Foundation to become one of the crossroads of the scientific, educational and scholarly world. In 17 countries the Foundation maintains more or less permanent headquarters or research centres. Its officers travel extensively. They are in constant touch with scholars, educators, scientists, statesmen, men of affairs and churchmen everywhere. In search of support or advice, and bringing first-hand knowledge of conditions and problems, a stream of visitors comes to its headquarters from nearly all walks of life. This constant seeking of the detached judgment and informal advice that the officers are in a position to give is one of the most valuable by-products of Foundation work.

"In general the policy of the Foundation and, with occasional exceptions, its practice have conformed to the following principles: (1) The support of the Foundation should be directed to purposes for which it is otherwise difficult to secure funds. (2) The support should be of an initial or catalytic character, with the idea that what has been demonstrated to be useful should then be carried on by other means. (3) Current and palliative types of philanthropy should accordingly be left to others, not because they are unimportant, but because the needs they encompass are more generally recognized. Furthermore the resources of this Foundation, and indeed of all similar foundations combined, are insignificant in relation to such needs. Current philanthropy, which is a function of the whole of a society, however it may be organized, and of the individuals in that society, require very general support. (4) The Foundation therefore selected as its primary interest the promotion of knowledge and its effective application to human interests.

The hope is that even comparatively small sums devoted to this field may prove of wide and lasting value. One major realization of such a hope is offered by the history of penicillin. Here modest sums made available to scientific research helped to develop a therapeutic agent of extraordinary importance. This led indirectly to the discovery of other valuable antibiotics.

"The advancement of knowledge and the promotion of its application, already restricted objectives, still represent too vast a goal. The limited funds available and the desirability of a small administrative organization call for an even sharper concentration of interest. Only in the field of public health and in one major experimental agricultural development has it been feasible for The Rockefeller Foundation to make use of its own personnel in carrying out projects receiving financial support. In the divisions of the Medical, Natural and Social Sciences, and of the Humanities, the Foundation is far the most part a disbursing rather than an operating agency. It gives financial support but leaves the execution of the projects to governments, universities and other recognized institutions."

Appropriations made by The Rockefeller Foundation in 1948 totaled $14,897,519. Roughly speaking and in round numbers, this amount was allotted to projects falling within five general classifications, and to the General Education Board, as follows:

Public Health	$3,000,000
Medical Sciences	1,770,000
Natural Sciences	2,800,000
Social Sciences	2,230,000
Humanities	1,500,000
General Education Board	1,500,000

Of the total appropriated for all divisions of the work and to the General Education Board, 74 per cent was for work in the United States and 26 per cent for work in other countries.

The book value of the Principal Fund as of December 31, 1948, amounted to $114,883,971.

How much is a MICKLE ?

It really doesn't make any difference whether it's a dime or a dollar, a sou or a farthing. What Bobby Burns meant by "Many a mickle makes a muckle" is this: no matter how little you save, you'll have a lot, in proportion, if you save regularly. Why not get started on your "muckle" today?

Hamilton Tigers Take Win Over Petes In Senior Game

Hamilton Tigers took a 17-11 OLA senior "A" triumph over the Petes last night before a good crowd at Miller Bowl for their first win of the season. It was the locals' second loss in three starts, but they made it a fight all the way. Hamilton only had a 3-2 margin in the first quarter, but they built it to and 8-4 lead at the half and were in front 13-7 going into the even fourth.

Play was fast and pretty clean throughout, with the Tigers cashing in on several breaks and counting several goals from outside defence on screened shots. The first and fourth quarters were quite even, but the Dominion champions had a little edge on play in the second and third to build up their margin. Of the 12 penalties handed out in a well-handled game by Referees Joe Murphy and Lu Vipond, six went to the Creighton crew.

Led The Way

Blaine McDonald, Tiger winger, paced the attack for the victors, being in on seven goals in a fine showing. He was followed closely by Jack Gair and Jack Dorney, who figured in on five each. Goalie Flavelle, Arn Dugan and Em Creighton led the scorers, being in on three each. Curly Warren played a sound game, too, and the rest were all battling most of the way. Horton, Magee and Foote figured in on a pair of goals each.

Dugan got a picture goal on Creighton's pass in the second as he tipped in a hot pass, and Teatero counted a dandy in the fourth on a fine solo effort as the Tigers tried to mow him down going in. Lacking a little yet on depth, and with some of the players a bit bashful of senior "A" competition, the Petes nevertheless have been showing class against strong opposition and they will likely look much better in a few more weeks.

The teams:

Hamilton; Goal, Flavelle; defence, MacKenzie and Boland; centre, Gair; wings, McDonald and Doyle; rover, Masters; alternates, Grossi, Edmunds, Jamieson, Lee, Dorney, Welsh and Sullivan.

Petes: Goal: Hill; defence Magee, J. Breakspear; centre, Creighton; wings, Foote and Howse; rover, Dugan; alternates, Horton, Warren, L. Vitarelli, Teatero, McNulty and R. Breakspear.

Referees: J. Murphy and L. Vipond.

Local Juniors Defeated By Colbornes

Colborne rallied in the eighth to win 13-8 at home against Art Pagett's Peterborough team in the intermediate Lakeshore Baseball League, last night.

Peterborough used three pitchers, the homesters two with the veteran Shorty Willard victorious.

The game, despite the score and chilly air, was keenly contested and enjoyed by a large crowd under the lights. Frank Ball, Cec Hall, Post and the Clarey boys went good while Menzies, Dadson, Stewart and Floyd looked best for Peterborough. Petes are at home, Wednesday.

Take Township Title

Number 13 was lucky for the softball team of Queen Elizabeth School, SS No. 13, Smith. For they won the Smith township school championship, by winning four into a series for the township straight games in an elimination series for the title. In the final game Friday at Lakefield the dwellers from the northwest part of the city polished off the team from Young's Point school handily. Both teams had eliminated three other teams. The Queen Elizabeth school team may go championship of schools in Peterborough county.

The schools were grouped in the elimination series as SS No. 1; SS No. 2 with SS No. 3; SS No.'s 4, 6 and 11; SS No. 5 with SS No. 9; SS No.'s 7, 8 and 10.

Members of the Queen Elizabeth school team are Sylvia McGregor, Roy Bedford, James Elliott, Paul Davis, John Johnston, Maurice Little, Bud Gallagher, Wally Whitnal and Harold Smith.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Ty Tyson of Oshawa is predicting great things for Oshawa Merchants in the COBL this semester, being quite high on their USA battery. Merchants split even in Brockville on May 24 and Ty thinks Brockville, next to Oshawa, will be tough potatoes in this loop as they, too, are cashing in on the new import rule. Batawa won't be any setup, and of course you can't write off the Petes, who were champs last year and are now leading the league It looks like quite a race through the summer. Ed Murphy may bolster the local club still more in June. Meantime, the Petes are taking on the classy Canisius College crew from Buffalo in a three p m. exhibition today in Riverside to keep in shape. It ought to be good.

* * * * * *

Quinte scribe, commenting on the Petes' tilt in Batawa on Tuesday, writes: "We've seen baseballs perform some strange antics in our time but one of the strangest we ever did see occurred on Tuesday. Pat Calladine, Petes' arbiter, was calling 'em behind the plate. The pitcher shot a fast one down the alley. The catcher missed the ball and it struck his nibs' abdominal protector with a loud thump. Then it rolled slowly up the piece of protective gear, nudged Calladine's shoulder, picked its way around his neck and came to rest at the base of his skull inside the collar of his jacket. Puzzled as to where the ball had gone, Pat gazed about him. The roar of the crowd and some friendly advice from players enabled the umps to locate the missing pill."

Outlaws And All-Stars

A couple of weeks back, Carmen (Jake) Jaquith, Outlaws right fielder, went into third base in a men's softball game at the Bowl and broke a bone in his foot. The club is staging a benefit game at 8.15 tonight in the Bowl for him, playing Howie Dalton's all-star squad. Howie has promised to field a first-class club, and Stew Richardson has Hunter, Eakins and Gordon ready to pitch for Outlaws. It will likely be a speedy and interesting scrap and we hope the fans turn out in good numbers. These players aren't insured for softball and have to foot their own doctor bills except where a benefit game helps out financially.

Secretary C. W. Rowan of the OLA has drawn up the senior "A" schedule and it appears today insofar as the Petes' home and away games are concerned. Several have been played already. They go till almost the end of August and then the rather lengthy playoff setup follows through September. Winner of this goes after the Dominion crown, currently held by Hamilton Tigers. Fans might clip this schedule, which shows the local gutted-stick squad sometimes away for several games in a row, and sometimes making a home stand of two or three straight tilts here.

Just A Little Bashful

Must have been close to 1,800 fans in Miller Bowl last p.m., despite chilly weather, to see Hamilton Tigers and the Petes in OLA action. They saw a good game, even if the Dominion champs won 17-11. That's certainly no disgrace for a club just up from senior "B". At that, we think the Petes with a bit more hustle and luck—a few soft goals were counted by Tigers — could have crowded the husky champs plenty. But the locals are still a bit bashful and afraid to throw their weight around like they did in senior "B" company. They'll snap out of that shortly in the heat of battle and do okay for themselves. It was a right interesting struggle all the way. Petes are idle now till next Friday.

* * * * * *

One good game and a bit of a stinkaroo in the Girls' Softball League last e'en over Bowl-ward before a slim and chilly crowd. Ashby's had to hustle near the finish to take a win over Woollens, their five-run drive in the eighth salting it away safely. But 'twas a tidy tilt most of the route, and both clubs will be in there battling this season. Westclox won from Lock Co. by a 31-9 score, a tiresome sort of tussle with neither side showing too much, though the Clockers had the punch and fielding to coast to victory. Just 47 hits chalked up in this one, so we don't go into detail. Next twin bill is Monday eve.

'Epic' or 'Speedy Irish' Favored For King's Plate

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, May 28 (CP)—The winner of today's King's Plate? why, Bunty Line.

Practically everybody, from the Woodbine Park stable boys and hot-dog sellers to the cop on the beat, figure its industrialist E. P. Taylor's Epic or publisher George McCullagh's Speedy Irish (you know the luck of the Irish) in a shoo-in, with McCullagh's black colt getting the nod by a whisker. The way people look at it, either one will trot into the winner's enclosure shortly after 4 p.m. EDT today.

But there must be at least a couple of good ones in the other 14 Canadian-breds. And top rating in this bureau's books for the nine-furlong event goes to Bunty Line, out of Bunty Lawless-Crinolene.

Another Possibility

As a sneaker, a two-buck flier is going on Grandehem, owned by the Braeside Stable of Toronto. The black filly could lose by a city block, which wouldn't be too disappointing, or she could finish with Bunty Line, Epic or Speedy Irish chewing her tail—in which case the bettors who like to nibble at the long-shots will leave the park with enough money to fill an oats sack.

There's one reason for going out on a limb in favor of the John Stuart colt. He ate up a lot of ground on the turn in the six-furlong Plate Trial a week ago and, although trailing Epic, was roaring at the finish. There's no reason he can't scamper home in front over the longer distance. He did all right as a two-year-old.

Since the King's Plate nominations went to Woodbine quarters a few weeks ago, therail-birds and clock-watchers have trained their sights on Epic and Speedy Irish. They've shown the early risers plenty of stuff and most of the publicity for this 90th renewal of the oldest continuously-run race in North America has gone their way.

Most of the others could have been munching grass in the infield of the mile oval for the attention they received. It also could be that trainers of the fillies and colts have intentionally kept them under wraps.

Star-studded Record

As a two year old Speedy Irish had a star-studded record. He won the Canadian racing triple crown—the Open Cup and Saucer Coronation stakes and Clarendon plate—and on this showing rates sharp attention.

Epic is the mystery entry in the field. The Plate trial was the only race of his career, and he looked mighty impressive but it isn't known if he can travel the Plate distance at racing speed.

The answer will be known this afternoon. Here's a clue:

Bunty Lawless, 1938 Plate winner for Toronto hotel-owner Willie Morrissey, has produced some good ones.

Ashby Lasses Take Win Over Woollens

Ashby's opened their schedule in the Girls' Softball League last night at the Bowl with a 9-2 victory over the Woollens. A slim and chilled crowd saw a fine game till the eighth inning when the winners splurged for five runs to put it on ice. While the victors didn't look just up to their form of last year, they showed plenty of promise and played errorless ball and Woollens indicated they would be in there, too, before long.

Errors by the losers had quite a bit to do with their loss, and they were shaky back of the plate. But Doris McFadden threw five-hit ball and fanned 12 to earn the victory. Six Ashby batters went down on strikes. L. Jordan, D. Callan, C. Ferguson and E. Humphries looked good defensively. Homers were hit by E. McFadden and L. Jordan, and M. Freeman smacked a triple for Ashby's. None of the Woollens got more than one safety.

Foresters Loop

A & P leads the Foresters Softball League with five wins in as many starts, while COF is right behind with four and none. Post Office had won two to date and lost four, while Canoe Co. has yet to win a game in six starts.

COF plays A & P an important game Monday, a postponed tilt which may affect the standing considerably. The same squads meet again on Wednesday of next week, while A & P plays Post Office on Thursday. In games this past week, COF defeated Post Office 16-9, A & P won 20-9 from Canoe Co., while COF turned back the Canoemen also by a 16-8 count.

BENTON WINS

Pitching, Al Benton, Indians — Halted Cleveland's tailspin with six-hit shutout over Chicago 4-0.

Westclox Get Easy Win Over Lock Co.

Westclox romped to a 31-9 win over Lock Co. at the Bowl last night in a one-sided Girls' Softball League tilt. Up till the fourth it was a fair fray, but the Clockers ran wild to score 13 runs in the fourth and that was that. While they had fairly good pitching and hit and fielded well, they didn't look as impressive as the score would indicate and the luckless Lock crew, with a dozen miscues, were good for 20 hits and nine runs. It wasn't a good game to watch.

Jean Vass and Nona Whetung were the pick of the winners, with Betty McMahon and M. Stewart best for the losers. Homers were hit by J. McIntyre, M. Stewart, and N. Whetung. Bea Morrow led the victors at bat with five hits in eight times up, while J. McIntyre and M Stewart each collected three safeties for the Lock Co. lasses.

The teams:

TEAMS WITH FLANAGAN —Sliding Billy Hanson, pictured above, who will team up with Pat Flanagan against Wee Willie Davis and Sandy O'Donnell in a Tag Team match at the Brock Arena next Wednesday. Mat fans demanded that Manager Jim Laidlaw give them another team go and he was not long signing up the four contestants. Davis and O'Donnell insisted on Hanson being one of the participants before they would sign, due to Hanson's interference this week. Hanson in turn asked for Flanagan as a partner, claiming he will get more work to do with Pat as running mate. He is right in that respect for Watson wants to carry most of the load in a team match and his partner see very little action.

Two other outstanding bouts are being lined up.

Dodgers Tie With Braves For Lead After 4-0 Win

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees are the hottest teams in baseball as the pennant racers swing past the quarter-pole.

At the end of the first six weeks of the 24-week major league season, the Dodgers are tied with the defending Boston Braves for the National League lead. The Yankees enjoy a solid, 4½-game edge in the American.

It took the youthful Brooks a time to get rolling but they sizzled through the west on their first long road trip. Back home at Ebbets Field last night, they moved up even with the Braves by beating the Boston ace, Johnny Sain, 4-0.

Second Shut-out

Preacher Roe, a not-so-youthful Dodger, turned in his second-straight shutout, with the help of a four-run seventh inning against Sain, who struck out nine.

Poor pitching—a familiar ailment—cost New York Giants a chance to take over the lead. Clint Hartung failed to get past the third inning as the Phillies clubbed five Giant throwers for 14 hits and a 9-3 victory.

Del Ennis hit a two-run homer and a single, driving in three runs to lead the Phils back into the win column.

Al Brazle and Eddie Kazak combined to beat Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1 for St. Louis Cardinals. Brazle scattered nine Pirate hits and Kazak hit a homer off Murry Dickson with a man on base to account for all the Card scores.

Johnny Schmitz made it a clean sweep for the southpaws in the National by pitching Chicago Cubs to a 3-1 edge over Cincinnati. Emil Verban was the big wheel for the Bruins with a double and two singles to send down Howie Fox to his fourth loss. He also played brilliant ball in the field.

Eddie Lopat, top pitcher in the American, continued to reverse his normal spring form with a fifth straight victory. Usually Ed doesn't start to win until hot weather. The chunky Yankee southpaw blanked the second-place Philadelphia A's with six hits, 3-0. It was the seventh Yankee victory in their last eight starts, all at home.

Hits Fifth Homer

Tommy Henrich eased Lopat's task with a two-run homer off Joe Coleman in the first inning. Yogi Berra added the other Yank run with his fifth homer in the fourth.

Cleveland started its season again with a mock "reopening day" and got off on the right side of the ledger with a 4-0 whitewash of the Chicago White Sox. Al Benton, purchased from Sacramento in April, did a better job than Bobby Feller did on the real opening day. Benton, 38-year-old Detroit castoff, threw a six-hitter at the Sox while the Tribe hopped on Bill Wight for two in the third and added two more in the seventh.

Detroit returned home from a poor Eastern trip to break a six-game losing streak with a 5-4 edge over St. Louis.

Rain washed out a scheduled night game between Washington and Boston. It was a big night for attendance. Led by the Yankees' 50,581, the six night games attracted a total of 176,900 paid.

PGA Matches Today Crucial

RICHMOND, Va., May 28 (AP)—The third act of match play in the PGA drama being unfolded to-day over the Hermitage Country Club layout is sprinkled with a pair of revenge battles in the tournament's lower bracket.

Slammin' Sammy Snead, the sweet-swinger from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., has a score to settle with Dave Douglas of Wilmington, Del.

In the other revenge struggle, Jim Turnesa of Briar Cliffe, NY, will tee off against Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Calif., determined to get even with the crooning golf star.

Snead hasn't forgotten a day last February. The event was the Texas open. The place was San Antonio Douglas, Snead's opponent to-day, nosed out the slammer by a single stroke to win the Lone Star State classic. Needing an ace on the final hole to tie Douglas, Snead missed by a mere 18 inches.

Turnesa remembered 1946 and Portland, Ore.—the PGA Jim had eliminated Dutch Harrison, Jug McSpaden, Ben Hogan, and Byron Nelson. Then came the quarter-finals and Demaret. Turnesa was three up after the morning round, but Demaret won 6 and 5.

Only nine of the 16 third-rounders could be labelled "big-timers." The remainder, some of them on the move up golf's glory ladder, are mostly all youngsters comparatively unknown or professionals who took time out from club chores to qualify and play in the PGA.

Though Symbol Of Suffering Gethsemane Means Triumph

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

Gethsemane is indeed a symbol of suffering. We speak of those undergoing extreme suffering, and in agony, as "passing through Gethsemane"; but the Gethsemane, in the garden where Jesus agonized in waiting, watching, and praying, was not a symbol. It was a real and terrible fact. It was because of that suffering of "a man acquainted with grief" that Gethsemane has become a symbol of suffering; and the triumph of the Master in that dark hour ought to be a symbol of the way of triumph for others sorely distressed and oppressed.

What was the nature of the Master's suffering? And how did He triumph? It is clear from the record that His suffering was physical, so acute that He sweat drops of blood, but this physical suffering was only the outward accompaniment of agony of mind and soul. The Master, who but a few days previously had been hailed as a King in His triumphal entry into Jerusalem, was now facing the cross. That is itself might well have been an agonizing prospect, but we may be sure that is was not any physical fear that perplexed and distressed Him.

Deeper than all else was the question regarding His destiny, and the Father's will. Was it the only way? Temptations similar to those that He had met at the beginning of His public ministry must have shaken Him in that hour. It was His doubts, rather than His fears, that were expressed in that earnest prayer that the cup might pass. And the triumph over all doubts and fears was in that calm achievement through prayer, "Nevertheless not as I will, but as Thou wilt."

Apart from its place in the whole Gospel story of tragedy, triumph, and good news, the experience in Gethsemane is significant for its revelation of the true humanity of the divine Christ. He who was to be the Saviour on the Cross was there a man in agony, praying to see the right way and for the will and strength to follow it.

It was the experience that in lesser degree has come to many men and women in suffering, or faced with some crucial decision or threatening danger. And it is in the very nature of such a crisis of suffering or danger, for the soul to cry out in doubt, for the yearn for some convincing voice of God.

Job's temptation in the acuteness of his distress was to "curse God and die." In the crisis of Gethsemane it is not all a matter of bearing pain, of enduring suffering. Back of all that, as many who have faced the crisis know, is the question, "Why? Why?" That question is not always answered.

God watches over the sparrow's fall, but we are not told why the sparrow falls. But to the waiting, watchful soul, in earnest prayer comes the answer as it came to the Master, the consciousness that God is near, and God is leading. "Arise, let us go hence."

Out of Gethsemane came triumph.

The Lord's Ascension

By REV. E. R. JAMES.

So then after the Lord Jesus had spoken unto His disciples He was received into heaven and sat down at the right hand of God.—St. Mark 16; 19.

Some years ago this writer saw a family Bible, marked, thumbed and worn by the fingers of some reader, for sale in a second-hand book store. Are you shocked that some member of that devout reader's family, did not preserve it. You can understand that in some similar way the last page, you may call it, of the roll of this Gospel was broken off. The original Gospel ends at verse nine. "They were afraid." It is a horrible for a gospel for Romans who prided themselves on their courage. Tradition says that this addition was written by Aristion, who lived about 75 A.D.

In this verse we have for the first time the title "Lord." It is a title never used in St. Mark's Gospel before. The disciples had not risen to that knowledge. Perhaps it is a proof of the early date of this Gospel.

HEAVEN. Where is heaven? Being as we are it is impossible for us to think of heaven as a place above us. In that sense, heaven is in the spiritual realm. But heaven is God and God is everywhere. Especially in the heart and life of a man who loves God and His Christ. Heaven is here and now It is not necessary to die to enter heaven. If you believe that Jesus is the Incarnate Son of God and you obey His voice through His spirit dwelling in you, then here in your life will be seen something of His love, gentleness, sweetness and atmosphere. Your friends will not need to be told where heaven is; they will see it in you. Jesus Christ has won heaven for you and me by His perfect obedience to the will of the Father, even to His death on the Cross. "I am come to do the will of Him that sent Me," is His claim. "Thou art my beloved Son" is the Father's glad response. When He ascended up to heaven He took up that which had never been there before. He took up His perfect humanity, which He wove through pain and temptation. "His best Robe." When the Father looked upon Him He saw the fulfillment of what He intended man to be when He said: "Let us make man in our own image." The Lord has taken up into heaven our human nature; Jesus Christ is the God Man.

The Lord Jesus has passed into the spiritual realm that He might be near and in you and me. When he lived on earth He could only be in one place at a time. He ascended that He might fulfil His promise: "Lo, I am with you all the days." But heaven can be very far from you if your soul is full of enmity and hatred of your fellows. Surely there is a gulf between you and God. Perhaps you can better understand the Ascension by this illustration. To the fishes the swimmer in the lake is but a body with hand and feet but without a head. They cannot see the head, which is above the water The body moves because the head lives above the water. So you and I cannot see the Head—Jesus Christ—because He is above this world and we move through His strength passing into us. He is the Head and we are the Body, the Church.

The Lord Jesus said: All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth.

I will that where I am there my disciples also may be.

Present Letters At PCVS To Eight Girls

Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School letters were presented to eight girls by the Girls' Athletic Association Friday afternoon at the Senior Assembly. The letter is a large garnet and gray letter 'P' which is won for being an honor student in physical education and an average student in their studies. Winners of the coveted letter were Helene Westran, Mary Braund, Jane Hall, Mary Elizabeth Rowell, Marilyn Hollingsworth, Dorothy Penhall, Catherine Graham and Donna Howson.

"Today we are honoring girls who have brought honor to the school and glory of their success to themselves in sports which involved many hours of hard work," said Miss Cora E. Bailey, who represented the Students' Council at the presentation.

Miss Bailey said that after a lapse of 1,500 years the Olympic Games were revived in 1896. She added that it was not until 1924 that women were allowed to participate in the games.

"The succeeding years have brought very definite proof of the increasing part of women in the field of sport. Thus 24 years later Canada is acclaiming one of its greatest, Barbara Ann Scott, who received the Olympic gold medal. The ideals of sport are high and exacting. The participants in the Olympics swear an oath that they come to the Olympics in a chivalrous spirit, for the honor of their country and the glory of the sport."

Miss Doris Fenner announced the winners telling the reasons why each girl had won the school letter. Her reasons for the girls winning the letters were: Helene Westran, member of the girls' senior basketball team, two years senior leader in gym classes and a member of the 1946-47 Junior COSSA team; Mary Braund, member of the senior basketball team, member of the 1947-48 junior COSSA team, two years senior leader and vice president of the GAA; Jane Hall, member of the senior basketball 1947-48 member of Senior COSSA, for two years a member of the Junior COSSA teams; Mary Elizabeth Rowell, in 1947-48 manager for senior basketball team and the junior team, two years a senior leader; Marney Hollingsworth, senior leader in 1948-9, manager of the senior team, 1947-48 member of COSSA team; Dorothy Penhall, captain junior team, 1947-48 member junior COSSA team, two years senior leader; Catherine Graham, member of senior basketball team, 1947-48 member of junior COSSA team, art work for the GAA; Donna Howson, member of the junior basketball team, 1947-48 member of the junior COSSA team, two years senior leader.

BEAVER HAVE MADE A PUBLIC PARK possible in the Big Cedar Lake area, a project sponsored by the Kawartha Conservation Association. The intact beaver dam in the (Upper) photo created a lake of several hundred acres, shown (Below). The Park, when completed, will contain 400 acres of Crown Land which has been set aside by the Department of Lands and Forests for public use. It can be reached on Highway 28, a 25-mile drive north of the city.—(Fred Marshall Photos)

Visiting Britain Invitation To Peterborough

Mayor Max Swanston has received the following telegram rrom Mayor Edward V. Martin of Peterborough, England: "Close ties between our two cities, strengthened by friendly exchange of greetings during last few years lead me to believe your townspeople will welcome "Visit Britain Week." I take this special opportunity to express to you and fellow citizens the good wishes of our people of Peterborough England and to extend a warm welcome to visitors from Peterborough Canada. Kindest regards."

Mayor Swanston said the welcome mat would be out in that other Peterborough for any of the people from this city visiting the Old Country this year. He said he was glad to call attention to Visit Britain Week, May 30-June 4.

A telegram acknowledging the English mayor's communication has been despatched. Addressed to Mayor Martin of Peterborough, England and bearing the signature of Mayor Swanston, it says: "I have proclaimed the week of May 30 to June 4 as Visit Britain Week accompanied by publicity and advertising. Best wishes from the citizens of Peterborough, Canada."

To make it official the Mayor has issued a proclamation: "In Order to express our sincere good wishes to the people of Britain I proclaim that the week May 30 to June 4 be known as Visit Britain Week."

STOCK MARKET CLOSED

Peterborough ticker rooms will be closed every Saturday, starting today, for the next four months so that employees may enjoy long weekends.

Stolen Safe Discovered By Two Boy Scouts In Lane To Camping Ground

Two Boy Scouts of the Park Hill Troop found the 900-pound safe Friday afternoon, which was stolen from the American News Company, Hunter St. E., early on Thursday. Their discovery terminated a two-day search by City Police through lanes, fields and bush between Peterborough and Lakefield. Neil Reynolds, aged 12, of 689 Park St. and Fred Hillier, 14, of 579 Murray St. found the safe in the driveway to the Scout camping ground on the Nassau Rd. five miles from Peterborough.

Money Removed

Theft of the safe, which contained between $70 and $80, was linked by City Police, with theft of a truck from Lakeshore Cleaners, which was found Thursday morning abandoned in a field near Lakefield.

The C.N.R. tool shed was broken into early Thursday and this substantiated the Police theory that the safe, after being rifled, would be ditched nearby.

When the boys found the safe, the door had been ripped off, the dial was broken and also the inside box. The money had been taken but an electric razor, books and papers were still there.

The two Scouts had gone to the camp for the weekend and discovered the safe among some cedars in the driveway.

Friday from 7 a.m. until 4 p.m. Chief Constable John Thompson, Constable Claire McGillen and Lakefield's Chief Garnet Samis had been combing the area on foot. They spent a day climbing through thick brush and along the roadside.

On the previous day Detective Sergeant John Stevenson, Constables Claire McGillen and Harold Mesley and Chief Samis of Lakefield had driven along every path in the area between highway 28 and the Nassau Rd. in search of the safe.

Reynolds and Hillier notified Provincial Police that they had discovered the safe. They are both Sea Cadets and pupils of Queen Mary School.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

DIES IN TORONTO

The death occurred Friday in Toronto of Ted Wilson, a resident in Peterborough more than 40 years ago. He worked on the liftlock when it was being constructed. Mr. Wilson, who came from England, was 82 years old.

ANSWER TWO ALARMS

Started by a flash from a cleaner, a small fire in the wall of the Dependable Cleaners, 221 Hunter St. at 10:50 Friday morning was doused by the fire department. At 12:28 p.m. a call was answered to the home of M. H. Ketcheson, 185 Bethune St., where there was a chimney fire.

OPEN OFFICE TODAY

The office of the Trent Valley Area Textile Joint Board, Textile Workers of America (CCL), officially opens on Charlotte St. About 25 delegates from the Area are expected to attend the first meeting of the Joint Board this afternoon. This evening a dance will be held at Legion Hall.

HOLD DISCUSSION

A discussion on "The Power of Your Vote" was led Friday by the Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite at the monthly meeting of the Film Council at the Public Library. The discussion was based on the film Ballot Boxes A film on Chile was also screened.

31 MORE MEMBERS

The greens committee of the Kawartha Golf Club is considering use of the ball marker to permit players to start off in order of arrival during the busy weekend rush. On arrival on the tee, the golfer places his ball in the top end of the rack and, when it reaches the bottom, it is his turn to tee off. A fence may also be erected to hold club bags so that members can tell how many players are waiting ahead of them. The club has 31 members more than last year.

Ground Broken For 20 Homes In Ashburnham

Sands and Bateman broke ground this week for 20 houses in their Parkdale subdivision south of Park Hill Road and east of Armour Road. They are moving their operations across town from Brookdale, which is just about completed, to the outreaching fringe of Ashburnham.

Parkdale comprises 19.2 acres, providing each of the eventual 76 houses with a lot of 50 ft. frontage and depth of 145 ft. The contractor is Arnold Steele who was associated with Don Ephgrave in the building of the Arndon subdivision in the new south end of the city.

First of the 20 houses should be ready for occupation and ownership before the end of August.

The Parkdale houses will be one storey and a half of brick veneer construction, full basement, furnace and lath and plaster.

Three were sold before the contracte began the digging of the first cellar.

Parkdale topography resembles somewhat the roll of land at Brookdale, two easy slopes down to a hollow which will be raised in its level by a grading operation from the knoll to the east.

Three of the 20 houses will be built on Swanston Ave., and the 17 others of the present project will be on Snelgrove Ave., a new street, extending north and south.

The north and south boundaries of the Parkdale subdivision are the parallel streets. Warsaw Road on the north and Woodbine Ave. on the south. Snelgrove Road lies east of the rear of the houses privately built on the east side of Curtis Ave. That is the westerly limit of Parkdale, and from there it moves off to the easterly boundary of the whole property.

Formal In Fez Samaritans Convene In City

Wearing their colorful fez hats, members of the Northern Division of the Ancient Mystic Order of Samaritans arrived from all over Ontario and some parts of the United States for their semi-annual convention and Ceremonial at which the Peterborough Cyzicus Sanctorum is host.

Almost 100 of the expected 150 visitors were on hand Friday night at the Odd Fellows' hall to be welcomed officially by Mayor M. J. Swanston, accompanied by his wife. Junior Chamber of Commerce president Doug Vaisey and Mrs. Vaisey were also present for the evening entertainment. The remaining AMOS members were expected to arrive Saturday morning.

Main meeting of the convention began at 9.30 this morning, with Gordon Wyatt, District Deputy Supreme Monarchist convening it.

Elections for a new executive were the chief business of the meeting. On hand for the convention was J. McIntosh, Niagara Falls, N. Y., Division Supreme Monarchist.

A motor parade followed by patrol drills at the Armouries is planned for this afternoon. A banquet will be held in the evening.

Friday night's entertainment emceed by Stan McBride, included many Peterborough performers and a musical team from Ottawa. The entertainers were Miss Jean Jackman, lyric soprano; Al Gregg, tenor; Gord Minty, banjo; Bernie Morin, comic and vocalist; Herb Mullin, comic and instrumentalist; and Sonny Morin and Johnny Guidon of Ottawa whose act included piano playing, songs impersonations and tap dancing.

BIG CEDAR LAKE PARK project of the Kawartha Conservation Association is one of the finest picnic spots in Ontario, in the making. Big Cedar Lake Project Offers Summer Playground

By NICK NICKELS

The Kawartha Conservation Association is making the citizens of Peterborough one of the finest offers in the way of a public playground in Eastern Canada, if their support can be secured. It is not a paper project, but one already provided by nature, in its natural state, 400 acres of crown land within 25 miles drive from the city.

The area can be reached from Highway 28, north of Burleigh Falls, and the turn-in point is at Little Cedar Lake. The project on the west shore of Little Cedar can only be seen and ruminated on at the present time since there is no road into it. The Association soliciting public support to have a road built and certain clearings made for picnic sites. There are also numerous trails to brush. All this costs money but its value to city people and tourists in being able to go to an uncrowded picnic spot is considerable.

Two Lakes

There are already two large lakes, one of them Big Cedar with several miles of good shoreline, and the other formed by a large beaver dam that has flooded several hundred acres. When the project gets in full swing, the Department of Lands and Forests will see that beaver are premitted to again set up house and keep the lake within its boundaries.

Many picnickers have found to their disgust that they often have to drive miles to reach the water's edge of some lake. Even then they are not sure whether they are trespassing or not. In many cases they are because parcels of crown lands have been bought up by cottagers until there are few picnic spot left. The Big Cedar Park, to give the project a tentative name, will not be sold off, and has been set aside by the Department of Lands and Forests for the use of John Public.

It is not any great hardship at the present time to drive to Little Cedar Lake turn-in, park your car and travel through the bush to see the future possibilities for yourselves. You will then find out the need for a good road to the spot and the desirability of your support, and that of your friends, in the matter.

There is no doubt also that you will be able to count on good fishing in the Park's two lakes for they will be abundantly stocked to ensure a day in the open with your family and good sport with your rod. If, in the near future, you and your friends should take a tour of inspection, the Recreational Areas Committee of the Kawartha Conservation Association will be glad of your report and support. Officers are Milton N. Clysdale, president; Sidney J. Paumelt, secretary, and Fred C. Marshall, chairman.

Rumors Of Close Down At Deloro Are Denied

Because the Deloro Mining and Smelting Company has been cutting back process of cobalt refining there have been many ugly rumors of the operation closing down.

Officials were contacted in Toronto on Friday. They pointed out that they were experiencing difficulty in getting sufficient cobalt ore for refining purposes and that this process was only a small part of the Company's business. Reduction in this one operation would not affect their overall picture, they said.

FAIR COMMENT

At the head table and scattered through the Kawartha Room Thursday noon was a gathering of officers in the Peterborough district. They were special guests of the Kiwanis Club and the guest speaker was another of their number, Identification Officer William Aggas of the City Police. Ralph Standish introduced each one—Inspector E. V. McNeil, Sgt Price Morris and Cpl. Lloyd McClure of the Provincial police, Chief John Thompson and William Aggas of the Peterborough force, Chief Garnet Samis of Lakefield, Crown Attorney John Bradshaw and two members of the Police Commission, Mayor Max Swanston and Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C. Continued Mr Standish: "These are the men who get the convictions," and then he paused and turned to the last guest, W. J. Arthur Fair, K.C., "and here is the man who gets the acquittals." The diners roared with laughter as a red-faced Mr. Fair slowly rose to his feet.

Child Crushed By Auto Wheel

HAVELOCK, May 28—(ENS)—Donald James Davidson, 14 months, died Friday afternoon, as the result of being run over by a car driven by his grandfather, Walter Davidson of Belmont township, two miles north of Havelock. Mr. Davidson was backing out of the garage and did not know the child was playing in the yard. The wheels went over its chest and head. It died while being rushed to the office of Dr. W. M. Judd at Havelock.

Funeral service were scheduled for today at the Curtis Funeral Parlors, Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh United Church officiating. Burial will be in Maple Grove cemetery.

Crashes Into Guy Wire To Avoid Head On

J. K. Hughes, the Peterborough garage proprietor, crashed a 1948 coupe into the guy wire of a telephone pole Friday evening on the corner of Rubidge and Simcoe St. He had a cut under the chin and a bleeding nose but was no more seriously hurt. The front bumper, grill, windshield, right front fender, a rear fender wheel and tire of the car were damaged.

It was reported that Mr. Hughes had driven his car onto the sidewalk to avoid a head-on collision with a truck.

After the accident Mr. Hughes started for his home, 514 Weller St. on foot but was soon given a lift by a friend.

Earlier Friday afternoon Chas. V. Wood, Otonabee St., lost control of his car along Armour Rd. and broke four guard post and a telephone pole. He was uninjured but the car was damaged to the extent of $150.

Denault Funeral

The funeral of Mrs. Joachim Denault, 175 River Rd. north, who died Tuesday evening was held in Immaculate Conception church Friday morning.

Mass was sung at nine a.m. by Rev. Father Killen. Rev. Father Greenan said the graveside prayers. Burial took place in St. Peter's cemetery.

Pall-bears were Joseph, Frederic and William Collins, Frederic Green, Joseph Rishea and Nelson Marsden.

G. H. Strickland Funeral

Pall-bearers for the funeral Friday of George Howard Strickland who died Wednesday after a lengthy illness were S. Zealand, R. Zealand, D. Copperwhaite, T. Pritchard, W. MacDougall and F. Barrie. The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. Ivan Morgan, Murray St. Baptist Church. Interment was at the Little Lake Cemetery.

Mr. Strickland is survived by his wife, Mrs. Elsie May Strickland, one daughter, Mrs. Harry Kennedy (Norma), Cavan Township, two sons Robert H. and Graham H., both of Peterborough.

PRACTICAL PLANS FOR THE HOME YOU WANT AND HOW TO PLAN IT

Garden Walks Add Color To Outside Surroundings

Designers appreciate the importance of gardens as an essential part of home. The walks in these gardens need good construction and generous proportions, not only to fill their purely utilitarian functions but to form a pleasing part of garden composition.

Large quarrie-tiles or flagstones can be laid directly on the ground. Use any stone which can easily be cut into inch and one-half or two-inch slabs. To make your walk, remove the sod and level the ground under it. If the large stones are not placed on a perfectly level base they will fracture. It is always advisable to set slabs in a permanent base. The distance between stones will be determined by the fill you intend to use between joints; cement, sand, moss, herbs, or gravel. For pieces larger than 18 inches square, provide a concrete base.

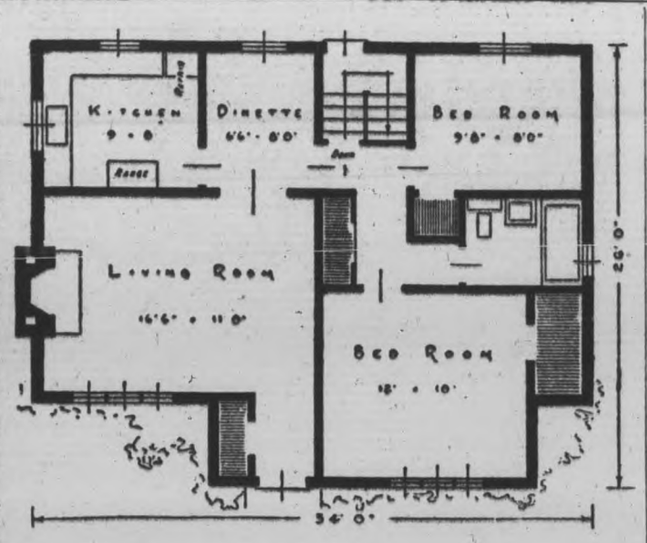
Old red quarrie-tiles make a handsome walk. The old style tiles were larger, 8 to 10 inches across, and one to one and one-half inches thick. They make the best walks. Most quarrie-tiles now being made are smaller but have a pleasing glazed finish on one side. Their rich red colour provides fine contrast for garden greenry. Few other types of tiles are durable enough for use in walks.

Brick-Paved Walk

A brick-paved walk is not only one of the most beautiful but about the most satisfactory. Contrary of general opinion, they are not unduly expensive. If you can lay the walk yourself, you'll find it pleasant work and the only cost of your walk and remove all soil for a depth of 12 inches. Fill in with 6 inches of firmly tamped cinders. On top of this spread three inches of sand. Lay the bricks on in the pattern of your choice, then sweep sand into the space between bricks. If you want to make sure that frost won't lift the bricks, substitute a three-inch layer of concrete for the sand, allow it to set 24 hours. Spread on one inch of mortar, (one part cement to three parts sand) and lay the bricks on this damp base. When the mortar has set, sweep a mixture of dry cement and sand into the joints with loam and moss.

Random stones have long been the pets of landscape architects. The stones found in old-world gardens were originally neat rectangles but edges have been chipped off, resulting in stones of varied sizes and shapes. They were usually set on the unsodded ground, a comfortable stride's distance apart, much in the manner of stepping stones. However, since a garden walk should above all things be comfortable to the feet, you will probably choose to set your stones closer together and perhaps embed them just flush in cement.

You may decide on an unpaved walk of grass or gravel. Grass walks are the least expensive and easiest to make but require constant attention. They will not stand heavy traffic and can not be used after rain or heavy dew. Sand or gravel walks should have a good foundation. Excavate to 8 or 10 inches, fill with 6 inches or cinders and finish with gravel well rolled. A border will be necessary to keep the fill from spreading.



HOUSE NO. 191—Everything about this little farm is neat and tidy, right from its few, well cultivated acres to the barns—but most of all the house! The owners decided they wanted a compact, all-on-one-floor home. Here is the design they chose. The "L" shaped kitchen would appeal to many a housewife, although the cross-traffic through the living room from kitchen to front door might be questioned by some. While the kitchen itself is of good size, there is a pleasant dinette and it is also convenient to the living room for larger meal-time gathering. Chamber Plans Tourist Booklet

Decision to undertake the printing and distribution of a new tourist booklet described the attractions of Peterborough and of the area within a 20-mile radius of the city was reached at an executive meeting of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce Thursday. Success of the venture will depend on the response to some 300 letters to be sent out immediately to prospective advertisers. This is the only way by which the Chamber can publish the booklet, as it has insufficient funds of its own to do the job in any other way.

The booklet would take the place of "The Call of the Kawarthas", printed two years ago, and now out of print.

Chamber of Commerce manager J. S. Fraser reported that he is continually in receipt of requests for such a booklet from organizations and individuals in Canada and the United States, both by mail and by personal calls at his office. For instance, the Automobile Club of Michigan recently asked for 100 folders on Peterborough, which request the Chamber was forced to turn down. Mr. Fraser stressed that the proposal was entirely non-profit as far as the Chamber is concerned. the executive merely feeling that it is a job that must be done to fill a definite need.

The booklet will contain information on all the various hotels and resorts in the Kawarthas, industries, history, recreational facilities, theatres, church services, store and bank hours, and a map.

It is proposed to release 5,000 copies every two weeks from the end of June until the end August, not only to the hotels and resorts, but also to Peterborough stores, advertisers, 13 border points of entry from the U. S. and outside travel bureau.

Legion Players Beat Lakefield Team

When Peterborough Legion beat Lakefield Legion at cribbage 5521-5068, Thursday, Fred Ebdon and Charlie Prophet had a perfect card, winning all six games. Their score of 726 was the highest and they had a special prize for the perfect card.

Second prize winners were also a Peterborough couple, R. Winters and J. Cullen with 712 points and Walter Chappel and Hopkins of Lakefield were a close third with 710 points.

The teams, which played at Lakefield, were captained by F. Bell, Peterborough, and H. Baldwin, Lakefield.

Leafs Bumped To 4th Place

By The Associated Press

Andy Tomasic and his home-run ball are back in the International League.

Tomasic, 29-year-old righthander of the league-leading Jersey City Giants, made his first start of the season Friday night and beat the last place Baltimore Orioles, 3-2. Both of Baltimore's runs came on homers by Red McQuillen and Ken Wood. Tomasic led the league in serving up fat pitches last year, yielding 36 homers in 37 games.

The Giants collected only six hits off Irv Medlinger and Emory Rudd but four Oriole errors and a balk provided the Giants with two unearned runs.

Buffalo Bisons remained within a half-game of the Giants as Clem Hausmann pitched the Bisons to a 6-4 triumph over Toronto Maple Leafs.

Billy Demars homered in the first and the Bisons led the rest of the way. Rookie first sacker Jim Hussey completed the Buffalo scoring with his fourth round-tripper of the season in the eighth. Bill Glynn and Alex Garbowski socked circuit drives for Toronto.

The defeat dumped the Leafs from third to fourth place in favor of the defending-champion Montreal Royals. The Royals trounced the Rochester Red Wings, 10-5, on the strength of an eight-run eighth inning rally against rookie Tom Poholsky and Cloyd Boyer.

Newark Bears turned back Syracuse Chiefs 5-3 behind the seven-hit pitching of veteran Earl Toolson. The Bears tapped rookie Harry Perkowski for eight hits including Lou Novikoff's fourth homer of the season.

Hughes Winners

J. K. Hughes turned back the Bus Drivers 12-9 in the Civic Softball League last night. They notched three runs each in the second and fourth, one in the third and five in the sixth. The losers shoved over three in the first frame and two each in the second, fourth and seventh of a tidy tussle. Teams:

Bus Drivers — Rowe, Parnell, Gordon, Jamieson, Grey, Brown, Simmons, Knox, Clarke.

Hughes — O'Connell, Dyer, Panter, Dummitt, Anderson, Reid, Doris, Earle, Danson.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

A five-man team from Vancouver is the winner of the Canadian five-pin blind bowling championship.

The contestants rolled up their scores in various cities last weekend. Results, announced at Toronto Friday by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, show the winning team members averaged slightly better than 183 for three games each—a total of 2,756 points. Hamilton's team came second with a total score of 2,671 and the Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, team was third with 2,338.

Other teams in order of standing were: Regina, Toronto, Windsor, Saskatoon, London, Victoria, New Westminster and Brantford.

St. Catharines Rams and Toronto Notre Dame were admitted Friday to the Ontario Junior Big Four Football League. They replace Oshawa Red Raiders and Toronto Argonauts. The other teams in the league are Toronto Parkdale Lions and Hamilton Wildcats.

League executive members, meeting at Toronto Friday, recommended that a Canadian championship playoff be held again this season. It was held last season for the first time in 10 years and the title went to Hamilton Wildcats, who defeated Saskatoon Hilltops.

Chuck Rowan, secretary of the Ontario Lacrosse Association, said Friday at Toronto that 19 teams have entered intermediate ranks and more entries are expected before the June 1 deadline.

Tentative groupings have already been made for 10 entries. Orangeville, Fergus, North Peel, Norval and Woodbridge have been placed in one group, and Ohsweken Six Nations Iroquois, Brantford, Port Dover, Hespeler and Dundas for a second group.

The other nine teams may be placed in two groups with an interlocking schedule or in one group with a single schedule. The teams are Brooklin, Toronto Maitlands, Maple, Port Hope, Torontos, Newmarket, Midland, Bradford and Huntsville.

At New York, Chris Rogers, Toronto jockey, said Friday that if Canadian jockeys could ride in the United States without being under contract to an American stable it would be "the greatest thing in the world for the Canadian boys."

He was referring to an investigation to be made by the National Association of state racing commissioners of United States immigration laws which prevent Canadians from riding independently in the United States.

Rocky Graziano, the bad boy of boxing, cleared another hurdle in his bid to return to the ring when the National Boxing Association reinstated him.

Abe J. Greene, NBA commissioner at Paterson, N. J., announced the reinstatement which permits the former middleweight champion to box in all NBA States except in instances where local bans have been imposed.

The New York State Boxing Commission listed its suspension on Graziano May 6.

Shortstop Stan Tarczewski and second baseman Tony Babich have been given their outright releases by Watertown Athletics of the Border Baseball League. Maj. Wm. J. Bell, general manager, said that Harry G. Wilson, righthanded hurler obtained from Rome Colonels, has been placed on the suspended list. Wilson was unable to reach a salary agreement with the Athletics and has agreed to buy back his contract.

Israel Wilkes, 69, a familiar figure in Toronto's racing world, died Friday. For 20 years he was assistant to the late Abe Orpen, well-known race horse owner. Born in England, Wilkes brought the first roller-skating hockey team to Toronto.

Grove Beat May's

Grove beat May's 27-10 yesterday in a junior School Softball League tilt. They rammed home 14 runs in the second inning, after four in the first, adding one each in the third and fourth, and seven more in the fifth. May's counted two in the second, three next time up and five in the fourth. Teams:

Grove: Brown, Linsey, Hamilton, Druery, Simmons, Chesney, Little, Rowe, Hotston, Heard, Bailey Wood, Davey.

May's: Oliver, Allen, Dauncey, Drummond, Thompson, Greeniss, Byer, Chamberlain.

Umpire: D. T. Crawford.

Bell Takes A Win

Bell Telephone walloped the Police 23-1 last evening in a Civic Softball League encounter. They banged the ball hard in every inning to roll up the count, while getting good hurling and fielding themselves to hold down the limbs of the law. They shoved over seven runs in their turn at bat in the sixth after taking a big lead earlier. Teams:

Police: Smith, Crough, Fife, Clapper, Bonnestie, Chambers, W. Fife, McGillen, Patterson.

Bell: Conway, Greatrix, James, Ackford, Harrison, Gillespie, Sullivan, Wood, Giardino, Tushingham.

Wins Garden Prizes

TORONTO, May 28 — (CP)— Albert Roberts, 70-year-old pensioner whose 26-year-old home and garden was judged the city's tidiest in a make-Toronto-beautiful contest, Friday won $500, a chest of silverware, and a washing machine.

McCready Confident He Can Beat Turnesa

PORTMARNOCK, Ireland, May 28— (CP). — Irishman Sam McCready has bet £1 ($4.00) he will beat United States amateur champion Willie Turnesa to-day in the finals of the British amateur golf championship.

"That is all I am risking on my chances," said Big Sam.

McCready said he aims to shoot two-under-par golf at Turnesa in the 36-hole final. The par-72 course winds more than four miles among the desolate sand dunes and soggy snipe marshes beside the Irish Sea.

Willie, trying for his second British amateur crown in three years, was unperturbed. "I think I can handle McCready," he said.

McCready, a brawny, wartime RAF pilot with a perennial half-grin, already has one big scalp looped to his belt. He thrashed defending champion Frank Stranahan of Toledo in the quarter-finals 4 and 3.

ONLY THE CCF SAYS: Canada must have A LOW-COST, LOW-RENT Subsidized HOUSING PROGRAM

WE CANADIANS WANT ACTION ON:

1. A LARGE-SCALE HOUSING PROGRAM
2. COMPLETE HEALTH SERVICES
3. COMPLETE SOCIAL SECURITY
4. INCREASED FARM MARKETS
5. JOBS AND HIGH INCOME

The two Old Parties have fallen down on the first responsibility of good government — the homes and health of our people.

Why? Because they rely on hit-or-miss private enterprise.

All reliable housing experts say: "private enterprise alone can't solve the housing problem."

Only government-financed housing, planned on a large scale at low-interest rates, can do the job.

The same with Health Services.

Canadians Have Improved On European Way of Life

A European, in Canada only two months, is already more aware of its culture and advantages than some Canadians. When Miss Jolana Weigand, native of Roumania, spoke to the Soroptimist Club the regular dinner meeting Friday evening in the Empress Hotel she expressed definite intention to become a citizen of Canada.

"You are much more progressed in your family life, social life and technical life than Europeans", she declared. "You have culture. You have everything." She had been told by a Canadian girl that she would miss the culture of Europe in this country but Miss Weigand said she had found the case to be exactly contrary. People she has met here are able to converse intelligently about the arts, if not to some degree skilled in them, and they are interested in the opera and the theatre. This, she feels, is not to be wondered at. "You have continued and improved upon the European way of life of your ancestors. Wars have stopped them from progressing while you have not been hindered."

Hope sprang in all hearts when she said "Communistic life would never be successful here. There is no need for it in Canada where everyone has rights and freedom. You need have no fear unless Russia starts a war."

Miss Weigand is a journalist, having been employed in that capacity, by the Roumanian minister of external affairs, to go to the various embassies in Europe and report to her country. She first served as translator and holds a University degree as master of languages. She also has a degree in Commerce and Business practice. She studied in French and Austrian colleges as well as Roumanian.

With such a background, it was not easy to pledge herself to one year in domestic service and she is finding it difficult to do work for which she had no training. Seeing so many women working in Canada and happy about it makes her more content.

"In Europe we know Canada is somewhere in the world, but we do not know much about it", she admitted. But it did not take Miss Weigand long to sense the absence of accentuated class distinction, and note that ability counted, not family history. This scheme delights her and she is working to become a first class domestic. When she can carry hospital trays as easily as she translates foreign affairs, the chains of Europe will drop.

Living five years as a refugee and a displaced person in Austria where she went on a holiday has not been easy to take. Entry to her own country and to England was barred because of Russian domination of Roumania, "I am sometimes ashamed of my country which started the war on the side of Germany and finished with Russia, but geography gives it no chance and no choice."

President Miss Grace Sargent introduced Miss Weigand and she was thanked by Mrs. E. Breckenridge.

Report of the nominating committee, read by Miss Myrtle Sargent in absence of the chairman Miss Jean Saunders, was accepted. An installation dinner is planned for June 24.

The president reported on the charter dinner of Humber Valley Soroptimist Club in Mimico of which Miss Phyllis Braund, formerly of Peterborough is president. Mrs. Breckenridge, a patron of the summer theatre, outlined plans briefly.

The club's annual garden tea is to be held on Wednesday, June 15, at the home of Mrs. Gordon Miller, 161 Douro St., and plans are already well laid. The Golden Mile Club will assist.

MISS MILDRED WALKER McINTYRE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil C. McIntyre, and Mr. Hugh Carleton Redmond, son of Mr. William C. Redmond and the late Dr. Redmond of Edmonton, Alberta, whose marriage will take place the latter part of June.

Junior IODE in Lakefield Stages Fashion Parade

LAKEFIELD, May 28 (ENS)—The Junior IODE fashion parade was displayed to a capacity house in the annual show in Memorial Hall last night.

Models from two years to twenty exhibited the latest creations in sunsuits, sport togs, and summer dresses.

The stage was beautifully arranged summer garden scene complete with picket fence and gay summer flowers.

Barbara Sterling, Mary Ann Wannamaker, Yvonne Mason and Margaret Heffernan, dressed in smart military costumes opened the show, bringing in the flag, and the IODE insignia, while Mrs. E. Rath played "Land of Hope and Glory," the IODE song.

Mrs. W. O'Brien, regent of the Katchewanooka Chapter welcomed the guests and introduced Mrs. Charles Levine, Peterborough commentator for the evening.

The junior models, who were all very sweet were: Jane Ellen Arnott, Alma Boate, Judy Doubt, Caroline Downs, Lynn Erskine, Carolyn Northey, Sally Foster, Lynn Lichty, Margaret Richardson, Diane Weaver, Sheila Wickett, Peter Graham, John Graham, Brant Graham, Harry Jakins, Bill Stabler, Johnny Staves, Paul O'Brien.

Paul O'Brien and Diane Weaver sang a duet "Keys to Heaven," dressed in quaint old fashioned costumes.

Mrs. Morris Duke contributed a suitable "Hill-billy" song.

Miss Mignon Mayneord, concert whistler was introduced by Miss Patsy Nickles.

Mrs. W. G. Hall, Regent of the drew the numbers for the door prizes which were won by Mr. F. Bowness and Mrs. Earl Orr.

Teen-age models were: Alta Bullock, Eleanor Deck, Denise Doubt, Donna Edwards, Francis Erskine, Carolyn Ann Erskine, Ruth Graham, Rita Maloney, Zita Moher, Joan Northey, Eleanor Jessup, Anne Richardson, Beverley Staves, Anne Samis, and Peggy Samis.

Throughout the evening special slack outfits were modelled through the audience by Zita Moher and Denise Doubt.

Mr. Sid. Fisher, who was with the RCAF entertainment corps, during the war accompanied by Mr. Morris Duke, sang several numbers.

The programmes were given out by Derry Moher, Mary Ann Leonard and Elsie Waldon and Vivian Clements. Tickets were taken by Mrs. Eric Anderson, and Eleanor Sterling. Door favours donated by Northey's Drug Store were given out by Alice Foster and Shirley Clayton.

Ushers were Ruth and Irene Boyce, Nancy Doubt and Suzanne Weaver, all very lovely in evening gowns.

Mrs. Levine was given a corsage by little Louise Anderson. Mrs. O'Brien was also given a corsage by Ethel Chotten.

Ivy Remnant, on behalf of the Junior Chapter thanked Mrs. O'Brien and all those who had helped make the fashion show possible.

Special mention to Mrs. V. Boate, Mrs. B. D. Weaver, Mrs. Erci Anderson and Mrs. E. Roth.

Piano music was provided throughout the evening by Mrs. E. Roth.

Miss Rita Daniels, cosmetician, spoke briefly.

The grand finale was really smart, with all the teen-agers on the stage in beautiful bathing suits, slacks, shorts and sun dresses, while Mr. Fisher, serenaded them with "Girls of My Dreams I Love You."

Clothes were provided by the Smart Set Shop, Levinson's and Toddle Town. Shoes were from Neill's, door prizes and favours from Northey's Drug Store.

Lunch was served by Mrs. G. Samis, Mrs. C. Foster, Mrs. V. Graham, Mrs. Gerald Northey and the junior members.

Beautiful Tulips St. Andrew's Tea

Although the president of St. Andrew's Women's Missionary Society was unable to attend the spring tea held Friday afternoon, she contributed largely to the guests' enjoyment. Beautiful tulips from the garden of Mrs. F. W. K. Harris filled a large white basket that was placed atop the piano in the ladies' parlor. The clear bright colors were so effectively arranged that it caught the eye immediately.

Quantities of lilacs had been gathered to decorate for the tea and these were in baskets in each window at the entrance. Mrs. M. J. Aiken received with Mrs. H. Tremaine, a past president of the organization. Hostesses in the tea room were Miss M. Ferguson and Mrs. B. McNeely. Mrs. A. Porteous acted as treasurer.

For the centrepiece on the lace-covered tea table a silver bowl was filled with tulips in shades of pink, red and yellow, and sprays of spirea. Tall candelabra with graceful arms held triple rows of pink tapers that highlighted the flowers.

The tea was poured by Mrs. W. F. Nelson, Mrs. C. M. Scott, Mrs. E. R. Shirley and Mrs. W. J. Stacey. Servers were Mrs. W. King, Mrs. E. F. Reid, Miss Ruth Barns and Mrs. C. Holman. Plates were replenished by Mrs. A. Munro and Mrs. B. Fowler.

The home cooking table had some tasty offerings and these were sold by Mrs. B. Jones, Mrs. J. Jessen and Miss E. Preston.

Novelties were for sale by the Mission Circle with Mrs. B. Taylor and Mrs. H. Mackie in charge.

Conveners of the tea were Mrs. H. Skinner and Mrs. W. Henry. Decorating was done by Mrs. E. Hawley and Mrs. Tremaine.

TRINITY

Intermediate group met at Trinity church. Worship was taken by Anne Gordon who read the story, "Mimi Represents China", telling of a little Chinese girl Mimi, who finds upon coming to this country that new Canadian friends judge China by her behavior and outlook. Joan Metcalfe read the scripture. A solo by Gloria Gardiner, "He is a Friend of Everyone", was much enjoyed. Marie Woodgate reported on Girls' Council. During business it was moved by Barbara Shier and seconded by Dale Nichols that the group donate $2.00 toward expenses of each girl who goes to camp. Highlight of the meeting was announcement by Anna Edmondson that the "Torch Bearers'" had been awarded Chevron standing by the Ontario Girls' Work Board . . . Congratulations! The rest of the meeting was spent in working on cord belts befors closing with Taps.

✧ ✧ ✧

Dorothy Woodcock entertained the senior group at her home this week. The evening was spent in cutting out patches for a quilt which the girls are making as part of their Mission study project. They were assisted by Mrs. Woodcock, Mrs. G. Hill, Mrs. Johnston and Mrs. D. White. It was decided to have a final "quilting" on June 20. At the close of the meeting Mrs. Woodcock served a lunch.

Grace Simpson Speaker

The social evening of Cheerful Workers Class of St. James United Church was held at the home of the president, Mrs. A. E. Prest, Lansdowne St. Friday evening. Mrs. Robert English gave a devotional paper based on scripture reading and Christ's command to "Go ye into all the world, and preach the Gospel to every nation".

Thirty calls on the sick were reported. Program conveners were Mrs. Charles Olaveson and Mrs. L. Parker. Mrs. John Monks gave a pleasing solo "Jesus Remembers You" and Miss Grace Simpson presented an interesting and humorous report of her recent holiday in Cornwall, England, and the Scilly Islands. This talk was especially pleasing to those members who had come from England. Social hostesses served tea.

DOROTHY DIX

No Meals for Lazy Wives Advice to Harassed Hubbies

DEAR MISS DIX—I have been married seven years and have four children. My wife is a strong, healthy, able-bodied woman, but she is so lazy that she will not lift a hand to make us a comfortable home. The children are uncared for. They are dirty and look like little tramps with their unwashed faces and matted hair. Our home is filthy. My wife is so untidy personally that she is repulsive. She won't do the laundry for three or four weeks at a time. We never have any food that is fit to eat. The beds are never made up until I do it.

Dorothy Dix

I have to do all the housework, or it would never be done. I have told my wife that I will get a divorce and put the children in a home unless she changes her ways. I have gone through seven years of hell and I can stand no more. What can I do?

GLEN.

ANSWER—If anyone ever wonders what drives married men to drink and philandering, they will find the answer in this letter. It is trifling wives. And don't think that they are not common. Believe it or not, I get hundreds of letters from desperate men who work hard to support their families and provide comfortable homes for them, but who are balked by wives who are so slothful they will not even keep themselves clean, or change the babies' didies.

It is true, of course, that most women do take a pride in their homes and keep them tidy and comfortable, and that they make every effort to give their husbands and children good food, but there are plenty of slackers left who are allergic to brooms and cook stoves and whose families never knew any home that isn't an understudy for a pigsty.

Needn't Take It

All of us know husbands who have to get up and cook their own breakfasts, if they have any, and who, after a hard day's work, have to clean the house and get the dinner because their wives are too lazy and trifling to do it. And goodness only knows why they do it when there is an orphan asylum and a divorce court handy around the corner. The remedy is in their own hands.

If husbands only had the spunk to say: "If you will not work, neither shall you eat," wives would get busy. For the lie-abed ladies all have good appetites.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a girl 15 years old and I am terribly unhappy because I am too fat. I eat too much, and I am getting fatter and fatter. Two years ago I decided I was too chubby and went on a starvation diet but I got so hungry that I began to eat and gained all of my weight back and more. Many times I get ambitious and try to thin down, but in a week I lose all interest in my figure and begin gorging again.

I have taken suggestions from everywhere about how to take off some of my fat, but all have failed. I have studied psychology and health books, even Prayer Books, but nothing I try lasts more than a few days. Then I'm back again on the eats. Please tell me what to do.

MARGGIE.

ANSWER: Alas, Margie, how to get slim and still eat is one of the unsolved mysteries of life. It is something that most of us femmes try when we begin to get along in the forties, but few of us keep it up after our mirrors tell us that a starvation diet sets our tempers on edge and makes us look like heck.

There is, however, one ray of hope for you. Often Nature takes care of adolescent girls and shapes them down into willowy figures But, in any case, I advise you to put yourself in the care of some good physician and let him find out if there is anything the matter with your glands.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My mother will not let me entertain any of my girl or boy friends at home. She repeatedly tells me that I can go with them on the streets or to their homes, but never to bring them to mine. I should think that she would be glad for me to have my friends at our house, for then she would at least know where we were and what we were doing. Mother has even gone so far as to say that she will not heat the living room this winter so that I cannot bring anyone to the house.

Do you think she is right?

NAN.

ANSWER: Your mother is as wrong as she can possibly be in shutting the door of her home in the faces of your young friends. How does she expect to keep tabs on your comings and goings if she doesn't know your chums by sight?

Your mother's refusal to let you have your friends at home is her selfish desire not to have her routine broken up. But many a woman pays a frightful price for this when she finds that her Sally has gotten into trouble.

✧ ✧ ✧

Dorothy Dix cannot reply personally to readers but will answer problems of general interest through her column.

Social Situations

SITUATION: A friends has her hair cut short and though it looks nice, you really liked it better long.

WRONG WAY: Say, "Why did you do it? It was so much more becoming to you long."

RIGHT WAY: Say, "It looks nice this way—though, of course, I liked it long, too."

Doreen Hales Wed At Apsley By Family Rector

APSLEY, May 28 —(ENS)— In St. Stephens Anglican Church Thursday the marriage took place of Doreen Agnes Hales and Weldon McIlmoyl.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mrs. Ada Hales and the late Russell Hales and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert McIlmoyl all of Apsley.

Given in marriage by her mother, the bride was in a wedding gown of white taffeta with lace insets in the yoke. She wore a finger tip veil, white lace mitts and carried a mosegay of red roses and white sweet peas.

Her bridesmaid Miss Wilma Deyell of Peterborough was in yellow taffeta matching head dress of yellow taffeta and white flowers, and carried a nosegay of multicolored sweet peas.

A wedding supper was served to the immediate families at the brides' home.

For a wedding trip to Eastern Ontario by motor the bride wore a shepard check suit white hat with black trim and black accessories.

The Rev. C. A. G. Spence performed the marriage ceremony. He had baptized both bride and groom and married the bride's parents, an unique record.

E. Audry Alton Bride of George Craft

Mark St. United Church, on Friday evening, was scene of the wedding of Eva Audrey, daughter of Mrs. Elleda Alton, and George Wilbur Craft, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Craft. The ceremony was preformed by the Rev. E. W. Rowland.

Red tulips, perussian and white lilacs decorated the church. The wedding music was by Mrs. Cecil Searles who played "O perfect love" on the organ chimes, and "Through the years" during the signing of the register.

The bride wore a light blue crepe dress and short veil of blue English net, caught with pink and blue forget-me-nots, and a corsage of red roses. She was attended by her sister Mrs. George Harding who was in turquoise with matching mitts and headdress and pink roses at her shoulder.

Mr. Howard was groomsman. Ushers were Victor Craft and Donald Alton.

A reception followed at the bride's home. Her mother was in a blue figured dress and wore grey accessories. The groom's sister. Mrs. Howson, who also received was in blue with grey accessories, and each wore a corsage of yellow roses.

The couple left later on a wedding trip, the bride wearing a wine gabardine suit with black accessories. On return they will live in Peterborough.

MISS GRACE CALVERT, REG.N., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burritt Calvert of Buckhorn, who graduates Monday, May 30, from McGill University, Montreal, where she has been attending the school for graduate nurses taking a course in Nursing Education.

Bethany District Honors Isabel Jackson

BETHANY, May 28 —(ENS)— Many friends gathered in Bethany United Church Sunday School room Thursday evening to present Miss Isabel Jackson with a miscellaneous shower of gifts in honor of her forthcoming marriage to Mr. Norman Wilson of Yelverton.

The room was prettily decorated with flowers, pink and white streamers, bells, ribbons and balloons. As the Wedding March was played by Mrs. Ray Robinson the bride-elect was escorted to a seat of honor. Mrs. Clifford Fallis read an address of congratulation from the community. Among the gifts was a special one from the primary class of the Sunday School which she had taught. Mrs. Lloyd Capstick assisted in opening the gifts.

Mrs. Charles Morton announced the brief program which included community singing with Mrs. Preston Neals at the piano; a duet "Apple Blossom Wedding" by Peggy Reynolds and Joyce Bigelow; a poem "Your Home" by Mrs. R. Robinson and a duet "Our Best To You" by Marie Carr and Beverly Pomeroy.

Lunch was served by the committee in charge.

6—In Memoriams

ELLIOTT—In loving memory of our mother, Mrs. Joseph Elliott, who passed away two years ago today, May 29, 1947.
If all this world were ours to give,
Would give it, yes and more
To see your face once again
Come smiling through the door.
—Ever remembered by daughters Hanna, Margaret, son-in-law Alfred, and grandchildren Beverly and Barry Brown.

ELLIOTT—In loving memory of Mrs. Joseph Elliott, who passed away May 29, 1947.
O happy hours we once enjoyed,
How sweet their memories still,
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill.
—Ever remembered by daughter Anne, son-in-law Clinton and family

GRAHAM—In loving memory of a dear wife, Mrs. George Graham, who passed away May 29, 1942.
And while she lies in peaceful sleep,
Her memory we shall always keep.
—Ever remembered by husband George and two sons.

their arrival. A grasshopper plague had eaten up every green blade in the valley but it took more than this to deter desperate men.

They inspected the country within a range of 100 miles and decided on a section on the west shore of Lake Winnipeg at the mouth the Willow Bar.

There they found abundant timber for building and fuel, excellent fishing in the vast lake, a direct waterway to Winnipeg and a tract of land that could be obtained for an Icelandic reserve without interference with other settlers.

Running north from the boundary of township 18 for 38 shoreline miles and inland, they christened the tract "New Iceland." Three of the land delegates returned east to present their report to the Kinmount colony.

The group which then numbered 250 left Kinmount in September 1875 and by water from Sarnia to Duluth finally arrived in Winnipeg after being joined by other fellow countrymen as they passed through Wisconsin. A few of the single people remained in the town but the rest, after four days' travel in flat boats reached New Iceland a few days prior to freeze-up in October.

Rough log buildings hurriedly thrown up on the west shore of Lake Winnipeg were the start of the village of Gimli and as families took up land, New Iceland was called the Gimli Settlement. Other groups settled in Argyle, Posen, Pipestone, Morden, Pine Creek, Dauphin, on Lake Manitoba and in smaller groups throughout the province.

An indication of their desire to foster education is their establishment of schools, ten of them alone in the Gimli Settlement within the first 25 years. The people have fared well and their numbers, according to statistics in Canada's official handbook of 1946, stood at more than 20,000

Their racial continuity with the history of the Dominion is exceeded only by the North American Indian Lief Eriksson, the first white man to voyage to the Continent was an Icelander by reason of having settled in Iceland for ten years after having left his native Norway. Karlsefni, a countryman, established a colony in Vineland, quite probably Nova Scotia. His infant son, Snori, was the first white child born on the continent. Claiming firsts in exploration, colonization and citizenship, Icelanders have become one of Canada's strongest ethnic groups and have contributed significantly to Canada's culture and prosperity.

Urges Opening UN With Prayer

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., May 28 (CP)—Secretary-General Tryge Lie Friday proposed the annual United Nations General Assembly be opened by a one-minute period of silence for prayer and meditation.

If approved by the Assembly, the ceremony will be the first of its kind carried out in the world organization. Lie said he has met no opposition to the plan.

He also told a press conference the United Nations is working on plans for a small, plain, cylindrical building for prayer and meditation on the site of the UN's permanent headquarters in Manhattan.

Lie said his suggestion follows receipt of hundreds of letters from individuals and organizations which urged introduction of prayer in meetings of the General Assembly.

"Since the United Nations comprises every religion, religious creed and sect in the world it would not be possible to introduce a public or spoken prayer which could satisfy all tenets and give offence to none," Lie said in a statement. He added:

"On the other hand, the United Nations is dedicated to the fulfilment of great ideals for the human race that are shared by all great religions and philosophies. It is fitting that an opportunity should be given to all to express in their own way their dedication to universal ideals."

Hurt By Door Handle

TORONTO, May 28 — (CP)— His head pierced by the door handle of an automobile, eight-year-old David Johnson was reported resting comfortably in hospital Friday after a delicate brain operation. The youngster was rushed by ambulance from his home in Niagara Falls, Ont., after being knocked down by the car on Friday morning.

Paraplegics Stage First Annual Dinner

TORONTO, May 28 (CP) — The Canadian Paraplegics Association held its first dinner Friday and 60 wheelchair patients, gathered at a downtown hotel with 120 other guests, ate and talked and joked as though they weren't paralyzed from the waist down.

John G. Counsell, president of the organization that was formed originally by war veterans and then enlarged to take in civilians, said of the aims of the group: "No matter how badly off we are, you can always look around and see someone who is in a worse situation. This applies to all phases of life but especially to our fellows."

Eight Receive Awards For Radio Work

TORONTO, May 28 (CP) — Awards in eight classifications of radio programs were given Friday to Canadian artists who took part in their production during 1948.

The prizes, given by Canadian Radio Awards in recognition of creative talent in Canadian radio, were awarded at a dinner of the Toronto Arts and Letters Club.

Winners in the drama section were Esse W. Ljungh, producer of Ibsen's "Ghosts", and Lister Sinclair, both of Toronto, who wrote the radio adaptation.

The Wayne and Shuster show, produced in Toronto by Jackie Rae, won top honors in the variety class.

In the music classification, the CBC Opera Company production of "La Boheme" was given first place.

"Bevin Boy" of the series "These English" was listed as top program in the actuality classifications. The program was directed by Andrew Allen from a script by Bernard Braden.

Community service top honors went to "The Battle of the Fraser," produced by Dick Diespecker in Vancouver. "The Story Lady," presented from Toronto by Mrs. E. L. Holmes, was judged best in the children's entertainment division.

Granted special awards for distinctive contributions to Canadian radio were Imperial Oil hockey broadcast, "Singing Stars of Tomorrow" and "In Search of Citizens."

No TB Reactors In Retest Of 833 Cattle In Otonabee —Junior Farmers Plan Bus Trip To Cornell University June 17-19 — Hon. W. A. Goodfellow To Open Millbrook Spring Show Wed., June 8—Archie R. Wilson Of Smith, OAC Graduate, Appointed Assistant Agricultural Representative In Ontario County.

Peterborough Junior Farmers have completed plans for a bus trip to Cornell University at Ithaca, N.Y., June 17, 18 and 19. Leaving early Friday morning, they will go by way of Ivy Lea bridge for their entry into New York State.

A major part of the program will be arranged by the State agricultural extension department, drafting a schedule of visits to various places of interest to the visitors from Peterborough.

Cornell University's agricultural department is famous on the continent for its accomplishments, the high standing of its staff and its buildings and equipment. This is the most ambitious trip the local Juniors have undertaken. Members who wish to go should signify their intention early.

AYRSHIRE BREEDERS' MEETING

Peterborough-Durham Ayrshire Breeders are holding a twilight meeting Wednesday, June 1 at 7 p.m. at the farm of Earl Rosborough, five miles north of the city on No. 28 Highhway. The Club is enlarging its program with a calf sale. Consignors are: Donald Moore, Peterborough; Harry Jackson, Omemee; Alex D. McMaster, Hampton; Clarence J. Allin, Newcastle; Charles Naylor, Hampton; Earl Rosborough, Glynnwood Farms, Lakefield, and W. Clarence Mann.

MILK RECORD 108,115 LBS.

Mary Pride Ormsby of the purebred herd of Elmhurst Bros., Birdsall's, has qualified for a certificate of longtime production with her lifetime record of 108,115 lbs. of milk, containing 3,724 lbs. fat.

"Mary" started on test as a senior two-year-old, and made her latest record as a ten-year-old. Her best yearly production was in her six-year-old form when she produced in 365 days 16,236 lbs. milk and 575 lbs. fat. All her records were made on twice-a-day milking, and in four of her lactations she qualified for the 305-day division. She has been classed Very Good, the second highest rating in selective registration.

OAKVILLE HOLSTEIN SALE

A total of $52,175 was realized in the sale of 70 head of purebred Holsteins at the national sale May 23 at Oakville. The average price of $745 was considered satisfactory. It compared with the averages of $1,294 in 1948 and $850 in 1947.

Highest price, $2,500, was received by a Prince Edward Island syndicate for the four-year-old Marksman son "Bond Haven Rag Apple Matchmaker." Joint buyers were three breeders of King, Ont. Two of the seven bulls brought $1,600. Surprise of the day was the $1,400 to Elmcroft Farms, Oshawa, for Elmcroft Benevolence as it was thought this nine-months-old bull would sell higher. He was sold to Prince Torlonia, Rome, Italy, represented by Dr. Della Favera, who bought six head, including two Elmcroft bred heifers at $950 each.

Seven bulls averaged $1,025 11 milking females $840; 45 bred heifers $606; four open yearlings $956; and three heifer calves $683. The sale attracted more than 1,000.

DEFIELD DEPPESSION

"Commercial fertilizers provide the only practical means of replacing the mineral elements in the soil that I draw away to the sugar plant and the canning factory," says Lawrence Kerr of Kent county in an interview with The Farmer's Advocate.

The notion that these fertilizers have an ill effect on the soil is "an old wives' tale," Mr. Kerr remarked. "Fertilizers can be and often are grossly used. When they are employed to produce intertilled crops without proper rotation and the liberal use of manure, it is like whipping a tired horse."

Mr. Kerr is ocasionally mentioned by Frank C. Paterson as a successful young farmer whom he would like to have come to Peterborough for a talk on some occasion. He resigned from the agricultural representative service at the beginning of the still-remembered depression "bought a weedy, run-down farm of 140 acres south of Chatham, and settled down to do a job from which thousands of farmers at the time would have given their eye teeth to escape." His farm has expanded to 640 acres.

The Advocate article should be an inspiration to junior farmers. For instance: "Lawrence Kerr remembers the years of restricted finances and heavy indebtedness, and when inspecting his tile drains spring and fall, he feeling recalls that for the 45 miles of drains now installed on his acres he did fully half the spade work himself. It is not a rich uncle nor a thriving urban business that gives that prosperous appearance to buildings and fields. It is all a reflection of Lawrence Kerr who, 15 years ago, as an assistant agricultural representative, was trying to tell farmers how to farm. He can still tell farmers a few things if they want to ask him, but he excels as a listener."

Between 250 and 300 hogs are maintained on the Kerr Farms, and they are not kept for their company. If through some trick in breeding, a pig can be made to yield another dollar, Lawrence Kerr will not hesitate to cross breeds, in search of that something which has made hybrid corn so attractive to growers. In the case of grass silage he is looking for a seeding mixture that will produce a combination of grasses that will ensile without a preservative. "It all depends on the nutritive ratio," he explains. "The content of carbohydrates in the ensiled grasses must be high enough to permit the right kind of fermentation, as happens with corn."

The article is replete with interest. Mr. Kerr says farmers have three responsibilities: to produce food; to husband the soil; to repopulate the cities with the right class of citizens, physically and intellectuality. Urban centres are receiving a constant transfusion from the countryside, he argues. "It isn't important that they go. It is important who goes". In an ironic vein, Mr. Kerr commented: "The farmer is entitled to a fair reward for his labor and should even be permitted to prosper like other people without being singled out by society as one who in some way or other has committed a wrong. He should enjoy at least as high a standard of living as those who consume the food products of the land and make a much smaller contribution to the economy of the nation."

JOHN TAMBLYN'S RECORD

John Tamblyn of Orono has sold Holstein cattle of total value of $600,000 in the last eight years. He is salesman for breeders of the Black and White cattle in the counties of Peterborough, Durham, Northumberland and Hastings.

"I disposed of all of them through one buyer, C. S. Erb and Co. of Pennsylvania," Mr. Tamblyn said. "In my long dealings with them, I have had very few disagreements with them, and those exceptions were only a minor nature. I have found them very fair in business.

Mr. H. K. Alwine, who is 81 years old, is up here now. He told me he would take 1,000 head this summer. The price is generally about $75 a head less than last fall. On the whole, demand is still fairly good. During the last part of April I sold 81 head in four days."

Mr. Tamblyn was in Peterborough this week in the course of his circuit of the district.

"It have always tried to put through deals that were in the interest of the breeders for whom I have been doing business and I think they have confidence in me."

First calves of artificial insemination have been giving "good satisfaction in this district. I think it is going to turn out to be a big asset to farmers who needed it most."

CALF CLUB FORMED

Francis Walsh of Otonabee was elected president of the boys and girls' calf club at their organization meeting Wednesday evening. David Stewart, also of Otonabee, is vice-president, and Marie Kelly is secretary-treasurer.

The club is under the sponsorship of the Junior Farmers, and John Edmison is club leader. This direction for the season is assurance that the members will have the benefit of the valuable assistance in the work they are individually undertaking.

Members are: Gwelda Bolton, Gerald Bolton, Jean Bolton, Bailey Boyce, Donald Boyce, Audrey Bolton, Dave Stewart, Arthur Dawson, Donald Irwin, Douglas Clark, Barbara Clark, Mary Wood, Marie Kelly, Francis Walsh, Dorothy Chambers, Leo Maloney, Gerald Coughlin Alan Stewart of Indian River, and Shirley Boyce of Ida.

Don Milburn of the junior farmers, who are providing one-third of the prize money to be distributed on achievement day in the fall, advised the young people to make the most of the club opportunity, and wished them well. Members were going to take a practical interest in the young people who would have the advantage of the help and encouragement of their leader, Mr. Edmison, and various junior farmer sponsors.

✦ ✦ ✦

NORWOOD CLUB MEETING

Organization of the calf club at Norwood has been delayed by the illness of William Brealey of Indian River who is taking on the job of club leader. He is now recovering from an appendecitis operation. Boys and girls of that part of the county are asked to meet at Norwood town hall Thursday June 2 at 8 p.m.

✦ ✦ ✦

NO T.B. REACTORS

The T.B. retest of Otonabee cattle has now extended over 50 herds comprising 8333 head without one reactor as reported by Dr. J. H. Leslie who engaged in this re-examination in the township. The satisfactory information was received from Dr. G. R. Penhall, veterinary inspector of the Dominion Deuartment of Agriculture.

Dr. Harry H. Hamilton begins similar work in North Monaghan Monday, May 27. The retest in Victoria is also beginning with only one part-time inspector at present, Dr. Frank Codlin of Lindsay.

MINISTER AT MILLBROOK

Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Minister of Welfare in the Ontario government, will formally open the Millbrook spring show Wednesday, June 8, and will also unveil the pylon which is being erected in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the Cavan and Millbrook agricultural society and its fair. Gordon Staples is president.

Bruce Sargent, secretary-manager, is contenting himself this week with a reminder of the show, but will publish an announcement of the program features toward the end of this week.

COCCIDIOSIS REPORTED

G. A. Brethen of Norwood reports indications of coccidiosis in some of the flocks of young chicks of this district. This disease can be serious to poultry farmers, most of whom should know recommended preventive and remedial methods. If any of them have doubts about what action they should take, they would probably receive friendly and helpful advice from Mr. Brethen, one of the prominent hatcherymen of this area.

The warm weather of a few weeks ago followed by the prolonged cold spell results in a lowered vitality of chicks, conducive to this disease with the strange name based on the Greek root, coccyx, meaning the bill of the cuckoo.

A survey at the University of California over a period of ten years showed that in the loss of chickens in the growing period of five to 12 weeks, 49.6 per cent of deaths was caused by coccidiosis. That high percentage, Mr. Brethen said, was virtually half of all deaths of the birds examined in that long survey. Certain mash preparations including a flushing ingredient are said to be effective in combatting the disease. Molasses and salts, separately used in water, or mixed with feed, are also a help. Litter should be kept dry, with lime, and ventilation is important to reduce moisture.

FEWER HOGS IN CANADA

Although Canada's population has increased substantially in the last ten years, the number of hogs in the country at the end of last year was 4,604,200 as compared with 4,769,600 at Dec., 1939.

Here are the figures:

Ontario ...	1,692,200	2,021,400
Quebec	849,500	939,200
Prairies	1,966,600	1,398,600

COMING TO PETERBOROUGH

Robert E. Bell, recent graduate in field husbandry at OAC, has been assigned to Peterborough County as assistant to Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative.

Mr. Bell was born and brought up on a farm in the vicinity of Gilford, South Simcoe. He was active as a beef calf club member and later as leader of his district club, and was also prominent in the local junior farmers' association. During the summer of 1948 he worked with the cereal division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

OTTAWA HOLSTEIN SALE

At the All-Eastern sale of Holstein cattle in Ottawa Wednesday, 69 head averaged $385 for a total of $26,580. Fourty-four bred heifers brought $17,415 for an average of $393; eight cows $3,660, average $557; eight bulls, average $373; one yearling $325; one baby bull, born at the sale, $85.

Thirty-two of the Holsteins went to the United States. C. S. Erb & Co., Middletown, Pa., heaviest buyers at the sale, took 15 for $6,985, an average of $465. The first animal in the ring was bought by Erb & Co. at $750, high price of the day for the bred heifer Maxvegan Triune Martha, two-year-old granddaughter of Montvic Monogram consigned by Murdoch Atkinstall of Dunvegan. Their bid of $710 was the top price in the male section, for Larchway Sovereign Keeno, consigned by Clarke Rathwell of Navan.

In the junior section, George W. Henry of Todmorden paid the highest price, $400, for a January calf Macvegan Triune Beauty, a half-sister of the top-priced animal of the sale.

PETERBOROUGH OAC GRADUATE

A Peterborough representative in the graduating class this week at Ontario Agricultural College, was Archie R. Wilson of Smith township. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. David Wilson of the 6th concession.

Mr. Wilson served three years in the RCAF with the rank of Flying Officer. He had managed the home farm for a year prior to his enlistment. Since then he spent two summers as settlement supervisor and land appraiser with the Veterans Land Act. A graduate in the animal husbandry option at OAC, Mr. Wilson has been appointed assistant agricultural representative in Ontario County with office at Uxbridge where Mr. Lynn Fair is the representative.

Nine of the 16 graduates assigned to county agricultural offices throughout the province are veterans of the Second World War.

iberals Sweep Election n Newfoundland, 6 In Party Win Seats

Score Big Majorities In Outport Ridings Ahead More Than 2 - 1, P.C.'s Gain 2 Seats, Independent 1

T. JOHN'S, Nfld., May 30—(CP)—The Liberal party has n Newfoundland's first election as a province of Canada. tport returns today confirmed the trend of landslide pro- tions that became apparent in early counting following election Friday. With 25 of the 27 seats heard from, the tally showed election of 16 Liberals, two Progressive Conservatives and one Independent. Each party was leading in three states.

The Liberal victories—most of them by overwhelming majorities—came from outport ridings but the party also polled a large vote where it lost or was trailing.

In the popular vote totals, the Liberals were ahead by more than two-to-one.

The Progressive Conservatives found their greatest support in the two-member district of St. John's East and Harbor Main-Bell Island where one candidate was elected and three others leading.

Liberal Leader Joseph Smallwood—who won a thumping majority in Bonavista North—termed the election a "remarkable victory" and told reporters the new province's first Legislature will sit June 24.

Trails Rival

Progressive Conservative leader Harry Mews was trailing his Liberal rival in the dual riding of St. John's West by almost 400 votes with less than half the ballots counted.

The count trickled in slowly because there is no poll-by-poll tabulation in Newfoundland. District returning officers must have all ballot boxes from their particular areas before starting the count. It was a slow process having motorboats picking up the boxes along the coast.

The party vote Saturday midnight stood at: Liberals, 54,453; Progressive Conservatives 25,631. A total of 176,000 persons were eligible to vote.

At least five Pregressive Conservative candidates lost their deposits for failing to poll one third of their opponent's total.

Break For Groom

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., May 30—(CP)—At last the poor bridegroom is to get a break. For years custom has ordained that his bride is feted for weeks prior to the wedding. The trend here this spring has been to give showers to the groom. Bud. Pechey, one June groom-elect, has been given showers that netted him shirts, ties, socks, shaving lotions, and even a lawn mower.

Vishinsky Has Barrage Of Questions

PARIS, May 30 (AP)—Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky of Russia, who rose to fame as prosecutor in the 1937 Moscow "purge" trials today was expected to cross-examine the Foreign Ministers of western powers.

Vishinsky was reported to have a barrage of questions ready on the western proposal to extend the Bonn constitution for a west German Federal Republic to eastern Germany.

PARIS—Russia today rejected the west's proposals for uniting Germany under the Bonn constitution, a French source reported.

He was to meet with State Secretary Dean Acheson of the United States, Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain and Foreign Minister Robert Schuman of France at 10.30 a.m. EDT.

Authoritative sources in the western camp predicted the Russians eventually would reject the western offer. These sources felt no doubt that pro-western groups eventually will win a free election in all Germany.

Initial Russian comment, voiced by Tass, official Russian news agency, and other Soviet publications, criticized the western plan as a breach of the Potsdam agreement, which established the four-power Allied control council for Germany. A main criticism was that the western plan provides for majority decisions, limiting the veto power.

Air Agreement Signed In June

OTTAWA, May 30 (CP) — A government spokesman said today that providing a few snags can be untangled a new bilateral air agreement between Canada and the United States will be signed "some time in June."

The snags snarled the private meeting of representatives of the two countries in New York last week during discussions of a possible revision of the 1945 U. S. Canada Agreement, now considered out-dated.

The spokesman did not elaborate on how the trouble—not considered serious—broke out. It is believed to hinge on "one or two points" involving Canadian landing rights on U. S. territory.

The agreement is expected to be brought into effect before the end of June when the U. S. rights to the air base at Gander expire.

At least three American air lines use that base on trans-Atlantic flights under the 1945 agreement which became outdated when Newfoundland entered Confederation and rights to the field fell under Canadian jurisdiction.

Loses Hand In Saw

OSHAWA, May 30 — (CP) — Edward Thompson of Port Perry is "resting comfortably" in Oshawa Hospital today after losing a hand in an electric saw, hospital officials said. Thompson was brought 15 miles to hospital here Saturday after his wife and daughter returned from a shopping trip and found him in bed with his hand severed.

Soviet Shuts Consulate

SHANGHAI, May 30 (AP) —The Russians today closed their consulate in Communist Shanghai. "A new regime which our government does not officially recognize has come to Shanghai; we are not remaining open", a Soviet spokesman said. This follows the example of Soviet consulates in Communist Peiping and Tientsin.

Charge Man Killed Wife By Beatings

Neighbors Call Police After Hearing Sounds Of Battle

SAULT STE. MARIE, May 30 (CP)—A mother of three was found slain early today and her husband was charged with her murder after what police said was a drinking-fighting spree in their west end apartment.

The husband, John Olinsky, 36 formerly of Fort William, later appeared in court on the charge and was remanded to June 7 for preliminary hearing.

The woman died shortly after police arrived in answer to an urgent call that a fight was going on in the apartment. They found the woman lying nude on the bed, her head and body battered and marks on her throat.

Olinsky, who was in the apartment was arrested at the scene. He claimed his wife drank a portion of sweet nitre but police said they could not find either the bottle or any of its contents. They said Olinsky told them both he and his wife were drinking during the night.

Neighbors put in the call for police after hearing sounds of slapping and other loud noises coming from the apartment.

Asks Remand

Crown Attorney Ian Munro asked for the remand when Olinsky appeared. He said an autopsy will be performed on the woman's body.

The couple, who came here recently from Fort William, has three children—two boys and a girl—who were to have joined there here in a few days.

Roomers told police they heard "loud noises" coming from the Olinsky rooms during most of the night. They said it sounded as if someone was being beaten or slapped.

When police arrived they found the woman moaning on the bed. Her husband also was in the room. A doctor was called by Mrs. Olinsky died before his arrival.

Mrs. Mary Shalatunyk, operator of the rooming house, said Olinsky was quarrelsome and had been drinking since the couple's arrival here April 1. Roomers said Olinsky had not been working but was scheduled to start work today.

Try To Kill Prince In Ethiopian Riot

ROME, May 30 (Reuters) — A revolt in Ethiopia with large battles near Addis Ababa, in one of which 300 dead were left on the ground, was reported on Sunday night in Italian newspapers.

According to the reports an attempt was made to ambush the Crown Prince of Ethiopia, Asfaou Ouossan, eldest son of Emperor Haile Selassi. The despatches, carried under a Djibouti dateline, reported that the rebellion broke out a few days ago. After one battle near the capital, government forces withdrew to avoid causing a spreading of the revolt, the despatches said.

On May 18, according to the reports, the rebels ambushed a military column which was to have included the Crown Prince.

But the prince was not in the car which bore the Royal Insignia, and escaped the hail of machine-gun bullets which cipped into the back seats.

Police Surprise Nab 3 Thieves

TORONTO, May 30 (CP)—Police said today Charles Brittain, 31, shot when he fled from the scene of a theft early today, and William Smith will be charged with shop-breaking and theft.

Four persons—one a woman—were surprised by police following the theft of a 250-pound safe from a store in suburban East York.

Brittain was shot in the back by police, and hospital authorities said today there has been "a slight improvement" in his condition. Brittain's wife, Hazel, also arrested, but police declined to say what charges will be laid against her. The fourth person—a man—escaped.

The group was surprised in an automobile behind the store by officers on a routine check in a cruiser. The car was chased to a nearby gas station where the two cars collided and the quartet scattered. Constable John Aitkin fired, dropping Brittain. The unopened safe was found in the trunk of the car.

U.S. Prepares Plans For Business In China

WASHINGTON, May 30 (AP) —The United States is slowly swinging around to a policy of doing business with a Communist China.

A policy of restricted trade like that which governs United States economic relations with Communist Eastern Europe is being worked out by the State Department to cover dealings with the Chinese.

This is based on two major restrictions:

1. No loans. What the Chinese buy from the United States they will have to pay for in cash or goods. No American-aid supplies go to Communist areas.

2. No strategic materials. Goods which are now barred from trade with Russia and its European satellites because they might have military value are not to be sold to Communist China either.

Mickey MacDonald Buried In New York State—Brother

SYRACUSE, May 30 (CP)—A United States secret service agent Saturday night questioned two of three Canadian ex-convicts in connection with an arrest in Oshawa recently which led to the confiscation of $17,000 in counterfeit United States currency. The trio, on whom federal warrants were served Saturday, were picked up Friday by city police in a downtown hotel.

They were identified as Alexander MacDonald, 30; Alfred Goldfinch, 28, and Harry Deakins, 31, all of Toronto.

The secret service agent said he questioned Deakins and MacDonald in connection with the recent arrest in Oshawa of Edwin MacDonald, 23, brother of Alexander. Police said Edwin MacDonald is free in $20,000 bail on the counterfeiting charge.

Chief Detective Inspector A. McCathie of the Toronto police said Saturday that Alexander MacDonald is a brother of Donald (Mickey) MacDonald, Canadian jail-breaker. Mickey has been sought by Canadian police since his escape from Portsmouth penitentiary at Kingston in 1947.

Both Alexander MacDonald and Deakins asserted Saturday that Mickey MacDonald is dead. They said he "was buried somewhere in New York State about 13 months ago," Detective-Sergeant Arthur Casey of the Syracuse police said.

Casey, however expressed doubt that Mickey is dead. He said the pair might be attempting to "cover" the wanted man. Casey added that he suspected that Mickey might be a "contact man" in the Ontario counterfeiting case. The detective did not elaborate

Allow Eisler To Stay In Britain For Time

LONDON, May 30 (Reuters)—Gerhart Eisler German Communist discharged last week by a London court which rejected a United States extradition application, has been told he may stay in Britain for the time necessary to enable him to make arrangements for his journey to Poland.

Ede said there was "no justified claim for compensation against this country."

Eisler's legal advisers said earlier today he was claiming compensation from the British Home Secretary for having been "forcibly removed from a foreign ship.

Asks Tighter Economic Tie With Canada

U.S. Secretary of Commerce Wants To See Trade Barriers Reduced

TORONTO, May 30 (CP) — Charles Sawyer, United States Secretary of Commerce, today proposed a tightening of economic ties between Canada and the United States.

Reduction of trade barriers would be a big step in the right direction, he said at the opening of the second Canadian International Trade Fair.

Closer integration of Canadian and United States economies will strengthen both countries and emphasize to all the world the "need and blessings of joint effort," Mr. Sawyer said.

Canada's dollar shortage, he said is part of a world problem in which all countries are involved. Import restrictions were a "minor disaster" to some United States businessmen; but "those who have taken the trouble to try to understand Canada's problems know how necessary it was for Canada to restrict imports from the United States."

Not Happy About Embargo

The United States naturally was "not entirely happy" about embargoes, quotas and import and exchange permits; nor did Canadians relish them. But trade restrictions could seldom be isolated.

The first practical step was to support institutions such as the international monetary fund, international bank and international trade organization. So far, these were little more than "a token of our good intentions" but "we must learn, however painfully, to make them work."

There were other ways, too.

"Countries that export more than they import can encourage the importation of more foreign goods. . . We must also recognize that certain nations are creditors by virtue of their good fortune as well as their sound institutions and their economic energy. The creditor nations must act like good creditors."

Dog Team Reaches Plane Forced Down On Arctic Ice

WINNIPEG, May 30—(CP)—A dog team—standby of northern transportation—won out over aircraft in the search for a civilian plane forced down on sea of ice Friday when running short of fuel.

The RCAF, which had put two Lancaster aircraft into the search area, the western fringes of the Hudson Bay coastline north of Churchill, planned to expand the searching force to four today.

But late Sunday night the grounded plane, a ski-equipped Norseman based at Churchill, reported by radio that a dog team had reached it from Chesterfield Inlet, NWT, 1,000 miles north of Winnipeg and on the west coast of Hudson Bay.

The Norseman carried three men—Pilot Charles Weber; Ray Hjorliefson, the engineer; and an army signals staff sergeant identified as Newnham.

No immediate concern was felt for their safety because Weber said in early messages that the aircraft had emergency rations sufficient for two weeks, a tent, a high-powered rifle and other equipment needed for roughing it in the Arctic.

Poor weather over the search area however, led the RCAF to decide upon the use of long-range aircraft to carry on the hunt.

These plans were called off when the signal from the grounded plane said the dog team had reached the aircraft at 11:30 p.m. EDT.

The radio message did not say how the dog team came upon the plane.

Russ Zone Adopts Constitution

Congress Picks Eisler Candidate For German Council

BERLIN, May 30 (CP) — The Russian-controlled German Peoples Congress today ratified by a show of hands a "Sovietized" constitution it wants to make the basic law for all Germany.

Only one of the 2,000 delegates abstained officially. There was no debate.

The ratification came as the wind-up of a two-day meeting in the East-Berlin Opera House. The constitution of a "German Democratic Republic" is the Soviet Zone's answer to the West-German constitution recently adopted at Bonn and ratified by the 11 German States of the three western occupation zones.

Earlier, the Congress named Gerhart Eisler, Communist leader who fled the United States, to a list of 400 candidates for the Russian-approved German People's Council for Eastern Germany.

The 52-year-old German-born Communist leader is expected to reach here via Poland in a few days. Eisler, who was freed by a British court which refused a United States request for his extradition last week, has not lived in Germany since the Nazi era.

The list drawn up by the Communists described the alleged top Communist agent as a professor at Leipzig University.

Sunday, the delegates heard a speaker declare the Berlin railway strike would have flared into a third world war but for the Soviet Union's "love of peace."

The Congress began today's session by naming Max Reimann, Communist leader now jailed in the British zone, as a delegate to the Paris Conference of Foreign Ministers.

Front Collapses Chiang Vanishes

SHANGHAI, May 30 (AP) — Speculation on the whereabouts of retired President Chiang Kai-shek is rife in parts of China still in Nationalist hands. But it stirs little interest here.

Some feel that if he continues to intervene in the Chinese civil war he may eventually be captured.

When Chiang came to Shanghai and when he left is not known publicly. But that he was in Shanghai well into the siege days is well known.

People who usually know of his movements say that he left Shanghai before the threat to the Whangpoo and Woosung fortress developed. They say he went out on a Chinese warship that seems to have been at his disposal. These sources say he left a few days after he appealed to the people to continue to resist the Communists.

(Dispatches from the provisional capital of Canton today said a five man delegation from the government of Acting President Li Tsung-jen had called on Chiang in Formosa to try to get the generalissimo to go to Canton to direct the government's forces.

(This same Canton dispatch said apparently the delegation failed to interest Chiang in going to Canton. Chiang was pictured in the Canton report as cold toward efforts of Li to effect a reconciliation with the Generalissimo.

(Some Canton sources said Chiang wanted to stay in Formosa, where he has troops, planes, ships and money.

Wounds His Wife On First Anniversary

HAMILTON, May 30 (CP) — William Ropcean, 28-year-old millwright, was sentenced today to two years less a day definite and 18 months indefinite. He pleaded guilty to wounding his estranged wife, May, last May 22—their first wedding anniversary.

Dr. R. R. Richter, who examined Mrs. Ropcean at the hospital, said he found seven slight wounds in her back covering about one foot square and one on each side of her chest. She has been released from the hospital. The knife, the doctor said, had not penetrated the ribs.

Mine Strikers Murder US Engineers

Bolivian Tin Miners Hurl Bombs 150 Soldiers Hurt

LA PAZ, Bolivia, May 30 (AP)—Two of seven American engineers seized as hostages by strikers at the Patino Tin Mines are reported killed. A third American is missing.

The rioting strikers hurled dynamite bombs at troops sent to the mines. Casualties, mostly among the soldiers, were said to number almost 150.

The dead: T. H. O'Connor of Pasadena, Calif., and Albert Krefting of Seattle, Wash. A Bolivian engineer named Vargas also was killed.

O'Connor was reported shot in the neck while at the union's headquarters. Krefting was said to have died of wounds caused when a striker threw a stick of dynamite at the hostages.

The three were among 15 hostages seized by the rioting strikers Saturday. The workers broke into the homes of the 15, seized them and took them to union headquarters, where they were reported beaten. The 15 included the seven Americans, one Argentine and seven Bolivians.

Three Americans are in hospital.

The United States embassy sent a plane to the Catavi region to evacuate relatives and dependents of American employees in the mines. A doctor from the United States health mission went along to help treat the wounded.

Protest Arrest

The miners struck at the mine, near Catavi, 200 miles southeast of La Paz, Saturday, in protest against the arrest and deportation of several union leaders.

A government spokesman charged the union leaders had aimed at provoking a revolution. The army and military police began a roundup Friday of "political agitators" who were accused of trying to smash Bolivia's "productive forces."

Twenty-six men were deported by plane to Chile Friday.

Military Red Tape Holds Up Delegates

GUELPH, May 30—(CP)—Allied military government red tape snagged two representatives and almost prevented another seven from arriving here Saturday for the International Federation of Agricultural Producers' Conference.

Jakeiki Owada, Japanese observer to the conference which begins here next Tuesday, said that two other Japanese were refused permission to attend.

A six- man delegation from western Germany told of a mix-up with visas which was only resolved five minutes before plane time.

CCF Favors Gold Subsidy Coldwell Says

By The Canadian Press

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, has put his party on record as favoring gold mine subsidies, provided that the mines treat their workers fairly and pay a share of the cost of mining communities' municipal services.

He announced the C.C.F. federal election campaign policy towards mining Saturday night to audiences composed of Timmins and Kirkland Lake.

Asked where the C.C.F. would socialize the gold industry, he said that socialization is not in the program for the first four years of federal government by the C.C.F. but he was sure the time would come when the provinces would agree with the Dominion that natural resources such as gold should come under public ownership.

Prime Minister St. Laurent swings into Ontario this week after a 17-day sweep across other sections of eastern Canada. The week will see the leaders of the three other major political parties in the west or moving westward—George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, in British Columbia and Alberta; Solon Low, Social Credit leader, in Saskatchewan and British Columbia; and Mr. Coldwell in Ontario and Manitoba.

Drew In B.C.

Mr. Drew was scheduled to speak today in the Vancouver Island communities of Victoria and Nanaimo. He reached Vancouver last night after speaking Saturday in Salmon Arm, B.C., and Kamloops, B.C.

In his address in Kamloops, Mr. Drew reiterated that this party believes the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian National Railways should continue to operate separately, not amalgamated as suggested in some quarters. He expressed the view that railways and roads should be pushed into the north country in advance of other developments.

Speaking at Salmon Arm, he lashed out at socialism and outlined his party's policy on trade. He said Canada faces serious difficulties unless she finds a solution to her currency problem.

Mr. Coldwell said a C.C.F. government at Ottawa would base aid to gold mines on the stipulation that mine wages, hours, housing and union recognition should be satisfactory to the workers.

He said federal aid would also carry a stipulation that a mining municipality receive sufficient money from the industry, either in taxes or otherwise, that normal services of municipal government would be provided.

Using Pretty Girls To Foment Revolt

BELGRADE, May 30 (AP). — Borba, newspaper of the Yugoslav government, to-day says Russia is using pretty girls to lure Yugoslav officers into Russia for a day of revolution against Marshal Tito's government.

It accuses the Russians of using girls and other inducements, including promises of high rank when the Tito regime is overthrown.

The newspaper says such a campaign to build up an anti-Tito clique in Russia began only a day after passage of a Cominform resolution a year ago blacklisting Yugoslavia's present leadership on charges of pursuing "Nationalistic Trotzkyite" policies.

Saves Small Baby

TORONTO, May 30 — (CP) — Mrs. Donald Saunders saved the life of her suffocating six month old child today by breathing into his mouth until Fire Department emergency crew could get to her home. Mrs. Saunders noticed that her baby, David, was turning blue in the face and picked him up. She breathed into his mouth for a few minutes and he started to revive.

Commission Will Hear Argument On Subsidy

By JOHN LEBLANC

OTTAWA, May 30 (CP)—The Royal Commission on Transportation will hear pro-and-con argument over the question of extending federal subsidies to carriers beyond the scope of present treasury aid.

Subsidy proposals to be made to the commission, which opens a Canada-wide series of hearings at Winnipeg Wednesday, will cover rail and water services and—to a slight degree—air transportation.

British Columbia will oppose rail subsidies as will the Canadian Pacific Railway, which made known its stand on the issue in an "outline" submission filed with the commissioners Friday.

On the other side of the line-up will be Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and the new province of Newfoundland.

The government of Saskatchewan will advocate the same policy it adopted in freight-rate hearings last year — that the prairie level of rates should be lowered and, if this leaves the railways without adequate revenues then they should be compensated by subsidy.

Manitoba Plan

Manitoba is expected to propose that the commission study the idea of the federal treasury reimbursing certain uneconomic lines of the Canadian National Railways which are operated primarily as national policy rather than as straight commercial ventures.

Nova Scotia will ask that the national treasury underwrite an extension of the freight-rate benefits accorded shippers in that area under the Maritime Freight Rates Act of 1927.

At present, they are given a reduction of 20 per cent from normal rates on certain hauls. It is believed a request will be made that this be advanced to 30 per cent and that the types of traffic affected be enlarged.

Both Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland will seek subsidization of certain additional coastal steamship services, and P.E.I. also will ask aid for an air service between itself and Newfoundland.

The new province will suggest help for coastal services around its own shores and also for steamship lines linking it with the mainland, in addition to the Cape Breton-Newfoundland ferry now operated by Canadian National Railways.

Claims To Be Original Rip Van Winkle

COOKSVILLE, May 30 (CP)—A man identified as "J. Desoriers" confused police here Sunday by implying that he was the "original Rip Van Winkle."

Brought in by police after he told a youth he was lost, Desoriers said he could not remember his name, but did know he was in Cooksville, near Toronto. He said he was 39 years old and that the year was 1907.

Police identified the man, who appeared to be 70-75 years of age from the collar of his shirt which had his name inked on it.

A nominal charge of vagrancy was laid against him to provide him shelter until his home could be found. He was taken to the Brampton Jail.

35 Countries Have Displays At Trade Fair

TORONTO, May 30 (CP)—Products of 35 countries go on display today at the second annual Canadian International Trade Fair.

Sponsors of the show invited 150,000 buyers from practically everywhere in the world. If they all come—and officials say many are here—cash registers are expected to ring up millions of dollar's worth of transactions which will lend impetus to the flow of goods between nationals.

The Trade Fair will be officially opened at 3 p.m. today by Charles Sawyer, United States Secretary of Commerce, who is to be welcomed to Canada by Trade Minister Howe. It will be open to buyers and business men daily until June 10 and to the public on two Wednesday and a Saturday.

Besides giving the various countries an opportunity to display the cream of their manufactured and natural products, the Fair enables manufacturers and designers to put forward their latest ideas and creations of both practical and luxury types.

Many of the exhibitors brought displays of clothing, machinery, automobiles, liquor and glassware across the Atlantic to tempt buyers who can pay them in dollar currency. Such money will help their countries pay needed goods for which payment must be made in United States dollars.

Many exhibitors themselves are colorful figures. One, here in charge of display of British carpets, is Maj.-Gen. Sir Colin Gubbins, 52, who helped to organized the resistance movements in Europe during the Second World War and who plotted the blowing up of Germany's heavy water plant in Norway.

Prices Continue Slide 5th Successive Day

TORONTO, May 30—(CP)—Prices continued sliding lower for the fifth successive day here today. Base metals were under steady selling pressure to slip into lower ground and junior gold producers dipped. Industrials moved irregularly.

Consolidated Smelters led the downtrend in base metals, dipping $4 to a new low at $85. A wide list of base metal issues were lower as selling pressure increased steadily and many stocks sold at new lows for the year or longer.

Losses in the golds were scattered throughout junior producers. Seniors were quiet with Dome sagging ⅜ o 17½. Macassa, Madsen, Malartic, Upper Canada, Eldona and Pickle Crow were among the losers.

Industrials moved without direction from a holidaying New York market. Papers showed a weaker tone as losses began to appear in mid-session and several utilities and refining oils eased.

Can't Let Baby Cry Has Heart Condition

TORONTO, May 30 — (CP)—Johnny Anderson, 11-months-old Calgary youngster, cannot be allowed to cry, become excited, or eat solid food. Johnny is seriously ill with a heart condition, and if he cries or loses breath, his skin takes on a blueish tinge.

The 13-pound boy, born with a heart ailment, was taken to Toronto's Sick Children's Hospital more than a week ago and appeared to be on the road to recovery when he was released last Monday. But he took ill again last Saturday and hospital officials said to-day he is on the "dangerously ill" list with an intestinal infection.

Johnny's mother said X-rays show the inside walls of his heart are not completely developed. The ailment makes him abnormally susceptible to any infection.

Good paying transportation business — expanding beyond ability of present owner to adequately finance — offers good investment for $12,000, private funds.

Convent Pupils Present Dance Recital

CAMPBELLFORD, May 30 (ENS)—An audience of about 400 filled the High School auditorium for a dance recital given on Friday evening by the pupils of St. Joseph's convent. Accompanists were Miss Colletta O'Keefe, ATCM; Mrs. Kirk and Mrs. Kennedy of Havelock; Miss Anne Nicholls; Masters Gearold and Donald Young.

"Flashing Taps" by eight girls, was gracefully performed. A group of girls cleverly executed the "Dutch Dance' and the junior boys and girls in "Tips and Taps" received prolonged applause. A combination sang and dance, "You Beautiful Doll," by Jo-Anne Kennedy and Larry Sayers was cleverly portrayed. "The Sailor Dance" by Barbara O'Keefe, "Me and My Shadow" by Arlene Bell and Anne Ender, and an action song by St. Mary's School girls were well done.

A vocal solo "Indian Love Call" by Mrs. Chernoff was well received. Gearold Young, a gifted violinist, gave an outstanding interpretation of the "Dutch Family" by Heins and a guitar duet by Heather and Wayne Blair was will performed. Vocal solos were rendered by Iona Sharp, Rose Mary Ender and Lillian Vilimas.

Other numbers were "Something About a Soldier," by Shirley Jewell; "Irish Colleens," senior girls; "Papa's Pride and Joy," Kenneth Kirk, Wayne Blair and Bobby Frederick; "Scotch Lassies," by ten girls; Victorian Minuet," Shirley Jewell and Karen Allan; "Irish Washerwoman,' June and Joy Craighead; song, Jo-Anne Kennedy and Larry Sayers; and dance by the senior pupils.

Seeking New Clues In Reuther Shooting

DETROIT, May 30.—(AP). — Police investigating the shooting of Victor Reuther, kept up their hunt for new clues today after releasing a man who had been held for questioning.

Officers reported that three lie detector tests on Harper Blyler, 33, were inconclusive.

Blyler was arrested Saturday after boasting loudly in a bar that he had shot both Victor and Walter Reuther. Later he told police he had been drinking and knew nothing of the shotgun attacks.

Victor, the educational director of the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.), was shot in his home last Tuesday night in an assault similar to the one that victimized his brother Walter, U.A.W. president, more than a year ago.

Ignores Pleas Shoots Wife

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., May 30. (AP).—Police held a 43-year-old truck driver today on charges of shooting down and fatally wounding his wife while she knelt in the street begging for mercy.

Mrs. Gertrude Rhoda, 23—redhaired singer and accordion player bill as "Rusty" Rhoda—died shortly after she was shot Saturday night outside an Atlantic City cafe.

Her husband, David Rhoda, told police she had been "downing his character and dunning his employers for money."

Police quoted passers-by as saying stealing the death weapon—a .38-calibre revolver—from the apartment of a policeman in the building where he lived.

Police quoted passers-by as saying Rhoda fired three times at his wife before a taxicab driver forced him against a wall and disarmed him.

Find Whooping Crane Shot In Saskatchewan

REGINA, May 30 —(CP)— A whooping crane, rarest of North American birds, was found shot to death in the Wilkie District of West-Central-Saskatchewan early this month, Fred Barn, director of the provincial museum, reported today.

It is believed the bird was shot late last fall while migrating to wintering grounds in Texas.

The museum director said the shooting of this bird represented a serious threat to the continued existence of the almost-extinct whooping crane. The "whoopers" are reported to be the tallest and one of the most spectacular birds on this continent. Naturalists believe only 33 are alive today.

No Serious Accidents During Weekend

City streets were free from serious accidents during the weekend. There were two minor incidents Saturday when a Utilities truck and a car driven by Neil Gordon of Toronto collided at George and Simcoe streets, and two cars driven by Ernest Armstrong, Fraserville, and William F. Stanbury, 237 Prince St., sideswiped on Charlotte St.

The Utilities truck had only a few dents according to Constable W. S. Fife, but Mr. Gordon's car had broken headlamps, radiator and fenders and the hood was raised up by the impact.

The front bumper of Mr. Armstrong's car and the right front fender of Mr. Stanbury's car collided. Constable Louis Rodregue, who investigated the incident, found that Mr. Stanbury's car had the right front fender torn, right front door punctured and right rear panel scratched. Only the bumper of Mr. Armstrong's car was damaged.

Comes Too Late

WASHINGTON, May 30. (AP) —American University announced last night that the Doctorate of Laws degree it customarily awards annually for "distinguished public servants" would have gone this year to James V. Forrestal. University officials said they were about to notify Forrestal of the honor when the former defence secretary took his own life a week ago. No alternate choice was made, and the degree was not awarded.

Berserk Husband Kills 3 People

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., May 30.—(AP).— A 27-year-old husband shot and killed his estranged wife and two other persons and then took his own life with a shotgun early today.

The slayer was identified by police as Richard R. Peppler. His shooting spree occurred at the home of hs wife, Frances, 30.

Police found the bodies of Peller and his wife in the driveway outside the two-storey house. Both lay in pools of blood, and the gun was beside the husband's body.

In the house were the bodies of Richard Sieswerda, 32, a United States army veteran and his 30-year-old wife, Stella.

The Pellers' 18-months-old baby was asleep inn the house at the time of the shootings, but she was not harmed.

The county coroner described the deaths as murder and suicide.

Police said Peller, who had not lived with his wife for a month or more, arrived at his home about 2.30 a.m.

He dashed up to the house, officers said, cut the telephone wires, and broke into the back door.

Opposed Policies

ODESSA, Sask., May 29—(CP) —Walter Tucker, Saskatchewan Liberal leader, said at a public meeting here Saturday night the Progressive Conservatives "dismissed" John Bracken as their leader primarily because as an advocate of low tariffs and fair financial agreements with the provinces "he was out of tune with traditional Tory policies."

Motor Accidents Increasing

Twice as many people were killed on Ontario's highways and byways in January, February and March of this year as in the same months of 1948 (127 persons compared with 82 last January-March). Accidents resulting in personal injuries increased 11½ per cent. to 2046 during the period. Accidents in which only property damage was sustained increased 26.5 per cent. to 4,714. It is not a pretty record.

* * *

Peterborough County shares the shame, for it had ten more accidents in the first quarter of this year than in the corresponding quarter of 1948. The Department of Highways includes Peterborough, Victoria, Haliburton, Durham and Northumberland in one district. In that district there were 228 motor accidents in the quarter-year, compared with 149 a year ago. This was an increase of 53 per cent., the biggest increase any district had except the Bruce, Gray, Huron district. Durham's accidents increased from 19 to 55, Victoria's from 16 to 35, Haliburton's from four to twelve, and Northumberland's from 35 to 41.

* * *

What can be done to stay this mounting accident toll which throughout the province was 22 per cent. greater this first quarter of the year than last? Are modern cars too monstrous, too powerful? Are more highways needed—or fewer cars? Are drivers becoming more incompetent, more careless or more foolish? Certainly they seem to want to drive more speedily to death; 506 of the accidents in the three months were due to cars travelling too fast for road or traffic conditions. Are pedestrians less innocent as by-standers than formerly? Exactly half of the persons killed as a result of motor accidents were pedestrians. The fault does not always lie with the driver of the car. Of the pedestrians fatally injured, fourteen were crossing a highway, eight were walking on one, eight were crossing between intersections, and twelve were crossing a road where there was no traffic signal. Let them heed the warning given by the record.

* * *

Less haste, rather than less speed, is required. Speed in itself is not the real cause of accidents; it is careless or hasty speed. And pedestrians must remember that every time they set foot on a roadway they take their lives in their hands. Another way to reduce the number of accidents would be, as we have mentioned before, to establish a better method of licensing vehicles and drivers. Ramshackle jallopies, cars in poor running condition, decrepit or daffy drivers should not be allowed on the roads. Then, too, since a majority of people have some ability to profit by others' experience, the knowledge that cars and roads are potentially dangerous should induce people to be more careful.

To Banish Fear And Want

The Social Credit Party, whose home base is Alberta but which has federal aspirations, has come out with a high-sounding program which would banish fear and want and "strengthen the forces of righteousness". We have rather a liking for such grandiloquent political platforms which are all front and no shirt. They are part of the political stock-in-trade, a promise of the moon in exchange for a vote. Everybody is in favour of banishing fear and want and of having in this fair land health, wealth, happiness, peace, prosperity righteousness, et cetera, et cetera. So is everybody in favour of fine weather, but for some reason politicians do not usually promise it.

As a matter of fact, few people outside Alberta are much interested in what the Social Credit party's federal platform is. There is as little interest as there would be in any federal program which the Duplessis Union Nationale party might have put forward but did not. The reason is that the Progressive Conservative platform is the important one as far as these two parties are concerned. Both seem to be clinging to the Conservative banner and making dickers with Mr. Drew—unofficially, of course. In Quebec the Union Nationale party members are running as Conservatives; in Alberta, the Conservatively-minded are Social Crediters, or official Conservatives are runnings-mates with Social Crediters. The coalition in Alberta is not as complete as in Quebec.

A Rejection For John L. Lewis

Mr. John L. Lewis, head of the powerful United Mine Workers Union of the United States, who has been involved in almost as many trials of strength against organized labour in general as he has against coal operators and the U.S. Government, has apparently lost his latest bout. With shrewd timing, he applied for re-entry into the American Federation of Labour; his terms were that the Federation follow his example and boycott the Taft-Hartley Law. The Federation executive, however, while recognizing the value of Lewis' union as an ally in its fight against that legislation, again refused to join him in defying the law and rejected his bid for membership.

The foregoing is a brief summary of published information concerning the incident, but it is probable that at least one other important factor was involved. Although he denies it, Mr. Lewis is an ambitious man and Mr. William Green, president of the A.F.L., is an old man. At seventy-five, he may contemplate resignation in the near future. It is known that Mr. Lewis at one time regarded himself as Mr. Green's logical successor, and he may feel that way again; that might explain his recent hiring of a publicity agency to "popularize" him—which, incidentally, it attempted to do by declaring that there was a warm heart behind Mr. Lewis' stony exterior, and that he loved children.

Most people, including the A.F.L. executive, are probably quite willing to believe that Mr. Lewis is both warm-hearted and a lover of children. This, however, does nothing to erase his record as a stormy and wilful leader, cast from a mould similar to that which produced the Vanderbilt who said "The public be damned!" And, looking over that record of autocratic behaviour, it is easy to understand why the A.F.L. executive would resist any preliminary move to return Mr. Lewis to high office in their organization.

It was in 1936 that Mr. Lewis' first violent rebellion ripped the newly-formed Congress of Industrial Organigations from the parent A.F.L. In 1940, he backed the late Wendell Willkie in the Presidential campaign, and pledged himself to resign as C.I.O. president if Willkie were defeated. He kept his promise—and promptly led his miners out of the C.I.O. He rejoined the A.F.L. in 1946 and was made a vice-president and member of the executive council, but resigned angrily late in 1947 when the A.F.L. refused to adopt his recommendation that the Taft-Hartley Law be boycotted.

It is not surprising in view of the record, that the A.F.L. executive apparently feels the support of some 600,000 miners is insufficient compensation for readmitting Mr. Lewis.

Eisler's British Freedom

Gerhart Eisler, a Communist convicted by American courts to a two-year prison term, escaped custody and headed for Europe. At the request of the United States, the British seized him aboard ship, and a London magistrate's court heard his case argued and decided to reject the United States' demand that Eisler be extradited—sent back as a criminal. The British court's decision to free Eisler was essentially based on the proposition that Eisler was a political refugee and therefore could have sanctuary in, or transit through, Britain if he wished.

It is most interesting that the United States of America is now breeding political refugees. We are so used to political refugees fleeing from Hitler's Germany, Stalin's Russia, or from Communist Czechoslovakie, that it is startling to realize that there are people fleeing from the United States, the land of the free.

Of Cabbages And Kings

By PETER ELIOT

"HAD Mr. Gladstone a sense of humour?"—asks J. A. Spender, great editor of the Westminster Gazette, in his Last Essays. "The question is often asked and the answers vary. I should say that he had an enormous sense of fun and a good deal of verbal wit. Cynicism offended the famous Prime Minister, and he was resolutely blind to any jest which encroached upon the large territory that he labelled serious, says Spender. But he said a great many good things on the spur of the moment. A guest at a dinner party, at which Gladstone was present, asked him how it was possible for Mr. Pitt to address the House of Commons after drinking two bottles of port. He paused for a moment, screwing up his eyes and scratching his forehead, and then said, "You must remember he was addressing an assembly, very few members of which had consumed less."

❖ ❖ ❖

GREATLY as he admired Sir Robert Peel he was aware of his deficiencies. Describing Peel's helplessness against Disraeli's brilliant attacks in the great Corn Law debates, he said that Peel met them "with a kind of righteous dullness." Seeing Mr. Gladstone lost in reverie one day on the Treasury bench, a colleague asked what he was thinking about. "I was wondering," he said, "whether A or B (two members sitting opposite) is the ugliest man in the House of Commons." "Surely B," said the colleague. "No," said Mr. Gladstone, "you are wrong, and I will tell you why. If you were to enlarge B, he would be almost noble, whereas if you were to enlarge A, he would be still uglier."

IN the fourth and final volume of her charming reminiscences, The Passing World, Mrs. Belloc Lowndes describes much of the life of Edwardian and more recent England. At the time of a great scandal, she writes, in which a friend of Joseph Chamberlain played a considerable part, Chamberlain went to see Labouchere and said, "What are the people saying about this awful affair?" Labouchere answered, "All the people I meet say they wished it concerned that fellow Chamberlain, but that there was no hope of such a thing with him."

MANY amusing stories were told about President and Mrs. Wilson's visit to Windsor. It was said that by far the nicest member of their suite was the old black mammy. The Queen wished to meet her, and the old negress courtseyed seventeen times to make up, as she explained, for Mrs. Wilson not curtseying at all. The Queen suggested that the old woman should be taken into St. George's Hall to see the splendid gold plate and the Indian gold and jewelled trophies which were all laid out in preparation for the banquet. The black mammy refused to be impressed and observed quietly, "All dat reminds dis child of de pantry of de White House." After she had left Windsor, she said plaintively to a man in the American Embassy, "Why have we noting like dis at de White House? Why only dirty little bits of silver?" Then she went on cunningly, "I was not going to let 'em think dey had anything we had not got."

ONE of the few men that Aircraftsman Shaw (Lawrence of Arabia) wanted to meet was G.B.S. The dramatist was delighted that the silent genius so complimented him, and thus inscribed a copy of one of his books, "From Public Shaw To Private Shaw."

TALKING about compliments, there's the story told about Mark Twain. He occasionally attended the services of Dr. Doane, the outstanding American preacher, who was at the time Rector of an Episcopal church in Hartford. One Sunday morning Twain said to him at the end of the service, "Dr. Doane, I enjoyed your service this morning. I welcomed it like an old friend. I have, you know, a book at home containing every word of it."

"You have not," said Dr. Doane indignantly.

Mark persisted, "I have."

"Well, you send me the book. I want to see it."

"Of course I will," said Twain. The following day he sent Dr. Doane an unabridged dictionary.

THE following story illustrates why that genial cleric, Sydney Smith made a name for himself as a wit about one hundred years ago. "The French certainly understand the art of furnishing better than we do," he said, "the profusion of looking-glasses in their rooms gives such gaiety. I remember entering a room with glass all around it at the French Embassy and saw myself reflected on every side. I took it for a meeting of the clergy and was delighted, of course."

It Pays To Shop At Home

A farmer walked into the hardware store of a mid-west town and asked to see an axe. After carefully examining a half-dozen, he chose one and asked its price.

"It is $1.50," said the storekeeper.

Producing a page torn from a mail-order catalogue, the farmer said, "Here is the same axe for only $1.33."

The hardware man looked at the picture, pondered, then said, "If they can sell it for that, so can I."

"O.K. I'll take it,' said the farmer.

The storekeeper picked up the axe, weighed it on a scale behind the counter and began to make out a sale bill, $1.33 plus 15 cents, total $1.48.

"Hey!" shouted the farmer "What is that 15 cents for?"

"For postage. If you sent for it you'd have to pay postage, wouldn't you?"

The farmer had to admit he would. He counted out the $1.48. The storekeeper wrapped up the axe—and calmly laid it on a shelf.

"Say, what is the big idea?" asked the farmer.

With a twinkle in his eye, the storekeeper replied, "Come back in three days and you can have it."

Getting Together On Housing

(MONTREAL STAR)

IN some respects, this country's accomplishments in the field of housing construction to meet the shortage that revealed itself so sharply during the war have been good. Authorities point to the fact that one household out of every twelve in Canada is occupying quarters built since the middle of 1945. This is a very respectable effort indeed, one which no other country has equalled proportionately, we are told.

Construction is still going on at full speed; this year promises to see a new record set in completions. Costs are apparently stabilized and rents seem to have reached if not passed their peak. Signs begin to appear that rents in fact are on their leisurely way down.

Part of the problem has then been met. The demand for housing by those who can afford to pay whatever is asked is being satisfactorily filled. But there remains the problem to which the Provincial Command of the Canadian Legion drew attention this week, that of the need of subsidized housing on the part of a considerable part of our people.

The need has been discussed so often that it requires no elaboration. The situation is that there are large numbers of families whose resources will not permit them to pay the rent for even the cheapest type of dwelling constructed today. It is recognized at all three levels of government, but recognition unfortunately is not enough to bring about the concerted action required.

The Legion's suggestion is that a conference of municipal, provincial and federal representatives be called to agree upon some form of subsidized low-cost housing, a suggestion we have already advanced and take this opportunity to urge again.

Federal authorities have many times expressed willingness to give sympathetic consideration to any specific proposal from the municipalities or provinces, but the responsibility of the latter for all but veterans' housing has been stressed. It would represent no encroachment on others' field of action to summon the sort of conference suggested, and the large part the Federal Government would play in any joint undertaking gives it at least the right if not the responsibility to take the initiative to this extent.

The Legion calls for a Federal subsidy. There is no doubt that some sort of subsidy would be required, but the source may be left to mutual arrangement.

There is one development now in progress which reveals that the resources are at hand for a successful attack on the problem if there is the will to use them. The Regent Park slum clearance project in the city of Toronto is a good example of what can be done when municipal, provincial and Federal authorities work together. An entire sub-standard area is to be wiped out and 5,000 persons to be given new homes at rents within their reach. Here, incidentally, the city pays the subsidy, but the cost will be offset, it is estimated, by savings on police and fire protection and health services.

This undertaking could be duplicated to the general good in many other Canadian cities, notably in Montreal.

There is nothing in the way of such duplication but agreement on specific projects, and the way in which their cost is to be shared. Discussions of what should be done have sounded too much like antiphonal choir music. It is time for some three-part harmony in unison.

Letters To The Editor

THE ILLEGITIMATE'S BIRTHRIGHT

Sir: In May 20th issue, a correspondent signed "Mary S" expressed her views of the unmarried mothers and her experiences with the Children's Aid Society in Peterborough.

It is indeed pleasing to the writer, to learn of the splendid service being rendered by the Peterborough branch. Regardless of union or non-union ties, the forsaken souls of the land are entitled to love and compassion. It is no disgrace upon any girl to bear children, in, or out of wedlock. Marriage as universally known, means nothing more than the legal obligation to support and protect the offspring.

In our civilization, we are governed by customs and nonsense. The good people pride themselves upon their goodness. They have done no wrong. Having therefore lived perfect lives, they feel they are competent to judge, condemn and destroy all persons, who, through weakness of strength, have fallen by the wayside.

The writer of this letter is an illegitimate. What of it, Mr. Editor? The early years were hell. None-the-less, the desire to live and the spirit to succeed have always urged him to face the world with a full and open countenance.

Snobbishness and contempt for illegitimates, is quite common with Canadians. Yet, were the absolute truth known concerning the behaviour of the Canadian servicemen in the British Isles during the recent war, the good saints dwelling in our midst, would lower their chins to shame's level.

Your paper, Mr. Editor, is the finest in Canada, judging from previous letters as well as editorials appearing in your journal. And for this reason and in the interest of fatherless children, these lines are penned.

Sincerely yours,

OLIVER TWIST.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Thus saith God the Lord, he that created the heavens, and stretched them out; he that spread forth the earth, and that which cometh out of it; he that giveth breath unto the people upon it, and spirit to them that walk therein....I am the Lord: that is my name: and my glory will I not give to another, neither my praise to graven images. (Isa. 42: 5, 8.)

❖ ❖ ❖

I will say to the north, Give up; and to the south, Keep not back: bring my sons from far, and my daughters from the ends of the earth; even every one that is called by my name: for I have created him for my glory, I have formed him; yea, I have made him. (Isa. 43: 6, 7.)

❖ ❖ ❖

The Lord reigneth, he is clothed with majesty; the Lord is clothed with strength, wherewith he hath girded himself: the world also is stablished, that it cannot be moved. Thy throne is established of old: thou art from everlasting. (Ps. 93: 1, 2.)

❖ ❖ ❖

Thine, O Lord, is the greatness, and the power, and the glory, and the victory, and the majesty: for all that is in the heaven and in the earth is thine; thine is the kingdom, O Lord, and thou art exalted as head above all. Both riches and honour come of thee, and thou reignest over all: and in thine hand is power and might; and in thine hand it is to make great, and to give strength unto all.

Now therefore, our God, we thank thee, and praise thy glorious name. (1 Chron. 29: 11-13.)

A Two-Edged Sword

What happens to the Indian minority in South Africa, a sovereign state, is a matter of concern to the United Nations, says India. What the Netherlands does in Indonesia, over which it still claims sovereignty, is equally a concern of the UN, says India. But what has happened to the recently annexed state of Hyderabad is strictly an Indian affair and no business of the UN, says India.

Each of these cases has its own special complexities. Each falls within that twilight zone where the juridical competence of the UN is far from clear. It has been urged that in all such cases the world organization would do well to resort to the International Court of Justice for a ruling as to its competence.

There is much to be said for bringing in the international court as an impartial deus ex machina in borderline cases of this sort, even though the UN has authority to determine for itself its own competence in any given instance. However that may be, it is by pushing forward at the uncertain frontiers of law that precedent is established and victories won for the ultimate reign of world law.

India's earlier urging of UN action against South Africa and the Netherlands remains to sharpen the case against Hyderabad's being considered a purely domestic issue. World law is a two-edged sword.

James Forrestal

In this country as well as in the United States, there will be general agreement with President Truman that the death of James V. Forrestal was as truly a casualty of war as if he had died on the firing line. The tragedy which ended Mr. Forrestal's life may be easily traced to his strenuous work in his country's service, for he was of that breed of public servant who is far harder task-master to himself than to others. He gave everything he had of ability and energy to a task which imposed upon him a tremendous nervous strain, and in so doing he completely exhausted his remarkable reserve powers.

Appreciation of Mr. Forrestal's work throughout the nations of the West had aroused many expressions of hope that he would enjoy the retirement he had so richly earned, and reports of his progress in hospital were received with satisfaction. There was thus little understanding of the extent to which Mr. Forrestal had suffered by the eight years of incessant and exhausting labour for his country, and the news of his death shocked and grieved his admirers.

There should be comfort for Mr. Forrestal's family and friends in the fact that his death was directly attributable to his fine public service. That fact should also assure his place in the esteem of his countrymen and in that of men of many other nations.

238 Death Toll Over US Holiday

NEW YORK, May 30 (AP) — The death toll in traffic and other accidents in the United States for the Memorial Day week-end had climbed to 238 today, several hours before the homeward-bound rush of millions of motorists even began.

Traffic accidents accounted for 150 of the fatalities. There were 51 drownings and 37 deaths from other miscellaneous accidental causes.

The highway deaths were only 65 below the total which the National Safety Council has predicted would be killed in automobile accidents during the week-end at midnight.

The Council estimated that 30,000,000 automobiles would be on United States highways during the three-day period.

Australian Scientists Man Two Islands In Antarctic

By WARREN WHITE

MELBOURNE, May 30 (Reuters)—Two wind-swept isles on the fringe of the Antarctic — Heard and Macquarie Islands — are manned by Australian meterologists and scientists gathering the-clock weather reports and round-the-clock weather reports and conducting extensive research.

The weather of the southern hemisphere is made down on the Antarctic continent. The great cold mass, an area larger than Australia, acts as a giant refrigerator.

Heard Island is 3,500 miles southwest of Melbourne, mid-way between Australia and South Africa in the Indian Ocean. It has 2,000-foot peaks, an extinct volcano and a glacier.

Macquarie Island, on the same latitude, lies 1,000 miles south of Melbourne—an isolated dot in the Southern Pacific.

Winter on these islands lasts most of the year, with snow from April to November. For long periods, blizzards rage almost unceasingly.

A Narrow Escape

BRANTFORD, May 30 — Jean Savory, 17, learning to drive an automobile, Sunday put her foot on the accelerator instead of a brake. The car shot across a roadway, broke through an iron railing and ended up with the front wheels overhanging a railway track 30 feet below. Neither Miss Savory nor Kenneth Hill, 20, who was giving her the driving lesson, was injured but damage to the car was placed at $300.

Chess by Radio

Fourteen men who made the first organized landing on Heard Island in December, 1947, recently returned to Melbourne. Their only contact with the rest of the world was by radio. Their nearest neighbors were a party of South African scientists on Marion Island, 1,400 miles to the northwest.

The Heard Island party played chess by radio with the South Africans. Some nights ionospheric conditions would cause a radio blackout. Then there would be no contact with the South Africans for two or three days.

Two surveyors, who stayed away from the base for long periods, found it easier to live off the land than to drag a food-laden sledge up glacied slopes, avoiding crevasses, an across broken treacherous ice.

Penquins were laying eggs along the route so they lived well on omelets and penquin steaks.

BRANTFORD, May 30 (CP) — The feats of the many Indians who served under Viscount Alexander in the Second World War, were as glorious and colorful as the Six Nations history of the past, the Governor-General told the people of the Six Nations Indian Reserve Sunday at Ohsweken when he unveiled a war memorial with the names of 22 Indian veterans who gave their lives in the Second World War.

His Excellency received from William Powless, secetary of the Six Nations Indian Council, an address of loyalty, and said in reply:

"The Six Nations is well known to me, as well as to the King and Queen. They know of your loyalty in the past. I shall write at the earliest opportunity and tell them of your pledge of loyalty today."

Watch For Rain In West As Wheat Crop Threatened

OTTAWA, May 20 (CP)—Canada's weatherman may play tricks with the future of the country's multi-million-dollar crop.

The situation will be sized up by government experts when it releases a telegraphic crop report in Ottawa Tuesday, but so far the outlook is dim.

Government sources say there must be "timely" rain—that is rain every week or 10 days—from now on.

One source says: "at the moment the situation is almost as bad as 1937, one of the worst drought years for Canada, when almost our entire crop was shrivelled up because of lack of rain."

In that year the prairie produced 156,800,000 bushels of wheat, the lowest yield for the last 30 years. In comparison, the prairies last year produced 363,000,000 bushels of wheat.

And while government officers will be waiting anxiously for the telegrams they will receive just prior to Tuesday when they will make up the report wheat shoots are rising slowly across the prairies.

Stocks are up six inches in some places. And in spots, too, there has been downpours, especially in the Regina area, to warm the heart of any wheat farmer.

But the rain so far is not widespread. In most prairie areas it is 50 per cent below the rain that fell in the same period a year ago.

This is "COME TO BRITAIN" Week in Peterborough

This week local merchants are displaying products made in Great Britain. They are good products... made from the finest materials and with that meticulous attention to detail so typical of British craftsmanship. Many of these products reflect traditions which are centuries old . . . traditions which make Britain the fascinating land it is — a place of scenic and historic beauty second to none in the world—truly a grand country to visit.

Remember that when you visit Britain you spend Canadian dollars that will eventually find their way back to Canada — purchasing the goods that we make and sell.

Britain needs our dollars now more than ever, so that she can buy much-needed Canadian goods. Therefore, when you visit Britain, you are helping to boost Canada's export trade. But more important to you personally . . . you will be travelling in a charming, hospitable land where history greets you at every turn in the road.

PETERBOROUGH, May 30 — Having seen the the Free Hearing Clinics advertised...we decided to interview the hearing specialist conducting these tests.

Mr. H. Ellis' reply to our opening remark, "How's business?"... was quite unexpected. In fact, he revealed our ignorance of the remarkable service Acousticon renders without charge or obligation to the hard-of-hearing.

"Like many others, I'm afraid you have the wrong impression of us. We are not salesmen...and, don't pretend to be. We are hearing specialists, primarily interested in doing everything humanly possible to help those with a hearing loss regain a rich, active, normal life.

"The modern Acousticon makes this possible, yes...but, it's important that people realize the need of a specialist to ensure the correct fitting. That's the reason for our clinics...we want to see those people who now wear a hearing aid, regardless of make ..as much as we do those who need one.

"You see, there are many different causes of deafness..and, each requires a different hearing aid fitting. Because of an efficient 'speech-hearing' analysis, I can ensure your obtaining the one fitting that will return your hearing as close as possible to normal. Our main objective is to have you benefit from our experience, knowledge, and the sympathetic understanding we give to each individual hearing problem.

"Examine for yourself these new Constellations...notice that there are 36 different models. Acousticon engineers and scientists spent seven years and over a half-million dollars to achieve 'Balanced Hearing'...a factor which is so vital to your health and happiness.

"Then too, there's our new 'Invisible Hearing' which allows you to hear the way people with no impairment do...in a way that's so completely unnoticeable that even your closest friend can't spot it."

We certainly urge you to spend a few minutes with Mr. Ellis and, our hat's off to Acousticon who provide this nation-wide service to help the hard-of-hearing come out of their world of silence.

Harriers Lose To Oshawa In Track Meet

The Shamrock Club of Oshawa defeated the Peterborough Harriers Club in keen competition Saturday in the Oshawa track and field meet. Visiting harriers won sprints and field events to make it close throughout. A return meet will be held latter in Peterborough.

G. McGillis (P) won the 100-yard dash as Jim Flowers came third, behind Crawford of Oshawa. Flowers took the 200 over Wilson, while Martin and Basciano (P) gave Bud Wilson, former Ontario champ, a hard run in the quarter mile, though he took the half handily. Jim Harris won the two-mile over Thistlewaite and McNeil, with just a yard's difference.

Gus Kuke, new Peterborough member, won the discuss throw and shot putt. The 27-year-old Yugoslavian, former champion in an Italian university, displayed splendid form. He trained with the 1948 Olympic champion, Adolfo Consilien. Oshawa took three jumping events while Flowers was third in the hurdles. Mozwisky of Oshawa did 20 feet, 2½ inches in the broad jump. Shamrocks won the medley relay when Peterborough gave away an early lead in the late drive. Times and places:

100 Yard Dash—G. McGillis, (PH) W. Crawford (SAC)—J. Flowers, (PH) Time. 10.2 sec.

220 Yard Dash—J. Flowers, B. Wilson. (SAC) A. Pringo (SAC) Time. 25.1 sec.

Outlaws Take Close One Over All-Stars

Stew Richardson's Outlaws eked out a 5-4 exhibition men's softball win over Howie Dalton's local All-Stars in a benefit game for Jake Jaquith, injured player, at the Bowl Saturday evening. Poor weather made for a poor turnout of fans, and it is possible that another benefit will be staged later in the season for the same player.

All the scoring was done in the first half, and neither side could show much edge the last part. The winners were looser in the field but bunched blows better for their one-run margin. Outlaws used two twirlers, with Ron Akers getting the victory, while Bigford was charged with the All-Stars loss as three pitchers took a turn on the mound.

Bob Crowe led All-Stars at bat with four in five tries, including two doubles. Pryde had two two-baggers and Dalton one.

For Outlaws, Akers clicked for three in three times, one a double, while White came through with a homer and single in four. These were the only extra-base blows and the only hitters to get more than one safety. Red Carpenter had two fine catches in left field, and the defensive work of the losers generally was good. The teams:

All-Stars: Crowe, 2b; Dalton, ss; Menzies, ss; D. Griffin, c; Thomson, c; Pryde, rf; Robson, cf; Carpenter, lf; Stewart, 1b; Hawkes, 3b; Guilfoyle, p; Bigford, p; Hinton, p.

Outlaws: Currie, 2b; Castle, c; Taylor, 3b; Foster, cf; Ralph, rf; Cleary, rf; Kumpf, 1b; White, lf; Mackness, ss; Akers, p; Gordon, p.

All Stars ... 002 020 000—4 10 2
Outlaws ... 010 220 00x—5 10 5

Umpires, Richardson, Spencer and Russelle.

P of W Triumphs

Prince of Wales Juniors gained second place in the south section of the School Softball League by virtue of an 18-12 win over Confederation School last week. These same teams will now play a sudden death semi-final in King Edward Park on Tuesday for the right to meet the undefeated King Edward team. The teams:

Prince of Wales: Barrie, Krogh, Northrop, Coit, Downer, Carveth, Heron, Godfrey, Clarke.

Confederation: Byron, D. Parry, McDonald, G. Parry, Goldie, Floyd, McIntosh, Chesher, Rose.

Umpire: Patterson.

Another of those wild-eyed team wrestling bouts headlines the pro mat card at the Brock Arena this Wednesday night. It'll be Slidin' Billy Hanson and Pat Flanagan against the villainous pair of Wee Willie Davis (280 pounds of him) and scrappy Sandy O'Donnell. It should be a redhot go with everything going, the ref in for a rough evening, and the fans in for heaps of hectic action. Then there's the Cardiff Giant tangling in the semi-final with Tug Carlsen, who showed plenty here a week ago. Prelim has Jimmy (Red) Sims mixing with Al Korman. Quite a card and there won't be many more mat shows here as summer approaches.

When the Newcastle United touring soccer stars played Ontario recently in Toronto, Andy Lytle says the Scottish directors nearly dropped their monocles in amazement when the Ontario coach sent in three subs. Later, the visitors used a few replacements, since the match was just an exhibition affair. But it simply isn't done in league play over 'ome. No, sir, positively no substitutions. If a chappie or two on a team breaks a leg or two, that team simply plays on shorthanded. Personally, we can't see such a Sparton ruling at all, as it tends to spoil the competition. Three subs may be used in soccer here up to the last 10 minutes of play—that rider being added to prevent a canny coach throwing in three fresh subs in the last couple of minutes of a close contest. A sound rule.

Making 'Em Honest

There's a standard system of computing golf handicaps in effect in Canada now for the first time. System compels all players to post medal-play scores at home clubs. Handicaps are based on the average of the low 20 per cent of scores. So, if a fellow plays 20 games, his five lowest scores, divided by five, are used for his handicap. The old setup was slipshod. Guy used to turn in five or 10 scores and had the handicap set. Then he was expected to turn in any lower scores so the handicap could be adjusted, but often this was not done. Now, if medal-play scores aren't posted, penalties of one of three strokes is authorized. We'll have honest golfers yet, by golly.

Scribe Clayt Browne of St. Kitts has the crying towels out against other OLA senior "A" clubs. On account of the OLA banned several St. Catharines players for performing last winter in the States against orders. He says: "Past president Ed McDermott sponsored the motion to limit the ban. Art Brown seconded it and Weston voted for Athletics. The gents who insisted on A's scalps and the whole pound of flesh were Jack Worthy of Tigers, Jeff Hipkin of Brampton, Charlie Rowan of Mimico, Ken Kingston of Peterborough, and Jim McLeod of Owen Sound. That meant five to three."

Then Came The Rain

It rained around three p.m. Saturday just enough to scare away a lot of ball fans from Riverside Park. But the exhibition senior tilt went on at 3.20 before a slim gathering and turned out to be a fair fixture. Canisius College of Buffalo took a 9-6 win o'er the Petes but only got their winning margin in the final two frames. Young Brian Wade didn't look bad at all on the home mound, and Doug Plunkett also showed plenty of stuff in his slab sojourn. Gunner Whitehill finished it up. Freddy Garvey, Howie Dalton and Joe Stewart hit well, Garvey leading with two doubles and two singles in five. And the Petes reeled off three neat double-plays. The visitors played sound ball most of the way.

Again in the evening at the Bowl, chill weather kept the crowd down to slightly more than the next of kin as a benefit men's softball scrap was staged for Jake Jaquith. They'd better hold another when summer arrives as the Saturday proceeds won't make much of a dent in a doctor's bill. A good enough game with Outlaws edging Dalton's All-Stars 5-4, Ron Akers being the winning twirler. Ken Guilfoyle took a three-inning turn for the All-Stars and may come out with Cosmos. Bob Crowe and Akers led the rival belters, and Red Carpenter looked okay in left. A twin bill for the male softballers at the Bowl tomorrow eve, Knights vs. Jewellers, and Uniteds vs. Cosmos.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

It is to be hoped that the weather will be fine for tonight's games.

The draw for tonight was published Friday in The Examiner.

Many of the bowlers are taking in the men's doubles tournament at Campbellford this Wednesday afternoon and evening.

We would appreciate it if any bowlers (ladies or gents) who attend tournaments, outside of our own club, would let us have the results by 8:00 o'clock the following morning. It helps out the column a lot and besides we're always interested in just how the boys and girls are doing.

It appears that the lady bowlers are one up on the men. Despite the unfavorable weather they staged a little pre-season tournament last Friday afternoon and played an 8-end game. There were close to 50 members on hand and the bowling was well above average.

Tea was served in the club house at the conclusion of the game. The winning rinks were skipped by Mrs. Dawe, Mrs. Jay and Mrs. Moore.

Crescents Dump Mounties 12-10

By The Canadian Press.

Owen Sound Crescents and Brampton Excelsiors won their home games handily Saturday night. Crescents dumped Mimico Mounties 12-10 and Excelsiors came from behind to defeat St. Catharines Stags 18-12.

The Owen Sound game was marred by two fights, Jack Williams of the Mounties winding up with a two-game suspension after a last-quarter fracas in which he pulled off referee Max Peart's sweater while the official was trying to break up the fight.

Russ Slater belted in seven goals for Owen Sound. Harry Kazarian, Don Ashbee and Arnold Smith each collection two and Owen Sound's other goals went to Jack Mason, Bill Allum, Don Campbell, Norm Shortridge, Doug Gillespie, Marow Woods and Bun White.

Ken Dixon countered with three goals for Mounties with Bill Rankin and Don McPhail getting two apiece. Chuck Simpson, Jack Williams and Lloyd Beattie got the others.

It was Brampton's fourth straight win in as many starts Saturday, but it took a third quarter, 10-goal rally to do it. Athletics took an early lead and held it until the third period when Harry Graham, Excelsior captain, led his team to victory with five goals in that period.

Belleville Captures Honors At Track Meet

BELLEVILLE, May 30.—Belleville Collegiate Institute and Vocational School swept top honors in the Central Ontario Secondary School Athletic Association track and field meet held on the Albert College Campus Saturday afternoon despite threatening weather.

The BCI squad amassed a total of 105½ points. Albert College finished in second slot with 67 points, while the Ontario School for the Deaf was third with 31. Other teams competing finished in the following order: Picton 23, Tweed 19½, Trenton 19, Brighton 10, and Campbellford 3.

Don Slater of Albert College walked off with the senior boys' championship, while George Ewald of BCI copped top honors in the intermediate division. Walt Whalen of Tweed was junior champion.

In the girls' divisions, Donna Sills of BCI took the senior championship, Kay Mills and Helen Watson, both of BCI, split intermediate honors, while Betty Ormshaw of Trenton and Doris Kerr of BCI shared the junior championship.

Oshawa Gains 90 to 78 Cricket Match

Oshawa defeated the Peterborough-Whitaker Cricket Club here Saturday by a 90-78 score. Batting first, Oshawa faced F. Booth and H. Pyle to get off to a poor start, losing three wickets for 12 runs, but J. Hubank and R. Tunstall (21) put on 30 for the fifth wicket. With the score at 51, Wright bowled for Booth and at 60, Frank Dyer took Pyle's place at the other end, the innings closing for 90. Other double figure scores were F. Spencer 15, T. Hobbs 12 and H. Dibben 10. H. Pyle had four wickets for 24 and W. Wright four for 26 as successful bowlers, with F. Booth making two fine catches.

The local team made a good start to score 74 for five wickets by W. Wright 28, H. Pyle 16, B. Roberts 15, and S. Jennings 11, but the later batsmen did little, and the innings closed for 78, leaving Oshawa winners by 12 runs. Next Saturday at the Oval, the locals meet Toronto Brace Church B in their first council match.

Oshawa: W. Howarth 1, J. Hubank 8, L. Harris 3, A. Sargent 8, J. Hobbs 12, R. Tunstall 23, F. Spencer 15, J. Cluff 2, H. Dibben 10, D. Bennett 3 (not out), extra 5 —total 90.

Peterborough: F. Booth 2, W. Wright 28, W. Freeman 2, H. Pyle 16, B. Roberts 15, S. Jennings 11, F. Dyer 1, R. Harvey 0, E. Tomsett 1 (not out) F. Roberts 0, R. Rollwagon absent, extras 2 — total 78.

Bowling: R. Tunstall 1 wicket for 19 runs, J. Hobbs 2 for 3, J. Cluff 1 for 14, L. Harris 2 for 23, F. Spencer 2 for 8.

Lindsay Wins By 4-3 Count

Lindsay gained a 4-3 decision over the O'Halloran soccer eleven in the semi-final of the Ovens-Injured Players' Cup Saturday afternoon in the second tilt of the double-header. The rain stopped early and the field was in perfect condition.

Within a minute, T. Nye put Lindsay ahead 1-0 on an individual effort. O'Halloran's quickly evened up the count through F. Dyer. A little later Willis scored for Lindsay. Exchanges continued even until Taylor broke up an O'Halloran attack to send Willis right into goal to make it read 3-2 just before the interval.

On resuming, Hutchison went into goal in place of Art O'Halloran who had to retire through an injury. After five minutes, Willis registered the fourth goal of the game. The local boys went right back to get another counter through Dunn to make it 4-3. Thereafter it was a battle between the visitors and the local eleven to hold their meagre lead until the finish.

Lindsay—G. Earl, goal; R. Cox and N. Crawford, full backs; T. Dobbie, H. Taylor and W. Snowden, half backs; T. Nye, B. Nye, L. Willis, D. Renwod, forwards.

O'Halloran's — G. Hutchison, goal; T. Scott and Art. Downer, full backs; A. E. Smith, J. Dunn, half backs; H. Foster, D. Garvey, D. Duncan, Art O'Halloran and E. Boon, forwards.

TURNS PRO, Johnny Dengel, star halfback of the Windsor, Ont., Rockets of the Ontario Rugby Football Union last year who has signed a one-year contract with the Detroit Lions of the National Professional Football League. The Windsor native will be groomed for either defensive or a halfback position when he joins the Lions Aug. 1.

Buffalo Boys Take Win Against Petes

Canisius College of Buffalo beat the Petes 9-6 in an exhibition ball game Saturday at Riverside before a slim crowd. It was a pretty even and interesting tilt throughout, with the locals giving three twirlers a chance to show their stuff. Green led the winners at bat with three for four, as Stewart and Owens of Buffalo hit circuit clouts. Garvey topped the Petes at the plate with two doubles and two singles in five, Dalton having three blows in five tries. Three double-plays by the Petes kept them in the hunt right up to the finish. Rain shortly before three kept down the crowd and made the game 20 minutes late starting. The box score:

PALESTINIAN VICTOR

Palestinian came into his own Saturday as contender for the three-year-old turf championship with a victory in the $50,000-added Jersey Stakes at Garden State Park. Hedley Woodhouse of Vancouver was aboard the winner, which broke the track record.

Palestinian reeled off the 1¼-mile distance in 2:02.4.

Electrics Lose To Petes In Cup Contest

Bad weather did not deter the soccer teams Saturday afternoon when CGE were eliminated from the Ovens Injured Players Cup by the Petes 3-0 in an excellent brand of play before a good attendance. Best for the losers were Strong, Cotton and Goodhue; for the winners, G. Foster in goal, Hennesey and E. Lane.

Both teams were cautious until a breakaway by H. Payne culminated in Hennesey connecting with a timely goal. CGE retaliated with Strong, Cotton and Goodhue threatening. Towards the interval, Petes were forced into their own territory. Strong hitting the post from the flag kick, then missing by inches and Cotton skimming the crossbar as half time arrived.

On resuming, Petes altered their style of play to long swinging passes and Cribbis sent the ball across to E. Lane who made it 2-0. On the next visit, the same player landed a smashing drive inside the upright to make it 3-0 while the Electrics made many raids to find their objective blocked by a superb defense backed up by good goalkeeping.

CGE—J. Chamberlain, goal; J. Titchill and S. Murduff, full backs; C. Murduff, J. Craig and H. Steel half backs; R. Strong, E. Cotton, F. Attard, D. Gourley and J. Goodhue forwards; sub, J. MacCauley.

PETES—G. Foster, goal; F. Foster and D. Downer, full backs; K. Downer, E. Downer and E. Lane, half backs; W. Cribbis, H. Payne, J. Hennesey, G. Downer, and E. Lane, forwards; subs, J. Downer and L. Payne.

Army Exercises

AURORA, May 30 (CP)—Artillery thundered and planes divebombed Sunday as the Canadian Army, Central Command, and the RCAF staged exercise river crossing near this community, 25 miles north of Toronto.

IN TEAM MATCH—A welter of hurricane-action is looked for in the Brock Arena ring when the team wrestling partners of Wee Willie Davis and Sandy O'Donnell meet the combination of Pat Flanagan, pictured above, and Sliding Billy Hanson. Hanson injected himself into last week's turmoil and showed that he has little fear of either the rubbery O'Donnell or the gigantic Willie Davis.

Hanson handed out plenty of punishment when he got into the ring after getting mixed up with Davis at the ringside. Before that the smoothie from Omaha, Nebraska, had beaten smart Art Brady down with a punishing hammerlock.

The Cardiff Giant will have no easy opponent in the semi-final when he meets Tug Carlsen, who bested Dan O'Connor here last week. The opener will have Jimmy "Red" Sims meeting Al Krusher Korman.

Epic Captures 90th Running Of King's Plate

By JACK SULLIVAN.

TORONTO, May 30—(CP) — Epic, a glistening brown colt with lots to learn about the racing business, today was one long hop ahead in the hunt for the best money-winning three-year-old of the year in Canada.

"He's pretty green yet, but right now I'd say Epic is the best horse ever bred in Canada," Jockey Rogers of Toronto said shortly before he left for New York last night. Rogers, a free-lance jockey in the U. S., rode the colt to an easy victory in the 90th renewal of the $10,000-added King's Plate classic Saturday.

The Toronto-born jockey, who has had nine years' experience in the saddle, probably will get lots of argument in his statement, but pic's Plate effort stamped him as the three-year-old to watch befor the 1949 racing season ends.

Toronto industrialist E. P. Taylor—who probably doesn't need it—picked up $10,810 in Epic's 2¼ length decision over Speedy Irish, owned by Toronto publisher George McCullagh. Second-place money was $3,500.

Burst of Speed

Speedy Irish last out of the starting gate in the 13-horse field came up with a tremendous burst of speed in the stretch but just couldn't catch the easy-striding Epic. "The Taylor horse will beat Speedy Irish every time out—there's little doubt about that," Rogers predicted.

Rogers might get arguments here because plenty of fans in the 42,000-crowd who watched the classic at Woodbine Park figured Speedy Irish, with jockey Johnny Dewhurst aboard, should have made its move much earlier.

Dewhurst claimed Speedy Irish could not settle in stride in the early running and was a distant last. When the jockey got the colt settled down and running, he picked up his speed but was unable to cut down all of Epic's lead.

Epic's time for the nine furlongs was 1:52 2-5, just one-fifth of a second off the plate record set in 1948 by Last Mark and Rogers figured a better time could have been posted "if we had another horse in front of us." Bolaris, brown filly owned by Steve Chris of Kitchener, set the pace for the first half-mile but faded badly and Epic took over.

Giants Bounce Newark In Doubleheader

By the Associated Press.

"Bailey, Bamberger and Bowman." That is not the name of a law firm, bu afirm pitching trio for the International League pacesetting Jersey Giants.

The three "B's" have accounted for 17 of the Giants' 22 triumphs with Bailey the ringleader with aperfect 7-0 slate. Bowman is next with a 6-2 record, and Bamberger third with a 4-1 mark.

Bamberger and Bowman pitched the Giants to a double triumph over Newark Bears yesterday. Bamberger turned back the Bears 7-5 in the opener and Bowman tripped the Bears 4-1 in the nightcap to extend a Giant winning streak to six games.

The Giants supported Bamberger's eight-hit pitching with 11-hit attack thatfeatured home runs by Monte Irvin and Fred Gerken. Irvin and Gerken batted home all the Giants' runs with Irvin sending four across. Fenton Mole cracked a two-run homer in the ninth for the Bears.

Sweep Doubleheader

Buffalo Bisons swept a doubleheader from Toronto Maple Leafs 7-3 and 4-1, to remain within two games of the Giants.

Saul Rogovin scattered nine hits, in picking up his second victory in as many starts, in the opener, which the Bisons won with a six-run splurge in the eighth on three hits and six walks. Rookie Luis Aloma limited the Leafs to six hits in the second game. Losing his shutout in the fourh inning when Johnny Blanik homered.

Montreal made a clean sweep of its five-game series with Rochester Red Wings, dusting off the Wings 8-2 and 4-0.

Dan Bankhead checked the Wings on five safeties, one of them Russ Derry's 12th homer of the season, to post his fourth victory withou a defeat.

Right-hander Clarence Podbielan shut out the Wings on three blows in the finale to record his first victory in three decisions.

Balimore Orioles also won a double-header, beating Syracuse Chiefs 3-2 and 7-3 to vacate the cellar in favor of the Chiefs.

Al Widmar hung up his seventh triumph in the first game outpitching Ken Burkhart and Mike Schultz. Bryan Stephens coasted to his third victory in the nightcap.

Paige Steals Spotlight In Surprise Victory For Cleveland

Associated Press Sport Writer.

Will Satchel Paige, Cleveland's legendary negro pitcher, prove another life-saver for the world champion Indians?

The ageless right-hander indicated yesterday that he might be a great help to Manager Lou Boudreau's injury-riddled pitching staff when he hurled a brilliant 2-1 11-inning victory over Chicago White Sox.

Paige's peerless performance nearly overshadowed the zany goings-on in the National League pennant race which to-day showed three teams—Brooklyn, New York and Boston—tied for first place with Cincinnati only one game behind.

The victory of Paige had a double significance. It not only enabled the Tribe to gain a split in their doubleheader with the Sox, but marked the first Sunday triumph of the season for Cleveland. The Indians had lost their first eight games on the Sabbath. Chicago won yesterday's first game 4-2.

Paige, who had made only one previous start because of a bothersome stomach, pitched seven-hit ball and struck out seven in registering his first triumph against two defeats. He lost his shut-out bid in the eighth when Luke Appling singled in losing pitcher Billy Pierce.

Randy Gumpert scattered nine hits in the opener to post his fourth triumph against three defeats. Steve Gromek was the loser.

Three Tied

The top rung in the National League reached the suffocating point as Brooklyn edged out the Boston Braves 3-2 and New York Giants took both ends of a twin bill from the Phillies in Philadelphia 4-2 and 3-0. All three now have 21-16 won-lost records.

Jackie Robinson's single with the bases loaded in the seventh off Warren Spahn drove in the tying and winning runs for Brooklyn. Lefty Joe Hatten registered his fourth triumph.

Bobby Thomson was the big gun in the Giants' victory. He smashed a two-run homer to break up a 15-inning battle in the opener. It gave relief-pitcher Dave Koslo his first triumph of the season. The Giants' centre-fielder collected two singles and a triple in the nightcap as first-time starter Hank Behrman pitched a seven-inning one-hitter for the Giants. The game was halted by Pennsylvania's curfew law.

The Reds lost an opportunity to make it a four-way tie for first when Chicago Cubs whipped them 10-2 after Cincinnati won the first game of their doubleheader 4-1.

Pittsburg snapped a seven-game losing streak with a 4-2 victory over Harry Brecheen and the Cards in St. Louis. The Pirates' home-run threat, Ralph Kiner, collected a couple of hits and scored two runs to boost his average up to a league-leading .370. Elmer Riddle won his first game after four defeats.

In the American League, Philadelphia Athletics moved to within 4½ games of the leading Yankees, defeating New York 3-1.

Rookie Alex Kellner limited the Yanks to six hits for his sixth victory, half of them over New York. A two-run homer by shortstop Eddie Joost highlighted a three-run fifth inning.

Bespectacled Paul Calvert of Montreal pitched Washington Senators to a 10-4 victory over the Red Sox in Boston to drop the Sox into third place. The Nats belted Ellis Kinder and Frank Quinn for 14 hits, including home runs by Clyde Vollner and Eddie Robinson.

Detroit swept its three-game series with St. Louis, slamming three Brownie pitchers for 14 hits and a 6-4 victory. A home run by Hoot Evers with a mate aboard in the seventh broke up a 4-4 tie. Winless Dick Starr suffered his sixth defeat.

Garson Says Canada Needs World Trade

SWAN RIVER, Man., May 30.—(CP).— Justice Minister Garson told a political rally here Saturday night that Canada, possibly more than any other nation, is dependent upon world trade and world peace.

Mr. Garson, speaking in support of George Weaver, Liberal candidate for Churchill in the Federal election, said Liberal policies have kept Canada prosperous "in spite of bad world conditions of the past 13 difficult years." He said that Conservative policies which had produced such "bad" results in the Bennett regime could be counted on to produce "worse" results under a "less able man like George Drew."

Canadian mark when they stepped off the distance medley relay—a two and a half-mile run—in 10:38.9; almost eight seconds better than the record of 10:46.4 set by the Canadian Olympic team of 1928.

Touring Newcastle United team swamped a Saskatchewan All-Star soccer eleven 13-2 in Saskatoon Saturday night. The English visitors, thrilling more than 5,000 persons with their smart play, never extended themselves and could have scored another dozen goals without extra effort.

Scorers for Newcastle were Robledo, with four; Thompson and Walker with two each; Milburn, Dodgin, Houghton and Mitchell, one goal apiece. Dave Greyeyes, Saskatchewan centre half, kicked the ball into his own net in trying to clear. For Saskatchewan, Stan Rivett, centre forward, scored twice.

The Quebec Senior Hockey League Saturday accepted the entry of Chicoutimi while two American clubs — Boston Olympics and New York Rovers—virtually announced their intention of quitting the circuit.

Acceptance of the Chicoutimi team came as a surprise but little Rollie Hebert, former coach of Valleyfield Tigers in the Junior Amateur Hockey Association, presented a good case. He said that Chicoutimi had opened a new rink last winter with an estimated seating capacity of 10,000, and that the rink was only a 2½ hour trip by motor over the new Talbot Highway from Quebec City.

One of the classiest fields of track stars ever to gather at London, re-wrote the Western relay record book here on Saturday afternoon as they staged a mass attack on both meet and Canadian marks in the third running of the annual event. Sixteen meet marks fell before the eager speedsters and three new Canadian records were written in to the books when all the dust had died down.

More than 3,000 fans saw the well drilled team from North Toronto Track Club shatter the first

House Stenographers' Boss Gets Many Telephone Calls

By MEL SUFRIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, May 30 — (CP) — Sometime in September a session of Parliament will be called, and M. P.'s will trek to Ottawa to tackle the job of running Canada's business.

That will be the signal for Leonard C. Hill to go into action, and by the time things begin to happen in the Commons, he'll have a staff enlarged 10 times over.

The 46-year-old civil servant is boss of the House of Commons Stenographic Pool, a department that employs about 150 girls and a few men during sessions of Parliament to look after the extensive secretarial needs of the M.P.'s.

The doings of Parliament affect almost every Canadian in one way or another but few people have their lives so closely regulated by the Commons as Leonard Hill.

Morn Till Night

Operating from 9 a.m. till late night depending on how long the Commons sits, the department headed by the genial, grey-haired chief receives an average of about 750 telephone calls a day during the session and handles about 3,000 letters for the members during an average day.

Len Hill receives as many as 15 telephone calls at his home each night and has an understanding wife who realizes that the intereting work compensates for the occasional intrusion on their home life.

The boss of the pool modestly admits that he can do any of the jobs handled by the personnel of his department. He got his start in a commercial course. Since then the dapper, bespectacled Ottawan has made it a rule to keep up with all the latest developments in business procedure.

Noisy Department

The Stenographers' Pool, in the basement of the House of Commons central block, is easily one of the noisiest on Parliament Hill with typewriters clacking away in chorus at any time of the day. The department has thus far shield away from electric typewriters.

The needs of 224 M. P.'s, many of them from French-Canadian constituencies, were looked after by English-speaking and bilingual stenographers during the last session. With redistribution and the addition of Newfoundland members there will be more next session.

An M. P. who has a lot of work—like John Diefenbaker in the last House—gets a stenographer to himself, but most others double up on sharing the services of a secretary.

Car Bursts In Flames Following Collision

OAKVILLE, May 30 (CP) —An automobile police said was driven by Rene Dupuis, 28, of Smiths Falls, caught fire Sunday night following a collision with another car police said was operated by Norman Nichol of Port Credit

Three passengers in the Smiths Falls car suffered minor injuries. They were Dupuis, Mary Doyle and Kenneth Munroe. Another occupant, Marjorie Munroe, escaped injury, as did six persons in the other car.

Police said the Smiths Falls car plunged into a roadside ditch and remained upright. The passengers had just got out of the car when it burst into flames.

Woman Pilot Waits For Engine Repairs

TORONTO, May 30 (CP) — Mrs. Richarda Morrow-Tait, who arrived here Saturday after ignoring a United States grounding order in Chicago is awaiting completion of repairs to the engine of her silver monoplane.

The 25-year-old British flier landed in Chicago early Friday to solicit financing for the last lap of her round-the-world flight which started last November. But the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Administration ruled the plane was automatically grounded. Mrs. Tait and her 25-year-old navigator, Jack Ellis, decided to avoid the "red tape" and took off for Toronto.

They landed here with a disabled engine, but plan to leave shortly for Britain by way of Greenland and Iceland.

Denies He's To Blame For Forrestal Suicide

WASHINGTON, May 30 (AP)—Drew Pearson, news columnist and radio commentator, said Sunday that press criticism—including his own—had nothing to do with the suicide of James V. Forrestal.

Pearson said in a letter to the editor of the Washington Post that he is "greatly disturbed" because some persons seem to think his reporting contributed to Forrestal's death. He did not name any of the persons.

Forrestal, former United States Secretary of Defence, jumped to his death a week ago from the 16th floor of the Naval Medical Centre at Bethesda, Md.

John Rankin (Dem.-Miss.) previously declared in the House of Representatives that Pearson made a "vicious attack" on Forrestal on one of his weekly radio broadcasts.

Corns, Callouses, Bunions and Burning Feet are the result of poor Foot Health—usually caused by poorly fitted shoes. Foot Bones out of alignment--strain ligaments—cramp nerves—each muscle and bone in the foot has a job to do—when cramped they cannot function properly—the foundation of arches, built to balance body weight over the entire foot area—gets out of alignment and resulting agony makes you hurt all over---because other bones of the body, especially the spine—also are out of alignment.

Doctors tell us that broken down arches cause as much trouble above the hips—as they do in the feet and legs themselves.

Neill's—at your service with Foot Health Shoes—always correctly fitted.

For Children — Research, Hurlbuts, Jumping Jacks for Babies.

For Men — The famous Dr. Locke Shoes.

For Ladies — Dr. M. W. Locke's and Research and Styl-Arch Neill's own branded lines.

For Boys — Research shoes.

The foot health shoes will give you more comfort—by holding the bones of your feet in proper alignment—thereby releasing cramped muscles and nerves—to give better circulation. Nature will do the rest.

See Hong Kong Expanding For Big Business

By HENRY BOUGH

HONG KONG, May 30 (Reuters). — Hong Kong is forging ahead with development plans, although the probability of a Communist-dominated China in the near future is fully realized.

An official estimate puts the capital invested in government and private development projects in the neighborhood of $158,500,000 (Hong Kong) last year, and it is believed that a similar sum will be spent this year. (The Hong Kong dollar is worth about 25 cents in Canadian money.)

The willingness of both British and Chinese "big business" to invest such large sums is perhaps based on the confidence that no matter what happens in China Hong Kong will remain British.

This belief is supported by recent statements in the British House of Commons that Britain intends to defend the colony against any external aggression, and that no change is contemplated in the present status of Hong Kong.

Banks, commercial houses and wealthy British and Chinese residents all share this confidence.

In the suburbs of Hong Kong, in hitherto inaccessible spots, "country homes" and villas are springing up. Refugees from war-torn China, finding accommodation almost impossible to obtain, are building their own homes.

The government is reaping a good harvest from the sale of Crown land, either by public auction or private treaty.

In the business section of the town, several large building schemes are eiher in process or contemplated.

Business Men Meet

WARKWORTH, May 30 (ENS) —The Business Men's Association met in the Carlow Hotel on Wednesday evening.

During the business period Elgin Edgar, reporting for the committee appointed to look into the matter of floodlights, said that some progress had been made but that negotiations were still going on between the Fair Board, Township Council and the Provincial Government for acquisition of the property.

Dr. F. B. Brintnell reported that the equipment for the children's playground behind the Community Hall should be completed before June 1st.

The speaker for the evening, the Rev. J. M. Ritchie, gave a very interesting and timely address on community service.

BARS BEHIND—Ralph Fugatt, 29, of Springfield, Mass., arrives in New York with his wife after spending two months in a Rutland, Vt., prison cell because he could not pay a debt judgment. Fugatt was freed when a Memphis cotton broker wired the money, $2189, to pay the judgment because he felt Fugatt "got a bad deal".

Lack Of Track Impedes Runners

Needs of the track and field sport in Peterborough have been brought to the attention of the Kiwanis Club by the Recreation Commission. In the past two years the Kiwanians have aided the local Harriers' Club in trying to promote the sport in the area.

At the last Recreation Commission meeting a request for $75 for the Peterborough Harriers' Club for a quarter-mile cinder track was laid aside for further consideration. At the meeting the Commission said they were prepared to co-operate with some other organization in the city in the development of the track and field facilities.

Present facilities for the sport are practically non-existant. The Peterborough Harriers' Club, the only track and field club in the city work out at the Exhibition Grounds or at the YMCA.

To Compete in Toronto

Despite the poor competitive conditions in Peterborough the local club are planning to send a large group of boys to the Canadian Senior Track and Field Championships, the British Empire Games Trials, and the Canadian Junior Track and Field Championships in Toronto this summer. The senior championships and the trails will be run off July 15 and 16 at Toronto's East York Memorial Stadium. The Junior championships will be held July 8 and 9 at the Varsity Stadium. This latter meet is sponsored by the North Toronto Track Club and is sanctioned by the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada.

Application forms for this event may be obtained from the local Recreation Commission in the City Buildings.

Difficult Job For C.M.A. To Be Neutral

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor.

This is Maritime year for the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

It has a Maritime president, N. A. Hesler of Sackville, NB, elected at Toronto last year; it meets at St. Andrews-by-the-Sea, NB, June 7-9, and it will make further visits in New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, and Prince Edward Island.

The CMA, as its name implies, is devoted to the interests of Canadian industry, watches everything that may affect its members and through its various departments can give information on almost any industrial subject.

It is proud of its work in the interests of foreign trade, and has representative at nearly all trade gatherings.

It has the difficult job of being neutral among many conflicting interests, and is cautious in its statements. For instance, what would the butter makers think if it said something favoring margarine?

A Different Story

If any one thinks that all manufacturers think and favor the same things, probably the CMA could tell a different story.

It has 6,300 members in 607 Canadian communities from coast to coast and a permanent staff of nearly 100 in offices in principal cities, headed by general manager J. T. Stirrett at Toronto head office.

In consideration of the importance of present-day dealings with the United States, here will be a strong delegation of American speakers at this year's convention headed by Charles Sawyer, American Secretary of Commerce.

Canadian speakers wnll include President W. T. Ross Flemington of Mount Allison University, Sackville, and President W. A. Mather of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Grammar School At Port Hope Started In 1852

The educational system in Port Hope has a long history dating back to days before records were kept, with the result that no one today knows when common schools were first established in the town.

As long ago as 1894 an attempt was made to compile a history of the educational development of the town but even 55 years ago, schools had been established too long for even the oldest resident to recall their beginning.

Records show, however, that there was grammar school education as early as 1852 which, no matter how crude or rudimentary, seemed to have satisfied the needs of the time amply.

This, of course, was not the beginning of organised education there, for common schools were already established.

First important step in catering for schooling in the modern sense was made in 1865 when a Joint Board of Grammar and Common School was formed. Thomas Benson was the founder and early principals of the High School were John Gordon, who left in 1865 to become Inspector of Schools in Ireland and Adam Purslow, MA, MLA who had one of the longest school teaching records in the province.

Mr. Purslow's staff consisted of of A. A. Kirkconell B. A., mathematics; R. Galbraith, undergraduate science and commercial subjects; Miss C. Ross, B. A. English and Miss G. Furby, drawing.

Little is known about the Public Scools at the time except that there were two, one located in the east opposite the park and the other in the west.

In 1894 of main structure of Trinity College School was the same as today. It was constructed in 1870. The Rev. C. J. S. Bethune was headmaster at the time and he helped plan the new buildings. One of the school's senior houses is today named after him.

When completed the school housed and educated 140 boys. That figure has more than doubled.

Cricket was the major sport at the school in the late 1880's and has remained so throughout the years. So enthusiastic were masters and students that a professional coach was brought out from England every year for the school eleven.

Coe Hill Man Awarded $166.75 Damages

William J. Bullock, Smith, at a special sitting of the County court to-day was ordered to pay damages of $166.75 to Vernal Peters, Coe Hill as a result of a motor accident on January 11, 1948.

The collision occurred on Highway 36, about two miles east of Nogie's Creek between nine and 10 p.m. when the rear end of Bullock's car collided with the front end of Peter's vehicle. Both cars were driven into snowbanks and received considerable damage, but none of the occupants were injured.

At that point the snow-packed road was said to be 12 feet wide and the snow was hard packed, making a slippery surface.

Peters claimed he saw the headlights of Bullock's car from a distance. As he started up a knoll he slowed down to five miles an hour to facilitate passing. The defendant's car "came sideways" up the road to meet him, he declared; and despite the fact he drove partially into a snow bank to avoid the oncoming vehicle a collision resulted.

Bullock said he did not know another car was coming until he started down the knoll and saw the headlights of the plaintiff's west-bound car. He testified that he changed gears to pull away from the impending crash but was unsuccessful in doing so.

Judge S. L. Smoke found the defendant negligent in not keeping a proper lookout. He assessed him $166.75 and costs and dismissed a counter suit.

W. J. Arthur Fair, KC, represented Peters while John Bradshaw appeared for Bullock.

Police Called To Stop Fight

Provincial Police Constables Joseph Hanson and George Henderson broke up a fight at Pine Pavilion, Chemong Lake, during the Saturday evening dance. Today Bob Gilmour, 17, of 659 George St. pleaded guilty to causing a disturbance there and paid a fine of $7.50 and $2.50 costs.

Three men who pleaded guilty to being drunk during the weekend were William Reid, 302 Lewis St., Earl Caddigan, 282 Edinburgh St. and Theodore Moore, 490 Charlotte St. Provincial Constables Hanson and Henderson arrested John Beatty, RR 10 Peterborough on the Warsaw Rd. Saturday evening and charged him with drunkenness. The case was adjourned until June 6.

Radar Rams Leg Sergeant Hurt

Allan R. Raymond, 578 Arndon Ave. had a compound fractured leg as a result of an accident with heavy radar equipment at the Armouries Sunday morning. Mr. Raymond, who is a Sergeant in the Reserve Army, was helping store the equipment for the summer when it fell on his leg. He was taken to Civic Hospital in Kaye's ambulance and is said to be "doing well."

The radar equipment fell from a truck outside the Armouries while being unloaded by Capt. R. V. Leamen, Lieut. Thomas Duffield, Sgt. Major William Pushie, Sgt. E. A. Killingbeck and Sgt. Raymond.

The accident occurred shortly before 11 a.m. as many people were walking near the parade ground on their way to church.

Mr. Raymond was a Warrant Officer with the RCAF during the war. He is employed in the accounting department of the CGE in Peterborough. He has one daughter.

Year In Reformatory For Stealing Car

Norman Krick of Lyndhurst was sent to Guelph Reformatory for a year's definite and two months indefinite today by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, at city police court. Krick had admitted stealing a car which Ernest Hedges, 11 Whitlaw St., had parked behind Canada Packers on May 22.

Police had made a search for the car after Mr. Hedges had reported it was missing and Provincial Constable George Coffey had found Krick with the car at Cobourg, Constable Claire McGillen told the magistrate. Krick told the court he was 18 and had been to Bowmanville school.

Khalifah, Vizier And Monarchos For Samaritans

Samaritans took time out from their colorful parading, banquets and initiations to elect a new executive Saturday morning in their main business meeting of the 31st semi-annual convention of the Northern Division of the Ancient Mystic Order of Samaritans.

One Peterborough member, Thomas F. Doughty, 299 Monaghan Road, was named Divisional Supreme Chief of Finance, in the new nine - member executive which included seven Canadians.

Saturday, second day of the convention, featured the elections in the morning, a parade in the afternoon and a banquet and initiation ceremonies in the evening.

New Divisional Supreme Manarchos is Benjamin C. Fawell of the Momus Sanctorum, Detroit: A member of the Toronto Xerxes Sanctorum, J. Colgan, was elected Divisional Supreme Khalifah with Wm. English, Thebes Sanctorum, London, as Divisional Supreme Counsellor. J. Cook of the Adonis Sanctorum, Brantford was made Divisional Supreme Prince. Divisional Supreme Secretary, from Niagara Falls, NY, Orphic Sanctorum, is M. Forknall. Filling the post of Vizier is C. W. Murtagh, of the Askabad Sanctorum, Leamington, Ont. The new Stentorus is Lyman Stuart of London. Eldon Veitch of the Gotno Sanctorum, Ottawa, was made the new Muzzlen.

Colorful Parade

The eye-catching uniforms of the Windsor Beaver patrol featured the afternoon's parade from the market square to the Cenotaph where P. Bullid placed a wreath. The Samaritans marched to music supplied by the CGE bagpipe band.

Frank Barrie, Grand Monarch of the Peterborough Sanctorum, was chairman at the banquet to which 177 sat down. Many of the members' wives were guests. All the Samaritans from the United States and 15 of Ontario's 17 Sanctorums who attended the convention were loud in their admiration of the hospitality Peterborough had shown them. Supreme International Secretary, Clinton F. Jolly of Geneva, Ohio, said Peterborough was "exceptionally good" as a host city for the convention and the friendliness of the people was "wonderful."

Link Two Nations

Speaking at the dinner, Mr. Jolly observed there had never been "better feeling between the two countries (Canada and the United States) than exists today." He said he would like to see the two countries linking together ever more closely.

James McIntosh, Niagara Falls, NY, former Divisional Supreme Monarchos, was presented with a white tassel for his fez, signifying his entry into the ranks of the Past Supreme Monarchos

Twelve candidates for membership into the AMOS, from Campbellford, Lakefield and Peterborough were initiated at the Degree of Humility held after the banquet. Announced winners of the lucky draw were R. E. Packer, 668 Stewart St., P. Harrison, 711 Aylmer St., Mrs. R. C. Pomeroy, Bethany, and B. Romhanyi, 952 Ford Ave.

Wrestling Promoter Phil Lawson Dies

TORONTO, May 30 — (CP) — Phillip J. Lawson, 48, colorful wrestling promoter and manager of Whipper Billy Watson, Toronto's best-mat drawing card, died today.

The small dapper Lawson was an amateur wrestler and boxer in his youth. He held the Ontario lightweight boxing championship 28 years ago and in 1926 won the Canadian lightweight wrestling championship. He was associated with Frank Tunney in promoting wrestling in Ontario.

Although taking treatments for years for a heart condition, he refused to live any way but "at full speed". He suffered three attacks of coronary thrombosis. The fourth took his life.

Lawson was well known in Peterborough, being here nearly every week at the Brock Arena shows.

Lists Ready Friday

Every voter in the riding should receive this week a copy of the voters' list for his polling subdivision, A. J. McClellan, returning officer, said today.

"The printers have been doing a good job, and I expect that these lists will be delivered by Friday. If any qualified voter does not receive a copy of the voters list for her or his subdivision that may be an intimation of omission of the voter's name". Recourse should then be made to the revising officer.

Information on this printed list tells where a person is to vote, and gives several other details relating to the voter and what it is provided for him.

Barbara Bestride Broncho Canters West To College

"Go west," a man once said and a 21-year-old blonde girl has responded. Riding a broncho and packing a .22 rifle, Barbara Bradury left her home in Montreal South three weeks ago and passed through Peterborough over the week-end on her way across the continent in search of a degree in Veterinary Science in the state of Washington.

The slight young girl, travelling 35 miles a day, expects to reach the coast in time for the beginning of the college term. Her faithful pony, Zazy, is a 10-year-old mare who was given to Barbara by a family on whose farm she has worked during school vacations for the past four years.

Barbara is planning to put up nights at farm houses or Canadian Youth hostels. She says she has had her best sleeps the few nights she has slept under the stars.

Has Not Used Rifle

So far she has made two stops to visit friends in Ottawa and Kaladar and do a bit of laundry. She will probably ship on a lake steamer to the head of the lakes. After her ride across the prairie provinces, she expects to arrive at Vancouver about the middle of August.

The only trouble Barbara has had so far was that Zazy bolted twice in city traffic. She hasn't needed the rifle; not even to supply food. However, Barbara says it gives her moral courage and the feeling of being in command of any situation which might arise where persuasion might not be enough.

Barbara, also an amateur naturalist, is especially looking forward to studying western species of birds.

If Barbara is enrolled in the veterinary college she will ship Zazy back by rail. If she is not accepted, Zazy will have a travelling companion in her box car stall.

Connecting Rod Puts Hole In Boat's Bottom

OSHAWA, May 30 (CP)—Seven persons escaped possible death in the icy waters of Lake Simcoe Sunday after a motor connecting rod tore through the bottom of their fishing boat a half-mile from shore.

The seven — three Oshawa couples and a guide — shivered half-naked in a near-freezing wind for nearly an hour after stripping to their underwear in the expectation of having to swim for it. Desperate paddling with the one paddle and frenzied bailing of the filling boat kept them afloatt and moving until they reached shore.

The group, Mr. and Mrs. William Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. William Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Patty and the unidentified guide, left Atherley, some 90 miles north of Toronto on a fishing trip. Out on the lake, they said today, they heard a terrific crash and water started to pour into the motorboat.

Wild paddling with the one paddle available and swinging of bailing cans followed. They lost most of their equipment and clothing in the desperate action of the bailing, one member of the party said.

"We didn't care what went overboard—we were working for dear life and we knew we couldn't stop a second," he said.

Onion plants sold at $1.50 a flat, 25c a row and 35c a box, Pepper plants went at 25c to 20c a dozen, the demand being slight. Tomatoes were general at 25c a box and $1.50 a flat. Some hothouse gardeners were selling their tomato plants at 2c each. Cabbage and cauliflower plants sold at 25c a box and 15c a dozen.

Green onion, lettuce, and rhubarb were selling through the market at 5c a bunch near closing time. Ten cents a bunch was the starting price. Radishes went quickly at two bunches for 15c.

Cut flowers sold easily in bouquets from 25c to 60c, depending upon the size. Lilacs, white and purple, sold at 5c a spray. Tulips and paper whites went at 40c a dozen.

Chickens Slow

Chickens, not in great demand, varied between 45c and 48c a pound. Eggs were 40c for pullets, 43c for grade A medium and 45c for Grade A large. Some maple sugar in cakes two inches in diameter sold slowly at two cakes for 25c.

Seven collie puppies attracted few buyers. Two pups, six months old were sold at $3. each.

Potatoes, table stock, were $1.50 for a 75-pound bag. Foundation A seed potatoes, 100-pound bags, went at $3.

Falls In Store Window

Harry Hewlet, employee of Richard Hall Ltd., gashed his right leg and was rushed to the Peterborough Clinic at one o'clock this afternoon. He received the cut when he fell from a ladder on which he was working while dressing the arcade window of the store. The injuries are not considered crippling.

CGE Main Gate Again Hears Loudspeakers

Once again today noon the UE sound truck was broadcasting to CGE workers at the main gate on Park St. Hints of police action due to a possible contravention of the anti-noise by-law drew a number of curious by-standers.

Whether action will be taken by civic authorities to enforce the existing by-law is not yet known. Union officials claim that the provisions of the present by-law do not apply to them.

Today President Jack Morton, president of Local 524, as well as UE representatives C. R. Sullivan and Phil Knibbs spoke to the workers as they entered the gate or lounged on the spacious lawn inside. Numerous groups of workers gathered to hear the loudspeakers and discuss among themselves the points raised by each man as he took the "mike."

They confined themselves to reporting on the present state of negotiations between the company and the union which are seeking agreement on a new contract.

No police were seen and no attempt was made to interrupt their addresses.

Parks' Workers Prepare For Heavy Season

Peterborough is marking Parks' Week this week. Trees are being planted and flower beds changed from the spring flowers to the summer varieties. Swings, teeters and benches are being made ready for the wear and tear of the summer days.

Besides the old established parks new sites have been selected and are now being made suitable for recreational purposes. At the corner of McKellar and Lock Streets in the south end, an old swamp is being gradually filled in with ashes and top soil will form a firm upper layer. Swings, teeters and benches will be placed. At the corner of Erskine and McKellar there is a two and a half acre lot which will be a future park. Near St. Marys Street is the Trojan playground. This park is used for soccer, football, softball and baseball.

Nearby is Turner Park, sponsored by the B'nai B'rith. Here the service club has built a cement block house. The Parks' Department has planted shrubs before the house and trees at the back of the park.

Hamilton Park, Kiwanis Club's park venture at the junction of Jackson's Park Creek and Bonaccord St., in the north of the city, is under construction. Everything is prepared for a wading pool this summer. The island in the creek will be top-soiled as well as the mainland. A small bridge is being planned here.

The old Methodist cemetery behind the Civic Hospital may be a future park for the northend of the city. Some work has been done at this site by the Parks' Department. Ashburnham Park on Douro St. is one of the newer parks under the department. Here softball games are played by the Civic League.

The biggest change in any of the parks in Peterborough has come at Riverside Park. Here on the lower flat a hard surface area will be constructed this summer. In the baseball park the diamond has been shifted to the northeast corner. Weeping willows have been planted around the outfield. A start will be made on a hedge inside the fence this fall. When the hedge reaches six feet high, it will be trimmed and the fence taken down.

Girls And Boys March Together In Cadet Parade

MILLBROOK, May 30 (ENS) —Millbrook Continuation School Cadet Corps, No. 403 was inspected by Lieut. Forrester, DCM, from Eastern Command Headquarters, Kingston, on Thursday. Of more than 70 cadets on the field about 30 were girls, who appeared smartly dressed in their dark skirts and white blouses.

The Girl Cadets were under the command of Cadet Capt. E. A. Wright and Cadet Lieuts. K. M. Bigelow and M. Dawson. In spite of a cool wind almost 100 townspeople watched this annual event, which took place on the school grounds.

After being introduced to the chief instructors, H. V. Kent and P. E. Hamilton, and to the commanding officer, Cadet Capt. L. G. McMahon, Lieut. Forrester took the general salute. He inspected each of the four platoons and the band. The first and second platoons of boys were under the command of Cadet Lieuts. B. Handley and K. Adams.

The Corps then passed in review before the saluting base, led by the band under the command of Bandmaster, Cadet Lieut. R. S. Bigelow. After passing the saluting base, Cadet Capt. McMahon turned the Corps over to Cadet Lieut. H. F. Carr, second in command, who drew up the ranks in preparation for the advance in review order.

Give P.T. Display

After the ceremonial drill the Corps, under the command of Cadet CMS G. R. Jamieson put on a display of mass physical training. The officers and sergeants served as instructors. The corps was divided into groups for displays of small arms training, map reading and rifle drill. At the same time the Girl Cadets, under the direction of Cadet Sergt. M. Aiken, presented a demonstration of Indian club swinging. As an additional drill, the changing of the guard was executed with efficiency by cadets of the first and second platoons.

The Corps reformed its ranks and Lieut. Forrester presented badges for proficiency in Recreation Shooting to the following: K. Adams, A. Best, R. Bigelow, H. Fallis, A. Brackenbridge, C. Carr, W. Challice, I. Fallis, A. Fee, B. Handley, E. Hewitt, D. Kent, L. McMahon, B. Lunn, P. Saunders, T. Skitch, B. Smith, G. Smith, B. Thompson, R. Thompson, A. Wright, K. Bigelow, A. Dawson, M. Gibbs, R. Hancock, G. Nelson, B. North, V. Powers, W. Seymour, and B. Wright.

The best dressed cadet was Band Cadet Cpl. A. Wright, and the Strathcona Medal for marksmanship was awarded to Ralph Richards.

In his address to the cadets Lieut. Forrester, who commended them for their fine work, pointed out that there was always room for improvement, especially in the matter of steadiness in the ranks. "Steadiness," he said, "is the criterion of military discipline."

The parade ended with the Cadet Corps marching through the town led by Drum Majorette Hazel Rowe.

PROBABLY TWO OF THE PROUDEST and happiest graduates at OAC, Guelph, this year, were Dorothy Knapp of Galt and Murray McRae of Ayr. Sweethearts before they entered OAC together in 1945, the couple plan to marry June 4. Miss Knapp plans to work on her father's farm until they obtain a farm of their own. Mr. McRae has obtained a position with a dominion animal research branch. Mr. McRae spent four months last summer in Peterborough and Durham, specializing in junior work and made many local friends among the young people of the calf clubs and also among junior farmers.

700-Pound Case Crushes Dairy Worker

By The Canadian Press

An Ottawa dairy worker, crushed to death between a 700-pound case of butter and an elevator was one of five fatalities recorded in Ontario during the week-end. A total of 12 fatalities were recorded in Eastern Canada—five each in Ontario and Quebec and one each in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

The other Ontario deaths were the result of a train accident, burns, asphyxiation and an automobile crash.

John Ball, of Ottawa, 49, died when a heavy case of butter toppled over, pinning him to the wall of an elevator.

Junior Albert Tremblay, 27, of Windsor, was fatally injured when his car crashed into a Hydro pole.

The mangled body of Adam Akye, 53, was found on railway tracks near Carlson, 15 miles west of Toronto.

Eight-year-old Beverly Orr of Hamilton died of burns suffered Wednesday when her dress caught fire as she played with matches. In Toronto, Stuart Whitefield, 38, was found dead in his gas-filled apartment while his wife and young daughter were holidaying in Muskoka.

The body of an elderly man was recovered from Toronto harbor but has not been identified.

Union Proposal Being Studied

MONTREAL, May 30 (CP) — The Canadian Johns-Manville Company is studying a proposal for settlement of the Asbestos strike, Yvan Sabourin, K.C., company legal advisor, said here Saturday.

"It has been planned that I present the company's views on the proposal to Labor Minister Antonio Barrette some time Monday," Mr. Sabourin said. "I cannot say at this time what those views will be."

The Canadian Johns-Manville Company at Asbestos, Que., is the largest employer among five companies in the Eastern Townships against which 5,000 members of the Federation of Asbestos Workers have been on strike since Feb. 13.

It is understood that the union proposal for settlement is along the same lines as the proposal made some weeks ago. Negotiation talks were ended by the Workers' representative who claimed the position of the Canadian Johns-Manville Company on possible reprisal action against the union and men could not be satisfactorily clarified.

Waterford Stays Dry

WATERFORD, May 30 (CP)— Residents of this Norfolk county village, 15 miles south of Brantford, have decided to stay dry. On three separate votes Saturday, the wets failed to get the 60 per cent majority required for a change. There were 486 votes for men's beverage rooms and 455 against. Women's beverage rooms failed to get even a simple majority, with 484 against and 454 for. A third vote on whether beer and wine should be served with meals lost by a vote of 483 for and 463 against. Of a possible 1,090 voters, 965 turned out.

Wins Scholarship

KINGSTON, May 30 (CP) — Muriel Hammond of Carleton Place, Ont., has been awarded a $500 scholarship by the Women's Aid of Kingston General Hospital, it was announced Sunday. Miss Hammond is one of 47 young women who will graduate today from the hospital's School of Nursing. A gold medal was won by Alice Jessie Fetterly of Trenton, and a silver medal was awarded to Joyce Anita Hawkins of Pembroke.

Heads Hospital Council

QUEBEC, May 30—(CP)—R. Fraser Armstrong of Kingston, was elected president of the Canadian Hospital Council here Saturday. Mr. Armstrong is superintendent of the Kingston General Hospital. The council resolved at its closing session that, in the event the federal government deems it advisable to institute a plan for health insurance, such a plan should be established on a contributory basis.

Fire Threatens Town

VICTORIA HARBOR, Ont., May 30 (CP)—A $75,000 fire Sunday destroyed two buildings and for a time threatened to destroy the business district of this Georgian Bay village, 80 miles northwest of Toronto. Destroyed were a large building housing two business establishments and a two-family dwelling. Fire brigades from Midland, Waubaushene and Coldwater aided Victoria Harbor firemen.

Honor Canadian

ATHENS, May 30 (Reuters) — The main street of the Peloponnese town of Patras Sunday was named for Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, former Prime Minister of Canada. The ceremony took place when the Canadian Ambassador to Greece, Maj.-Gen. L. R. LaFleche, inaugurated in Patras a hospital given by the Canadian War Relief Association to the Greek Red Cross.

Lauds Liberal Win

OTTAWA, May 30 (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said in a statement Sunday that election results in Newfoundland prove the "overwhelming support" of the people for Confederation and the Liberal cause. He said he sent a message of congratulations to Premier Joseph Smallwood, leader of the Liberals in Newfoundland "on his great victory."

Documents Stolen

HAIFA, Israel, May 30 (AP) — Israeli police said Sunday three parcels of documents ready for dispatch to the Palestine conciliation commission in Lausanne, Switzerland, were stolen during the night from United Nations truce headquarters. There was no hint as to the nature of the documents.

Fire Wipes Out Town

CAPETOWN, May 30 (Reuters) —Hundreds of African natives were left homeless Sunday after a huge fire swept through a shanty town on the Cape Flats, a few miles from here. Firemen were hampered by lack of water and were able to prevent the fire spreading only by destroying nearby huts.

Jamieson—Rome Wedding

The Rev. E. W. Rowland solemnized the marriage of Shirley Adele Rome and Donald John Jamieson on Saturday afternoon at the manse of Mark St. United Church. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rome, 330 Burnham St., and the groom the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Jamieson, 421 London St.

The bride wore an afternoon dress of white silk and a cap headdress and mittens of white net. A corsage of deep red roses was at her shoulder. Matron of honor was her sister Mrs. Arthur Brockley who was in an identical frock of pale pink silk and wearing similar cap and mittens of white net. Her corsage was of carnations and sweet peas.

The groom was attended by his brother-in-law, Mr. John Cooke.

About 60 guests were at the bride's home for the wedding reception. Mrs. Rome received, gowned in grey with grey straw hat and corsage of pink sweet peas. She was assisted by Mrs. Jamieson who was in grey and blue and wore a grey hat and corsage of deep red roses. Little Beverley Rome, cousin of the bride, answered the door.

For her wedding trip to Buffalo the bride wore a grey suit with accessories in wine and a corsage of roses to match.

Mr. and Mrs. Jamieson will live in Peterborough.

Gines Trousseau Tea

Mrs. Wm. Phillips, Mark St., gave a trousseau tea on Thursday last for her daughter Joan whose marriage to Marwood Patterson took place Saturday. She was assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. Frank Patterson, mother of the groom. The tea was poured by Mrs. Howard Phillips and Miss Sandra Phillips, Mrs. Wm. Mathison and Miss Gertrude Phillips served. Miss Peggy Patterson assisted in displaying the gifts and trousseau.

✧ ✧ ✧

Pre-Nuptial Honors

Prior to her marriage Saturday Miss Shirley Rome was guest of honor at a cup and saucer shower given by her sisters, Mrs. Arthur Brockley, Mrs. Gordon Huggins and Mrs. Ivan McIlmoyle at the home of Mrs. W. F. Brockley, 307 Burnham St. A shower of beautiful gifts was given by girl associates of the Westclox at the home of Miss Yvonne Manning, Water St. Fellow employees at the Westclox gave her a tri-light floor lamp. The groom, Mr. Donald Jamieson, was presented with an occasional chair by associattes of the Canadian Department Store.

✧ ✧ ✧

Fete Bride

A wide circle of friends honored Miss Jean Phillips before her marriage to Mr. Marwood Patterson on Saturday. Mrs. Charles Ernshaw and Miss Peggy Patterson gave a miscellaneous shower at the latter's home. A pantry shower was given by Mrs. K. Dewar and Mrs. Wm. Mathison at the latter's home. At the YWCA a personal shower was given by her fellow members of Nu Phi Mu Sorority.

Religion a Poison To Communists IODE President

VICTORIA, B.C., May 30.—(CP).—A pledge to combat Communism throughout Canada and a ringing denunciation of that creed keynoted the opening Saturday of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire annual meeting.

National President Mrs. Frank P. McCurdy of Toronto, said that "members of the Order view with grave concern the growth of Communism in Canada and have pledged themselves to combat this dangerous threat to the long-established freedoms of the Canadian people."

Mrs McCurdy said religion was considered a poison by Communists who aimed to use the church only for political purposes.

Ten Provinces Represented National YW Meet

OTTAWA, May 30.—(CP).—Internationalism will spice the convention of the Young Women's Christian Association which opened today.

More than 300 delegates from each of Canada's 10 provinces will converge on the capital for the first national YWCA meeting since 1945. In addition visitors from such faraway places as New Zealand, India, Trinidad, China, Japan, are expected to attend.

"All phases of YWCA activtiies will be discussed during this week of meetings," said Olive Zeron, executive director of Ottawa YWCA, which is playing host to the convention.

Miss Zeron said the Ottawa Association will present a recommendation to the convention regarding the standards necessary for household employment.

She said YWCA work with displaced persons and the place of counselling and travellers' aid in the organization, also will be discussed at the meetings.

Main speaker during the convention will be Dr. Margaret McWilliams of Winnipeg, who will address the convention at its dinner meeting Thursday. Dr. McWilliams, who will speak on "Citizenship," is the wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, Hon. R. F. McWilliams.

Two Committees Suspend Work For Summer

At a well attended meeting of St. Joseph's Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary, held in the nurses' residence Friday with Mrs. J. V. Gallivan presiding. Mrs. A. E. Cauley was appointed to make plans for a bazaar to be held on November 16. She is to be assisted by Mrs. Wm. Richardson.

Reports were given by various committees. The sewing and visiting committees o fthe Auxiliary will not be active during the summer months but will resume their work in the fall. These committees have given excellent service to the hospital during the past season.

The treasurer reported a further payment on the infant resuscitator and the purchase of an additional sewing machine.

It was announced by Mrs. J. H. McCarney that the rug which has been on order for some time has been delivered. This rug is for the small reception room in the residence which has been furnished by the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Annual membership drive, now under way, is meeting with excellent results, both in city and district, and will continue for some time.

This was the final meeting until September.

Bride Designs and Makes Gowns for Bridal Party

The marriage took place in Mark St. United Church on Saturday afternoon of Joan Marie, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Phillips, and Marwood Francis Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Patterson. The cermony was performed by the Rev. E. W. Rowland.

Lilacs and tulips formed a lovely setting in the church. Miss Dorothy McNeely, soloist, sang "The Lord's Prayer" before the bride entered, and at the signing of the register she sang "Because". Mrs. Cecil Searles played the wedding march and after the ceremony she played "Blessed be the tie that binds" on the chimes.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and attended by Mrs. Wm. Mathison as matron of honor, Miss Gertrude Phillips and Miss Marilyn Patterson, sisters of the bride and groom, as bridesmaids.

Gowns worn by the bridal party were all designed and made by the bride. Her own dress with long graceful train was of traditional ivory satin and was trimmed with covered buttons, fastening the torso waist at back, and at the wrists of the lily joint sleeves. Her veil of French embroidered net was worn over the face, and was caught to a beaded headdress in Mary Queen of Scots style, and fell in three tiers to train length. Her bouquet was a cascade of gardenias and lily of the valley. The bride also wore an heirloom brooch which had been worn by all daughters and granddaughters of her maternal grandmother at their weddings.

Attendants frocks were styled similarly to the bride's gown. The matron of honor was in lilac slipper satin and the bridesmaids were in leaf green slipper satin. Each had a braided bandeau of satin and pearls on her hair and carried bouquets of pink carnations and sweet peas.

The groom was attended by his cousin Noel Eason. Ushers were George Phillips, brother of the bride, and William Mathison.

The reception was held at the Empress Hotel. The bride's mother received, wearing a gown of periwinkle blue crepe, black picture hat and black accessories and a corsage of Premier roses. The groom's mother also received and was in cinammon beige crepe with matching hat and green accessories. She carried a corsage of red roses on her purse.

The couple left later on a wedding trip to Toronto, Niagara Falls, Buffalo and London, Ontario. For travelling the bride wore a tailored suit of navy gabardine, matching suede shoes and pink accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Patterson will live in Peterborough.

Wife Demands Devoted Mate Sells Home to Remarry

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My wife and I have been married for 14 years. We have a lovely home. She has never wanted for anything. I have been very faithful to her all these years and we have been very happy together. But six weeks ago an old flame of hers came to see her and told her that he still loved her. He is married and has two children, and he has not been able to divorce his wife as she has given him no cause.

Dorothy Dix

But now my wife wants me to give her a divorce so she can marry this man. She also wants me to sell our home and divide all of our property 50-50. I love my home and my wife and I don't want to give either one up. She has absolutely no grounds for divorce as I have been very good to her all through the years.

Do you think I should give her a divorce and sell my home just so she can go to another man?

HEART-SICK

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your wife must think you are of an exceedingly accommodating disposition if she thinks you will sell your home in order to finance her love affair with another man. Apparently the lady had no fault to find with you as a husband until the old sweetheart bobbed up, and as she wants to be paid for divorcing you, while you want to keep her, it doesn't look as if she would have a very good case in court.

One of the things in marriage that would be humorous if it were not so tragic, is the way so many men and women revert to their first loves long after they have married, reared a family, and lived a comfortable, contented, Darby and Joan life together. It is the eternal craving for romance, for youth, of those who realize that they are hearing the last call to the dining car and who feel that they must have one more bite of the cake.

Nostalgia For Youth

It is this nostalgia for lost youth that is at the bottom of so many divorces of elderly people. It is what ails your wife and this other woman's husband. They delude themselves into thinking that their great love was for their boy or girl sweetheart. They do not realize that glamor is a garment we wear but once.

So my advice to you is not to give your wife a divorce, but to let her have her little romance about her first love. Our first sweethearts would bore most of us to death if we had much of their society.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a girl of 19. For the past two years I have lived away from home with my aunt and uncle and cousins, and we had loads of fun together. Now that I am back at home and working my parents treat me as if I were a small child. Every time I say I am going somewhere, no matter how innocent it is, they put me through the third degree about where I am going, why I am going, whom I expect to see, and so on and on and on. They even disapprove of my spending the night with my best girl friend and think there is some deep, dark plot attached to it.

My brother, who is only 15 months older than I am, is free to go and come as he pleases, but I am practically a prisoner. I know my parents love me and want to be kind, but I just can't stand living at home any more and being treated like a baby. What can I do?

JOYCE

ANSWER: Nothing, except leave home, and that you don't want to do. But your parents are like so many other fathers and mothers—they are sold on the idea that a 19-year-old girl hasn't enough sense to keep out of the fire and that if they don't watch her at every turn she will lead an abandoned life.

Why parents think that girls who have intelligence enough to hold down good jobs and who have made themselves self-supporting are so feeble-minded that they can't be trusted to take care of the money they earn, and that Mother takes from them, and why they think that a girl who works every day side by side with men, who treat her as they would their own sisters, is in mortal danger of being ruined if she goes out with one of these same men to the movies, no one knows.

But it explains why girls leave home; why they don't confide in Mother, and why so many girls marry to get a little freedom.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am going with a man who is about 23 years old and I am only 18. I am very fond of him, but he only comes to see me once a week. I telephone him every other night because he asks me to do so. Do you think it is wrong for me to call him?

V.H.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: There is nothing wrong about it, but it is the worst possible policy. When you throw yourself at a man's head, he always dodges. If you want a boy to come to see you, never ask him when he is coming, or try to pin him down to a date. Make yourself as interesting as you can. Show him that you enjoy his society. But make him feel that you can take him or leave him.

✧ ✧ ✧

DOROTHY DIX cannot reply personally to readers, but will answer problems of general interest through her column.

Directions

The casserole of Spanish onions and outer stalks of celery is quite popular—especially if topped with a mixture of half-and-half crumbs and grated old cheese. Slice the celery very thin and onions too; sprinkle with salt and pepper and submerge in milk. Cover with buttered or cheese sprinkled crumbs and bake about 1¼ hours at 325 to 350 deg. Fahr.

Compared with other good quality meats a 2 or 3-pound piece of choice salmon is a good buy. Wrap it in parchment paper and boil in water to cover—but never overcook this—about 8 minutes per pound is sufficient for fish in the piece. Chill in parchment paper in which it was boiled. This is rightfully called "poaching".

Those kut-up chicken shoppes are out of my class except for the chicken backs and necks I buy for soup, which sell at 25 cents a pound—and how I make those necks stretch. Especially this month the broth, plus what meat I can strip from them, has been the great catch-all for the left-over asparagus water. I filled it with rice and celery tops and whatever utrned up in the way of leftovers, and it makes a cold-plate meal more satisfying—if the weather does not turn too hot.

Naturally if you have only one burner the angel food cake has to be bought from the baker.

Social Situations

SITUATION: You have invited guests to dinner but cannot have them because of sickness in your family.

WRONG WAY: When you call the guests to tell them you are sorry that you can't have them, make no mention about having them at a later date.

RIGHT WAY: After explaining why you can't have them, assure them that you will arrange for them to come another night—and be sure you do.

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: I buy those sticky rolls from the bakery every Saturday and they cost me 35 cents. Isn't there some kind of a bun I could make at home that would be nice for Sunday morning without it being made with yeast. I am sure there are other cooks who would like to save that money they spend at bakeshops—sometimes it amounts to $2 a week.—Thrifty.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: For a starter try these

Buttterscotch Rolls

(Made with baking powder biscuit dough)

Two cups flour, 5 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons white sugar, 3 tablespoons shortening, 2-3 cup milk, 1 teaspoon melted butter, ½ cup raisins, ¼ cup chopped nuts, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ½ cup brown sugar, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon cold water.

Mix and sift the flour, baking powder, salt and 1 tablespoon of white sugar. Cut in the shortening with knives or rub in with finger tips. Add milk gradually to mix this to a soft dough. Roll out on slightly floured board. Brush over with melted butter. Sprinkle with the raisins and nuts and remaining 1 tablespoon white sugar and cinnamon. Roll up like jelly roll and cut into ¾-inch slices. Line a deep greased pan with the brown sugar creamed with the 2 tablespoons butter and the cold water. Lay the rolls on this mixture, cut sides down. Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. for about 20 to 25 minutes. Do not overbake or they will burn. Turn out at once on hot plate and serve hot. If these are made ahead of serving time, reheat in warm oven before serving.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: I have been asked to make Boston Baked Beans for a church supper. I do not have a recipe that I can depend on so would you print one that will serve 15 people. Thanking you.—Convener.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER:

Boston Baked Beans

Pick over and wash 2 pounds navy beans, wash and soak in cold water to cover overnight. In the morning drain, cover with fresh cold water, add ½ teaspoon baking soda and simmer covered until tender. Drain. Pour boiling water over a ½-pound piece of salt pork with rind, and scrape rind until white, then score it through the rind. Put the soaked beans in a very large bean pot or baking dish, put 1 small onion which has been peeled in centre. Bury pork in beans, leaving only rind exposed. Measure ½ cup molasses, add 1½ cups boiling water to it and ½ teaspoon mustard, 4 teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper. When mixed pour this over the beans, and stir it, adding more hot water if this does not cover beans. Bake at 300 deg. Fahr. for about 6 hours adding boiling water as needed. Keep covered for 5½ hours. If desired some tomato catsup may be added.

Norwood News

Gail Baker celebrated her eleventh birthday recently with a party at her home. Games were played, and a beautiful supper, complete with birthday cake, was enjoyed.

Guest included Marion Armstrong, Patsy and Mary Lou Atkinson, Janet Burtt, Joan Carbrey, Esther and Barbara Edmunds, Sandra Flett, Lorraine and Bernice Gardner, Leona Gordon, Beverley Horne, Eleanor and Ann Kavanagh, Marjorie Smith, Joan Stackhouse, Ross and John Stewart.

Holiday guests with Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hannon were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Toomey, Peterborough, and Mr. and Mrs. David Hall.

Miss Anne Giffen attended the graduation exercises at the O. V. C. Guelph Wednesday.

Before Wedding Bells Ring

For the convenience of the bride-to-be, The Examiner sends out wedding forms on which all particulars of the wedding can be written. We regret that we cannot accept a wedding account for publication more than a week after the wedding has taken place and for prompt service it is desirable to have the form returned to this office before the ceremony. Any changes found necessary later can be made by telephone.

Similarly, no wedding pictures will be accepted at the office more than three days after the ceremony. Exception is made only for marriages performed at some distance from Peterborough.

Romance Thrills Old Folks' Home

PORT ARTHUR, May 30—(CP) A romance in an old folks' home had its happy ending Saturday night when Nicholas Kowanchuk, 71, and Mary Ann Jennings, 80, were married at the Fort William Manor. About 75 persons, most of them friends from the home, were on hand for the ceremony and the wedding reception at which Mayor Hubert Badanai proposed the toast to the bride.

The reception guests ate the wedding cake cut by the bride and groom, drank punch and then went to bed—a bit later than usual.

After everyone had left the gaily-decorated dining hall in which the reception was held, Mary helped Nick carry his belongings downstairs to her room.

Years from now your Beach...
WILL STILL BE PROOF OF MONEY WELL SPENT!

For Beauty, Economy, Long Life, invest in a BEACH!

Regardless of the fuel you use, there's a Beach Range to meet every individual requirement. You may choose from coal, electricity, gas (artificial, natural or L.P.) or combination coal-gas models in modern designs. Investigate the merits of a Beach before you buy.

Many a Beach Range in use after years and years of dependable service is positive proof that money spent on a Beach today will be looked upon as money well spent years from now!

Since 1894, customer loyalty to Beach Ranges has been built on dependability . . . quality features not seen on the surface . . . reinforced construction at points of wear . . . time-tested cooking innovations. All these . . . together with modern appearance, time and labour saving devices, reasonable first cost and economical operation . . . combine to produce a Beach Range of which any woman can be justly proud.

When you buy a Range—buy Beach. Why not see your dealer today?

Three Ministers Served For 150 Years

WHITBY, May 30—The minister and congregation of Whitby United Church on Sunday honored three retired ministers of the United Church of Canada who are, this month, celebrating the 50th anniversary of their ordination. They are Rev. E. W. McBrien, Rev. A. Mansell Irwin, and Rev. Hugh G. Crozier. All have spent considerable of their years in and around Whitby.

Educated Here

Rev. E. W. McBrien was born in Uxbridge in 1870, and later on moved with his parents to Almonds district where he attended church and Sunday school. Later on he moved with his parents to Whitby, where he attended High School, afterwards teaching at Waldemar near the Village of Grand Valley in the county of Dufferin. After teaching for a few years he attended Albert College, Belleville and aftewards Victoria College, Toronto, and after graduating he was ordained by the Methodist conference 1899. His principal charges were Chapleau, Orangeville and Capreol, Ontario.

Born in Valentia

Rev. A. M. Irwin was born at Valentia, Mariposa Township. He tells how he was carried in his mother's arms to the Methodist Church, and that 80 years after, he went back to the same church to conduct thanksgiving services, and the original members of the church were there to greet him.

Later on the family moved to Scugog Island in the year 1874 where Mr. Irwin went to public school and after passing the Entrance was accustomed to walk over the floating bridge between the island and Port Perry where he attended high school. He started to preach in the year 1894 and after graduating from Victoria College, Toronto, he was ordained early in June 1899. Grafton, Newcastle, Norwood, King St., Oshawa, Whitby and Northminster, Oshawa, were some of the charges in which he ministered, being the founder of the latter charge.

Rev. Hugh G. Crozier was born in Holstein, Ontario, moving with his parents (his father being a Presbyterian minister) to town of Port Perry, where he spent five years. After his public and high school education he entered the Presbyterian College, Montreal, in 1893, graduating in 1899. He began to preach in 1895 and was ordained May 30, 1899, at Tarbolton, Manitoba. In 1900 he was inducted as minister of Melville Presbyterian Church, West Hill, going from there to Hamiota, Man., and later to Neepawa, Winnipeg. In 1924 he returned to Ontario, ministering at Tavistock, Thamesford, Pickering and after retirement taking charge of Cedardale mission in Oshawa.

Building Trade Needs More Apprentices

KINGSTON, May 30—(CP)—The urgent need for more apprentices for carpenters in the building trade was stressed by Fred Hawes of Toronto, Director of Apprenticeship of the Ontario Department of Labor, at the closing session on Saturday of the 37th annual meeting of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, Provincial Council, held in Kingston.

Mr. Hawes said "it is essential to have an influx of young blood who are properly trained in their craft. You are in a great danger of piling up Union membership, but I doubt if you are piling up membership in craftsmen."

"There is a lot of work being done by people who are not carpenters, and I impress upon you the need of training young men, as there will always be a need for craftsmen. There is not enough interest being taken in youth entering the trade. I urge you carpenters to encourage young men to learn the trade."

Speaking of the Firestone report of 1940, Mr. Hawes said at that time 191,875 were registered in the building trade. Of that number 79,103 or 41.22 per cent. were carpenters.

"This is all Canadian registration, but we must always remember there is a large increase in the number engaged in the building trades in 1949 compared to 1940," said Mr. Hawes. "I think it is quite safe to say that as a very low estimate there is a mortality of 1 per cent among those engaged in the carpentry trade. That would mean 800 people engaged in the carpentry trade leave the business each year by death or some other reason, and have to be replaced.

Convict Third Man

GUAM, May 30. (AP)—Sgt. Robert W. Burns, 32, Spokane, Wash., today was convicted by a court-martial in the rape-slaying of Ruth Farnsworth and was sentenced to death. Burns was the third of three negro soldiers sentenced to die in the young San Francisco woman's killing last Dec. 11.

Russian Flag Rules Danube

By HUBERT HARRISON

VIENNA, May 30—(Reuters)—The red flag today dominates the greater part of the length of the famed "Blue Danube" which, before the Second World War, was one of the greatest trade arteries of Europe.

Up to 1939, the flags of all countries were to be seen on its shipping which carried the coal of the Ruhr to Eastern Europe, the grain and the oil of Romania to Western Europe, and floated the timber of the Balkan states on the first stages of its journey to the port of half the world.

The least share in all this traffic, so little as hardly to appear on most statistics of Danube traffic in pre-war days, was taken by Soviet shipping.

The now-familiar red flag with the hammer and sickle was then almost unknown, especially in the higher reaches of its 2,000 miles of navigable waterway.

Today from Budapest east practically the whole of the river fleets of Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania are owned by companies in which the Soviet has 50 per cent of the shares and 100 per

Junior Farmers Meet At Alnwick

ROSENEATH, May 30 (ENS)—Bruce Elmhirst of Campbellford, President of Junior Farmers of Northumberland County and Earl Nelson of Campbellford, provincial director of Junior Farmers for Northumberland, were guest speakers at the monthly meeting of Alnwick Junior Farmers in the Township hall.

Mr. Elmhirst's subject was, The Work of Junior Farmers, outlining the various clubs pertaining to Junior Farmers' work, namely, calf clubs, swine clubs, grain clubs for boys and garden clubs for girls.

Mr. Nelson spoke on Junior Farmers camps and trips to O.A.C. Guelph.

A. J. Campbell, first vice-president of Roseneath Agricultural Society spoke briefly, also giving the Alnwick Junior Farmers permission to use the Exhibition Grounds for their annual Field Day.

The President, Reginald Timlin, presided and Mrs. Douglas Coyle was pianist.

Plans were made for the June meeting to be held on June 29 with Mr. and Mrs. Ross Macklin responsible for the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Coyle announced that the scavanger hunt, with Trevor Brown and Jos. Davidson as captains, was won by Trevor Brown's team.

Warkworth WI Names District Delegates

WARKWORTH, May 30 (ENS)—The regular monthly meeting of the White School Women's Institute Branch was held at the home of Mrs. Jeannette Thomas, with a good attendance. The meeting presided over by President Mrs. Owen Finlay, and members responded to the roll call by "sing, say, do or pay."

The following district representatives were appointed: Mrs. Owen Finlay, Mrs. Andrew Runciman, Mrs. Floyd Finlay, Mrs. Arthur Meneilley, Mrs. M. Skinkle, and Mrs. Stanley Brenton.

The secretary was instructed to order a wreath of everlasting flowers to be placed on the memorial at the unveiling services on Sunday, June 5, in Warkworth. Discussions were held in regard to the short course and the bazaar.

Mrs. Clifford Skinkle presided over the Mother's Day program. The meeting closed with the National Anthem and a dainty lunch was served by the hostess and her assistants. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Carmen Nelson.

VOTE LIBERAL

Duke Munro Using Airplane To Wage Rugged Campaign

No ordinary candidate is contesting Hastings - Peterborough Riding, once termed by Hon. C. D. Howe a "Liberal Sahara". Depending on the sturdy wings of his pontoon-equipped monoplane J. W. "Duke" Munro, is reaching into his 4,500 mile riding in an effort to wrest it for the cause of Liberalism. At one time he sets his plane down at almost the front door of a cottage and talks to a housewife while she pulls a batch of fresh bread from the oven and an hour later is talking to a lonely trapper, 100 miles away, as he stalks his trap lines. Duke Munro has made up his mind that he is going to win Hastings for the Liberal cause and he is leaving no stone unturned in his determination to do so.

Day after day Duke Munro, a veteran of the R.C.A.F. lifts his plane up from Moira Lake near Madoc and points its nose to the far reaches of Hastings-Peterborough riding to have a good heart- to-heart talk with some voter who has long since given up hope that he, his family, or his home, have any interest insofar as the average politician is concerned. Duke has made up his mind that he is going to change all this. The riding has been represented in the last two parliaments by a Conservative, but he is going to see to it that it is converted to Liberalism and then follow up a political triumph with a down-to-earth everyday interest in the people whom he sincerely believes will send him to Ottawa to support the government of Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent.

It is with this type of day-by-day determination that Duke takes off to visit the homes and camps of the people who work and live on the thousands of lakes and streams which stretch north for 50 miles to Papineau Lake, 90 miles to Weslemkon Lake on the east, to Stony Lake on the west. As far as this flying ambassador of goodwill for Liberalism is concerned, no voter is too small to see in an area where the three largest centres have populations under 1,500 people. . .

Those places where he can't land safely on a nearby lake, get the "shower treatment," a flood of leaflets proclaiming the Liberal platform and soliciting a vote for Munro. If he is scheduled to speak in a community in the evening, he floods the area during the days with leaflets to make sure that every person knows the place and time of the meeting. It is rugged campaigning, but Munro is positive that it will win the seat for the Liberals.

John Wellington Munro was born in Thessalon but came to Madoc as a boy to grow up. After a rountine public school course, he attended Madoc High Schools, but left there to join the R.C.A.F. . . .and that is when Duke's experiences really began.

After some time as a flying instructor in Alberta, he went overseas and was attached to No. 233 Hyderbade State Squadron of the R.A.F. He was shot down twice within an hour while on operations over the island of Elba in the Mediterranean.

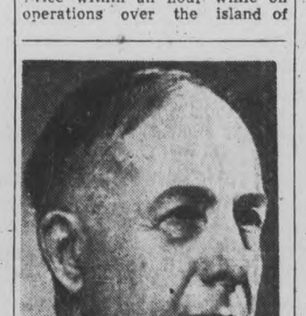
"We were straffing some shipping when my Spitfire was hit by ground-fire. We were just on top of the waves, but I had enough excess air speed left to climb to 2,400 feet. The aircraft was on fire and I had trouble getting out of the cockpit.

Rescued by Seaplane

"When I finally kicked myself free and pulled the ripcord, it seemed like only a second before I hit the water. Some friends told me the chute opened at about 500 feet. I was picked up about half an hour after bobbing around by a seaplane that was promptly shot down by shore batteries. The pilot was able to crash-land safely on the water but he and I and the gunner took a ducking. An R.C.A.F. sea rescue launch finally took us home."

Duke left Corsica after shooting down an Italian transport and was was attached to the Balkan air forces, . . .set up to supply air support to Tito and his Partisans in Yugoslavia. Put in command of the communications flight, he had the job of transporting people into the enemy-held interior and bringing them out again. On being returned to Canada, he spent some time in the Ferry Command, flying between Winnipeg and Vancouver until his discharge in the fall of 1945, after five years' service. He then bought his Cub outfitted it with pontoons and started bush flying operations, operating out of North Bay and New Liskeard.

There may be more experienced candidates in the forthcoming election, but one thing is certain . . . there will be none who are more earnest than Duke Munro as he campaigns through the hinterlands of Hastings-Peterborough.



WILL BE HONORED, Arthur Ford, chancellor of the University of Western Ontario, editor-in-chief of the London Free Press and former president of The Canadian Press, who will be given an honorary degree at the convocation of the University of Toronto June 7.

To Young Men who are Planning their Future

You may be wondering what career or profession to take up . . . what will be best for you in the long run. Like all young men, you want certain fundamental things in the work you do—the kind of work you can put your heart into because you like it; an assured, good income; encouragement for promotion; time and opportunity for recreation and a pension to look forward to when your working days are over.

Thousands of young men of high calibre are today enjoying these advantages in the R.C.A.F. And they are not only finding a satisfying life, but are rendering a real service to Canada. For you, as for them, the R.C.A.F. can set the pattern now for a future of personal achievement.

In planning your future you would do well to examine first the advantages which the R.C.A.F. has to offer young Canadians. A talk with a member of the recruiting staff may help you make this decision which is so important to you— and of course you do so without obligation.

WEST TRIES TO SALVAGE BERLIN PLAN

UK Proposes New Food Agreement

India Wants To Buy Farm Machinery Made By Canadians

GUELPH, May 31—(CP)—A British plan to extend international agreements to staples other than wheat will be proposed to the world farmers' conference opening here today.

A spokesman for the British delegation said the plan will be similar to that negotiated for wheat at an international conference in Washington earlier this year. It will embrace certain basic commodities with a view to stabilizing prices and production over an agreed-upon period.

More than 100 delegates and observers are registered for the third annual meeting of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers. They represent 23 of the world's major food-producing nations.

The Indian delegation is headed by Professor N. G. Ranga, president of the All-India Kisan Congress, an organization which speaks for the majority of India's farmers.

Prof. Ranga said in an interview that India was "vitally interested" in Canada.

"Canada, like India, is a large country which is primarily agricultural. Our delegation is anxious to learn all it can about . . . Co-operative wheat pools (which) might be applied with profit in India."

The professor said India is taking steps which will make her self-sufficient agriculturally by 1951. He said that manufacture of light farm implements which could be used on the small farms which dot India was being carried out there.

"But tractors and combines and other heavy farm machinery will have to be bought elsewhere. Because of the dollar scarcity, we may have to buy from England. But if Canada's prices are right, she will get the orders," he said.

Prof. Ranga said his delegation would endorse a Canadian plan for setting up an international emergency fund to feed food-hungry countries.

The plan, which will be put before the conference, would work through the United Nations and would enable needy countries to provide their people with food at a cost within their reach.

Louis St. Laurent, Canada's Prime Minister, as he entered the grounds for the university's convocation day ceremonies. Here the genial Premier is being hauled up the campus drive in a caleche. Mr. St. Laurent was made an honorary Doctor of Civil Law and afterwards delivered the Convocation address.

Red Army Heads Toward Canton

CANTON, May 31 (AP) —Nationalist Chinese military sources Monday night said, some of the Communist troops who took Shanghai are already marching southwest in what may be resumption of the drive on this provisional capital.

The Reds were said to be headed toward Changsha, a key point on the Canton-Hankow railway 400 miles north of Canton.

The Reds were last reported about 300 miles north of Canton in an area a couple of hundred miles southeast of Changsha, but the railway through Changsha is the most likely route south.

Gen. Pai Chung-Hsi, who pulled his 200,000 Nationalist troops out of Hankow without a fight, is reported to have a headquarters at Changsha and another at Hengyang, 100 miles farther south.

Nationalists who early fled the Shanghai sector are reported to have straggled into Pai's lines recently, disturbing his troops by their rag-tag appearance and poor morale.

Declare Ban On Moose For Next Two Years

TORONTO, May 31 — (CP) — Hon. H. R. Scott, Ontario Lands and Forests Minister, today announced a province-wide ban on moose hunting for the next two years. Earlier the ban was for 1949 only.

During the two years period he said the department would sponsor an extensive survey of the moose population. The services of trappers, bush pilots, fire fighters and game overseers will be employed for the survey. Dr. Randolph Peterson of the Royal Ontario Museum will act as a consultant in the survey.

Eisler Lands In Prague, No Delegation

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, May 31 (AP)—Gerhart Eisler landed in Prague today, en route from London to Germany.

"I am glad to be in Czechoslovakia and not in the United States," the Communist leader told reporters as he left the plane.

There was no official delegation on hand to greet Eisler.

The 52-year-old Communist boarded the Czech airlines plane at Northolt Airport, England, early today, only a few minutes before it took off.

During the few minutes he was at the airport he spoke only with three Czechoslovakian embassy officials who walked to the plane with him.

Immigration and customs officials said after the plane had left that the passenger was Eisler.

Eisler was billed as the main speaker at a rally set for tonight by the National Council For Civil Liberties. He had been scheduled to make a "thanks people of Britain" speech

Eisler, who jumped bail in the United States and stowed away on the Polish liner Batory, was freed by a British court last Friday. The court denied a United States request for the fugitive's return to the United States.

SECOND POLICEMAN

LONDON, Ont., May 31—(CP)—A second provincial policeman will be stationed at Port Stanley during the summer, acting district inspector Dave Duncan said today.

Bolivia In State of Siege Following Tin Mine Riots

LA PAZ, Bolivia, May 31—(AP)—The government declared a state of seige throughout Bolivia Monday night as striking mine workers seized more hostages and the walkout spread through the tin-producing area. Two more mines and a railroad were reported closed in the strife-torn Catavia area high in the Andes where at least 27 persons, including two American engineers were killed in bloody week-end rioting.

The country had been in a state of sieze from May 1 to May 20 as a result of political disturbances after the May 1 congressional elections in which the government party lost some ground to rightist groups.

The strike originally broke out at a mine owned by the Patino group, Bolivia's largest tin combine. Fifteen management officials, including seven Americans, were seized as hostages and beaten severely, the company general manager said

4 Officials Killed

An interior ministry communique said Engineers T. J. H. O'Connor of Pasadena, Calif., and Albert Krefting of Seattle, Wash., were dead when Bolivian troops reached the hostages Sunday. At least two Bolivian mine officials also were killed.

The new strikes were reported at the Patino's Huanini Mine; the Colquiri Mine, owned by Mauricio Hochschild and the Machamarca Uncia Railroad.

Steel Workers Out On Strike

HAMILTON, May 31 (CP) — Ten minutes after the deadline for the settlement of wage demands between the National Steel Car Corporation and its employees, members of Local 2352, United Steel Workers (CIO), some 1,600 workers today walked out of the plant gates and the first general strike since 1941 began. Only office staff remained in the plant.

Alan Wright, international representative of the Union, called an informal meeting at the company's gates and told the men "above all we must maintain peaceful picketing and regard for the law, we do not want to have a strike like the last one in 1941, but I don't think we will."

"The company told your committee that the strike was illegal. If they prosecute you through the courts, stick together and there will be no settlement until such time as the prosecution is withdrawn from the courts."

"Last week one man was fired when he walked out with the steel erection gang. This man must be reinstated and go back to work when you return," said Mr. Wright.

Toronto Fans Invade Calgary

TORONTO, May 31.—The Bay St. bowler and brief case will invade Calgary in July as a fitting retort to Calgary's cowboy-costumed visit to this city last fall.

Almost 500 Toronto boosters, clad "in costumes typical of Toronto and Eastern Canada," will accompany Mayor Hiram McCallum when he opens the Calgary Stampede.

Mayor McCallum was invited to open the stampede following the rugby finals here between Calgary Stampeders and the Ottawa Rough Riders. At that time the West in all its color came to Toronto. There were square dances all over the place and enough western enthusiasm to frighten a TTC guide.

And now Toronto is repaying the visit. Armed with two bands one of which will be flown west in an RCAF aircraft, the local boosters are planning a parade in Calgary. Organizing the hoedown are Charles S. Watson, the Advertising and Sales Club, the young men's section of the board of trade and interested individuals.

Huron Indians Seek To Get Fishing Rights Restored

SUDBURY, May 31 (CP) — Social security and restoration of hunting and fishing rights were stressed at a two-day meeting of Robinson Treaty Huron Indians which opened here Monday.

There was discussion of the failure of the government at the last session of parliament to implement a program for the improvement and advancement of Indian life as recommended by the parliamentary committee on Indian Affairs.

Among the 25 delegates to the convention is Chief John Twain, of Timagami, vice-president of the of Ontario Indian Associations, and an executive member of the North American Indian Brotherhood of Canada, Chief E. D. Tabobondung, of Parry Island, near Parry Sound, is secretary.

Main purpose of the convention is to find ways and means of best surmounting the many difficulties facing Indians living on the reservations, Jackson said. He added that the failure of the government to take action on the recommendations presented to it, and its failure to give any assurance that these recommendations will be adopted in the future, necessitated that the Indians demand through other channels their rightful place and justice in the country of their heritage.

"The consideration of an appeal to the privy council, in England, is on the agenda for clarification of the treaty" Jackson said. "These demands are based on provisions of the protective clauses for small nations in the Atlantic Charter. We also demand social security and the restoration of hunting and fishing rights. These are long overdue for adjustments."

Hope To Get Economic Pact Settled

Soviet Rejects Move To Put Germany Under One Gov't.

PARIS, May 31 (AP) — The three Western Power Foreign Ministers held an unannounced meeting today to consider how to meet Russia's rejection of their plan for a political union of east and west Germany.

Official British sources reported the meeting was being held.

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, State Secretary Dean Acheson of the United States and Foreign Minister Schuman of France were accompanied by their top advisers.

The western ministers presumably want to decide well in advance what to do next if the four-power talks collapse.

Andrei Vishinsky, Russian Foreign Minister, was reported by sources close to his delegation to have consulted Moscow by telephone Monday night on the terms of the speech he is planning for today.

Earlier, authoritative sources said the west would seek to salvage some form of economic unity for Germany from the conference.

Currency Issue

The western ministers remained in session until shortly after noon. Later a United States source said the three delegations devoted much of the talk to the Berlin currency issue. He said they agreed they should avoid technical aspects of the currency problem and should concentrate instead on broad principles.

It was agreed that each of the three would make brief statements of general policy on the currency item and then seek to have the details turned over to a committee of experts. Berlin has two currencies—the western Deutsche Mark and the Russian-sponsored East Mark, worth a quarter as much.

The west lowered its sights, aiming at some sort of economic arrangement with the Russians to guarantee transport and communications between the east and west.

British, United States and French sources said this was about as much as could be expected on the heels of the Soviet's rejection of the west's blueprint for unifying the former Reich under the Bonn Constitution.

Definite No

Vishinsky Monday opposed the western proposal in its entirety, with sweeping condemnation which he said he would continue today in more detail.

In Vishinsky's attack, the Kremlin gave its first official "no" to the western proposal submitted Saturday for the extension of the Bonn Constitution to the eastern states of Germany under the four-power occupation statute.

In brief, the Soviet answer meant there was no hope of putting Germany under one government, at least in the foreseeable future.

Vishinsky attacked the Bonn Constitution as too Federal and said Germany should have a more centralized regime.

He also criticized the three-power western occupation statute as tending to delay the writing of a peace treaty for Germany. The Russians are believed preparing to stand out again as champions of a quick treaty and an early end to military occupation.

CCL Scores Two Wins In Voting At Mines

TIMMINS, May 31 (CP)—The Canadian Congress of Labor announced today it scored two clear-cut victories in its drive to oust the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers from the Northern Ontario mine fields.

The Congress said employees at two Porcupine district mines voted heavily in favor of Local 100, Porcupine Mine Workers Union (CCL) representing them as bargaining agents. The choice was between the CCL-sponsored Local and Local 241 of the Smelter Workers Union.

Employees at Preston East Dome Mines voted 80 per cent for the CCL affiliate while miners at Coniaurum were 8 to 1 in favor of it, the CCL announced.

Princess Has Chill

LONDON, May 31—(AP)—Princess Elizabeth has a slight chill and is staying indoors, a Buckingham Palace announcement said. She cancelled plans to attend today a meeting of the National Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children at the Dorchester Hotel. The announcement said "The Princess Elizabeth has a slight chill and it is considered advisable that her Royal Highness should remain indoors."

Not Rushing To Establish E. German State

BERLIN, May 31 (AP)—East-German Communists today threw a cloak of mystery about their timetable for Eastern Germany.

"There is no necessity to establish an East-German state," Professor Hermann Kastner, head of the newly-chosen People's Council, told a reporter.

"Even if there were such an idea it would certainly not be discussed now, while the Foreign Ministers are meeting in Paris and trying to react an agreement on the unification of Germany."

The Communist-led People's Congress yesterday adopted a Soviet-type constitution claiming to speak for all Germany. They chose 400 members of a People's Council to serve as a government, including in the list Gerhart Eisler, Communist fugitive from the United States who hasn't been here since Nazi days.

Kastner was named co-president of the council.

Kastner, who heads a splinter party of Liberal Democrats, described the East-German constitution as "only a draft." The constitution has been viewed as Russia's answer to the West-German constitution ratified by the States of the three western occupation zones.

Westerners had expected Russia would race the Allies in setting up a rival republic in the east when it became apparent that many could not be revived. West four-power control of all Germany is expected to have a functioning government by mid-July. The proposal of the West that the Western constitution be extended to all Germany has been rejected by the Russians in Paris, but the Russians have not yet introduced their eastern-German constitution.

Kastner was the first East German to indicate publicly that the Russians have no set schedule for putting the east constitution into effect.

Granted New Trial

MONTREAL, May 31 (CP) — Madeleine Parent Bjarnason and Azelus Beaucage, Union organizers who were sentenced last year to two years in jail on charges arising from the 1947 Lachute, Que., textile strike, today had their convictions and sentences set aside and were granted a new trial. The two organizers for the United Textile Workers (AFL) were convicted on charges of seditious conspiracy and conspiracy to interfere with the rights of workers.

Canada's Exports In April Jump $25,500,000 Due Mostly To Wheat Sale

Shipments Boosted To U.K., India, Pakistan, Exports For Four Months Reach Total of $12,280,000 Over 1948

OTTAWA, May 31—(CP)—Canada increased her exports in April, largely as a result of a sharp rise in wheat exports which offset drops in foreign sales of bacon, asbestos and coal. Total exports were $237,800,000 during the month, compared with $216,800,000 in March and $212,300,000 in April, 1948, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported Monday.

The Bureau reported increases in exports to the United Kingdom, India and Pakistan with a small rise in the value of shipments to the United States and moderate gains to European and Latin American countries.

Total exports for the first four months of 1949 were $896,600,000 compared with $884,400,000 in the same period last year.

At the same time, Canadian trade experts said they were a little worried about the future of trade with Germany—especially if Germany reverts to the bilateral trade agreements she has traditionally preferred. Canada will not enter bilateral agreements. The Dominion exports $13,200,000 worth of merchandise to Germany last year, compared with average pre-war exports of $9,600,000.

Wheat Exports Up

Exports of wheat to all countries jumped to $34,030,000 in April from $10,177,000 in April 1948

Exports of bacon and ham fell to $1,482,00 from $9,778,000 and other meats dropped to $2,038,000 from $3,001,000. Wood pulp export fell to $12,929,000 from $18,854,000.

Sales to the United States, Canada's best customer, were $110,654,000 compared with $109,219,000 in April, 1948.

Exports to the United Kingdom jumped to $63,049,000 compared with $44,353,000.

Increases in exports of other commodities, with totals for April 1948 in brackets, were: newsprint $32,393,000 ($29,053,000); copper lead, nickel, zinc and their products $27,469,000 ($16,165,000); farm implements $11,538,000 ($6,928,000) and ships and vessels $7,122,000 ($1,642,000).

Soviet Will Accept Fare In West Marks

BERLIN, May 31 (Reuters) — The Soviet-controlled railroad administration in Berlin announced today that from June 1 all fares and charges in the western sector of Berlin will be collected in west marks.

West Berlin railroad men have been striking for 11 days for pay in west marks.

Willi Krickemeyer, director of the Soviet-controlled railroad administration, said last week he was ready to grant payment in west marks, raising the money by taking west-Berlin fares in west marks.

Strike leaders said this plan was impossible because "monthly takings in the western sectors amount to only 120,000 west marks, whereas the west sector railroad wage bill amounts to 3,500,000 west marks."

CNR Urges Unified Control For All Transportation

MONTREAL, May 31—(CP)—The Canadian National Railways, in a submission to be placed before the royal commission on transportation this week and made public today, says, "the Canadian National considers that its capital structure is unsatisfactory."

The railway will urge upon the royal commission:

1. That consideration be given to determine whether it is essential in a national transportation policy that all forms of transportation be under a unified control;

2. That notwithstanding the present division of authority between the federal and provincial governments, it would be beneficial to control competing services from the standpoint of national public convenience and necessity;

3. That the railways should have a scale of rates which would accomplish the following objectives: obtain for the railways a fair return on prudently invested capital; appropriation transportation charges as equitably as possible between different sections of Canada and as applied to various commodities; enable the railways to perform that portion of the country's transportation which can be performed more economically by railway than by other means of transport;

4. That the "agreed charge" provisions of the Transport Act be amended to make the agreed charge more effective in obtaining for the railways traffic which they can carry more economically than competing forms of transportation.

The Canadian National states that it favors the principle of uniform accounting for Canadian railways, subject to mandatory rules and regulations. It considers that the Canadian National-Canadian Pacific Act, governing co-operation between the railways, is satisfactory.

RCMP Search Steamship Off Kingsville

KINGSVILLE, May 31 (CP) — RCMP officials announced today that the SS Pelee, boarded by three RCMP officers late yesterday and searched, is being investigated for infractions of the Customs Act.

The RCMP did not say the nature of the investigation or whether any charges would be laid. Several articles were carried from the steamer.

KINGSVILLE, (CP) — The Pelee Island Shipping Company Ltd., paid a fine of $400 for infringement of custom regulations and its steamer, the SS Pelee, was released to proceed on schedule.

Captain John Gordon of Alvinston, Ont., who took over command of the Pelee early this spring, refused to dock his ship and left it by rowboat 300 yards off the Kingsville dock. He told a reporter the RCMP had instructed him not to discuss the incident.

Gordon said he left the ship away from the dock because as long as it wasn't tied up, he was in full charge of the steamer.

RCMP did not specify smuggling but Mr. Gordon offered the statement that "I told the crew repeatedly that I wouldn't stand for any smuggling. They can't say I did not warn them."

A few years ago Pelee was involved in a sensational smuggling case.

Budget Surplus Down In April

OTTAWA, May 31 (CP) — A Federal Government budgetary surplus of $106,800,000 for April —down $23,000,000 from the surplus in April, 1948 — was announced today by the Finance Department.

Government revenue for April, first month of the current fiscal year, amounted to $181,608,444, compared with $196,241,391 in 1948 expenditures totalled $74,816,188, compared with $66,633,487 for the same month a year ago.

The United Kingdom, starting to draw her $10,000,000 a month on the unused $235,000,000 portion of the 1946 UK loan was the only foreign government to receive federal government loans in April

Ask Royal Commission Investigate Brutality

MONTREAL, May 31 (CP) — The parent union involved in Quebec's Asbestos dispute appealed to the Federal government Monday to set up a Royal Commission inquiry into alleged acts of brutality by provincial police against strikers.

In Ottawa a government spokesman said the cabinet will give consideration to the request made by the Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor which charged Quebec police with "gangsterism" in breaking up strike action.

But at Niagara Falls, Ont., Labor Minister Mitchell said that the question of provincial police conduct is "a matter for the government of Quebec."

He said "the Federal government was in control of production at the Asbestos plant for six years during the war, and there was no trouble."

Betty Hutton Thrilled With New Roles

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 31 (AP). Let's look in on Betty Hutton, who says she is hovering "On Cloud No. 9" these days.

The blonde bombshell was resting between strenuous dance rehearsals with Fred Astaire for "Let's Dance." She enthused about her role to follow: "Annie Get Your Gun."

"I'm so excited I can't sleep—I just lie there singing 'Doin' What comes Naturally'," she said.

"For four years I've been trying do Annie. I haven't been happy with the pictures I've had since Buddy Desylva left Paramount and I pleaded with them to buy it for me. I really bawled them out when they let MGM get it."

Betty said she never gave up hope that she would play Annie even after the picture began shooting. Then Judy Garland was suspended for not reporting to the set, and MGM began dickering for Betty.

Judy Unhappy

"First I wanted to be sure the studio wasn't just trying to punish Judy," she said. "But then I found out she wasn't exactly happy with the role, anyway.

"After all, Judy is more the wide-eyed, retiring type. Annie calls for the loud kind of hokum I can do."

Already lined up to follow those two films immediately are the Mack Sennett Biography (she'll play Mabel Normand) and the "Life of Theda Bara."

"After that," said methodical Betty, "I'm going to retire and have two more babies."

Propose Expropriating Louis Street Strip

Expropriation of a strip of the frontage of Ferguson Coach Lines on Louis St. was proposed to the council Monday night in a motion by Aldermen Gillespie and G. Miller.

City Clerk Outram presented a written report in this matter to the effect that evidence was available to support the contention of the council that the late Walter Ferguson verbally agreed to grant part of his frontage as extension of the remaining Louis St. frontage granted by the federal government. This was for the purpose of the widening of the street, in the prospect that some day it would be converted into another business street.

"Originally, the government property for the customs-postal building was "L" shaped," Mr. Outram said. "It had an extensive frontage on King St. Discussions for the widening of Louis St. were agreeable to the government representative, and finally it was decided that they would give Mr. Ferguson that rear block in exchange for some of his property on Louis St. That left the government with an outlet on the widened Louis St., as it was then contemplated. Recently it transpired that the late Mr. Ferguson denied that he had ever undertaken to "give" the city any part of the frontage.

Shortage Seen Locally In Casual Labor

A shortage of sufficient casual labor to meet the demands of several construction projects now in progress in Peterborough has developed in the past few days, William Mellis, district manager of the National Employment Service, said today. Mr. Mellis declared also that a scarcity of carpenters also shows signs of developing in the near future.

Additional laborers are needed for work now going forward on additions to the plants of the Western Clock Company, the Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co., and at the site of the new Dominion Stores, master market on George St., at Sherbrooke. There are a number of other smaller projects under way including a new church at the corner of Park and Dublin Sts. Mr. Mellis is now scouring the surrounding countryside in an effort to make up the casual labor deficiency.

Western Farm Help

Mr. Mellis stated that he has just received the annual request from head office of the National Employment Service asking him to state his requirements for farm help to be brought in from Western Canada to assist in harvesting of summer hay, potato and grain crops. He requests that farmers in his area who are in need of such help get in touch with his office as soon as possible, so that early action can be taken to meet the needs existing. Later in the summer this service will operate in reverse order, when Mr. Mellis will be called upon to meet requests of Western Canada farmers for men to help in harvesting the prairie wheat crop.

Labor Council Plank In Drew Platform

By The Canadian Press

A National Labor Council was proposed Monday night by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, as the campaign for Canada's June 27 general election hit the half-way mark.

That, he said in a recorded address broadcast from Vancouver, is something a government under his leadership would put into effect. In addition, it would give labor greater representation on government boards, commissions and agencies.

While Mr. Drew toured the Pacific coast, Prime Minister St. Laurent travelled from Ottawa to Montreal to receive an honorary degree from McGill University and then swung up the fertile Ottawa valley to open the Ontario portion of his national campaign. M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, spoke in Northern Ontario.

Mr. St. Laurent paused for brief speech-making appearances in a handful of towns on the Quebec side of the Ottawa River and moved into Hawkesbury, Ont., for a public meeting.

"It has been rumored that there may be independents in the election who say they are for St. Laurent, too," he said. "If there is division in our ranks, I don't know what will happen.

"I feel confident I will have the responsibility of office again, but I have got to have help. I want as many supporters of the Liberal party in parliament as possible.

At St. Sidore, 20 miles northeast of here, he indicated for the first time he intends to lead the Liberals in another federal election if his government is returned June 27. When told that some of the people who had been waiting to see him had gone home because of the cold weather, Mr. St. Laurent said anybody he missed seeing in this campaign, he would see in the next.

Democratic Planning

The C.C.F. party, if elected to power in the June 27 federal election, will make "democratic planning" the keynote of Canada's economy, M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said in a campaign address at New Liskeard.

Under democratic planning, he added, control of the economy would be held by the people through their own organizations. These would include elected municipal, provincial and federal governments and co-operates and trade union movements.

He said the co-operative movement was under an attack which might destroy it and warned that any member of a co-operative who voted for either the Liberals or the Progressive Conservatives would be approving that attack.

The Liberals had been influenced by 'Tory propaganda' when they instituted taxation of co-operatives in 1946. The co-operatives made no profits and should not be taxed.

Prices Slump Again Hit Low For Year

TORONTO, May 31—(CP)—Prices were walloped downwards for the sixth successive session as major groups sold at new lows for the year. Industrials and golds showed the widest losses. Base metals weakened slowly as early recovery attempts failed.

A wide list of industrial issues declined steadily, with losses widening as activity increased. Many issues sold at new lows. Utilities steel, refining oils, papers, liquors and agricultures were lower in the groupings.

Senior issues led the downtrend in golds. The group opened stronger but prices faltered with broadened by mid-session. Junior producers were selling briskin 20 minutes and losses steadily with losses ranging up to 40 cents.

Rate of decline in base metals was slower than previous sessions. Consolidated Smelters lost $1 at a new low of $84 and Waite Amulet, Noranda, Quemont and Pend Oreille sold at new lows.

Britain, Argentina Agree On Meat Pact

BUENOS AIRES, May 31 (Reuters)—Agreement in principle between Britain and Argentina on a new meat and trade pact replacing the Andes Agreement today was officially announced.

Detailed terms of the pact have still to be agreed upon, it was said, and final agreement is not expected before mid-June.

The agreement "in principle" calls for a five-year pact to replace the Andes agreement which expired March 13.

The current negotiations began here Feb. 22.

Liquor In Car

Eugene McCormick, Rutherford, was today fined $15 and $2.50 costs by Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., at city police court for having liquor in the trunk of his car. He pleaded guilty to the charge and a charge of careless driving was withdrawn after the Crown declined to offer evidence.

Gets 2 Years For Car Theft

Elgie Dunford, 23, of Murray St. was today sentenced to two years less a day for theft of a car in April from Percy Harrison, proprietor of a lunch counter at Water St. and Park Hill Rd. He is now serving a month in jail for attempting to steal gasoline on April 21 from a car by the Brookside Pavilion, Otonabee.

An accomplice, 18-year-old Harold Robinson, was with Dunford at the time of the theft but the charge against him was reduced to "joyriding." He was also convicted of attempted theft of gasoline from a car owned by Ansel Woodcock, Romaine St.

Sentence was pronounced by Judge D. B. Coleman of Whitby at the special sitting of County Court today. Judge S. L. Smoke is trying a case in Whitby.

Dunford's sentence begins today.

The defendant was represented by John Corkery. Crown Attorney John Bradshaw conducted the prosecution.

Court Frees 34 Men

VANCOUVER, May 31 (CP) — Thirty-four members of the Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC), charged with unlawful assembly Monday were acquitted. An Assize Court Jury deliberated 2½ hours before announcing its verdict. The seamen were charged in connection with incidents about the strikebound freighter Riverside here April 8.

LICENSE WITHHELD

License of the street peanut and popcorn vendor was not renewed by the Board of Works last night. Somebody said it looked like "small town stuff" to have mobile eateries on the main streets, with the further consideration of competition with merchants of similar goods, who were paying city taxes.

Name Pearson Candidate In Algoma Area

ESPANOLA, Ont., May 31 — (CP)—External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson was the unanimous choice Monday as Liberal candidate for re-elecion in Algoma East in the June 27 federal election. No other name was put forward at the nominating convention.

Thanking the delegates, Mr. Pearson spoke briefly on Dominion and International affairs.

He admitted the possibility of economic difficulties in the future, but said that a Progressive Conservative regime would not be the one to affect a cure for such ills, should they develop. He said the Progressive Conservative campaign was founded on promises and panic—promises of the impossible and predictions of panic that would not come.

"The irresponsibility of the Conservatives was never more clearly demonstrated than in (leader George) Drew's promise to Newfoundlanders that the financial terms with them would be revised if the Conservative party gained power," Mr. Pearson declared. "Those financial terms were negotiated delicately, and to the satisfaction of all. There wasn't a voice of objection, not even from the Progressive Conservatives in the House."

The Minister said the Liberal government was taking all possible steps to correct the disparity between the dollar and the pound sterling which was having some effect on export trade.

"Drew claims the dollar and the pound are convertible, but how?," he asked. "Britain and Europe must get back on their training feet and the Liberals are trying to assist in all ways possible."

York Trading Wins Damages

York Trading of Peterborough was given judgment for $460 and costs aginst C. Moss Kellett of Minden by Mr. Justice Kelly in the Supreme Court at Lindsay on the ground of negligent driving in a traffic accident south of Norland January 6, 1947.

Mr. W. F. Huycke, K. C., represented the plaintiff company and R. I. Moore, K. C., Lindsay, was solicitor for the defendant.

York Trading sued for damages to their truck which was travelling south on a return trip to Peterborough. The collision occurred on an icy road at 4 p.m. Hugh Kennedy was the driver of of the northbound car owned by Kellett who put in a counter claim for $5,650 for personal injuries, loss of time and complete wreckage of his car.

Mr. Justice Kelly found that the negligence in this case rested on the defendant Kellett and the driver of his car, dismissed the counter claim, and gave judgment in full to York Trading with costs of the action.

Kellett's injuries included severe lacerations of the face requiring 25 stitches.

Will Take 2 Weeks To Get Top Production

DETROIT, May 31 (AP) — The Ford Motor Company's army of 106,000 production workers began a slow march back to the work bench today after its strike settlement.

With a peace-pact signed and sealed in the speed-up displte, Ford and the United Automobile Workers (CIO) resumed their job of making automobiles.

All of two weeks are expected to pass, however, before top production can again be attained. Extensive plant preparations are required.

U.K. Steps Up Trading With Canada

Planning To Favor Dominion More Wilson Promises

TORONTO, May 31 —(CP)—Harold Wilson, Britain's president of the Board of Trade, says British manufacturers and traders plan to favor Canada in trading arrangement during the months ahead.

He said Monday night in the final public address of a three-week Canadian tour intended to maintain and build up trade between the two countries:

"I am certain that, as the months go by, you will find British manufacturers and traders not only showing great energy in their attempts to sell more to Canada, but actively discriminating, as the government proposes to discriminate, in favor of these important North American markets."

An expansion of the revenue from the showing of British films in Canada can be expected, he said. There is "abundant evidence' of the growing popularity of such films in Canadian theatres.

It is, I think, fully realized that our ability to go on buying Canadian goods on the scale which we should like will depend on our ability to increase our earnings of Canadian dollars whether by exports of United Kingdom goods or by increasing sales from other sterling area countries or by increasing yet further our Canadian dollar earnings on invisible account."

Mr. Wilson addressed the periodical press association a few hours after he attended the opening here of the second annual Canadian International Trade Fair. With him were Charles Sawyer, United States secretary of commerce, and Canada's Trade Minister Howe, both of whom took part in the Trade Fair's opening ceremonies.

Constable And Accused Man Tell Conflicting Stories Of Scuffle

COBOURG, May 31 (ENS) — Evidence was taken yesterday on the charge against Harry Ketchum of Percy Township of assaulting Provincial Constable D. W. Goffey of Peterborough in that township on April 30. Ketchum pleaded not guilty and the case was adjourned in order to complete the testimony.

Provincial Constable Coffey testified that on April 30 he went to Ketchum's farm with Corporal L. McClure, Peterborough, and Provincial Constable A. A. Kellogg of Hastings, with a search warrant to look for some tools that had been stolen in Peterborough. They went to the house around 10.30 in the morning. Harry Goodell and Ketchum were in the house and during the course of the search both of them disappeared. Constable Coffee said that he went into the garage next to the house and found Ketchum with some tools in his hand which he put down and left. He began looking around where Ketchum had been standing and found a carton of tools. One of them had the initials "F.T." on it and the constable said that these initials stood for Frances Tetford, the owner. After he came out of the garage he noticed Ketchum and Goodell walking across a field about 100 yards away.

Struck on Jaw

"I told Ketchum to come back to me after I caught up with him. He said 'you have a search warrant but not one for my arrest'. I happened to have my head lowered for a moment and it was then that he struck me in the jaw with his fist. Then he began to run toward the bush and I went after him. I fired a warning shot, but he didn't stop. I chased him for about a mile and then gave up the chase. On May 5 he was arrested on a farm in the next concession," testified Provincial Constable Coffey.

Testifying in his own defence, Ketchum said that when the police came to the farm one of them said "where's Harry?" Then another said, "it's Harry Goodell we want."

"I said that I guessed it was not necessary for me to stay and one of the officers said I could go, so I started out for the field to fix a plow which my son had been using. As I walked away I heard somebody shout 'come back here'. It was Constable Coffey. I told him I was on my way to fix a plow and he said I was to come back. I told him that he didn't have a warrant to arrest me and that if he came with me while I fixed the plow I would go back to the house with him. Then he pulled out his gun and his handcuffs and he said he would use it on me if I didn't come. He took the gun by the barrel and said 'I am going to kill you'. I thought I might as well die moving, so I put out my arm to ward off the blow and I guess it hit him. I started to run and heard shots fired. The first one kicked up a little dirt around me. McClure fired also," testified Ketchum. As far as the tools were concerned he didn't know who owned them.

THERE IS NO AVERAGE BOY

Council Refers Resolutions To Committees

COBOURG, May 31 —(ENS)— June session of Northumberland and Durham Counties Council opened Monday and after several communications had been referred to committees, adjournment was made until Tuesday afternoon.

The following resolutions were referred to committees:

From Elgin County Council, opposing the 50 cent impost on drivers' licenses to finance unsettled judgements, suggesting instead that every driver first furnish proof of financial responsibility before being granted a license; referred to Legislative and Bylaws committee;

From Peterborough County Council, suggesting that the bounty on wolves be increased to $40, the difference between the increase and the old one being subsidized by the Lands and Forests Dept. (Northumberland and Durham have already increased it to $50.); referred to Legislative and Bylaws.

From Elgin County, protesting the abolition of old age pension boards on the ground that they were convenient in re-hearing of applications that had been turned down, referred to Legislative and Bylaws;

From Middlesex County, opposing the cancellation of the one mill subsidy, referred to Legislative and Bylaws;

From Perth County, asking that penitentiary terms be reduced by one half but lashes be imposed due to the increase in crime, referred to Legislative and Bylaws.

Counties Road Superintendent Jack Jordan tendered his report up to the end of April. Snow removal last year was quite low, but sanding made up for it and frost boil damage had been quite high. To date some 1,500 feet of sub-grade drains have been installed on No. 18 Highway between Cobourg and Gore's Landing and some 300 feet on the 300 feet on the Centreton road. Considerable ditching has been completed, mostly on the Gore's Landing road. Five hundred yards of crushed gravel were placed in the village of Harwood after first using 1,000 cubic yards of pit run gravel to repair frost boil damage and to reduce the possibility of future frost boil damage.

The fact that calcium Chloride manufacturers have no stock and have been forced to ship from daily production has meant that the counties do not receive some of the chloride until late in the season, presenting a considerable problem. Consequently, it was decided to put on the chloride in two applications, half the total amount at a time, in order to afford everyone at least some protection from dust

Big Sums Expended

Up to the end of April, the sum of $1,288.25 was spent on non-subsidy work. Maintenance cost was $36,799.21; new machinery amounted to $24,182.39; construction, $12,419.33 and miscellaneous, $5,955.57. Total amount expended was $106,452.13.

Election In 1951

LONDON, May 31—(Reuters)—Britain's general election will take place between June and August next year, informed sources said Monday. They did not support Conservative leader Winston Churchill's prediction of a possible appeal to the country this autumn.

Newlyweds Honored By Friends, Neighbors

BONARLAW, May 31 (ENS)—Many friends and neighbors gathered in the Orange Hall, Springbrook, Friday evening and presented the newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Delbert McComb with a Daveno-bed and other gifts. A musical program was given which included community singing led by J. F. Baker, who also contributed a vocal solo with Mrs. Ralph Wellman as accompanist. A piano solo "Glow-worm" was given by Miss Barbara Meiklejohn, a vocal solo by Linda Wellman and a vocal duet by Misses Beverly McKeown and Fay Wellman.

Frank J. Cosbey acted as chairman. An address was read by Bob Cosbey wishing the young couple happiness. Both bride and groom replied thanking all for the beautiful gifts.

Rev. J. M. Brownlie, rector of St. Mark's Church, addressed the gathering, adding his felicitations to the newlyweds.

Big Liberal Signboard Defaced In Norwood

NORWOOD, May 31—Members of Liberal parties here are much incensed over the defacing of a large Liberal party campaign poster which occurred some time during the past few days. The sign occupies a prominent position on the main street of this village.

The vandalism consisted of painting the word "No" over the word "more" in a slogan which said that more jobs were provided under the present Liberal government than under the government of any other party. The matter has been reported to the E. L. Ruddy Company, Peterborough, who have been requested to do something to obliterate the vandals' handiwork.

Church W.A. Meets

WARSAW, May 31—(ENS)—The Women's Association of Warsaw United Church held their monthly meeting in the church last week. Mrs. Wm. Darling took charge of the devotional service. Mrs. Roland Payne gave an instrumental number and Mrs. Darling gave a reading. Lunch was served by Mrs. Gordon Payne and Mrs. Harold Ray.

688 Candidates Nominated So Far Across Canada For June Election

By The Canadian Press

A total of 688 candidates has been nominated to date across Canada for the Federal General Election Monday, June 27, it was shown today in an unofficial compilation by The Canadian Press.

It is expected that possibly as many as 1,000 candidates will be in the field when official nominations close Monday, June 13—13 days from now—in most of the country's 260 constituencies.

Two constituencies—Halifax and Queens, in Prince Edward Island—return two members each, bringing to 262 the number of members to be elected. There were 245 members in the last House.

So far, the Liberals have nominated 242 candidates, Progressive Conservatives 210, CCF 154, Labor-Progressive 17, Social Credit 22, Union of Electors 26 and other minor groups 17.

The totals already are above those at the same stage in the campaign for the 1945 general election. There were 954 candidates contesting the 245 Commons seats in that election.

Nominations closed Monday in the northern constituency of Yukon-Mackenzie River and five ridings in the new province of Newfoundland. All of these ridings have sizable remote areas and nominations are closed two weeks earlier to enable the authorities to get ballots and other voting equipment there by election day.

Following is the line-up of candidates to date (bracketed number after each province indicates number of seats in House):

Woman Is Defeated For Reeveship

The united municipalities of Dysart elected Albert H Curry, Haliburton, Monday, after a hot election campaign which featured the first woman candidate for reeve in the municipality's history. John A. Robertson was elected to a vacancy on the council.

The election figures were: Mr Curry, 416 votes; Elizabeth Nicol 313. Mr. Robertson won with a vote of 416 over Hugh Griffin's 387.

The election was precipitated by the resignation of Reeve George E. Earl on account of sickness. Mr. Curry, who had been a member of the council resigned to run for reeve.

The municipality, with a population of 2,600 in nine townships, has the largest area in Ontario. Included are the townships of Dysart, Guilfird, Harcourt, Harburn, Burton, Havelock, Eyre and Clyde.

First returns from the Dysart polls indicated the final results. Dysart's 1,700 population dominated the municipality. The regular municipal election is scheduled for January 1.

Mr. Cuarry's campaign featured a promise to electors to improve roads. Elizabeth Nicol charged township business was not being run according to municipal law and she promised to bring reform to the council. Name calling played a big part in the election speeches.

2 Die On Ship

HOUSTON, Tex., May 31 (AP) —A fuel tanker skipper said yesterday two crew members were asphyxiated aboard ship Sunday night. He said they tried to see who could remain longer in fumes below deck of the tanker Muirwoods.

Here's my $25,000 question

What's the answer?

"I'VE TOTALLED UP MY ASSETS — the equity in my house — stocks and bonds — insurance and savings. They come to just over $25,000.

"I realize that this is not a large 'estate', but it should be managed for the best advantage of my family. Now whom should I appoint as Executor of my Will?

"If I appoint my wife, to whom will she turn for guidance? If I appoint a friend, will he have the ability and the time to manage my estate? Or should I name a trust company whose business it is to administer estates?"

The answer is that there is no substitute for experience and specialized knowledge. That is one reason why more than half of the estates in National Trust charge are for $25,000 or less.

Whether your estate is small or large, you will be wise to appoint National Trust as your Executor.

The Newfoundland Election And The Federal Prospect

We have often repeated our belief that provincial election results offer only the shakiest evidence for predicting the outcome of a federal election; for many good reasons a large number of voters throw their weight in one direction in a federal campaign and the other way in a provincial contest. The case of Newfoundland, however, is a special one, and the Liberal victory there is of unusual significance. Without overstressing its importance we shall try to guess what it may mean.

• • •

Mr. Drew made a powerful appeal in Newfoundland to the group which was opposed to confederation. He promised that if he formed a Progressive Conservative government he would change the terms upon which Newfoundland entered Canada, giving the island a better deal. If the Newfoundland voters had been impressed by Mr. Drew's promise, or if they had been, upon the whole, discontented with the terms upon which they joined the Confederation, would they not have hastened to support his party provincially? We think that they would have done so for as their slate is clean it would plainly have been to their advantage to have a provincial government which was on the best possible terms with the federal government from which they hoped for a new deal.

• • •

Do they want a new deal? It does not look like it. It looks, on the contrary, as if the people of Newfoundland had determined to make the best of their new situation and realize that a plea for special favours is the surest way to queer their position with the rest of Canada. What else explains the heavy vote (roughly two-to-one) for a Liberal provincial government? It looks as though Mr. Drew had made a tactical mistake in thrusting himself into the Newfoundland provincial campaign.

• • •

The voting in Nova Scotia and in British Columbia will not cast much light on the federal campaign, for they are long-established provinces with particular issues of their own. But Newfoundland had only one issue, closely associated with the federal election, and Newfoundland's answer has been unmistakeable in its emphasis.

Farewell To Politics

The Right Honourable W. L. Mackenzie King, C.M.G., O.M., made his last formal appearance in politics on Saturday when he attended the Liberal nomination meeting in his own constituency of Glengarry. As was expected, he declined the nomination. No one present at that meeting in the small town of Alexandria and few Canadians across the land could have witnessed this last act of withdrawal from the Canadian political scene without emotion. He has been a figure in it for forty years. For more than a quarter of a century he has been the chief one. He retires from Parliament and politics as our greatest living statesman, and history may show him to have been among the great nation-builders of the era.

What honour is meet for Mr. King that his own country can give? There is the respect for his name which he himself made great and known throughout the world. But there is no Canadian title, no Canadian order of merit in which he can be enrolled to honour it and be honoured by it. Our one distinctive award is the Canada Medal, a decoration for merit created in 1945. Since it ranks after the British Empire Medal it is obviously not a suitably exalted recognition to bestow upon this illustrious man who is already a Companion of the Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and St. George, and a member of the Order of Merit. These are British decorations. Has Canada not yet achieved sufficient stature that there cannot be a Canadian title or award of honour with which to recognize fittingly the services and distinction of its own greatest men? Mr. Mackenzie King can have few Canadian peers of past or future, yet for these few should this country not have its own letters-patent of renown and esteem as well as permitting them title to the highest honours the British Crown accords?

Dilemma For A Free People

The case of the Rev. Arthur W. Terminiello in the U.S.A. raises a point which is of the strongest interest to Canadians: when, if ever, should freedom of speech be denied to a man whose opinions are subversive? Father Terminiello is violently anti-Semitic; he does not in the least mind referring to Jews in his public speeches as slimy scum, snakes and bedbugs. One such speech caused him to be fined $100 for disorderly conduct. (His Church once unfrocked him for his behaviour.) Terminiello appealed his fine, and the U.S. Supreme Court reversed the decision which had gone against him. Let us see why the court did so.

Of the nine judges of the Supreme Court five held that the object of free speech is to invite dispute, and that unrest, dissatisfaction and even anger are valuable elements in democratic government. "Freedom of speech, though not absolute, is nevertheless protected against censorship or punishment, unless shown likely to produce a clear and present danger of a substantive evil that rises far above public inconvenience, annoyance or unrest"; this was the majority opinion.

The other four judges said, in part: "Invocation of constitutional liberties as part of the strategy for overthrowing them presents a dilemma to a free people which may not be soluble by constitutional logic alone . . . There is danger that if the court does not temper its doctrinaire logic with a little practical wisdom it will convert the constitutional Bill of Rights into a suicide pact".

There is so much to be said on both sides of this argument that it would be ridiculous for us to declare violently for one side or the other in a comment of this length; nevertheless we are glad that the Supreme Court decided as it did. In a democracy the good sense of the population has to be trusted a very long way, and it is to be hoped that the people of the U.S. will give Terminiello the indifference which he deserves and which he is ill-equipped to survive.

But the "dilemma for a free people" is a very real one, and deserves the careful consideration of every democrat."

Jazz Comes Up In The World

We learn with some surprise that there was an International Jazz Festival in Paris from May 8 to 15. England, Belgium, Switzerland, Italy, Finland, Sweden and Austria were represented, as well as the U.S.A. Apparently the affair was a great success and has been discussed with deep earnestness in the Parisian papers.

How jazz has come up in the world! We can recall the time when virtually everything that was wrong with human nature, and all the shortcomings of the younger generation, were attributed to jazz. Listening to it was supposed to sap the moral fibre and lead to drug addiction; dancing to it was to show oneself as shameless and abandoned. Jazz was blamed for the rising divorce rate, for the increase in motor accidents, and for the flippant attitude of the young toward the wisdom of their elders. And admittedly the jazz of those days was pretty violent; the dances of the time were galvanic, suggesting that the dancers were suffering from electric shock, or were perhaps in the grip of paralysis agitans. But the shaking, wobbling, jerking dancers of those days are the sedately middle-aged parents of today.

Jazz seems to have become sedate, too. It is discussed learnedly in books by musical experts, who assert gravely that the improvisations of the jazz musicians are comparable in ingenuity and imagination with the improvisations of the more usually acknowledged composers. And there are now jazz concerts, for which large audiences gather without any apparent desire to dance, shout or wriggle. Jazz records are seriously collected by initiates. And international jazz festivals are held in places like Paris. Jazz is on its way to becoming quaint.

National Gallery Of Sports and Pastimes

By BERNARD DARWIN

THE opening of a new National Art Gallery must always be a rare and interesting event and there has lately been opened in London a National Gallery of British Sports and Pastimes. This is due to the generosity of Mr. Walter Hutchinson, a well-known publisher who has not only accumulated and presented this collection but has given it a noble setting in Derby House (now called Hutchinson House) formerly the house of one of the most famous and popular of all British sportsmen, the late Lord Derby.

✧ ✧ ✧

AT the present moment the first 600 selected pictures have been hung but in all there are 3,000 pictures—British artists have been depicting sporting scenes since the 17th century — and these others will be shown from time to time. Mr. Hutchinson has rightly cast his net very wide and the picture which is the brighest jewel in all his treasury is one of rural rather than sporting life. This is Constable's celebrated picture of Stratford Mill on the River Stour. It is true that the children fishing may give it technially a sporting interest, but its chief beauty is in the lovely peace of the Suffolk landscape with the restful trees casting their shadows on the water. Again Hogarth's picture of children building card houses cannot be called primarily a picture of sport But these are valuable exceptions to prove a rule.

✧ ✧ ✧

AS I went round I jotted down as far as I could all branches of sport represented and what a list it is! In the realm of sport proper as distinguished from games are hunting, fishing, shooting, coursing, cockfighting, hawking, deer stalking, archery, rowing, yachting, boxing and skating. Of games the list is almost equally long: cricket, billiards, rackets tennis, lawn tennis, football, golf, curling, croquet and bowls and even so I daresay I have left some out.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE is no doubt at all as to the predominant subject. The horse is the leading figure. I write as one who is definitely not "horsy" and others like me may feel at times that a sense of proportion has not been fully observed; but I do not think that is really fair. For one thing, many games are, at any rate in the interest they today create, comparatively modern and have but lately begun to attract the artist. Hunting and racing are much longer established. And again sporting scenes in the strictest sense have a rural rather than an urban setting which makes for the more attractive picture. Whatever the precise reason, England has had a long line of very fine horse painters—Stubbs (greatest of all, 1724 to 1806), Woolton, Sartorious, Fernely and so on down to Sir Alfred Munnings. So if I did grow now and then a little tired of horses as I did, I think the fault was really mine.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE is a charm even to the ignorant about the hunting pictures which have hung for long years in English country houses before finding here their permanent home. One example which I enjoyed, painted in 1845 by Richard Ansdell, is a certain Mr. John Machell with his family, his servants and his hounds at Windermere in the Lake District. In the background is a view of the Westmorland hills. Mr. Machell himself in his scarlet coat stands pointing with the air of a monarch of all he surveys while Mrs. Machell has a long and georgeous habit of black velvet. There is, too, a delightful Zoffany (1725 to 1810) of a shooter and his dog. And I liked a picture of a young fisherman in his red coat, full of the restful charm of that pursuit. Boxing is best represented by Ben Marshall's picture of "Gentleman" Jackson, the unofficial king of the prizefighters 150 years ago.

✧ ✧ ✧

TO turn to the games; Cricket has produced many good pictures. Whatever tastes one may have in games the beauty of the white figures moving to and fro on the green turf in the sunshine against a rural background must always be there. Football is full of movement but it has not so far to my knowledge produced anything in the way of outstanding work of art in Britain. There are I think four football pictures, here, three of the Association game and one of Rugby. One by Charles Cundall painted in 1938 shows a League Match between the famous London sides Chelsea and Arsenal which ended in a draw.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN point of movement, and often very beautiful movement, athletics should offer the artist an opportunity but I only found one athletic picture and that of no great account. Perhaps there will be more to come since the Olympic Games were held in Britain last summer and some of the desperate finishes between all the champions of the world might, one imagines, have been inspiring. The Henley Regatta (I suppose strictly have included this under sport) is one of the pleasantest of English sporting festivals and is here represented by two pictures, in particular one by the French painter, Tissot.

✧ ✧ ✧

LAWN Tennis like football has become worldwide and there is a picture of the Centre Court at Wimbledon enshrining a tremendous player of a time now beginning to grow a little dim—Mlle. Lenglen whom all the world called Suzanne in the 1920's. I must give a word to my own game, golf, of which there are two pictures; in particular a copy of the famous one of William St. Clair of Roslyn, the original of which is in the Archer's Hall at Edinburgh. He was reputed a mighty player in his day, the end of the 18th century.

✧ ✧ ✧

I HAVE touched on only a few pictures and I may not have conveyed as I ought how wonderfully there unrolls itself the long pageant of British life in one of its aspects. It is full of history set in green and lovely places. There is, I think no question that at present the elder artists have all the best of it but as time goes on the newer and more essentially popular sports and games will doubtless produce their painters who will find their niches.

A NEW "SWITCH"

Stonemason Argues With Shaw

(FROM THE LONDON DAILY MAIL)

MR. JACK EASTAUGH, village sculptor and stonemason, of Windleham, Surrey, is a man who tried to give Mr. George Bernard Shaw a lesson in grammar. It was the epitaph on a gravestone that caused the trouble.

Mr. Eastaugh has carved the stone at the 92-year-old playwright's order, for the grave of Mrs. H. B. Higgs, who was G.B.S.'s housekeeper for many years.

She and her husband—Mr. Shaw's gardener for 40 years—retired to the Surrey village.

Mr. Shaw kept in touch with his old servants, sent them copies of all his books with characteristic comments on the fly-leaves. And when Mrs. Higgs died last year he made himself responsible for the funeral, and also for that of Mr. Higgs when he should die.

Mr. Eastaugh was asked to submit designs for a gravestone in the village churchyard, and the playwright accepted one on which is a modern representation of two recumbent figures. Then Shaw wrote this epitaph:

"Bernard Shaw, writer of many plays, raised this stone in grateful memory of his faithful friends and helpers, Clara Rebecca Higgs, who passed away on the 4th of August, 1948, in her 74th year, and of Harry Batchelor Higgs, who followed her on the in his year. For many years they kept his home and garden at Ayot St. Lawrence, in the County of Hertfordshire, thereby setting him free to do the work he was fitted for. No playwright was ever better served."

Mr. Eastaugh did not approve of a sentence ending with a preposition. He wrote suggesting a revision—"Free to do the work for which he was fitted."

"Stick to my text", replied Mr. Shaw. "It will save cutting five letters. I never use these 'for whiches' and 'and whiches' . . . he was fitted for' is genuine vernacular English . . . . 'for which he was fitted' is school masters' bad English."

So. Mr. Eastaugh put up the stone—with the epitaph as written by the master.

A Fragment Of Sophocles

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

IN the past few days a fragment of Greek poetry has cast its wan light through the front-page news. Millions of readers who may never before have heard of the "Ajax" of Sophocles have read the lines over which James Forrestal apparently brooded before he took his life:

When Reason's day
Sets rayless—joyless—quenched in cold decay,
Better to die, and sleep
The never-waking sleep, than linger on,
And dare to live, when the soul's life is gone.

A voice from the great age of Hellas speaks to the burdened, bewildered modern consciousness, confronted by a world which at times seems almost bent on total self-destruction. When the Greek ideals of order and balance, of sunny health and rational humanism, are threatened by the black irrationality of forces beyond mere human control, what is there left, as Sophocles says?

This is the disease of our day, the disease of doubt. Modern man has put his faith in his own reason and his own effort, and they have failed him. He has split the atom, but he has not built a new and brighter Hellas, as he dreamed. The more sensitive and conscientious a humanist, the more open he has been to the sickness of doubt.

Matthew Arnold described the two major cultural forces in our civilization as Hellenism and Hebraism. As the Hellenistic worship of human reason has broken down, men have been challenged to turn once more to the great Hebrew-Christian reservoir of moral and spiritual power. Not Sophocles but a mighty Hebrew poet who wrote "In the beginning God . . . "holds the answer for today's sick world.

In that cosmic poem of Genesis we read that "the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep" —an apt description of the doubting modern mind. But to that darkness comes the eternal fiat of Spirit: "Let there be light," and the creation that unfolds from that supernal light reveals man in the image of his Maker, triumphant, whole, and divinely endowed with dominion over the earth.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

I am the Lord, and there is none else, there is no God beside me: I girded thee, though thou hast not known me: that they may know from the rising of the sun, and from the west, that there is none beside me. I am the Lord, and there is none else . . .

Woe unto him that striveth with his Maker! Let the potsherd strive with the potsherds of the earth. Shall the clay say to him that fashioneth it, What makest thou? or thy work. He hath no hands? Woe unto him that saith unto his father, What begettest thou? or to the woman, What hast thou brought forth? (Isa. 45: 5, 6, 9, 10.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Man that is born of a woman is of few days, and full of trouble. He cometh forth like a flower, and is cut down: he fleeth also as a shadow, and continueth not. (Job. 14: 1, 2.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Know ye that the Lord he is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture.

Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise: be thankful unto him, and bless his name. (Ps. 100: 3, 4.)

400 Delegates At Conference

SARNIA, May 31 (CP)—About 400 ministers and laymen from nine United Church presbyteries convened in Central United Church here today for the 25th annual London conference.

Vanguard of the delegates arrived Monday, when the settlement committee met and allocated 36 ministers to charges in the presbyteries of Algoma, Elgin, Essex, Huron, Kent, Lambton, Middlesex, Oxford and Perth.

Sessions continue until Friday.

Rev. Stanley M. Sweetman of Hyatt Avenue United, London, president of the London conference, presided.

Speakers include, Dr. Andrew W. Blackwood, religious author and professor of homoletics at the Theological Seminary, Princeton, N.J. Also expected to address the conference is Dr. G. A. Siscoe, general secretary of the General Council of the United Church of Canada.

An overseas mission report listed for Wednesday is to be presented by Very Rev. Jesse H. Arnup, secretary of overseas missions, and Rev. Franklin Ou, of West China.

Election of a new president will take place this afternoon. A civic reception will be accorded delegates by Mayor William C. Nelson.

PROFESSOR SUICIDES

DETROIT, May 31 — (CP) — Dr. Neil E. Gordon, 67, internationally-known scientist, Monday plunged 13 floors to his death from the roof of a fashionable downtown hotel. Gordon, a chemistry professor, headed the department at Wayne University here until a year ago.

NO TRIP FOR TRAUNTS—Good attendance at school paid off for 45 children of the Indian reservation at Maniwaki, Que., 100 miles north of Ottawa. Dressed in their Sunday best and wearing deer-skin headbands embroidered with "Maniwaki" in bright beads, the group was taken to the capital city to see the sights. One of the most interesting places they visited was the National Museum where they lingered long at an exhibition of old Indian costumes and masks. Here Freaman Meness, 9, centre, who wore full Indian costume for the visit inspects one of the old masks held by Dorothy Scott. Theresa Mitchell is the third child.

Winnipeg Has 19-Ft. Cake For Big Birthday

WINNIPEG, May 31 — (CP)— The city of Winnipeg is set to cut itself a slice of cake.

The Prairie Metropolis, reared from a trading post at the confluence of the Assiniboine and Red Rivers, will celebrate its 75th birthday with celebrations from June 5-11. It is to be one great big birthday party.

In keeping with the spirit of the occasion, a giant cake — 19 feet high and 30 feet in diameter —is to be set up at the corners of Portage and Main, the city's main arteries. The cake will be lighted with 75 candles. A 45-foot tall "75" is to flash brilliantly in lights over the cake.

Thousands of tourists, many of them likely to be former Winnipeggers, are expected to be attracted to the celebrations.

The Winnipeg Ballet Company and the Winnipeg Symphony have prominent roles in the spate of attractions. Opera star Gladys Swarthout is to make an appearance with he Symphony.

The Hollywood touch will be in evidence with the appearance of Canadian-born movie star Alexis Smith.

Barbara Ann There

Apart from the $2,000 jubilee open golf tournament June 7-8—which has attracted name players from across the country— there will also be an exhibition soccer match involving the touring English Newcastle team and a four-day ice carnival featuring Barbara Ann Scott.

Hotels here have been booked up for weeks for the period of the birthday observances. The two daily newspapers, the Free Press and the Tribune, ran off special large-size birthday editions last Saurday.

An ornamenal fountain spilling out 1,000,000 gallons of water a day is to be one of the downtown attractions. Hub of the fountain is to be a 34-foot tapering steel column. A four-foot cylindrical steel drum with the omnipresent 75 marked on it will rotate at the top of the column.

Having Fun AT LAKE OF THE WOODS

Vacationists say Canadian hospitality is at its best at lovely Lake of the Woods—2,000 square miles of playground for sportsmen, where Ontario borders on Manitoba and the State of Minnesota. Hundreds of lakes and inlets teeming with small mouth bass, muskies, lake trout and walleyes yearly attract anglers out to smash fishing records. Write the Lake of the Woods Tourist Bureau, Kenora, Ont., about accommodation ranging from luxury lodges to cabins and camp sites. If you hanker for a true northland holiday—plan a trip to Lake of the Woods by rail or plane. Or by the Trans-Canada highway if you have time for a leisurely summer drive.

Albert Quesnel To Be Tried On Murder Count

ESPANOLA, May 31 —(CP)— Albert (Punch) Quesnel, 38-year-o'd paper mill laborer, will stand trial for murder in the strangulation sex-slaying last March of Mrs. Harry Cleland 71.

Magistrate W. J. Golden committed Quesnel for trial at the next Sudbury district assizes following a brief preliminary hearing Monday.

Quesnel, standing with hands in pockets, appeared calm when the charge was read to him but fidgeted as the hearing proceeded. While he was being escorted out of the courtroom, he stopped to shake hands with his elderly father.

Children playing in a gully on the outskirts of this northern Ontario paper - manufacturing town found the body of Mrs. Cleland a short distance from a roadway during the forenoon of March 26. Investigators said they believed she was slain while walking home alone from a Friday night bingo game in Espanola

Throttled

Dr. R. M. Mitchell, coroner at Sudbury, about 30 miles northeast of here, said at the preliminary hearing that the woman was sexually attacked. He attributed death to throttling. He said bruises on her nose and chin appeared to have been caused by repeated blows.

Constable Ralph Edwards said that when the body was found, the clothing was disarranged and there was considerable blood to be seen.

Provincial analyst Verda Vincent testified that no blood stains were found on Quesnel's clothing but human hair similar to that of Mrs. Cleland was found on the inside of a trench coat owned by Quesnel.

Prof. George H. W. Lucas of the University of Toronto said particles of thistle spines found on Quesnel's tweed suit coat and on Mrs. Cleland's scarf corresponded with spines found in mud on a pair of brown shoes owned by Quesnel.

Name Stratford Man To Staff At Queen's

STRATFORD, May 31 (CP) — Gordon F. Frazer, of Stratford, has been appointed to the staff of Queen's University, Kingston, where he will lecture on Canadian history and British Colonial policy.

He was the first citizen of Stratford to receive a Rhodes Scholarship, when it was awarded to him in 1946 and he is at present completing his course at Oxford University, England, where he has been studying history. He is expected to arrive home here early in September.

Mr. Frazer has had an outstanding scholastic career, graduating from the University of Toronto with a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1947.

During the Second World War he served with the Royal Canadian Navy.

Paddle From Sky Startles Housewife

BELLEVILLE, May 31—"Shades of flying saucers," thought Mrs. R. J. Brooks, Belleville, Monday morning as she saw an oblong object falling from the clouds toward her back yard. The startled woman notified the police.

Local police retrieved the object from a tree in the Brooks back yard and found it to be a paddle. The paddle is similar to those carried in light aircraft of seaplane type.

It was recalled that an aircraft had been flying in the vicinity at the time the paddle was first sighted.

Wins Fine Appeal

TORONTO, May 31 — (CP) — Murray K. Short Monday won his appeals against a fine and suspended sentence on two charges under the Ontario Securities Act. Short had been charged with two offences in unlawfully dealing in Woodhall mines shares. He had been sentenced to a fine of $1,000 or six months on one and suspended sentence on the other. County Judge Robert Forsyth said he doubted from the evidence that Short had been dealing in the shares as charged.

Convict 3 Officials

BUCHAREST, May 31 (AP) — A Romanian military court Monday convicted three former officials—one of them a General—of high treason and sentenced them to serve up to 25 years in prison. They were accused of betraying Romanian State secrets to Col. John R. Lovell, former military attache at the United States Legation here. A fourth defendant who faced a lesser charge got five years.

Strikers talk to Children

HAMILTON, May 31—(CP)— Striking employees of a cone-manufacturing company will set up picket lines to urge school children not to buy cones made by the firm, Oliver Hodges, Canadian Congress of Labor organizer, said Monday night. The strikers seek union recognition by Robinson's Industries Limited, wage increases and reinstatement of a nemployee. The strike started Mondya.

"Any and every time that Peterborough plays senior lacrosse with our Athletics," growls the St. Kitts' scribe, "fans can be assured that it will be for keeps and no mercy will be shown in piling up scores if A's are good enough. The A's might have had Scott, Nelson and McMahon had it not been for a smart double-cross by Petes. This club gave releases to McNulty and Teatro when they could have stood pat. It gave the pair a chance in the Liftlock City. Then Kingston of Petes voted against A's ban lifting. Which is why A's refused to give Whitey Frick a release to Petes. After that double-x they just turned a deaf ear, so June 15 and June 18 here should see a brace of sizzlers, if A's retain any of that redskin heritage and never forget to repay a wrong with interest."

We're sorry to see a grown man like Clayt Browne sobbing so loudly and pointing a threatening finger at the Petes, when it was the OLA which banned the St. Kitts players for performing in the States. On a vote to limit the ban, the Peterborough delegate was just one of five club representatives ot vote against it—so why single out this team? St. Catharines would have had quite a time trying to stop Jim McNulty and Leo Teatro from coming here ere the deadline for transfers. So, Clayton, old top, do your dardnest, but please quit crying. Blood and sweat are understandable in lacrosse, yes, but not tears.

Speaking Of Horses

Hal B. Watson, harness race expert and starter, writes in the Star: "We dropped in at Hilltop Farm, Peterborough, the other day where Hugh Stewart has gathered 34 registered standard-bred mares that have all the blue blood of the equine family running through their veins. The nursery is headed by the good stallion, Prince Direct, who already has proven himself to be a sire, as witnessed by the performance of Stewart Direct 2.03 3-5 and Stewart Worthy 2.08, both racing at Roosevelt Raceway and owned by Stewart." Hal then lists many of Hugh's good horses in some detail, and adds that a new half-mile track has been built at the farm.

Trenton comes here tomorrow eve to play the Young Petes in Riverside, a Lakeshore Baseball League encounter. It ought to be a neat diamond number, too. Locals then trek to Lindsay on Friday. The COBL Petes are off to Oshawa tomorrow and have the bolstered Motor City club back here for Saturday afternoon. The left field fence at Riverside should be carried around further as on Saturday we saw 20 cars parked out there as free fans detoured the admission gate and comfortably viewed the game from there. Some even sauntered in from the field to sit in the stand while home players sizzled, thinking of heavy expenses to meet. Minor ball should be starting here right soon now, too.

Two Fine Fixtures

Nothing much wrong with the two girls' games at ye olde Bowle last gloaming. Both were over by 20 minutes to 10 and the fans and femmes went home happy. Woollens wrung out a 10-8 victory o'er Lindsay with S. Harris going fine in a relief role for the winners. Lindsay looked good most of the way but had a few costly bobbles and Woollens won it with a four-run splash in the eighth. Other joust saw CGE take a 5-1 decision against Marines in a snappy struggle, too. R. Boyce pitched in okay style and had a bit better backing, but both teams made it a ball game. Looks like Prexy Bill Bennett was right when he predicted better competition this year with fewer clubs aboard. Another twin bill booked for there on the morrow after supper.

Announcement yesterday of the death of Phil Lawson in Toronto came as a shock. We talked with him here last Wednesday and he was full of plans for the wrestling show this week. But a heart attack—his fourth—beat him despite his fervent faith in Vitamin E pills. Phil was a smart wrestling promoter as well as manager of Whipper Bill Watson, and he certainly put the game over big in Ontario since 1940. But Phil was more than that. A friendly, humorous and colorful chap, he was liked by everyone. He lived a full life in his 48 years and will be missed by many. Personally, we won't enjoy local mat shows nearly as much now that the likeable promoter has gone.

Marines Lose To CGE In Girls' Loop

Electrics took a 5-1 triumph over Outboard Marines in a Girls' Softball League encounter last evening at the Bowl. It was a fine fray, going just 55 minutes, with CGE earning the nod on hurry-up ball back of fine flinging by R. Boyce. Both sides fielded well, but Marines didn't appear to have quite the hustle at times that CGE showed. There were few strikeouts in this tilt and CGE got 11 safe blows to eight for the opponents.

I. Boyce and M. Batley looked best in the field for the winners, with V. Mitchell and M. Walling the pick of the other side. M. Batley also led CGE with the willow, clouting out a double and three singles in five appearances. P. Cheel and M. Behan of Marines each hit a double and single, M. Hill had two singles, and E. Smith a two-bagger. CGE really clinched the contest with two runs in the eighth on an error, walk and two singles.

Co-Op Beats Bell

Co-Op pulled out a 4-2 Civic Softball League verdict over Bell Telephone last evening in one of the best battles seen so far this season. They pushed over three runs in the third and added one in the sixth. Bell got their two tallies in the second but were held in check the rest of the route. Both sides played hustling and interesting ball. Teams:

Co-Op — McAuliffe, Trayling, Creighton, Berwick, Arnold, Jenkins, Vyse, Coulter, Doris.

Bell—Conway, Greatrix, James, Ackland, Sullivan, Giardino, Gillespie, Wood, Stewart, Boyce.

St. James Triumphs

St. Jamse' Bantams of the Church Softball League last night walloped Murray Street 19-2. Five-run outbursts in the third, sixth and seventh innings rolled up the count after three in first and one in the fifth. The losers got their lone markers in the fifth of the one-sided struggle.

Teams:

St. James' — Smyth, Peters, Hunt, Hobart, Wright, McInyre, Dugan, Johnson, Beggs, Stevens, Phillips, Whatley.

Murray Street — Dunsford, Naish, Butcher, Patterson, Heffernan, Wilfong, Cameron, Jones, Boorman.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Well, the boys got away to a good start Monday evening, and what surprised most of us, the weather was not as bad as anticipated—in fact, we believe it got better as the evening wore on. Another surprise was the showing made by some of the new bowlers. They did extremely well. As far as the older bowlers, some were good and some not so good; but it added up to a night's fun. Some of the scores were a little high, but that is always the case the first few nighs.

The first extra-end game was between George Gimblett and Jim Woods, with gorgeous George getting the big point on the 19th end. The greens were in fair condition, but they will improve with play.

The men continue their schedule this evening and the ladies commence.

Leave Jack Kramer At Home With Doctor

BOSTON, May 31 (AP)—Jack Kramer, leading moundsman of the Boston Red Sox last season, will be left at home for doctor treatments today when the American League club leaves for the west.

Kramer hasn't won a game this season. The righthander has been charged with three defeats.

He lasted only four innings against Washington on Saturday when his right shoulder bothered him.

Kramer won 18 and lost five in 1948.

George St. Victors

George Street Seniors yanked out an 8-7 Church Softball League decision over Salvation Army last night. Good pitching by Burroughs and a four-run homer by Doughty in the sixth made the difference in the tight tussle. Robinson and C. Braund went best of the losers, who scored two each in the first and sixth, as the victors counted one apiece in the second, fifth and ninth, with three in the sixth. Teams:

Holland Wins Speedway Title

INDIANAPOLIS, May 31 (AP)—Bill Holland, the veteran speedster from Reading, Pa., is a patient fellow—a guy who can wait for the breaks.

Holland today holds his first Indianapolis Speedway race title and it all came about because he was willing to wait for misfortune to overcome the cars he was trailing in the 500-mile grind.

He watched Duke Nalon set a fantastic pace in his Nov Mobil special for 55 miles at the start of Monday's race. Nalon, who rode out of Sherman Oaks, Calif., averaged almost 128 miles per hour in breaking a long string of records for the first 25 miles.

Then Nalon's car became a burned out wreck on the northwest retaining wall. He suffered second degree burns. Rex Mays, shooting for his first triumph for the 12th time, then took over, and Holland still waited.

Mays engine conked out at 90 miles. Then Lee Wallard, a second-year driver from Schenectady, NY, grabbed the lead, and Holland still played his waiting game. Wallard, driving the late Ted Horn's Maserati, was slowed by clutch trouble and finally dropped out.

This was Holland's cue. The 41-year-old driver grabbed the lead at the 137 2-3-mile-mark and never was headed. He even got a break in the last 20 miles of the race when Mauri Rose, the South Bend, Ind., engineer, who was seeking an unprecedented fourth victory, was halted by engine trouble.

Woollens Get Girls' Win Over Lindsay

Dominion Woollens defeated Lindsay 10-8 at the Bowl last evening in a snappy and keenly-contested Girls' Softball League fixture. S. Harris relieved L. Darry in the fourth on Woollens' mound and made the difference of a win. M. Owens also pitched good ball, but three Lindsay errors proved costly and Woollens won out with four runs in the eighth. Six of the winners went down on strikes to three for the losers. The game lasted just 50 minutes.

R. McInroy and S. Harris looked good defensively for the Woollens, while P. Graham and D. Woods stood out for Lindsay. D. Woods led the latter team at bat with a double and two singles in five. E. Humphries topped the victors with three hits in four tries, as C. Ferguson hit a homer and single. Play was quite even till the four-run drive to bring Woollens up in the eighth, Lindsay threatening with two in the ninth.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Vulcan's Forge and Eddie Arcaro ran away with the $61,300 Suburban Handicap at New York's Belmont Park Monday before a bulging crowd of 60,095 persons, largest of the season at a New York track.

Although he had been out six times without success since winning the rich Santa Anita Handicap last February, the Memorial Day patrons established Vulcan's Forge as 8-to-5 favorite in the field of 13 handicap stars. The return in the mutuels was $5.40, $3.20 and $2.70 for $2.

Vulcan's Forge took command midway down the back stretch in this mile-and-one-quarter classic being run for the 63rd time, and Arcaro kept him there all the rest of the way to the wire for a 2½-length victory in 2.03 flat. But Why Not and Flying Missell, two-thirds of the King Ranch entry, copped the second and third places.

At Glace Bay, NS, Joe Pyle, New Waterford, NS, turned the tables on Pete Zaduk of Guelph, by scoring an easy 10-round victory before 2,500 fans Monday night. Pyle weighed 149; Zaduk 158.

There were no knockdowns in the fast, hooking duel. Both were cut in the early rounds. Pyle was gashed about the cheek while Zaduk's right eye was opened in the fourth round.

At Quebec, Ray Edwards of Jamaica, NY, and Jean Richard of Montreal, Canadian featherweight champion, battled to a 10-round draw here Monday night in the main bout of a fight card before 2,000 fans. The American, who forced the fight from the start, weighed in at 129 pounds. Richard weighed 131¾.

At Washington, Manager Casey Stengel said Monday that Yankee outfielder Johnny Lindell will return to New York for treatment of a knee injury suffered in Sunday's game with Philadelphia. Lindell tore a cartilage in a ninth-inning slide into second. Stengel said second-baseman Gerry Coleman will join the Yanks in Chicago this week. Coleman was left in New York because of sinus trouble.

Hanson And Flanagan Team Up Against Davis And O'Donnell

There should be enough fire and brimstone, in a wrestling sense, for even the most case-hardened mat fan in the Brock Arena ring tomorrow night. Team wrestling always provides a maximum of action and thrills. A match that pits Sandy O'Donnell and Wee Willie Davis against Sliding Billy Hanson and Pat Flanagan should be replete with sizzling speed and tornado-like tussling. Davis and his partner in mat crime are determined to turn the tables this week and also are eager to get revenge on Sliding Billy for his nixing in last week. The Slider is a great team wrestler as proven by his actions last week and he and Pat expect to give the Davis-O'Donnell combo a great go.

WEE WILLIE DAVIS

Tug Carlsen who showed himself to be a really fine matman last week when he decisioned Dan O'Connor is given a much tougher foe in the immense Cardiff Giant. In the first bout Al Korman meets Jimmy (Red) Sims to start off an evening of thrills and spills.

Tigers Trim Athletics In 15-8 Contest

By The Canadian Press

Hamilton Tigers and Mimico Mountaineers on Monday night moved into a four-way tie with Owen Sound Crescents and St. Catharines Athletics for the runner-up slot of the Senior Ontario Lacrosse Association. Brampton Excelsiors, who hold the top spot, were idle.

The Mann Cup champions trimmed the Athletics 15-8 in a penalty-riddled fixture which developed into one of the roughest games of the season in Hamilton.

At Weston, the Mountaineers downed the cellar-dwelling Yorks 18-10.

Penalties were more numerous than goals during the Hamilton session, with Dan Frick of St. Catharines spending nine minutes in the penalty box and Doug Davidson of Hamilton garnering a major and three minors.

Never Trailed

Hamilton never trailed in the contest. Athletics managed to knot the count in the opening period only to end the session on the short end of a 5-2 score. Both teams tallied five times each in the third session to make the score 13-8. Hamilton played a cagey game in the final quarter, scoring two goals and holding St. Catharines scoreless.

Jack Dorney and Barney Welch led the Tigers' attack with three goals each, while Fred Hildebrand rattled the mesh four times for the visitors.

The polished Mountaineers took a 6-1 lead during the first session which lacked a single penalty. But the struggling Yorks narrowed the margin to 8-7 in the second quarter with a six-goal splurge.

Mimico's seven-goal attack in the next period cinched the game.

K. Dixon topped the Mountaineers' scoring parade with four goals and an assist. Allewell, Hill and Reddy scored twice each for the losers.

Dodgers, Braves, New York Crowding For Top Slot

By JOE REICHLER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

The major league pennant races are beginning to shape up as predicted.

While the National remained in a triple tie for first place for the second day, the American was tightening up with such familiar contenders as Boston and Cleveland moving closer to the top.

As a result of splits in yesterday's Memorial Day doubleheaders, Brooklyn, Boston and New York still are crowding each other for the senior circuit's top slot. Each has won 22 and lost 17.

The Dodgers outlasted the Giants 2-1 in a 13-inning thriller in the first game. The Giants bounced back to win the second 7-4. The Braves whipped the Phils 7-3 in the opener in Philadelphia, but the losers came back to nip the Braves 6-5 in the 10-inning nightcap.

The Red Sox and Indians, off to wretched starts, are finally beginning to roll. The Sox completed a profitable home stand, sweeping a twin bill from Philadelphia Athletics 10-2 and 4-3, to replace the A's as runner-ups to the Yankees in the junior circuit.

Held to a split in their doubleheader in Washington, the Yankees saw their lead shrink to 4½ games over Boston.

Cleveland knocked off the hapless St. Louis Browns twice 2-1 and 5-0. The Indians needed 12 innings to win the opener.

Close Decisions

In the other American League doubleheader, Detroit and Chicago exchanged close decisions. The Tigers won the opener 3-2 and the White Sox the second 2-1.

St. Louis Cardinals took over fourth place from Cincinnati, by one percentage point by defeating the Reds in both ends of their twin bill 8-6 and 9-2. The loop's tail-enders, Chicago and Pittsburgh, divided a doubleheader. The Cubs grabbed the first game 8-5 and Pittsburgh took the nightcap 8-6.

It took an eighth inning home run by Ted Williams with one aboard to give the Red Sox their double triumph. Until then, right-hander Carl Scheib was out in front 3-2. The Sox had an easy time of it in the first game as Al Zarilla paced an 11-hit attack against three pitchers with a grand slam homer and two singles. Joe Dobson and Mel Parnell were the winning Boston pitchers.

Gene Bearden and rookie Mike Garcia combined to pitch the Indians to their first twin-triumph of the year. Bearden allowed only five hits in the opener and Garcia hurled six hit ball in the nightcap.

Whip Yankees

Righthander Walter Masterson and first baseman Eddie Robinson collaborated to defeat the Yankees 6-2, in the opener. Masterson stopped the Yankees with six hits for his third victory and Robinson led the Senators' nine-hit attack against loser Tommy Byrne with a double and two singles. The Yankees blasted four Nat hurlers for 20 hits and a 13-3 triumph in the second game.

The Tigers came up with two in the top of the ninth to come from behind a 2-1 deficit in the opener. Johnny Groth's single scored Hoot Evers with the deciding tally. Bill Weight outpitched Hal Newhouser in the nightcap.

Jackie Robinson's home run in the 13th inning won the opener for Brooklyn. Erv Palica, in relief, was the winner, and Dave Koslo, who relieved in the ninth, was the loser. Homers by Whitey Lockman and Johnny Mize helped Clint Hartung rack up his fifth victory in the nightcap. The Giants climbed on Ralph Branca for seven hits in two innings to hang the first defeat of the season on the Dodger righthander. He won his first seven.

Home runs by Clint Conatser and Jimmy Russell helped Bill Voiselle and Boston defeat Philadelphia in the opener. Del Ennis clouted a 10th-inning triple and scored on Andy Seminick's fly, to give the Phils an even break.

St. Louis spotted Cincinnati five runs in the first inning, then roared back with a fiver of their own in the sixth to tie. Two more in the seventh sewed up the first game. Pinch hitter Hal Rice's two-run homer was the big blow. Howie Pollet stopped the Reds with five hits in the second game.

The Cubs came up with a six-run sixth-inning outburst to win their opener against Pittsburgh. Phil Cavarretta hit a homer and triple for the Cubs. Ralph Kiner, Wally Westlake and Ed Fitzgerald helped Bob Chesnes gain his third victory with second-game round trippers.

Bears Divide Twin Bill With Jersey City

By The Associated Press

Wally Hood, Jr., son of a former major league baseball player, seems a cinch to follow in his father's footsteps.

Hood, whose father was a fine outfielder for Boston Braves three decades ago, Monday racked up his fourth consecutive International League pitching victory. He has yet to taste defeat.

The Newark Bears' righthander defeated Jersey City Giants 4-2 in the first game of a Memorial Day doubleheader at Newark. He had a no-hitter until the seventh when Monte Irvin doubled.

Wes Bailey, Giant starter, dropped his first game after seven straight triumphs. The defeat snapped a six-game winning streak for the Giants.

Jersey City, behind six-hit pitching by Hub Andrews, came back to win the nightcap 8-1 to retain their two-game, first-place lead over runner-up Buffalo.

Divide Twin Bill

Buffalo and Montreal divided a doubleheader, the Royals winning the opener 5-3 and the Bisons taking the nightcap 7-2. A two-run double by George Schmees in the ninth won the opener for the Royals. Billy Demars and Ray Coleman paced the Bisons in the nightcap. Demars belted a two-run homer to snap a 2-2 tie in the fourth. Coleman batted home three tallies with a pair of singles.

Scoring seven runs in the last two innings, Syracuse whipped Baltimore 9-2 in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader. The second game was postponed due to a power failure. Millard Howell was the winner. The victory enabled the Chiefs to tie the Orioles for seventh place.

Rochester and Toronto split a pair at Rochester. The Red Wings rallied for four runs in the last frame of the seven-inning opener to win 6-5. Russ Derry singled home the winning run.

Rookie Max Peterson pitched his second straight shutout in the nightcap which Toronto won 12-0. Bill Glynn hit his eighth and ninth homers of the season for Toronto.

Business Falls Off At Ball Parks, Tracks

NEW YORK, May 31 (AP)—Lost, strayed or stolen — 52,156 major league baseball fans, 26,836 racing enthusiasts and $1,294,466 in pari-mutuel betting money.

Those figures represent the falling off in business at the eight big-time ball parks and 10 of the country's race tracks Monday as compared to the Memorial holiday a year ago.

The war time and post-war sports boom is past its peak if you take sports as a barometer, at turnstiles and totalisators.

Combining the two major sports you'll find that at the 18 widely scattered points, only four attracted 50,000 or more spectators. Tops for the day was the 60,095 fans who saw Vulcan's Forge win the $50,000 Suburban Handicap at New York's Belmont Park.

Twelve Sunday Schools Represented At Convention

FAIRVIEW, May 31 (ENS). — The annual Sunday School convention for Smith and Harvey townships and Lakefield village was held in Gilmour Memorial Church. Twelve Sunday Schools were represented, out of a possible 18.

The president, Arthur Hancock, presided. In the president's report reference was made to the leadership training courses held in Murray Street Baptist Church which were sponsored by the county Sunday School organization. He also mentioned a successful Sunday School institute held by the local township organization.

Submie Reports

Report of departments included those submitted by the superintendents of girls' work, boys' work, temperance and missions. Special mention was made of the girls' and boys' work carried on in the Curve Lake Sunday School. In the temperance report reference was made to work being carried on among the day schools in connection with essay contests, posters and the oratorical medal contest.

Rev. J. E. Griffith, of the Ontario Religious Education Council, in two addresses, "Where From Here?" and "How Do You Rate as a Teacher?" stressed the value of leadership training.

Highlight of the convention was a demonstration lesson taught by Mrs. Lorne Reynolds to a class of junior girls.

A panel discussion was led by members of the Bridgenorth Sunday School, which was followed by a pleasing solo by Herbie Johnson.

Instals Officers

Rev. Mr. Griffith's closing address was "Are You More Than a Signpost?" following which he led a service of dedication and installed the next executive. The officers for the coming years are: President, Arthur Hancock; Vice-President, Braden Mann; Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Olive Ball; Girls' Work, Mrs. Gerald Harrison; Boys' Work, John Edmison; Missionary Work, Miss Olive Sidey; Temperance Work, Mrs. Elmer Milburn; Leadership Training: Rev. G. F. Kelly, Rev. L. T. Delaney, Rev. Wm. Watson, Ken Stewart. Directors: Mrs. W. J. Stockdale, Melville Crapp, Mrs. Wm. Blewett, Mrs. J. Jackson.

Wally Crouter In Television Pix

Wally Crouter, former announcer at CHEX, now of the announcing staff of CFRB, will start Thursday in television. A picture will be shot in the Queensway studios in Toronto as a Dan Gibson production. Mr. Crouter will act the part of the villain in a detective serial which will take ten days to make. The serial will be screened on television sets in the United States.

Mr. Crouter has has just returned from New York where he was successfully auditioned with the Columbia Broadcasting System. The audition was for a master of ceremonies for a quiz show. He will go to New York later.

In 1946 Mr. Crouter started announcing with the local station, having the Home Folks Hour program and other musical programs. After a year and a half he went to Station CFRB where he does Treasure Trail, the morning show and commercial announcing. He has also done one short on Canadian Radio which was shown at the Canadian National Exhibition last year and in Toronto theatres.

BORDERLINE ANEMIA*

is no help to a happy marriage!

Do everyday tasks exhaust your energy and leave you feeling fatigued, depressed and irritable? Do you look and act older than your years? These signs often come from a blood condition and — if you have them — you may have a Borderline Anemia, a mild anemia due to a nutritional deficiency.

Yes, the red cells in your blood may be losing their healthy color and size—may be too weak to transmit full energy to your body. Many women, men and children drag through life with this Borderline Anemia.

How Ironized Yeast Tablets Build Up Your Blood and Vigor

If this common blood condition is robbing you of your usual healthy color and buoyant energy, take Ironized Yeast Tablets. They are specially formulated to help build up faded red blood cells to healthy color and size. Of course, continuing tiredness and pallor may be due to other conditions. Always consult your doctor regularly. But in this Borderline Anemia, take Ironized Yeast Tablets to help build up your blood. Then energy and color can come surging back! You can get some fun out of life again.

Burnham Street Residents Protest Paving

A deputation of Burnham St. residents appealed to the board of works Monday night to omit them from the benefits of the proposed street paving program. They frankly said they did not like the local improvement plan of taxing for this work, and suggested that, if it was going to be proceeded with, it should be paid for on a general tax basis.

In the meantime they have presented objection to the Ontario Municipal Board. Members of the deputation were: H. Benson, Fred Flaherty, Ed. McDonald, Ed. Wand and Earl McNab. They represented a total "of twenty-two petitioners from the Burnham St. area."

"We are not against street paving, but we would like to have it put off for a year or two," said Mr. Flaherty. 'Taxes are up again this year and they are high enough without putting on the road cost. We think Burnham St. road is in good shape except down near Ed. Wand's where there is a stretch without tile drainage. Water does soften up the road there at times, but the holes in the road are nothing a few pails of tar wouldn't fix for the present. We think that in the next few years it will be cheaper to get things done than now."

It was said to the deputation that they had not paid a frontage tax when the last paving was done on that street.

Street Surface Bad

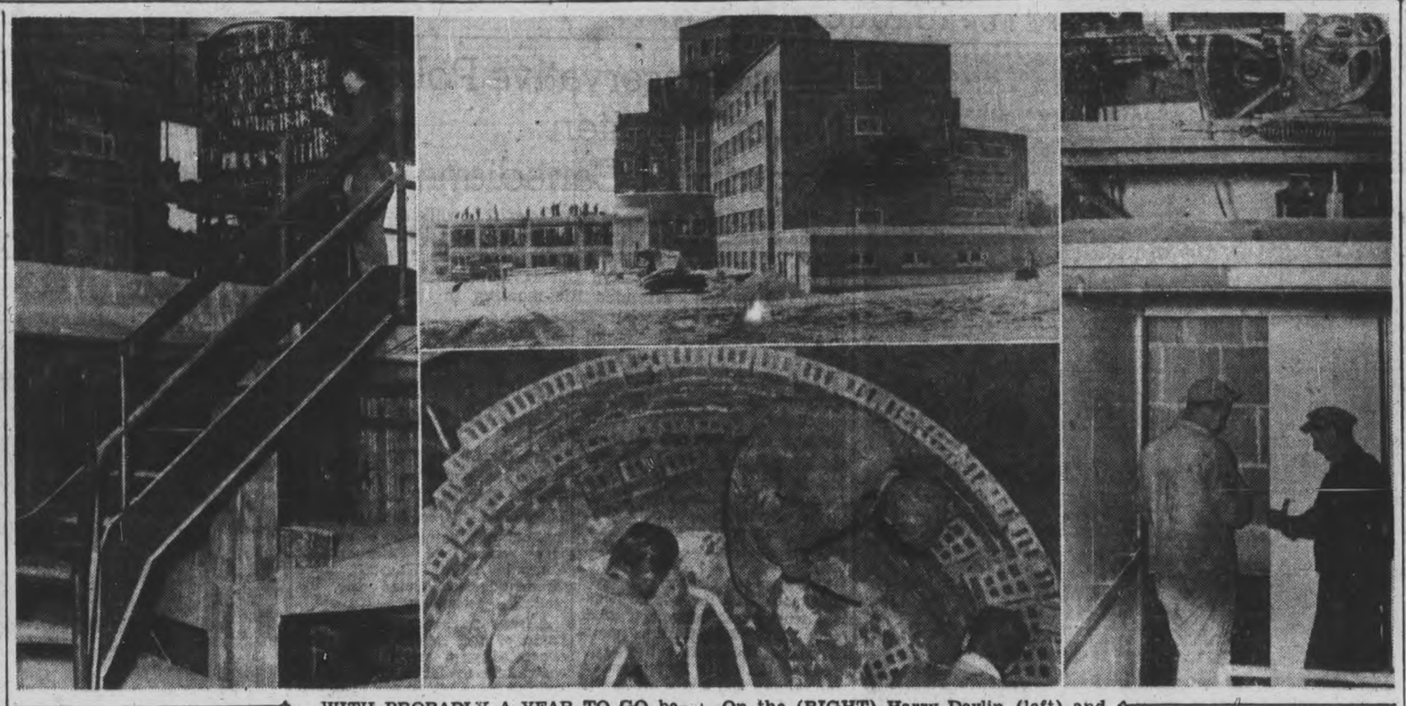
Mayor Swanston said it was the usual experience that the cheapest time to get a street paved was when it was included in a contract that brought one of the big paving companies here with their equipment. His Worship said Burnham St. surface was in bad condition for all kinds of traffic, and especially for the buses used by the public.

"With all the traffic to the park and across to Burnham's Point I don't see why we should have to pay on a frontage tax basis," said Mr. Benson. "The percentage of use of Burnham St. by the general public is away out of proportion with most streets in the city. With so much traffic, the street paving should be paid for by a general tax."

Ald. Dodds: "When you drive on Hunter St., the other fellow living on that street is paying for that road you are using."

WRECK EQUIPMENT.

The love of some human beings to destroy other people's property is in evidence at Inverlea Park. Jack Dane, Recreation Director reports that 55 slats were torn from the Totlot fence and asphalt shingles on the playhouse have been mutilated. Some leaves were burnt on one of the floats built last year and the rope for the floats has been destroyed.



WITH PROBABLY A YEAR TO GO before completion of the new Peterborough Civic Hospital, much of the equipment is already being installed and the buildings are taking shape. First piece of working apparatus is the service elevator which operates from the automatic control panel in the pent house shown on the (LEFT) with mechanics Howard Graham (left) and William Allen checking the switches. On the (RIGHT) Harry Devlin (left) and A. D. Michie make last minute adjustments to the automatic doors of the service elevator. (CENTRE TOP) shows the north wing and the beginning of the new east wing. The first few bricks of the 100-foot chimney (SHOWN LOWER CENTRE) in the power house are being laid by Arthur May, John Stefan and Harry Jones.

Study Metering Market Square

For the parking-metering of the market three members of the board of works were appointed by the council Monday night to study this project and prepare a recommendation. They are Aldermen Gillespie, G. Miller and Young.

Meters adjusted for six-hour parking tolls at five cents an hour will be available at $90 each, on a 50-50 split with the city for the first year. At the end of that time they would be removed if the council required the market for some other purpose,—such as for sale.

"Peterborough will be breaking ground in Ontario if the council goes ahead with this metering," City Clerk Outram commented. "Information I have received indicates that in the United States the average yield from this type of parking meter is $100 a year."

"If the cross walk was lifted from the market square, there might be space for 150 cars."

City Engineer Chalmers said there was now accommodation for 120 cars.

Probably members of the board mentally multiplied $100 by 150, and came up with $15,000, as compared with the present annual loss as market service.

Experience on the market at five cents an hour parking would indicate to the council, Mr. Outram said, whether that kind of investment was safe, and from the experience other parking property might be bought to provide the accommodation that is becoming a serious problem in Peterborough and a host of other cities.

Ownership of the meters passes to the city when their revenue pays for their cost of manufacture and placing.

Work Progressing Rapidly On New Civic Hospital

July 1 two years ago a small square of sod was dug from a meadow by James Hamilton and a $3,500,000 project had begun. Peterborough's new Civic Hospital was underway on a site just outside the city then at the extreme west end of Weller St. Citizens sat back to watch with interest and wait to see the blue prints take form into something of brick and mortar of which they could be proud.

Dominates The Landscape

Now as people drive west out Charlotte St. and turn along Clansilla Ave. an oddly shaped red brick structure appears on the hill to the west and dominates the entire landscape. The outside looked promising and people wondered when the hospital would be finished.

Superintendent J. Hornal said officials hope the hospital will be ready for use about one year from now. From the air the building must look like a three-armed octopus with tentacles stretching north, east and southwest. At the focal point a two-storey pent house surmounts the whole.

Plastering In Full Swing

The new east wing, which was authorized by a municipal vote last December, is just now taking shape, but work on the other two wings is well advanced. Plastering is in full swing with the second floor of the west wing completed and the rough work being done on the third and fourth. Red fireproof tile brick still forms the only walls of the rooms on the top floor.

In the pent house there is still the confusion of scaffolds and unfinished stair steps. Mechanics have just succeeded getting the first elevator to operate. It will be the service elevator when the hospital is being used, but in the meantime it will serve workmen.

In the top pent house room electric motors guided by automatic switches on the eight-foot control panel supply the power for the three elevators.

The eight and one-half ton service elevator operates so smoothly it is difficult to tell when it is moving. The 26 horsepower motor makes scarcely more noise than a refrigerator motor. The elevator car will travel 100 feet a minute. The two other elevators, which will serve the visiting public, will swish up and down the shafts at 200 feet a minute. These two cars will operate together in such a way that one will be descending as the other is going up. In this way visitor traffic will be regulated to some extent.

Start Work On Chimney

Superintendent Hornal is well satisfied with progress of the work. A start was made Monday morning on the 100-foot chimney which has an inside diameter of nine feet at the base and at the top will be four feet nine inches across. The workmen expect to be three weeks on the job.

Now that the third wing is going forward, a third boiler is being added. Two will normally supply the needs of the hospital but a third is necessary for emergencies

Other emergency equipment is a diesel driven generator which will supply electricity should the city supply fail. It will take care of operating room equipment, corridor light, one elevator and other essential gear.

When the hospital is complete it will have 244 beds and 51 bassinettes. It is expected the third wing and the nurses' residence which will be located about 60 feet east of the power house will not hold up the opening of the hospital to any great extent. The hospital must wait for the third wing because it will include equipment which will fit into the essential features of structure.

It may well be that when the third anniversary of the sod-turning ceremony rolls around Peterborough citizens will be celebrating the hospital's opening ceremonies.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

REPORT CHIMNEY FIRE

Despite the warmer weather all fires have not yet been extinguished. On Monday, firemen received a call from Wellington St. when a chimney fire was reported.

RETURNS COME IN.

First returns of the Upper Canada Bible Society's annual canvass for funds are reported good. The drive for funds started last week being backed by 17 churches in the city. One canvasser turned in $40 Monday from personal contributions collected.

FINISH UP.

Finishing touches are being given today to the outside of the YMCA. Since the latter part of last week painters have been roped to the YWCA tower painting it with a coat of red tile paint. Eaves and other trim on the building have received two coats of gray paint.

ROTARY CLUB GUESTS

Guests introduced at Monday's weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club were D. McKee of Toronto and Cecil Mercer of Elizabethville. Visiting Rotarians present were: John Fisher, Rittman, Ohio; W. A. McEvoy, Preston, and John James, Bowmanville.

EXAMS BEGIN

Students of PCVS, Grades IX, X, XI and XII start to write their final examinations Thursday of this week. Pupils in Grade XIII begin their examinations June 13 and finish June 22. Examinations for the Lower and Middle School were originally scheduled to start Friday but as Monday is a school holiday they were put forward one day.

ON WATCH FOR LOOT

Trenton police have asked Peterborough city police to be on the watch for stolen jewelry which may be loot from a $1,491.70 robbery from a Trenton joweller's store last week. A long list of items taken from the shop include rings with rubies, emeralds, aquas, opals, pearls, sapphires, and cameos. The shop was also cleared of 15 wrist watches, alarm clocks, ladies' compacts, etc.

Police Recover Watch, Camera

City police in an early morning raid arrested Larry Boccioletti, 22, Peterborough, correspondent for a Toronto newspaper. The arrest was made by Constables Reg. McMillan and Vern O'Donoghue in Boccioletti's room at the YMCA.

Boccioletti was later today charged before Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., with retaining a silver wrist watch and photographer's exposure meter, well knowing them to have been stolen. The watch was said to belong to Jack Ackerman, 380 Park St., and the meter to Roy's Studio, Hunter St.

Chief Constable John Thompson told the Examiner that further charges may be laid.

Boccioletti was remanded until June 8th with bail set at $1,000.

Detective William Clarke has identified a $97 kodak 35 camera found in Boccioletti's room as a camera which was reported stolen from Elliott's drug store Monday. Sergeant Detective John Stevenson has identified the exposure meter as the one Fred L. Roy of Roy's Studio, reported missing from a show case in his shop last week. Both articles bear serial numbers which correspond with the numbers said to be on the missing articles.

A wrist watch valued at $65, reported missing from the office at the YMCA was also found in Boccioletti's room.

Jack Ackerman, 380 Park St., had left his watch in the care of G. H. Roper, General Secretary of the YMCA, who had placed it in a drawer in his office. Loss of the watch, which bears the initials JFA, had already been reported to the police, who found a watch bearing the same letters in Boccioletti's room.

After a group of boys living at the YMCA had searched Boccioletti's room during the night for personal articles which they had lost in recent weeks, Jim Stutt, an amateur photographer employed at Elliott's Drug Store, reported their investigation to Sergeant Percy Smith and a search warrant was issued by James Fleming, J. P.

LANDS A BEAUTY

While fishing Monday afternoon at Lock 22, which is just above Nassau, Mrs. Frank DeForge, 130 Hazlitt St., landed a 9¼-pound pickerel. The bait used and the exact location are a mystery, but an Examiner reporter weighed the fish.

Canoe Derby For Kawarthas

A small meeting of persons interested in fostering a canoe derby this summer in the Kawarthas gathered in the auditorium of the Public Library on Monday evening. President A. D. Vaisey of the Junior Chamber of Commerce presided and a roundtable discussion was held to determine whether or not a canoe derby could be held this year. If it could how much would be required to put the event over in a small way so that a beginning could be made with a larger event in view for 1950.

W. A. Richardson, veteran boat manufacturer, offered many good suggestions. He thought this would be a good year to start, that it should be carried on in a small way and that this year's committee, when appointed, would at least have a working knowledge of canoe derbies behind them to be able to stage a bigger and better affair each year following.

Committee Chosen

Many of the summer resort operators from Stony Lake, who were primarily interested in suggesting the derby from the start, were not present.

A fact-finding committee was selected which will meet on June 6 in the Chamber of Commerce to pool information and choose a steering committee. Delegated to this were W. A. Richardson, Jim Fraser, Chamber of Commerce and Nick Nickels, Peterborough Examiner. Others present were Fred Marshall, Campbell Rowatt, Gerard Laplante, Archie Shook, Bruce Maxwell and Milton Clysdale.

Police Court Fines

Five people were fined a total of $27 and $11 costs today by Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., at city police court for traffic offences.

Walter Sutherland, 239 Barnardo Ave., was fined $10 and $2.50 costs for driving with inadequate brakes; Wilbert Webster, 746 Aylmer St., paid a total of $7.50; Lawrence Tinney of Coe Hill and Reg. McConnell, R.R. 1, Omemee, were fined $5.50 and $3 respectively for driving without proper lighting, and R. J. Desmoreau, Bridgnorth was fined $5 with $2.50 costs for careless driving.

DECORATION DAY

The Decoration Day committee of the IOOF has decided on Sunday, June 26, for their annual remembrance day at Little Lake Cemetery where the service will be at 3 p.m.

Nurses' Residence Tender $437,200 Recommended For Acceptance By Council

The tender of A. W. Robertson Co., Toronto, at $437,200, second lowest of six, for the building of the nurses residence at Civic Hospital was recommended to the council Monday night by the board of works. This company is at present completing a big addition to the local plant of Canadian General Electric Company. The lowest bid of $419,644 was received from Robertson Construction and Engineering Company at Niagara Falls.

The others were: George Hardy & Co., Toronto, $466,546; Richard and B. A. Ryan, Toronto, $470,300; W. B. Sullivan Co., Toronto, $470,740; and Eastwood Construction Co., Peterborough, $477,673. All were firm bids with no cost plus or strings attached. The architects had estimated the building to cost approximately $448,000.

Acceptance of the A. W. Robertson bid was moved by Ald. Grant Miller, seconded by Ald. James Gillespie.

Alderman Hugh Waddell and Herbert Young did not vote for the motion. The members present were: Ald. Hurrell Dodds, chairman, Alderman Young, Doug. Miller, Grant Miller, Gillespie, Waddell, Burrows and Mayor Swanston.

Four of these companies are at present engaged on Peterborough construction jobs. Mr. Walter Blackwell and Mr. James Craig of the architectural firm were present.

General attitude of the committee in giving a majority to the A. W. Robertson tender was that the Niagara Falls company was unknown to them and, in so far as they could learn, had not performed so many and large contracts as the other. They wished to get the advantage of the $17,556. difference in these two tenders, but, it was said, they would feel more secure with the job in the hands of the A. W. Robertson Co., with their experience, staff and resources.

Delay Suggested

A suggestion of delay for further enquiry was considered but in the end it was decided to make an immediate recommendation to the council.

One of the jobs in the background of the Niagara Falls Company was a plant at Chalk River for the National Research Council of the Dominion government. They had also done work for the Bell Telephone Co., C. N. R. and various others.

"I don't think we have enough information as to the work this Niagara Falls company has done," said Ald. Waddell. "If they are a reliable company I don't see why they should not get the contract."

"We can certainly use $17,000," said Mayor Swanston, "but these people are new to us and to the architects."

It was said that the A. W. Robertson Co. was here, would have additional equipment available at one local job for transfer to the other, if needed; had done a number of large contracts in Peterborough, and because of their reputation here they would have the confidence of the council and the public.

On the other hand it was remarked that the government, C. N. R., rubber and other companies had confidence in the Niagara Falls Co., but the size of the jobs they had done was not known to the board.

A. W. Robertson Co. estimated that they would complete the nurses' residence in 10 months; Robertson Construction and Engineering mentioned in 15 months in their letter. Mr. Walter Blackwell said both of them were only estimates.

FEEDS FISH AND BIRDS

Irv Morrison, announcer for CHEX, must be a bird and fish lover. For Sunday night he was fishing at Lock 19. After casting all evening missing the odd minnow, snatched by some pickerel, he decided to leave for home. But Irv must have one more cast. The minnow on the hook whistled through the air. Swish, a bird swiped the minnow off the hook. That was the straw that broke the camel's back. Irv went home. —D.G.

Says Conservative Policies Never Threaten Security of Canadians

"George Drew is pledged to policies that will never threaten the security of the Canadian people", Mrs. W. B. Horkins, C.B.E., of Toronto declared Monday afternoon in an address to the Women's Progressive Conservative Association. More than 200 women attended the meeting in the George St. headquarters of Gordon K. Fraser, Conservative candidate in the Federal election.

"Conservatism is the best instrument to save us from socialism", she further stated. Quoting direct from Karl Marx she gave this definition: "Socialism is the lowest kind of communism." In relation to its opposite, capitalism, she said "Socialists plan with other people's minds; capitalists with their own."

"We want to know why we have high taxes, why there is no housing; what is Communism; what is the CCF?" Mrs. Horkins pointed out that the Conservative party promises tax relief. Its leader is a war veteran and lost a brother in battle, so he is naturally concerned for the veteran and securing adequate housing for him. "This party stands for the freedom and security that was bought by the men who lost their lives," she said.

"Freedom of our very souls would be deprived by communism" the speaker stated. She deplored the fact that 18 pro-Communist newspapers are allowed to publish regularly in Canada at the present time. "I believe that George Drew will get rid of this Communism and any pro-Communist will be barred from holding office in his government."

Mrs. Horkins, who is a past National president of the IODE said "I have viewed with great concern the pulling away from the Motherland by the Liberal government." She said the Conservative leader has pledged himself to keep the ties that bind Canada to the British Empire.

Mrs. Horkins was thanked for her address by Mrs. Gordon K. Fraser and Mrs. Harold R. Scott.

Ex-service Girls Instal Padre Rev. W. J. Gilling

The Rev. W. J. Gilling was installed as padre of Elizabeth Smellie Branch of the Canadian Legion, No. 452, on Monday evening, before a gathering of ex-service women of Peterborough. Comrade Arthur Wagstaff, Zone Commander, conducted the installation ceremony.

A large cake, inscribed with the name of the organization and decorated with small silk flags, centred the tea table. Tulips, lilacs and iris were effectively arranged in a bouquet, carrying out the red, white and blue color scheme. Silver holders held red, white and blue candles, and red and blue streamers were on the white linen tablecloth.

During the social hour, Miss Bernie Morin sang solos and led a lively sing song, with Mr. Basil Edworthy at the piano.

Guests for this occasion were Mrs. A. Wagstaff, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Yelland and Mr. Maurice Rea, also husbands of married members.

A short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Rose Humphries. Padre Gilling closed the meeting, expressing appreciaton of the honor.

Welfare Workers Badly Needed

OTTAWA, May 31 — (CP) — North American women have no monopoly on the ideas, courage and good faith needed to tackle pressing world problems, the vice president of the World Council of the Young Women's Christian Association said Monday night.

Mrs. J. B. Calkins told the YWCA's national convention that YWCA women in 65 countries are facing the same problems as women in Canada and the United States.

She spoke during the opening day of the week-long convention, after some 350 degelates heard Mrs. Walter Rean of Toronto, Canadian YWCA president, say the shortage of welfare workers was one of its most serious problems.

Mrs. Calkins said Chinese YWCA workers have proved it is not necessary to wait for a solution to all economic and political problems before tackling the concrete problems of serving humanity.

The YWCA in Germany had shown how women can take the lead in promoting responsible citizenship and in France and the Philippine Islands it had shown how Protestant and Roman Catholic women can work together.

Cowell-Franklin

A pretty dedding was solemnized in the United Church, Port Hope, when Leita Alma Franklin, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Franklin, Port Hope, formerly of Roseneath, became the bride of John Earl Cowell, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cowell, Ottawa.

The Rev. B. K. Cronk performed the ceremony. Mr. L. W. Stanley was organist. The church was decorated with baskets of snapdragon, roses and carnations, against a backgrounud of white lilacs.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was in an afternoon dress of turquoise triple sheer, matching hat, white accessories, and carried an arm bouquet of Briarcliffe roses. Miss Dorothy Franklin was her sister's bridesmaid, frocked in salmon pink ripple crepe, matching hat, navy accessories and carried an English nosegay of mixed flowers. Groomsman was Mr. Terry Axcell of Ottawa.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Her mothter received wearing a navy printed crepe with navy and white accessories.

For going away the bride donned a loganberry suit, matching hat, black accessories and corsage of Talisman roses. They will reside in Ottawa, where both are employed in the Civil Service.

MR. AND MRS. WM. S. COURNEYA of Peterborough whose marriage took place Saturday. The bride is Mary Elizabeth (Betty), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Smith. The groom is a son of Mr. Felix Courneya and the late Mrs. Courneya.

Betty Smith Weds Wm. S. Courneya

In Sacred Heart Roman Catholic church on Saturday morning the nuptial mass united Mary Elizabeth (Betty) Smith and William Stanley Courneya. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Smith, and the groom a son of Mr. Felix Courneya and the late Mrs. Courneya, all of Peterborough. The Rev. Dr. F. M. Grant officiated.

Spring flowers decorated the altar table. Mrs. Eric Frizzelle, sister of the bride, sang several hymns during the ceremony and at the signing of the register "On This Day." The organist was Mr. J. Armstrong.

The bride was given in marriage by her eldest brother, Mr. Clifford Smith. She wore a taupe gabardine suit, styled with flared jacket, and a hat of the same material trimmed with brown quill, and her accesories were in brown. She carried a bouquet of red roses with lily of the valley. Her bridesmaid was Miss Yvonne Lee, who wore a dressmaker suit of rust gabardine which had ruffles at the hipline of the jacket. Her hat was of grey felt and she wore grey accessories and carried a bouquet of roses and lily of the valley.

Mr. Allan Courneya was his brother's groomsman. Ushers were Frank Connelly and Edwin Courneya.

Following dinner for the wedding party at the Empress Hotel, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Frizzelle, 251 Princess St. The bride's mother received, wearing gray flowered crepe with white straw hat and corsage of red roses.

Later the bride and groom left for a honeymoon in Detroit. The bride's going-away outfit was a beige suit, brown accessories, white flannel topcoat and brown squirrel furs.

Mr. and Mrs. Courneya will live in Peterborough.

Teen-agers See Only Glamor Wear Rose-colored Glasses

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am 15 years old and have been going steady for three and a half months with a boy who is 17 We plan to be married on my 16th birthday, which will take place next spring, but Mother objects. She says I don't know enough about married life to enter into it. However we think we can make a success of it after we are happily married. My boy friend's mother is dead and he needs someone to love him.

Should we go on with our plans, or listen to my mother?

D. R.

✧ ✧ ✧

Dorothy Dix

ANSWER—Listen to your mother, for she is trying to save you from committing a folly that in all likelihood will wreck your whole life. No girl at your tender age is fit for marriage.

You don't know what you are going to be yourself when you are a grown woman, nor what kind of a husband you will want, nor how to handle any one of the million problems that a wife confronts every day.

Child-marriages are simply defying fate and it is no wonder that so many of them end in the divorce court. For it takes more stability of character, more knowledge of life, more patience and forebearance than any youngsters have to make a success of living together.

Child's View

You are thinking about marriage from the point of view of a little girl playing house—all good times and lollipops, and having a swanky wedding and getting presents and going off on a wedding tour. But marriage isn't like that for a teen-ager. It is work and worry, and having to stay at home when your feet ache to dance, and having babies, and wrestling with grocery bills and cook stoves and crying over what your husband says about your cooking.

Believe me, daughter, there is nothing that is more sure to end in disaster than for two children to get married before they are fitted for it. Marriage is for grownups, not for kids.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I was engaged to a widower for two years and everything seemed rosy until he told me that he expected me to continue to work after we got married so that I could buy all of my own clothes and put money in a joint bank account. He said that I made more money than he did and that we should spend mine and let him save his. He also told me that he would expect me to help his daughter with her housework, as she had a baby and it was too much work for her to take care of it alone.

He wanted me to work, come home and do all the housework, help his daughter, buy my own clothes and pay board. He never took me out but once a week and then it was to a cheap show, and the most he ever bought me was a 5 cent bar of candy and he split it between his daughter and me. He said it cost money to take a girl out.

So I gave him the air. I would rather be an old maid the balance of my life than to be with a miser who would could every cent I spent, and who expected me to be a domestic slave.

CATHERINE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER — Right you are, Catherine. That kind of a man only marries a woman to get a household drudge and he begrudges her even the food she eats.

Unfortunately, nowadays, there are many slave-driving husbands who do not only force their wives to work outside of the home, but in it, and who take from them every cent that they earn. And why any wife stands for such treatment is a mystery no sane person can solve.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX — I have a problem which I would like you to help me solve. I am nearly 13 years old and my main trouble is flirting. The reason that I can't stop this is because I don't understand just what flirting is. Please help me.

ANN.

ANSWER—In grownup circles, flirting is considered to be an act that a girl puts on when she tries to lure a boy to her side. This come-on may consist in a girl casting languishing glances at a lad, or rolling her eyes, or feeding him on flattery, or sharing a chocolate bar with him, or trying to act cute, or doing anything else she thinks is calculated to fire the masculine fancy.

Some girls are born flirts. Others acquire the art of flirting by studying it instead of their school books. Others never catch on to the trick of how it is done. But if you will take my advice you won't try to imitate the flirtatious. Nothing is so sweet as an innocent little girl of 12 and nothing so repugnant as a 12-year-old who tries to be sophisticated.

✧ ✧ ✧

DOROTHY DIX cannot reply personally to readers, but will answer problems of general interest through her column.

CANADA FASHIONS— Designed for summer sun and lovely weather are the above. Left, a shantung sun-dress in grey with yellow contrasting stripes across bodice. Centre, Italian washable broadcloth accentuated by braid trim on bodice and skirt and surplice neckline. At right, afternoon dress in stripe mesh made with convertible neckline and two big slash pockets. They're smart yet budget-wise.

Fish Loaf is Ideal Dish To Have Ready for Hot Day

By MARY MOORE

Being an inlander such fish as alewives, hake, ling, candlefish, rosefish, tullibee and witch are merely fascinating names to me.

But a gentleman from the Department of Fisheries recommended rosefish to me and I tasted it—and while it did not taste like a garden, it did taste like a wonderful fish.

At the moment I am not writing about fish to bolster Canada's economy; I am merely saying I like fish, and think more people should enjoy more varieties of Canadian-caught fish—oftener.

I have chosen the dishes that would be likely to appeal to you in the hot months—for they may be made in the cool of the day and produced at the last moment, cool and delicious from the refrigerator when you are wilting with the heat.

Salmon (Or Any) Fish Loaf

In top of double boiler melt 1 tablespoon butter, stir in 1 tablespoon flour, then add 1 cup hot milk, stirring. Add salt and pepper. To this sauce add 2 cups of flaked canned or boiled salmon or tuna, or lobster, or shrimps, or any other fish you prefer, 2 beaten eggs, 1 cup soft breadcrumbs, 1 chopped hard-cooked egg, 2 chopped sweet pickles, 3 tablespoons parsley and, if desired, some finely chopped chives. Pour into buttered loaf pan, or pyrex round mould. Stand this in pan of hot water and bake for 1 hour at 350 deg. Fahr. This may be served hot or cold. If to be served cold pass

Tartar Sauce: Add 1 tablespoon each finely chopped dill or sweet pickle, onion or chives, parsley and capers to 1 cup genuine mayonnaise.

Moulded Fish Salad

(Some cousins of our are arriving from Florida next week and I am to make this as my contribution to the garden party that my sister-in-law is giving in their honor.)

These amounts will serve from 6 to 8.

Two cups flaked canned or cooked fish—salmon, or salmon and lobster, or crabmeat or tuna, or shrimps, or shrimps and boiled salmon, salt and paprika, 1½ tablespoons gelatine, ¼ cup cold water, 1 cup mayonnaise—this may be genuine mayonnaise or salad dressing or half and half of each, ½ to ¾ cup finely chopped celery, 2 tablespoons each chopped stuffed olives, chopped parsley, sweet pickles or canned pimiento. Soak the gelatine in the cold water for 5 minutes and dissolve it by standing the cup in boiling water and stirring. Cool a little and add to the remaining ingredients, stirring just enough to mix. Pour into small moulds which have been rinsed out with cold water. Chill until set. Unmould on bed of lettuce. Garnish with radishes and olives and wedges of lemon. Cold diced meat such as chicken or veal may be used half and half with the fish.

It may be a delusion, but since I had 2 or 3 different types of margarine in the icebox to experiment with I used them to deep-fry codfish balls—thinking of course that now that fats are plentiful somehow they must be cheap, and could be used prodigally in this way.

Codfish Balls

Shred ½-pound salt cod and soak ½ hour in cold water. Drain and to it add 2 cups finely diced pared raw potatoes. Boil these together in boiling water to cover until potatoes are tender. Drain. Shake over heat until dry. Mash very well and add 1 beaten egg, 1 tablespoon butter, shake of pepper—no salt. Beat for 2 minutes. Have frying fat at 385 deg. Fahr. Pick up fish mixture on tablespoon and push off tip of spoon in fairly uniform shapes into hot fat—they cook to a delicate brown in about 1 minute. Drain and keep hot on crumpled paper towels. Serve on hot platter with wedges of heart lettuce and gherkins, and if desired, sauce tartare.

Social Situations

SITUATION: A friend who owns an automobile often takes you into town for a shopping trip, parking the car in a garage or parking lot.

WRONG WAY: Make no move toward paying the parking fee.

RIGHT WAY: Pay the parking fee if you can do so.

DIES OF PNEUMONIA

LOS ANGELES, May 31 (AP)—An aged woman who married her Negro chauffeur last January so he could have her property is dead. Mrs. Adriana Eugenie Nicholson Woods, 90, died late Saturday night at home. Her husband, Allan L. G. Woods, 28, said "Mommy had been ill for years but it was pneumonia that finally took her away—she was a great woman, a great woman."

No Harsh Laxatives in Two Years!

Man Finds Relief With Famous Cereal

If you are nagged by constipation worries, read this unsolicited letter:

"Constipation cost me plenty of money for strong remedies! But since I started eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly over two years ago, I haven't had to take any laxative. Doing fine, feeling fine! Wish everyone troubled as I was by constipation would try it." W. J. Riley, Molson, Manitoba.

Constipated due to lack of bulk in your diet? You may find relief from sluggishness and taking harsh laxatives. For natural results, try eating an ounce (bowlful) of crisp, tasty ALL-BRAN every day, drink plenty of water. ALL-BRAN is a delicious regulating food, not a purgative. Try one package and if it doesn't help you, you can get double your money back. Simply return empty box to Kellogg's, London, Ont.

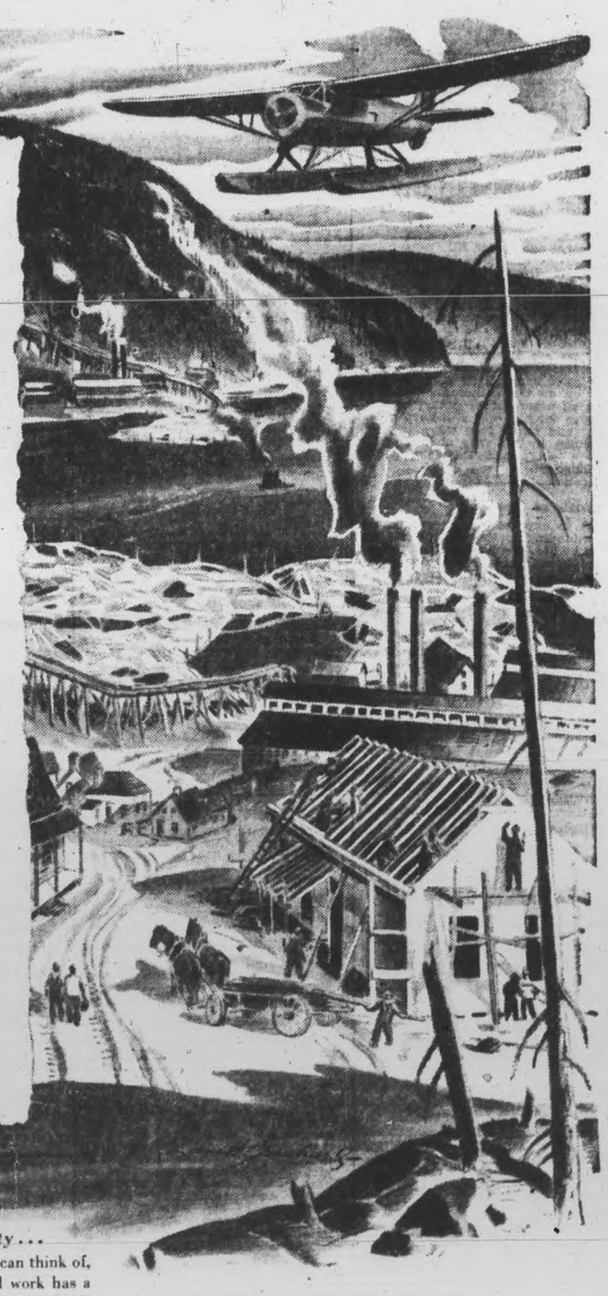
New Names in the NORTH



THERE'S new activity in Ontario's bushland north of Lake Superior. Marathon and Red Rock, Terrace and Heron Bay: they all tell the same story. New towns have arisen, old ones expanded. Only five years ago on the site of Marathon, for example, there was nothing but bush; today a new community beside a new pulp mill is contributing millions to Canada's export trade.

Such spectacular developments in the north are matched by continuing industrial expansion in the older established communities. Throughout Canada today ever-widening avenues of opportunity await the enterprise of young Canadians.

•

With newsprint production 50% above pre-war levels, Canada today has an output five times that of any other country, and accounts for three out of every five newspaper pages in the world.

"Canada is a land of opportunity . . .

There is a field for almost anything one can think of, and anyone with a willingness for hard work has a good chance to achieve success", says Donald J. Smith, President of Hornet Industries Limited, Guelph, Ontario.

Hornet Industries Limited, which was founded in 1945, has in this short time achieved remarkable success in the manufacture of chain saws and combustion engines. More than half the production of the plant reaches markets outside Canada. From a staff of only a half dozen men in 1945, Hornet Industries Limited has expanded to three plants in Guelph, employing 296 workers.

6—In Memoriams

DAVIS—In loving memory of a dear daughter Barbara, who died June 3, 1942.
Upright and just in all her ways,
Faithful and true, to the end of her days,
In silence she suffered, in patience she bore,
Till God called her home to suffer no more.
—Always remembered by Mother, Dad and family.

EDWARDS— In loving memory of our granddaughter Eleanor May Edwards who passed away May 31, 1945.
"Beside your grave we often stand,
With heart both crushed and sore.
But in the gloom the sweet words come,
"Not lost, but gone before."
God knows how much we miss you
He counts the tears we shed
And whisper "she only sleeps,
Your loved one is not dead."
So we'll be brave dear Eleanor
And pray to God each day
And when he calls us home to you,
Your smile will guide the way.
—Remembered by Grandma and Grandpa McFarland.

EDWARDS—In loving memory of Eleanor Mae who pased away May 31st, 1945.
Oh happy hours we once enjoyed
How Sweet the memory still
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill
—Ever remembered by Mom, Dad and brothers, Gerald and Douglas.

KIERAN—In loving memory of my dear husband and our dear father, Arthur P. Kieran, who died on May 31, 1940, R. I. P.
We often sit and think of him when we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend that grief can call its own;
Like ivy on the withered oak,
When all other things decay,
Our love for him will still keep green and never fade way.
—Inserted by his wife and daughter Maria A. and Catharine, 135 Rubidge St.

Says Conservative

In absence of the speaker previously announced, Mrs. D. Downing, chairman of the Provincial Women's Advisory Committee, who was ill, the District Chairman Mrs. Ira Lowe, spoke briefly. She urged enthusiasm for democracy and all eligible voters to make use of their franchise. "Those who do not vote are the first to complain about the government," she said, pointing out that 53 per cent of the vote is controlled by women, she asked each woman present to educate others on how to vote properly.

The Honorable Iva C. Fallis, in a short address before introducing the speaker, said "the best Liberals in the country do not agree with the present government." She declared that a healthy government situation does not exist in Canada with the majority of government employees Liberals. "The party has developed a complete-power complex because the opposition didn't quibble during the war years."

"Meetings such as this are held to provide party workers with ammunition," Senator Fallis advised and urged the women to use what was given them to the best advantage.

Mr. Gordon K. Fraser added an entreaty to all to check the voters' list for their names prior to the sitting of the Revision Officer on June 9 and 10. He pointed out that an enumerator's slip does not guarantee a name on the printed list.

Mr. Jas. Juby, president of the men's association, urged the women to contact newcomers to their district and explain any matters in regard to the election that were necessary.

Mrs. J. Cridland, president of the Women's Progressive Conservative Association, conducted the meeting. Mrs. J. D. Miller, secretary, took registration of new members at the close.

Claims Being Framed

"I have got enemies who are framing me up," Frederick Conroy, 488 Patterson St., told Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., at city police court today, when he faced a charge of drunkenness. He was fined $10 with $2.50 costs.

Pleading not guilty to the charge, Conroy told Constable E. Niziol that after having a fight with his brother, he started to walk home when the police cruiser arrived and took him to the station. He said he had had only five pints of beer.

Stories, Displays Promote Britain Week

"Come to Britain Week" is now on its second day in Peterborough. The theme is reflected in the many attractive window displays in the downtown district which call attention to the advantages of a British tour.

Merchants are giving prominent place for these few days to the wide range of manufactured articles from the United Kingdom that are in demand by the Peterborough buying public. Men's wear stores are showing all wool products such as English gabardine, flannel and worsted suits; all wool socks, ties, and sweaters that are stylish and durable; broadcloth and flannel shirts are also featured; and so is Irish linen.

One of the Old Country's greatest sources of revenue in this country is chinaware. Made by top craftsmen these dinner sets and individual pieces of china are being prominently displayed.

Special Displays

At Hall's store further variety is added with a show window of dress drapes, blankets, rugs, mats and curtains. One of the more attractive window-pieces is at Grafton's where there is large painting of an English castle perched on a seaside cliff.

The week was opened with a special proclamation being issued from Mayor Max J. Swanston. He received the good wishes from the Mayor of Peterborough, England, as well as the promise that visitors would receive a heart-warming welcome if they crossed the ocean for their holidays.

It was pointed out by the local representative of the British Travel Association that this is the season for tourists to see Great Britain a its best. Music and drama festivals, sporting spectacles, exhibitions and miscellaneous means of entertainment are to be found in all parts of the UK.

Economic Advantages

Canadians who make a tour of England, Scotland, Wales or Northern Ireland, will also have the satisfying knowledge they are aiding the complementary economies of both countries.

Great Britain needs Canadian or American dollars to make purchases in this country; if she cannot obtain them the result will be a slump in trade with its indirect adverse effect on both populations. The British Travel Association suggests that one of the best means of helping out on an individual scale is for the people of this country to spend their vacations in Great Britain or Northern Ireland instead of some other country.

Complete details regarding currency, food rationing and identity cards, passports and visas, port regulations, customs and other incidentals of travel will be supplied by the Association.

Similar "Come to Britain Weeks" will be staged across Canada.

Walks Out On Bride

INDIANAPOLIS, May 31 (AP) —The Federal Bureau of Investigation announced Monday night the arrest of a man accused of driving away alone on his bridal night in his bride's new automobile and then returning to break into her house. The FBI said the man, George H. Sturm, 47, was arrested at Oklahoma City on a charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for burglary.

Three New Members Initiated To Rotary

Three new members were inducted into the Rotary Club at Monday's weekly luncheon. They are: Mel Turner, Claude Elliott, and Vernon Hewson. The last named as a past president of the Thornbury, Ont., Rotary Club. Mr. Turner was introduced by J. E. Weir; Mr. Elliott by Gordon Monkman, and Mr. Hewson by Bob Cochrane.

The aims and objects of Rotary were explained to the new members by President-elect Harley Keifer, Vice-president-elect Ernest C. Braund, and Director Bob Maybee. President W. J. Hamilton presented them with their badges of membership and scrolls were presented by Col. John-Dewart. Mr. Hamilton said that the club membership now stands at 106.

Canadian Crew Asks Dockers To Call Off Strike

LONDON, May 31 (Reuters)— Britain's dock and rail strikes both spread Monday as the cabinet heard reports from Labor Minister George Alfred Barnes.

In stoppages at West coast ports, in suport of the Canadian Seaman's Union strike, more dockers came out.

The Liverpool dock strike, which started Friday, doubled in size today. The 1,300 who stopped work Friday voted to continue the stoppage, and 1,400 others decided to join them.

Avonmouth and Bristol dockers decided to send delegates to all major British ports to explain their case and ask for support.

A direct appeal to these strikers was made today by the crew of the Montreal City, which the dockers have refused to handle, because she is involved in the CSU dispute which arose when Canadian ship-owners signed contracts with the rival Seafarers' International Union.

The crew, all members of the SIU, signed a circular declaring that the rival CSU was Communist-dominated and the Canadian workers did not want Communists at the head of their union. It added:

"Ships are coming and going smoothly at all eastern Canadian ports with SIU crews. There is no strike in Canada, and the United Kingdom is the last resort of communism in Canadian ships.

"What your refusal to work the Montreal City can accomplish is to help promote the poisonous growth of communism through the docks of Britain for the sake of something which does not even concern you."

Executives Take Over

NEW YORK, May 31—(AP)— Executives of Colonial Airlines Monday took over plane maintenance and the handling of passenger traffic on the line after some 160 mechanics and their employees quit work in a company-union dispute. Branch T. Dykes, vice-president in charge of operations, said the company will seek men to replace those on strike and is making plans to transfer its maintenance work to Montreal.

Get Jail Sentence

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, May 31—(CP)—Twenty-five crew members of the Canadian freighter Sunavis, all members of the striking Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC), Monday were sentenced "in absentia" to indefinite prison terms on contempt of court charges. The men have been on a sit-in strike aboard the strike-bound Bauxite carrier in harbor here for more than seven weeks. Chief Justice A. N. Worley said the men had until June 1 to "surrender or be taken prsioner by force if necessary."

Honor Champions

HASTINGS, May 31 (ENS). — A banquet will be held in the Hastings Community Arena this Wednesday at 7 p.m. for members of the Hastings midget hockey team, all-Ontario champions, and their parents. The public is invited to attend at 8 p.m. to hear the guest speakers, Turk Broda and Dit Clapper, and to witness the presentation.

Donations Made To Otonabee Rink

Following is a further list of donations for the Otonabee Memorial Rink Fund.

Thomas Thomson, Peterborough, $5; Joe Crowley and Sons, $10; Bruce Sargent, $5; Frank Crowley, $2; Melville Turner, $5; T. V. O'Toole, $2; Mrs. Wilemine Moore, $10; Freeman Ingleton, $1; George Chamberlain, $20; Russell Robinson, $1; Lloyd Wismer, $25; Allan Robinson, $1; Norman Watkins, $1; James Fitzgerald, $2; Mrs. James Jackson, $1; Fred Deyell, $5; Stewart Whittington, $1; John Johnson, $3; Stafford King, $25; Joe Porter, $20; Roy Porter $25, Earl Petrie $20, Penny Boxes, $5.58; Billy Wood, $10; Leslie Wood, $10; John Wood $50; Russell Dickson, $25; William Davidson, $25; A Friend, $100; James S. McIntyre, Peterborough, $10; Braund and O'Toole, Peterborough, $10.

Those with unfilled pledges are again reminded that the committee is most anxious to have as much as possible in cash by June 1 as it is the intention to commence operations very shortly.

The ticket campaign on the purebred Holstein Calf donated by Norm. McConkey is now in full swing. The Junior Farmers of the Township are working with the committee to put this campaign over.

Philadelphia Minister At Diamond Jubilee

TORONTO, May 31.—(CP). — Rev. Oliver De Wolf Cummings, of Philadelphia, will be a guest speaker of the Ontario Diamond Jubilee Baptist convention here beginning June 9, it was announced today. Dr. Cummings is general secretary of the Northern Baptist Convention Youth Fellowship.

Also at the convention, reports will be presented by the Women's Home Missionary Society dealing with activities on Indian reserves, church repairs and assistance and summer activity by students of MacMaster University, Hamilton.

S. A. Fry Buried

Funeral service for the late Stanley Alexander Fry, 65, of Bailieboro was held on Monday at the Comstock Funeral Home. The Rev. B. Heywood of Bailieboro United Church officiated and pall-bearers were Charles and Louis Lunney, James Lewis, Norman Fry, Walter Jones and Melville Wood. Burial was at the United Cemetery, Bailieboro.

Mr. Fry died suddenly in hospital on Saturday. He was the son of the late John Fry and Elizabeth Hunter and had been a resident of Bailieboro district all his life. He was a steward of United Church.

Jas. Matthews Presents COSSA Trophy

James H. Matthews presented the Matthews Junior COSSA trophy to Alex M. Londry, coach of the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational Junior football team Monday afternoon in the Senior Assembly. Mr Matthews has just put the trphy up for competition, PCVS winning it the first time Any Junior football team in the Central Ontario Secondary School Association may win the trophy.

Mr. Londry received the trophy on behalf of the Association, and turned it over to Don Griffin, captain of the Junior Football team. The trophy has three football players on it passing, punting and running the ball.

Don Griffin presented G. B. (Bev) Goulding, coach of the senior football and basketball teams, with two chrome chairs. He made the presentation on behalf of the senior basketball team.

Miss Mildred Bailey, teacher advisor to the Student's Council, presented the school letters to 31 boys who participated in school sports or who contributed to the success of school sports. The letters were given to the boys this year for being on senior football and basketball teams, outstanding players on the junior football team and outstanding work in the Boys' Athletic Association.

Mr. Goulding introduced each boy who received the letter from Miss Bailey. C. S. Browne, principal of PCVS, congratulated each winner.

Boys who won the letter were Gordon Buck, Bill Coon, Bill English, Jim Fitzpatrick, Bill Hamblin, Bill Killingbeck, Gerry Lane, Hubert Lowes, Al Payne, Garry Robinson, Kenneth Stacey, Bob Stuart, David Ward, Wilfred Woodcock, Frank Wright, all on the senior football team; Darrel Ackford, Roy Armstrong, Warren Brown, Grant Burns, Ted Evans, Paul Frise, Robert Gandy, Jim Grant, Garth Jopling, Hubert Knox, Al McIlraith, Bryon Young, Robert Jameson, all on the junior football team; David Dibben, Hugh Dibben, Tom Taylor, all of the senior basketball team, and Sam Murphy, treasurer of the B.A.A. Don Griffin received his letter last year.

Asphodel Sunday School Teachers Hold Convention At Norwood

NORWOOD, May 31—(ENS)—The annual Sunday School convention of Asphodel Township was held in Norwood United Church on Friday. A number of Sunday School workers were in attendance from Warsaw and Cottesloe, as Dummer Township did not hold a convention this year. Rev. J. E. Griffith was guest speaker representing the Ontario Religious Education Council. G. Humphries, First vice-presided over the afternoon session. There was a lengthy discussion on proposed uniting of Dummer and Asphodel Township Conventions. The question was referred to the executives.

Discusses Training

Rev. Mr. Griffith gave an interesting address on "Where to, from here"?, stressing two points, special worship service for children and teacher training classes.

The Worship Service was conducted by Miss Helen Tedford of Cottesloe.

Rev. Mr. Griffith led a discussion on teaching. The president, Wm. Golloher, presided over the evening session.

The new officers for 1949-50 are as follows: president, Wm. Golloher, 1st vice president, G. Humphries, 2nd vice president, J. H. Caskey, sec.-treas., Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe; children's work, Mrs. Wm. Golloher; girls' work, Mrs. J. J. Stewart; boys' work, Rev. R. D. Duncanson; temperance, J. Starke; teacher training, Rev. E. E. Pugsley; Missions, Mrs. W. G. Barrie. The executive will also include the minister and superintendents.

Plan Training School

A panel discussion was led by St. Andrew's Sunday School in getting teachers and training them, followed by a discussion led by Rev. Mr. Pugsley on the advisability of holding a training school in 1949. The decision was left to the executive.

Mrs. Wm. A. Gardner sang a solo. Rev. E. E. Pugsley was pianist for the afternoon session, and Mrs. J. H. Caskey in the evening.

Rev. Mr. Griffith chose for his evening address, the subject "The Home".

Summer Theatre Plans Outlined

Confidence that the Peterborough Summer Theatre, to be launched for the first time this year in the Queen Mary School auditorium, would prove eminently successful was expressed by Michael Sadlier, director, in an address to the Rotary Club on Monday at their weekly luncheon in the Empress Hotel. Mr. Sadlier voiced his appreciation of the wholehearted support he has been receiving from the citizens of Peterborough in the advance planning. He said that Peterborough was "the most natural place in Eastern Canada" in which to make a start, as the citizens are undoubtedly interested in the theatre and the city is "a very progressive place."

Mr. Sadlier told the club that the first play of the eleven to be produced in as many week would be "Fortune My Foe" by Robertson Davies, of Peterborough, noted Canadian playwright. He said Mr. Davies' new play had been produced in several other cities, and it was "high time" that it was being presented in Peterborough.

The entire proceeds of the plays are to be divided between the Civic and St. Joseph's hospitals, Mr. Sadlier said asid.

The speaker was introduced by Buritt Smitheram and thanked by Harry Northrop.

Sunday School Pupils Attend Church Service

MARMORA, May 31—(ENS)—Teachers and scholars of Deloro Sunday School attended divine service in St. Paul's Church on Sunday at which the rector, Rural Dean Rev. J. M. Brownlie officiated.

A. W. Drew, superintendent, read the special lesson and a group of Intermediate scholars sang the anthem "Children of Jerusalem".

Taking for his text "Suffer the Little Children to come unto me" the rector drew lessons from a circle and spoke to the congregation of the circle of God's love for His children and of human friendship towards God.

Rain Aids Prairies

REGINA, May 31 (CP)—Talk of drought was dispelled in most parts of Saskatchewan Monday night as rain continued to fall in many sections following province-wide showers during and since the week-end. The heaviest downpour Monday was at North Battleford in the Northwest, where 1.73 inches were recorded. Regina got 1.55 inches and Saskatoon, in the central portion of the province, which had been in great need of moisture, registered .88 inches.

Archbishop de Pencier Dies At Vancouver Home

VANCOUVER, May 31 (CP) — Archbishop A. U. de Pencier, 83, died Monday at his home. Prominent in the Anglican Church for more than half a century, he retired as Archbishop of British Columbia and the Yukon in 1940.

Archbishop de Pencier came to Vancouver from Brandon, Man., in 1908 to the Rectorship of St. Paul's Church, a post he held until he became Bishop in 1910. He was named Archbishop in 1925.

Born in Burrit's Rapids, Ont., he attended Trinity College in Toronto and was ordained in 1890.

Known as British Columbia's "first citizen" of the Church of England, he had a colorful career in a widespread field which included work in North British Columbia, in the Kootenays and pioneer Cariboo country.

His earlier charges included several years as Curate of St. Alban's Cathedral, Toronto, and Rector at Uxbridge, Ont.

He was one of the few if not the only—Bishop to go overseas as a Padre from Canada in the First World War. He advanced to the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel, was mentioned in dispatches twice and later awarded the Order of the British Empire.

He is survived by three sons, Rev. Theo de Pencier of suburban Burnaby; Joseph, Toronto, and Eric, Montreal; two daughters, Mrs. K. S. Vaughan and Mrs. T. J. McQuillan, both of Vancouver.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday in Christ's Church Cathedral here.

The Archbishop was married twice and twice was a widower. He married Nine Frederica Wells of Toronto in 1895. Following her death in 1936, he married Jessie Culliford of England. She predeceased him in 1945.

Committee Discusses Firing TLC Communists

OTTAWA, May 31 (CP) — A special committee of the Trades and Labor Congress sat in closed session Monday on the question of possible suspension from its organization of the left-wing Canadian Seamen's Union.

Union spokesmen said it was possible the meetings may continue for several days before an announcement is made.

The committee has been given power to oust the union, and a suspension would be effective until the TLC convention at Calgary in September. The convention at that time could lift the suspension extend it or reject the CSU entirely.

"I'm this way about GRO-PUP"

DOGS of all sizes and breeds go for this "smackin' good" food. Fed by kennel owners for sleek coats, strong muscles, sound bones and teeth! (Thrifty, too! Not 70% water like most canned dog foods.) Gro-Pup comes in cubes and meal—your grocer has both!

Chance On Race

EDMONTON, May 31 (CP) — A 24-year-old furniture dealer, Louis Lieberman, has drawn an Irish Hospital Sweepstakes ticket on Xerxes, a 100 to 1 shot in the Derby at Epsom Downs June 4. He will pocket at least $524 for the ticket and if Xerxes wins he will collect $100,000.

BLACKHEADS

go quickly by a simple method that dissolves them. Get two ounces of peroxine powder from your druggist, apply with a hot, wet cloth gently over the blackheads—and you will wonder where they have gone.

Frost Studies Housing Problem

TORONTO, May 31 (CP) — Premier Frost announced at a press conference Monday that government officials will meet with the Toronto Board of Control Friday to discuss the problems of housing facing the Toronto civic administration.

He said he understood Prime Minister St. Laurent, in a recent speech in the Maritimes, discussed a new Federal housing scheme.

"I know nothing about this," he said, "but we in Ontario are anxious to hear the details. Any plan would receive our sympathetic consideration and co-operation."

The housing problems of Toronto, he said, are entirely different from those of any other Ontario municipality. He said the city is unable to find land within its own boundaries to build more houses.

To Fire Salutes

OTTAWA, May 31 (CP)—Artillery units across Canada will fire 21-gun Royal salutes at noon June 6 to mark the official celebration of the King's birthday. The salutes will be fired at all 10 provincial capitals and at Ottawa and Vancouver.

Millbrook Cadets Hold Dance In Aid Of Rink

MILLBROOK, May 31—(ENS)—The Millbrook Cadet Corps No. 403 sponsored a formal dance on Friday night in the Armouries. Beside the cadets who attended, many ex-students were present and the dance took the form of a reunion.

The Armouries was gaily decorated in a colour scheme of red, white and blue. Roy Forrester and his seven-piece orchestra supplied the music for dancing. Buffet lunch was served in the officer's mess.

Much of the credit for the success of the evening goes to Miss Kent, Mrs. McKay, and Mrs. Theobald, who with the assistance of the Girl Cadets, decorated the officer's mess, and prepared and served the lunch.

The proceeds of the dance will go to the Community Rink Fund.

The W.M.S. of Grace Presbyterian Church held a successful tea in the Manse on Thursday afternoon. The tea table was presided over by Mrs. K. Moncrief and Mrs. J. Kennedy. Mrs. Bremner and Mrs. C. Larmer assisted in serving. Mrs. W. Patterson welcomed the guests.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP is a lot of little things

KEEP OFF THE GRASS

Do you heed the request: "Keep Off the Grass"? Most people do . . . but there is always the odd person who pays no attention. Whether this sign is in a park or on your neighbor's lawn, it is common courtesy to respect it. The sign is there because someone wants the grass to grow, not because of a selfish whim. A community is only as beautiful as you care to have it . . . and by doing your share you are making a real contribution to "Good Citizenship".

You can help this public service effort. Make a note of some of the little things which, in your opinion, contribute to Good Citizenship.
